Subject: More On Our Colony On Mars. Part 3.
2011.

Nov. 5,

This talks about Magdelene-Sophia.

I had given birth to twin sons, and it was an incredible challenge to handle all of this, while being responsible for nurturing my children and protecting them from what I was going through. They were such a tremendous blessing and helped me to get over any self-destructive tendencies. I felt fully inspired to regain my strength and not give up because I had almost given up - and while I was being destroyed by external energies, I was battling the desire to just destroy myself so that I could go home and not be in pain anymore.

How is This Possible?

Deep down we are all aware of the current Global conditions. The limited ways we solve them never seem to penetrate deep enough, to end the patterns that we are all too familiar with. This felt to me really like the only way - and regardless of that, I didn't have a choice in the matter unless I was going to give myself to those other options that were not in my make-up to even consider.

The only way to grasp what I am sharing, is to not only have an open mind, but to look into the roots of how we heal from trauma on a deep level and to view nature as an extension of ourselves as we are an extension of it. Embarking on an archeological dig within could prove useful in creating change, because really the treasures that are lost are in our own being. We can't see this very clearly when our minds are engaged in the dominant powers of control - even if we have grown immune to it and consider our lives content and abundant.

The fact is, the rest of the world is not, and we are all responsible to one another in terms of establishing justice and having the willingness to have compassion and the clarity to see through the false matrix and the devastating effects from it that are taking place. What if we can't do that? Then the outcome is a self-fulfilling prophecy and regardless, all life returns to the great Cosmic womb - and no technology, space-craft, president or scientist can override in words or action - the basic truth of what existed before the big-bang and what is considered the 'Mother of all souls'. The Mother energy is the activator and illuminator of all that has been inherited from her - that resides in our DNA. We are one and we are equals.

I have done incredible work on one level for the organism Gaia, but without humanity joining in with this new paradigm shift - we will continue to live in the symptoms and side-effects of being blind. What is now coming to the surface and all the bliss that is ready to fill the world will only penetrate some, and the gateway that is opening will only be seen by those who have awakened, unless there is a radical approach taken to bring this voice out more.

The Roots of the Ancient Game

The A-nunaki and all the dynamics related to that race reveal the roots of the Goddess story, and why Inanna (Venus) goes into the realms of Hell to complete this cycle again and again to merge with the dark sister (a part of me) who lay trapped beneath the layers of control. Sacred Union and Hieros-Gamos is also a powerful theme in all of these stories, as well as there being differentiation between the Grail Knights, Shepard Kings and Christ himself.

At one time the Goddess was in Wholeness, and there was no disease, suffering or war, but the competition between many of the Archetypes and their desire for control splintered the bonds of Sacred Union on Earth, which is the root of all chaos. Different necessities were birthed when the Goddess became split into many aspects, originating with the slaying of Tiamat by Marduk.

Alien energies that showed up in my life seemed to connect to these myths - but I had to understand it as a story in my soul that was helping me to weave myself back together. My work in the world now is to help people understand these concepts so that synergy and a connecting of the dots can be established through all levels of education and awareness, including philosophy, creativity, science, physics, the imagination and the hieroglyphs and archetypes of soul.

In a sense, myth does repeat itself, but like a snowball it grows and grows as we get further away from really giving it the recognition it needs both within and outside of ourselves.

The bond of Divine Union is always intact in the Heavens and creation up to this point has been a long road to weave those polarities back together again in a realm that has severed the bond. This goes from era to era - all holding stories that we have been trying to interpret for thousands of years, like the life of Christ and Eden. Religions are built out of it but there is no direct action in terms of co-creating and getting intimately connected to where Sophia has gone and what she has to say.

Nowhere to Run

After my husband and I began to separate, I somehow accidentally arrived at a psychic institute where more than a dozen readings confirmed my past lives and present energy body. It would truly freak people out if I shared what they told me, so it is better to find some of those things out on my website. I will give some examples though. They said that I was cosmic mind spread throughout the infinite universe. Creation emanated from my senses and emotional body. They saw my root chakra was the planet Earth and they could see the realm above my crown extend to Ain Soph and the unknown God of whom many believe I am the Shakti of.

I had a hard time believing anything that I heard from them so I just listened, but then the emotion would come up and the truth of some of what they said overwhelmed me because I was facing something I could not escape, knowing it was in me. As I was emerging and getting clear validations, books in the mainstream were merging as well, including the Dan Brown novel and movie Da Vinci code, which I haven't brought myself to read or see, because I felt something was not accurate.

Someone who has psychically read the Dalai Lama confirmed me as Magdalene-Sophia just a year or so ago and told me I was the only one who could open the gateway for our liberation. I believe he was referring to the unified field of Love that I represent, because I see it as a collective effort. He said many women carry this essence, but I carry the identity. He is also a medical intuitive and could see the damage that my body had due to these attacks and negative frequencies and battles, but did say my power to bounce back continually was strong. The sound technologies a healer used on me picked up my voice - the energy of the creator and there are no numbers that exceed mine in terms of this ability in the larger sense. I can create and destroy to large proportions, but my karma was clear because I had not misused power, so I really had to be willing to step out into the world.

It was even confirmed in both the sound technology and clairvoyant readings that I was only able to bring 4% (sometimes 10%) of myself into my body and to fully reclaim all of me, I would have to not hide anymore. The great battle had been won and now I could bring myself back, rather than work in multiple dimensions to achieve victory.

Battling extreme shyness, vulnerability, and insecurity about this role of mine, I can only do it in baby steps - but at the same time I know we are running out of time. They also saw my lifetime with Christ and that I was with him for his whole life and cooked him righteous meals and worked with herbs. It made sense to me because all of my life my apparitions of his presence and his love, seemed to save me at crucial times and it became clear that Love is stronger than Death.

Finding Connections

During that time at the institute, I met my friend Ki'-Lia. We seemed to connect right away and had similar passions and visions. We could sense that there was something going on there that did not feel right. She was so easy to talk to and laugh with, and I felt more relieved than ever to have her in my life. As we got to know one another more, we began to counsel each other. We were in survival on many levels, trying to sort out why our lives felt so blocked and tampered with.

I could sense a very powerful Go-dess energy, and she seemed to be able to handle my frequencies and later on was able to handle even my story. She was brilliantly educated as well and had creative talents that were very inspiring and unique.

I eventually opened up to her about what they had shared at the institute and what my life up to that point had been like. Her curiosity was refreshing and her ability to hear and understand me was a shock, and even though I hesitated at times she insisted I share. I told her everything about my path as Sophia-Magdalene. She seemed to deeply resonate with it and not doubt it. That was huge for me because it tortured me on the inside all my life to not be able to discuss it.
