Subject: More On Our Colony On Mars.

Nov. 4, 2011.

I have already said something about our colony on the Mars but my friend DK has sent me more about it. It follows.

2012 and the Ancient Game: Venus-Sophia and Recruitment to Mars

Chapter 1. EVENTS LEADING UP TO THE RECRUITMENT

Developing Awareness

As a child I knew what my mission was and seemed to carry an awareness of myself that extended beyond the aura of self. The reality of it existed strongly in my emotional body, and it overwhelmed me to proportions impossible to describe, all the way into adulthood. I was about to embark on something that already existed within the nature of my soul - as a woman trying to anchor higher Love and Wisdom on Earth through taking a perilous journey into the depths of the Hellish Underworld. I knew this was the only way to help us break free from the grips of the controlling archons and demiurge (patriarchy), to restore balance and assist in the activation of our highest potential.

Growing up in the E-senhower family helped me not feel so alone. When I learned about Ike, his upbringing, the way energy seemed to affect him and how he was aware of his incredible purpose and responsibility, I felt I was going through something similar. What I was discovering felt so serious. I was shocked daily with the realization that I had to confront this calling and face it. I deeply sensed that this was a most crucial undertaking for our survival and no matter how alienated, alone, lost and misunderstood I was or felt - I would hold on to this as I hold on to flesh itself. There is no way to shake it off.

It is not for me that I share this, it is for a long-held vision, dream and goal that involves us all - which is to be liberated as multi-dimensional beings who have abilities that are beyond technology and what our immediate senses can grasp. The Universe reveals to us the extent to which our imagination and creativity can work for us - and it is limitless and infinite.

The Bigger Picture

The archonic patriarchal energies have had a manipulative hold on the life-force and creativity of Gaia for thousands of years, personified as Sophia the Goddess. Our Mother Earth is more powerful than these lower energies though, but to instantly break free of the dysfunction would mean a mass apocalypse and the re-establishment of a new creation. To let go and lose awareness would result in being taken away on an agenda that has been in the works, with the intention of re-seeding a new civilization on Mars under the selfish control of the Global Elite - therefore leaving the Earth to atrophy and self-destruct.

The Mother energy loves us though beyond our comprehension and is patient and determined to create global transformation, regenerate and re-unite with Heaven, through the cycles of nature and the path of Venus.

Along the way I discovered that I was transparent to the elements, merged with divine will and fully immersed in the myths of Sophia and Cosmic Gaia body. This was my path - the path of Venus, and it weighed heavily on me to not be able to share this with anyone. There is no real way for anyone to understand this without it sounding like a belief of mine, so I needed to understand myself more and why I even felt these things.

It was after the use of sound technologies that I really knew that what I was dealing with was fact; it had stronger relevance to me than something filtered through the 10+ p-ychic readings that confirmed this. These actual prints and charts revealed the enormity of my task, the unique energy field and creative power that was available. Being well versed in astrology, it was very clear in my chart that this was the path of Venus. 7 signs ruled by Venus and 7 ruled by Pluto, all in connection. 7 gateways - Venus (light, love) and Pluto (dark, regenerative, transformative), Morning and Evening Star.

To me, I represent a unified field of love, so therefore I am a spokesperson for the di-ine spark in all, which is going to be more and more i-luminated as we draw closer and closer to the prophesized shift date 2012. When this takes place and the veils are lifted, including the one between life and d-ath - we will be given full access to the cosmos as galactic voyagers with free reign to access all levels of our being and existence.

It is like the true power of Gaia that regenerates itself and opens us up to its cosmic i-mortal nature, has been replaced by a force that carries parasitic beings that attach to people, harmful frequencies that control even the weather - also mind control, who feed off of anything that gives it power because one is unaware of its influence. Without most of humanity knowing it, they are feeding this force. This is what I was preparing to confront - those who are behind the technologies and agreements that keep us locked in global exile from the rest of the universe and our true selves.

Our current reality is not fully running on the creative power of each individual or our freedom and div-nity - that part of us is somewhat sabotaged in exchange for a fear producing world filled with misuses of power, suffering, environmental degradation, Natural Disasters and neglect of those who are in great need.

Our collective imbalance is what causes any outward imbalance, and it is due to this divi-e spark being so veiled and hidden, that we function on a whole other system that is completely out of alignment with our organic make-up. The blueprints that the planet holds, we are meant to be aligned to in order to create in accordance with natural cycles, the planetary grid and then also find in our own beings, the union of polarities. With this type of awareness, we can bridge the separation of Earth and the Heav-ns and understand different technologies and how they either work against or with our environment. We need to co-create with the Mother energy, there is only so much that this force can do, and now is the time to unify.

Multi-dimensions

Throughout my life I could visualize and feel the larger global energy field, and it was more vast and expansive than I could handle. All global suffering affected me deeply, and I felt an overwhelming responsibility to restore things. The demand was in direct relation to the survival of consciousness on this planet, the survival of my own s-ul, and the survival of much of humanity in terms of transitioning out of great danger and threats, into our freedom and return to Universal society.

I held a very strong vision of how the world would be if I could retrieve my many aspects that I felt in places other than my body. There was some kind of split that was evident, but it wasn't multiple personalities, it was more an awareness that there was much more to me that I needed to retrieve, in order to feel whole and in order to restore Gaia.

There was so much more needing to be integrated and anchored from the depths of sou- and the higher planes of love and light. It was easier for me to journey between the two, rather than be grounded on Earth because there was continual attack on my energy field anytime I began to get grounded. I later discovered that it was part of the hidden agendas that I would eventually confront in a very intimate way - one that was trying to force me down a timeline that I wanted nothing to do with.

I had to surface a very important missing part of myself that was hiding out somewhere in the Underworld. If I could clear and purify that region and retrieve that aspect from the controllers, then the Heavens and higher aspects would naturally merge with the dark fertile depths and the marriage of opposites could take place - birthing onto Earth the essence of light, love, wisdom, abundance, justice and eradicating all harmful and corrupt powers. This union of light and dark and male and female is the natural essence of the Goddess Gaia and is all of our -divine blueprint. What has been fragmented and disrupted on Earth has happened to us as well, and this was how to heal it. Beyond this journey though, there will be no completion unless we join forces and unify.

I knew I was going to be led into that dark realm that is now Hell, but I blocked out the premonitions of how terrorizing and painful it would be. But somehow the Underworld felt like my womb, the region where my creative fires could be awakened to send its transformational love out into the world - to dissolve and destroy evil plots, epidemics and wars. That was the part of me that I needed to reach. But it had been taken over and my whole life would be about getting it back.

So-l Alchemy and Archetypes

Global chaos was drowning me daily, and all I could do was take it in by working on one issue at a time, one level of it at a time. As I began to fall into the netherworld, I knew what I was doing as a warrior, going deeper and deeper into realms that most will never know or even ever go to. Along the way, all that is afflicted, harmful and separate was being absorbed into my being. My work was to heal it through my body, integrate it and have my third eye sort out the negative frequencies of the false-matrix with the pure energies of nature and the organic light, which seemed to match something deep within me.
