This talks about Wicca.

R-religion has caused so much hardship and cruelty in our world and seems so confused today, I was prompted by the Masters to share their teaching on this subject with you today.

THE REALITY OF W-RSHIP

The great vastness of space contains many universes, many galaxies, many suns, and millions of planets of third-dimensional density which support life of many kinds. The Ultimate Intelligence that is the engineer and author of all of this is not even a being, as you understand the term. It is Pure Intelligence, without form, without any separation from itself in any sense.

Humanity on your planet, and many other forms of sentient beings, have no way of even beginning to understand the reality of the Infinite Creator. Many c-annels today are putting forth the concept of many different Go-s who are out there fighting every inch of the way to attain superiority over the worlds. Yes, there are mighty beings existing in the s-iritual realm, who have mighty powers and who wish to control everything they come across in their universal travels. All and we mean ALL intelligence life has been created by the Ultimate Intelligence. The tales of stubborn A-gels cast out of h-aven because of their intentions of trying to be the controlling factors for Earth and other planets are allegories which has their basis in truth. Many Dark An-els (as we will call them for your benefit) (roam the spaces of time and some of them were given permission to act as catalysts for those sp-ritual beings who are on their missions of education in matter. The word -od seems to have many meanings to you, but we will consider it the term only given to the One Creator of All Things.

Each r-ce of beings in different worlds are blessed with different s-xual body patterns. On some planets, there are three different se-es, on others, even more. The diversity of creation has no limits.

Human beings have two -exes, male and female, and the childhood bonding with two parents tell them that everything must have two parents, even the Son of G-d. There is still the concept in some rel-gions of a wh-te-bearded gigantic figure sitting upon a golden throne, handing out judgment and dispatching people to h-aven or to h-ll. These beliefs are deeply held and are the basis of a feeling of continuity and security.

Many earlier societies honored women as the creators of life.

Property was passed through the female line and women ruled the tribes and villages. From that perspective came the need to consider Go- as a being both male and female, since, of course, it takes male and female to create life. (?) When the male population finally took over control of g-vernments, and adopted laws to pass property through the male line, females were forced into positions of servility and treated very badly, as in some places they still are. Why, then, would women w-rship and pray to a male G-d? This went against the grain; old beliefs that went back thousands of years were revived, honoring and wor-hipping female -ods of the Egyptians and other ancient societies. Woman have worshipped the Mother of God in many different perspectives and images, and most p-ayers in Light Workers gatherings today address themselves to Mother/Father God. There is a feeling that not to do so would be ignoring the feminine aspect of the Creator. Groups honoring the female Isis are growing today, as women carry their resentment of male domination into their spirit-al belief system. There are many people who feel more comfortable toward others of the same se-, sometimes feeling threatened by the energies of the opposite s-x. Many re-igions and laws have made such companionships extremely difficult to maintain as a normal way of life. Let it be known that the reasons for such needs are many and very complicated, being passed down from prior lives and so-l commitments that are even unknown to the persons involved. Love is the common factor within every sou- commitment and human relationship.

The most important thing we have to say to you now is that the Pure and Ultimate Intelligence has no need to be wor-hipped. It has no ego It has no throne; It does not stop everything to listen to all of the chanting and recognize ritual vocal and physical offerings that are presented daily by millions of humans! God exists in every molecule of energy in all universes is present everywhere and at all times. The Intelligence that surrounds you is well aware of your needs, your pain, your trials and challenges. All it takes on your part is to consciously ask for help when you need it, send thankfulness for what you are, and who you are becoming. When the message is sent out to you now in these times that there is a Oneness in everything believe it to the extent that the Intelligence that is G-d is an important part of you, and cannot help but understand and love who you are. That does not mean that you ARE Go-, for saying that would mean that you consider yourself the Ultimate Creator. You are a PART of -od, a PART of the Creative Never-Ending Intelligence.

The Ultimate Intelligence has no reality of male and female. The different physical s-xes were created in order to reproduce the human r-ce, for many bodies are always needed for spir-tual beings to inhabit in order to experience all things. S-x has nothing to do with the Creator. The Ultimate Intelligence created male and female, and many other sexes as well.

Why do people feel they have to prostrate themselves before an altar to worship the G-d of Creation? This is a deeply-held instinct from the time the first strong man or woman took control and demanded obedience from his/her subjects. Every one of you are well aware that there is something much greater than yourselves your inner spirit-al being tells you that. To human consciousness it is perfectly logical that such a being should be wo-shipped, because you are of such insignificance and if you don't show proper honor, you might think that G-d may not listen to your prayers or keep you distant from his/her glory!

All of these cultural and re-igious beliefs and feelings are part of what you consider spi-itual, and there is nothing wrong with that. The grand c-thedrals and c-urches of the world were built to concentrate the thoughts of people toward G-d; shutting away the concerns and distractions of the world from inside these buildings help do just that. It still does today. A dedicated room in your home, with simple furnishings, no radios, no TV's, no distractions, will do the same thing.

However, human beings still need the beautiful trappings of re-igion beautiful or simple robes worn during meaningful ceremonies statues painted with gold, draped with jewels, - candles glowing by day and night rituals and spells that bring order to the confusion and blight of today's societies. It's all right. It makes no difference if you wor-hip the figure representing Je--s, the Ch-ist, Buddha, Mother M-ry, the many Go-s of the Hindus or the Chinese, Isis, or the many Roman Go-s, even if you are put down for doing so, IF YOU REALIZE THAT ALL OF THESE REPRESENTATIONS ARE OF THE ONE SUPREME INTELLIGENCE!

Humanity has a long way to go before all of these symbols of the Ultimate Creator can be discarded. As you continue to e-olve into beings of lighter matter, the infinite connection with the Living Creative Life Force will become a part of your consciousness, part of your thoughts and action. Ch-rches will become simple places of gathering to quietly acknowledge the Creator and give thanks for being able to experience the variety of everything in creation. At that time, humanity will be readying themselves to travel the vast openness of space and time, bringing to less advanced species the truth and expertise they need to step on the same path to ev-lution. You will not be just going out to explore; there will be very grand purposes for all that you do. You are part of the ultimate purpose of the Creator.

What about Wicca and the other groups that wor-hip female energies? As long as that energy is focused on truth and love, enjoy the comradeship and the rituals. If spells are involved, which is a way of learning how to work with energy, make sure they are focused toward the best interests of those involved. It is the same thing as pr-ying for someone, only more focused.

Let us address e-il wo-ship here also. As the multitude of Dark An-els invade the world, they also invade the minds and hearts of many people who are unsure of themselves and feel inadequate to meet the challenges of life, for many reasons. When they are suddenly brought into a group who are wo-shipping such a power at a high level and given knowledge of how to manage that power, they accept it with no moral sense about hurting someone else in order to gain that power for themselves. Much more of the violence you are seeing and experiencing today are by people whose entire conscious reality is about being more powerful than someone else, and are urged to hurt, maim or k-ll others to prove it. They have closed off their own consciences entirely do not listen to their inner spir-tual beings, only to the voices of the Dark Ang-ls who shout loudly to their minds and wipe out all feelings of love or pity.
