NEWSLETTER #107 FROM RUTH AND THE MASTERS OF LIGHT
AUGUST, 2011

My, July has been a difficult month for so many, with terribly high heat and humidity to deal with. We have been fortunate here in Central Arizona, with the dry season dampened by the seasonal monsoon, ending, for the most part, the danger of forest fires again. Thanks to so many of you who sent birthday greetings to me the years pass all too swiftly, but I am still getting through them without illness and just a little short-term memory loss. Some years ago I hoped I would live to see the 2012 predicted situation now I know I shall go much longer than that. What an interesting lifetime! Lots to put into this newsletter, so will get at it. Masters, please give us an idea of what weather conditions will be in August around the world?

MASTERS: This month we shall overview the atmospheric conditions by continents, since there are so many changes taking place even as we speak to this lady. The North American Continent is under the gun, so to speak, as the high frequencies in the upper atmosphere are affecting the ocean currents, as well as the summer season. From the Arctic down through Mexico and Central America, there is a S-iritual Community of Power that will endeavor to find a central force of nature to overcome the sporadic storms, hurricanes and earthquakes that are becoming a real problem for humanity in these areas. Although we see, again, excessive heat and humidity where they are now causing so much difficulty, by the middle of the month these situations will grind to a halt, bringing cooler air masses and more rain to the parched land. The predicted hurricanes will hit the East Coast of the U.S. with a force totally unexpected before then, however, with high seas and waves inundating the shores of Mexico and Central America. Earthquakes inland and along the western coasts will continue to rumble and gently change the coastlines a little at a time. The volcanoes will be patiently waiting for their turn to erupt in the coming months, but not now.

The huge masses of land in Europe will be experiencing high amounts of flooding from glaciers that continue to melt as the energy from the high frequencies affect the ice itself, even without high temperatures. The Steppes of Russia, in particular, are becoming mushy, due to the melting of the centuries-old frozen tundra, which is taking a toll on the animal populations of that land. Frequent storms will be scattered from Norway down through Great Britain, and especially over mountainous areas. Unexpected frigid temperatures will hit in many spots, causing crops to fail. It is a time to listen carefully to your weather forecasters.

Asia will be the center of the plate movements in coming months, causing tremendous earthquakes and possible leaks in the great dams of China. Flooding will still be a problem, nevertheless, and temperatures will be higher than normal in the lower lands. The eastern coasts of Asia will be hit with numerous typhoons, more than normally expected.

The Pacific Island chains will also be hit with many quakes as the underlying old volcanoes and plates continue to rub against each other, in the quest for a new shape to this world. Ocean currents responding to these movements will cause huge waves in some areas and high temperatures as ocean currents change their normal patterns.

Australia and surrounding land and islands will be comparatively quiet, at least for a few months. The winter winds and temperatures have calmed the ocean currents around this continent and the rains are soaking the fire-prone vegetation for a time. Antarctica, however, is heaving up from the depths, as the earth's shape is pushing that huge mass into new configurations. There will be many more icebergs forming as huge cracks release ice into the ocean.

Your world is experiencing many changes, as we have been explaining for some time. It is not a time to fear, but a time to change your own attitudes and feelings towards each other. Danger brings people together, to realize you are all a part of this marvelous creation and need to understand each other, releasing all of the old prejudices that have caused you so much trouble. The weather conditions are not so violent that you cannot be aware of them and be prepared. This is a time to wake up and use your inner awareness and wisdom to help yourselves and others when the need appears. You all have that ability. Know and remember that you are part of all creation your needs are known throughout the universe, just as you are aware of the needs of your family. There is no such thing as alone. We are there with you.

Question: Dear Masters, there has been an upswing of concerns regarding the planet that has come near the Earth, with channelers all over the world receiving information that this Planet or Nibiru will be causing electromagnetic disruptions on Earth this coming December. Also, that a comet coming between the Earth and the Sun in September will be causing quakes and emotional turbulence around the world.

I recognize that the spiritual world of higher intelligence is in constant communication with those who are open to this communication, but it is difficult to find a common ground of information that agrees with the many different sources. Perhaps those who are seeking sensational information in order to receive public attention have some impact on that information. On the other hand, we don't really want to hear about world-wide calamities reaching us from outer space. Is the biblical quote ye shall not know the time or place correct for our world today? Mayan and Hopi predictors worked out actual dates for these disasters long ago and they are being studied by millions in order to survive what they think may actually occur.

Will Higher Intelligence (G-d, S-irit, etc.) give us adequate and timely warnings of actual global events to happen that would impact our civilization?

MASTERS: In your Solar System there are many bodies that react with each other, sometimes pulling near with similar gravitational reactions, sometimes affecting each other by their magnetic frequencies. It is interesting to the spiritual beings who monitor the Earth fields to watch these interactions and transmit information to the empowered channels. In times past, warnings have been given that were accurate to those who would listen. The story of Noah and the Ark was a demonstration of the wisdom of listening to the inner warnings being given. It was a story that was repeated many times in many centuries of human occupation of the planet. Today, the knowledge of outer space and the movements of planets and comets is closely observed by your scientists, and there are actually few surprises of planetary collisions or meteors striking the planet that are not observed by your astronomers. The present movements of the planets in your Solar System have been predicted by the ancients who were given the intelligence to observe the cyclic movements of the planets and stars and who were able to give a pretty accurate prediction of the galactic alignment now being experienced. Still, because of the millions of possibilities of galactic movements and changing frequencies, it is still impossible to pin down a specific date by earth standards of any possible earthquake, volcanic eruption, meteor strike, etc.. This should be obvious by now as the many predictions of specific dates have come and gone, without too much comment or attention.

The biblical quotation tried to explain this. We have tried, in these many newsletters, to explain that each incarnated human being is connected to everything there is all frequencies, all knowledge, all creative motives. When there is danger looming in the general location of the person, that inner connection gives warning through the thoughts, the body, the emotional and electrical fields of the nervous system. When the person tunes in to these intuitive feelings, he/she will be aware something is wrong or is about to happen and wisely pays attention.

Nibiru and the comet will pass through the Solar System on their normal precession in space there will be slight magnetic disruptions here and there over Planet Earth, but certainly nothing as dangerous or life-threatening as the disruption of society on your world today. It is fine to have a lot of interest in these movements in space, but do not let anyone toss fear at you like a wet washcloth to give you an unwelcome failure of your sense of well-being. Be aware, but beware of unintentional and well-meaning predictions that go nowhere as time passes them by. You have your own built-in warning system. Listen to it.

Question: From a reader in France, who is concerned with the state of world-wide inconsistencies in governments and political turmoil. Are the governments in the U.S. and Europe going down the drain? How is this affecting their influence in the Middle East? What is happening to societies all over the world that there is such a lack of cooperation and understanding?

Is there a light at the end of the road, or at least this year?
