Subject: Planet Of The Apes.
July 30, 2011.

There is going to be a new movie coming out about apes and humans on this Earth. I've seen all the pasted ones and enjoyed them very much. I like Charlton Heston in all of his movies but then he has now passed away. I can remember how he could use his voice to read the King James Version of the B-ble. I later investigated the man in Berekley, Calif. who claimed to be the present i-carnation of King James. His name was Allan Neunan. He was called by some people The Cosmic-End-Time-Massiah. He had been a teacher and professor at Berekley, University but had quite his job or got kicked out of his job, left his wife and married a young lady. I met his son on the sides of Mt. Tamilpias and he was a very wild young man. Allan and all his former people who wrote the King James Version of the bible were with one night waiting to walk up a ladder into a space ship. After that time Allan was thrown in jail for a while and I didn't hear much from him any more.

Here is some information about some experimentation that has been going on using apes.

Alien Space G-ds Of Ancient Greece And Rome - R-velations Of The Oracle Of Delphi

WAS THE MEDITERRANEAN REGION OF OUR PLANET VISITED BY A RACE OF "SUPER BEINGS" IN ANCIENT TIMES?

WAS THE ORACLE OF DELPHI A CONDUIT FOR PROPHETIC MESSAGES FROM OUTER SPACE -- PERHAPS THE FIRST T-LEPATHIC C-ANNELER?
British historian W. Raymond Drake is one of the most careful researchers of the "Ancient Astronaut" theory which maintains aliens arrived on earth and interacted with the human r--ce throughout antiquity and in all parts of the globe. Author of a dozen works on the Space Go-s phenomenon, Drake's work complements that of Chariots of the -ods? by Erich Von D-niken, his first book appearing in print prior to Von Da-iken's international bestseller.

In this work about the ancient Mediterranean's strange relationship with the Sky G-ds, Drake utilized over fifty writers of antiquity and scrutinized their main works through a UFO "lens." His astute contributions regarding the Land of the Go-s have been expanded upon and updated by contemporary researchers Timothy B-ckley and Sean C-steel.

Questions That You Will Find Answered. . .

Did giants from space establish a UFO base atop the picturesque Mount Olympus?

Were they the g-ds and go-desses of "Mythology" idolized and given names such as Apollo, Hades, Athena, Hermes, Zeus, Artemis and Hestia?

Did the powerful deities of Greece help save Athens from being invaded by the mighty armies of Atlantis in 10,000 BC?

Is there reason to believe that the Greeks and Trojans were inspired to fight for the beauteous Helen, surely a space queen?

Do the great plays and sublime philosophies of the supreme thinkers of the ages show a reverence for the g-ds' who intervened at Marathron and Salamis, sending flying shields to aid Alexander storming the walls of Tyre?

Did a UFO encountered near Troy save the army of Lucullus from destruction?

Were omens observed in the sky just before the m-rder of Caesar?

How does one explain the manifestation of mysterious voices and apparitions in the h-avens as Hannibal ravaged Italy?

In a marvelous update, recent activities, including encounters with humanoids and men in b-ack-like individuals, are taken into consideration offering proof that the ancient aliens of antiquity are returning to their original haunts and are guaranteed to make open contact soon!

Human-Animal Hybrids Grown in UK Labs

Scientists have created more than 150 human-animal hybrid embryos in British laboratories.

The hybrids have been produced s-cretively over the past three years by researchers looking into possible cures for a wide range of d-seases.

The revelation comes just a day after a committee of scientists warned of a nightmare 'Planet of the Apes' scenario in which work on human-animal creations goes too far.

Figures show that 155 'admixed' embryos, containing both human and animal genetic material, have been created since the introduction of the 2008 Human Fertilisation Embryology Act.

This legalised the creation of a variety of hybrids, including an animal egg fertilised by a human sperm; 'cybrids', in which a human nucleus is implanted into an animal cell; and 'chimeras', in which human cells are mixed with animal embryos.

Scientists say the techniques can be used to develop embryonic stem cells which can be used to treat a range of incurable illnesses.

Three labs in the UK - at King's College London, Newcastle University and Warwick University - were granted licences to carry out the research after the Act came into force.

All have now stopped creating hybrid embryos due to a lack of funding, but scientists believe that there will be more such work in the future.

Professor Robin Lovell-Badge, from the Medical Research Council's National Institute for Medical Research, said the scientists were not concerned about human-animal hybrid embryos because by law these have to be destroyed within 14 days.

He said: 'The reason for doing these experiments is to understand more about early human development and come up with ways of curing serious diseases, and as a scientist I feel there is a moral imperative to pursue this research.'

'As long as we have sufficient controls - as we do in this country - we should be proud of the research.'

However, he called for stricter controls on another type of embryo research, in which animal embryos are implanted with a small amount of human genetic material.

Human-animal hybrids are also created in other countries, many of which have little or no regulation.

Manimals On Our Minds: Genetic Testing With Hybrid Humans?
By Micah Ha-ks

The so-called "humanzee" (sometimes also called a "chuman") refers to the hypothetical offspring between a human and a chimpanzee. Though our two species are similar enough, in theory, to result in successful hybridization, such an experiment has never actually taken place, primarily for ethical reasons. After all, if a being is created that further adds to the blurring between the proverbial lines of human and animal, how should that creature be treated? What if an accident were to occur as a result of mishandling, or if the "manimal" were to behave in wild and erratic ways that could be dangerous to others? Conversely, what if the individual were intelligent enough to exist within society; having only one human "parent", what rights and laws would be applicable to this individual?

Indeed, there are a number of questions and those are only a few pertaining to hybridization between humans and our closest living relatives in the animal kingdom. However, there are many other possibilities considering the vast array of fauna available on Earth, and previous tests in China and elsewhere involving combining of human stem cells with those of goats, as well as recent propositions that might allow integration of human brain cells into mice, are again raising the red flags of ethical outcry.
