On of my internet friend once told me that he was going to Braco. I asked him what Braco was. He told me to look it up on Google.com and this is what I found.

Welcome

For over eight years across Europe, people have arrived by the thousands to gazing events featuring this gentle man with a remarkable gift- up to 10,000 in a single day - and now people in the U.S. are doing the same. He comes from Croatian, and his name is simply Braco (pronounced Braht-zo). His silent gaze offers an extraordinary interaction with his visitors, and people report feeling a connection taking place to a positive and transformative energy that better their lives. Braco does not speak in public or offer any philosophies, and his work is open to all. People come from all backgrounds, f-iths and ethnicities to see Braco and many call him a h-aler, yet Braco does not make this claim. He only offers a gift to people through his silent gaze, without words or teachings, allowing people's own reported experiences of transformative changes - in their lives, relationships, careers, finances and health - to define his work. People themselves are Braco's biggest promoters, excitedly sharing news by word-of-mouth of this unique man and the profound experiences that occur during group gazing sessions with him.

Transformation Through a Gaze

<http://www.braco.net/wp-content/uploads/2011/07/Gazing.jpg>

by Angelika W-tecliff, author of 21 Days with Braco

For those who feel helpless in life, despondent with stress, loss or are suffering from a physical illness, hope and belief in a positive future can seem unreal, fractured or broken. Yet the drive for relief, for help,
