The Dark Spell and Major Confirmation

Previous to meeting Agent X and after meeting Ki' Lia, and after my husband and I split up, I had broken free of a spell from a man who was the archetype of Dionysis/H-des, who shared in great detail his experience of an ageless woman who never perished. She claimed to be the original Eve with a tribal following. She gave him hints of the recipe for immortality, described soul families and the whole story of Eden, and that he would meet a woman called the Mother of us all, Aura Sena (world soul/Sophia/H-ly S-irit). She was able to keep herself alive through inserting an orb in her yoni and it would change colors and react differently depending on whose hands it was in. He was very skeptical until she showed him. Through w-zards, priestesses and books, he went on a twenty-plus year search for Magdalene-Sophia.

After we found each other through an online forum about C-rist-Sophia, we met in person. I had just moved close to him before meeting him, otherwise it would have been much harder to see one another. It was not something I felt comfortable with because so far nothing had been stable or good. I felt this was a character that I had to get my energy back from, and I sensed the familiarity right away. His jaw dropped the minute I entered the room, and saw that I fit exactly the description that Eve and many others along the way gave him about me. I have their dialogue to this day - he pulled it out of a bookshelf rather hidden away because, during the time he talked to her, he wrote it all down. It happened years ago so it was very tucked away.

Not soon after I walked through the door, he pulled it out and said that it belonged to me. He had never met anyone that he could give it to, even though he was thinking it might be this or that person based on the physical description. I had goosebumps reading the description that matched me perfectly both physically and personality-wise and the path that I was always aware I was on. It is something that would truly baffle anyone who reads it. I was a skeptic of course, like he was in the beginning, but when I read the words and the countless names of the tribes, her children and the mention of Lilith, the nature of Adam and other planets where she was first fashioned and the singular creativity of Sophia. After all of that, I knew this was the real deal. I still though, find it hard to believe but after all that I have been through - is anything really that shocking anymore?

We had ongoing discussions and conflicts about my role and emergence into this world and the demiurge control. Even though it seemed like he wanted to set me free, he became very imprisoning and an incredible challenge to break free from. Skilled in alchemy and w-tchcraft, he admitted to casting a spell on me that got out of control in 1980, after he heard about me from Eve and was getting weary of the search. Not aware that I was still a child, the spell was intended to bring Sophia and ultimate wisdom to him. I was only seven then, and that is actually when I felt the dark forces yank on me. I realized he had fallen into the patriarchal matrix, but in his case, he wanted to love and possess me. I had it coming from all angles, from this agency and from misguided m-gic. He set free an entity by mistake and thought that the spell had gotten out of control.

Chapter 2. MEETING AGENT X AND THE MARS MISSION

Timeline

(I will use dates with this since this was the final showdown.)

April, 2006. As I was working on breaking free of this character, I decided to go to a festival. I had been such a recluse, dealing with extreme emotions, because I could feel the forces of the archons and negative technologies try to break me on a daily basis. All I could do is cry and scream in absolute refusal of letting any mind control waves into my being. Ki' Lia and I spoke at great length, and I empowered what I saw in her, which was the matrix of Quan Yin and Isis, able to sense the energies in her womb and how it relates to global chaos. After getting to know her more, it was clear that her and I had similar natures as embodiments of Shakti, but with just very different roles.

So at this festival I met a man who we are calling Agent X. We just hit it off and spent the evening together and I was really falling for him big time. I could feel our connection and past lives and just was amazed. I truly felt that I had met my true Sacred Union love. It was m-raculous and beautiful and I thought he was so brilliant. He admitted that he was falling fast and it was the sweetest thing ever. We discussed many things relating to Magdalene and Arimathea and how he had heard that our paths would cross, but there was no mention yet of his Mars mission, which would become very intense later.

He seemed to embody Joseph of Arimathea and Osiris in every way and his knowledge of nature, his art work and awareness were deep, intense and quite brilliant. Little did I know he could only maintain his organic nature for brief periods of time, until he was overtaken by something so powerfully corrupt.

June, 2006. We got engaged after some time - after we fully had a heart connection that was undeniable. As I got to know him more he started to reveal things to me about this group he goes to who are quite p-ychic and deal with alien abduction related things. He himself had witnessed something truly bizarre with an animal skinned, that had all the b-ood sucked out and that the radiation or energy around this really affected his health for a long time.

Regarding the group he mentioned, he believed that he had joined a sort of thinktank, an investigative group, which was also working on creating a mission to Mars. He kept telling me of the cataclysms that were coming and that this was something we were special to be involved in.

Agent X very much thought that the people he was dealing with were good guys and his physicist adviser was his hero because of the zero p-int energy, remote viewing stuff he was involved in. He tried to get me excited, saying that we had a chance to escape the disaster. It just did not sit well with me, but he wouldn't talk further, and I just hoped it would all fade away as our love would become much more important. At this time I had no idea the power they had over him, or that they were even using anything on him to keep him as an agent and almost a servant to their mission. I was blinded by love too, and I just wanted to not think about it till it came up again. I later found out that they had sent him to find me.

He knew a lot about me from numerous sources that overlapped with one another - from Freemasons, Knights Templar, to this hidden branch of the government that was behind creating this Mars mission. They understood me based on remote-viewing and time travel devices and they also seemed to recruit people from the Freemasons and Knights Templar who were well aware of the Magdalene path. They seemed to all be connected, but someone was taking advantage of it all and trying to stay one step ahead of how nature may have unfolded as far as us coming together into Union. I did not find out he was an agent until a few months into the relationship, and then I later found out that it was them who sent him to find me.

Agent X revealed to me that they had a list of men who could create that with me and when all of those relationships ended because I broke free and saw through them, they went all the way with Agent X and knew we would somehow meet. They were able to get to him before I was. I picked up on the fact that many have been chipped to destroy me and the energies of the d-vine feminine, but could never figure out this list and why there would even be one if I was going to eventually meet him. Perhaps as a last resort, as a back up, as a way to reel me in when I had no strength left? There are still many questions that need answering.

The agency that sent him to find me, or the other groups he was involved in who held my story in their awareness for many lifetimes, I wasn't sure who he was speaking on behalf of regarding Sophia or my boys - because I believed I was a person of interest for the agency and was recruited to Mars because of my Ei-enhower bloodline. I suppose the reasons were both.

It seemed the agency knew the Sophia part too, and recruited the key player who could create a great shift on Earth with me. It seemed all these groups were involved with each other without the full awareness of what the agenda was about, except for perhaps one or a few people.

One time he pulled all the equipment in my house apart. Taking cell-phone batteries out, shutting down all electronics - so he could candidly tell me what he knew and revealed much about me and my boys, which explained why I was even a person of interest. He said that we were being bugged, even with web cams out in the streets, and tried to insist that he was protecting me. What he told me was that this had to do with Sophia-Magdalene and that everything that I knew about myself was indeed true. They knew a lot about my boys, too. They mentioned the Mayan hero twins and Romulus and Remus who founded Rome.
