Here is some information about the whales.

Another group, those who were not among the ruling class and later known as the Threshold Dwellers, quietly went about their SELF-realization without the temptation of being rulers. Hence, they could continue to see their own darkness and their own inner enemies. Through this process of SELF-realization, they had evolved beyond the need for enemies. They had faced their enemies within and no longer needed to project their fear out onto others, creating outer enemies.

The Ancients, the name given to those who had first learned to create their own illumination, were also not destined to be rulers. Instead, their sole concern was for the safe-keeping of our planet. Because of this dedication they developed a Planetary Consciousness. Within their Planetary Consciousness, they could experience the entire planet. The Ancients were descendants from our first civilizations. They had stayed in their caves, and away from the rest of society, so that they could protect the memory of the D-vine Plan of Ascension that was prophesied when our civilization was young.

Using the opposite method, one of seeking great change and the reality beyond the planet, many Threshold Dwellers also gained Planetary Consciousness. These two groups were in communication with each other, with the entire planet and with the higher dimensions. The Threshold Dwellers gained galactic information and the Ancients grounded that information into the planet. Then, through the Ancient's Planetary Consciousness, they grounded the galactic information into the unconscious mind of the planet's dwellers. While the Councils of Light and Darkness were holding onto the past tradition of power over others, the Threshold Dwellers and the Ancients were waking up to a new future. Neither the Council of Light nor the Council of Darkness could affect these two groups. Because they had found their power within, they were not influenced by external power. They had found their Truth, and were not in need of validation or control from any outside forces. The Threshold Dwellers and the Ancients knew that they were part of something more important than the old systems of the past. They had seen the reason for their incarnation and they knew their Multidimensional SELF. Therefore, they were without fear.

Eventually, the Threshold Dwellers and the Ancients discovered that they were BOTH the Darkness and the Light. Through this discovery they could release the illusion of being only light or only darkness and find the Center Point in-between the polarities. They no longer needed to judge either group as being different, for they were ONE with both. With the release of judgment, they gained Compassion for all life..

Since the Threshold Dwellers had unified with their fifth dimensional SELF, their bodies resonated slightly above and out of phase with the Council of Light. At the other extreme, the Ancients had unified with planetary body and resonated to complete Unity with our planet and our Star System. Therefore, they were also of a higher consciousness and out of phase with the Forces of Darkness. Because these two groups were out of phase with the third dimensional environment, the bodies of the Threshold Dwellers and Ancients appeared as steam to those around them. Consequently, it was difficult for the Councils of Light and Darkness to perceive their presence, much less interfere with or influence them.

The Threshold Dwellers and the Ancients knew that time was on their side. I, Tarmaine, was one of the first of the High Councilors of Light to realize that our path of ritual, dogma and discipline was extinct. When I left the Council and joined the Threshold Dwellers, I was greatly maligned by the Light Councilors who had been my friends for many years. On the other hand, the Threshold Dwellers completely embraced me and, in fact, facilitated my rejoining with my Divine Complement, Shaleem.

DIVINE COMPLEMENTS

Shaleem was one of the first to leave the High Councilors of Darkness and join the Ancients. I first met Shaleem at our biannual Planetary Council Meeting. Instantly, I had had a special aversion to her, or was it an attraction?

Little did I know that we were to be the first of the Councilors of Light and Councilors of Darkness to join as Divine Complements.

We discovered later that other Divine Complements who had lived in the polarities, one in Light and one in Darkness, began to find each other and merge into their true androgynous SELF, as well. It was eventually revealed that it had long been a cosmic plan for Divine Complements to incarnate in the different polarities of light and dark and to then rejoin into one Being.

As the two became ONE again, their resonance raised, which contributed to raising the resonance of the entire planet.. Our planet was gradually becoming more and more fifth dimensional.

Meanwhile, the Council of Light and the Council of Darkness became so disturbed by the lack of control over their Councilors that they actually began to communicate with each other. When we had our biannual Planetary Council Meeting, each side had always been strictly divided.

However, the meetings were now changing. Instead of focusing on how the two groups were different, the focus was now on the problem that both groups shared. Little did these two separate groups, enemies since the dawn of our world, realize that this communication would begin a process of understanding and compassion for their enemy, the other Council.

There were many other members of our world besides the cetacean beings. Some of our beings looked like water snakes, eels, or even large amphibians with arms and legs. These amphibians were our less evolved rac- and had not developed their telekinesis. Therefore, they were still in need of limbs. Because they had not evolved as far as the snake, dolphin, and whale beings, the amphibians would be what you would consider animals in your society. The beings without limbs would be what you consider in your society as human.

All of us human-like beings knew of the polarities of our third/fourth dimensional life, and the 3D Matrix that held it in place. We also knew that this Matrix was degrading, and our world was transforming.

Our social system was much like that of dolphins and whales. Hence, many of us have taken incarnation on your world in that form.. Our society was set up in family groups called pods. We did not need to struggle for survival, as you often must in your world. Because of this, we lived much longer, usually several hundred of your years. Also, after several rounds of incarnation, we began to remember our other incarnations and our life in between. All of these factors allowed us to ascend more quickly than your world. Due to the struggle for survival on your world, there is much more fear. Fear stops people from changing, as the greatest fear is fear of the unknown.

We were basically a peaceful people, but the Forces of Darkness allowed us to experience the feeling of conquest and domination if we desired it (as do many on your world). However, unlike humans, we never dominated our own kind. Long before our ascension, we could travel the astral planes, morph into whatever shape we desired and conquer and/or dominate other worlds.

We did so for quite some time.

The Forces of Darkness were ever eager to conquer, and the Forces of Light were ever eager to save. Auspiciously, due to the growing number of

Threshold

Dwellers and Ancients, other citizens of our world had a new choice between conquering and saving.

This choice was ascension. The Councils of Light and darkness could choose to stop playing the game of polarity (light/dark and saving/conquering) and join the Threshold Dwellers, the Ancients, and the others in the fifth dimension.

A GROWING BELIEF IN ASCENSION

At first, few believed that ascension could be possible, but gradually the Collective Consciousness of our planet began to have experiences of unity-with-all-life.

Collective Consciousness is different from Planetary Consciousness in that it is only the consciousness of the human-types.

On the other hand, Planetary Consciousness is the consciousness of the planet itself and all that live on, within, or over it. Once the Collective and Planetary Consciousness began to move towards the awareness of ascension, many of our citizens lost their desire to dominate or to save. Instead, they could allow others to choose their reality just as they were choosing their ascension. Since everyone in our society was connected to our Collective Consciousness, the warriors who were conquering, and the saviors who were saving, began to return home to see why the Collective Consciousness felt so different.
