The darkness, like living flesh corrupted, envelops us with its icy embrace. Thoughts that once burned fire-like in their complexities, now smoulders in the stygian emptiness. Invisible terrors, once consigned to the back roads of consciousness, now eagerly seek prey to feed an eternal hunger. Horrors of the night now reach out across the threshold into the once safe light.

But there is one light that pierces the darkness, one shining example of freedom of information. One weekly, e-mail newsletter that is not afraid to publish that which everyone else fears to even think. That's right! Cons-iracy Journal is here once again to split the darkness of ignorance and fill your world with the pure, white light of truth.

This week, Conspi-acy Journal takes a look at such eye-popping stories as:

- W-ite House Says: "No UFO Cover-Up" -
 - Crews Rush to save Russian Mars Probe -

Alien Space G-ds Of Ancient Greece And Rome - Revelations Of The Oracle Of Delphi

WAS THE MEDITERRANEAN REGION OF OUR PLANET VISITED BY A R-CE OF "SUPER BEINGS" IN ANCIENT TIMES?

WAS THE ORACLE OF DELPHI A CONDUIT FOR PROPHETIC MESSAGES FROM OUTER SPACE -- PERHAPS THE FIRST T-LEPATHIC C-ANNELER?

British historian W. Raymond Drake is one of the most careful researchers of the "Ancient Astronaut" theory which maintains aliens arrived on earth and interacted with the human ra-e throughout antiquity and in all parts of the globe. Author of a dozen works on the Space Go-s phenomenon, Drake's w ork complements that of Chariots of the -ods? by Erich Von D- n iken, his first book appearing in print prior to Von Da-iken's international bestseller.

In this work about the ancient Mediterranean's strange relationship with the Sky -ods, Drake utilized over fifty writers of antiquity and scrutinized their main works through a UFO "lens." His astute contributions regarding the Land of the G-ds have been expanded upon and updated by contemporary researchers Timothy B-ckley and Sean C-steel.

Questions That You Will Find Answered. . .

Did giants from space establish a UFO base atop the picturesque Mount Olympus?

Were they the go-s and g-ddesses of "Mythology" idolized and given names such as Apollo, Hades, Athena, Hermes, Zeus, Artemis and Hestia?

Did the powerful deities of Greece help save Athens from being invaded by the mighty armies of Atlantis in 10,000 BC?

Is there reason to believe that the Greeks and Trojans were inspired to fight for the beautiful Helen, surely a space queen?

Do the great plays and sublime philosophies of the supreme thinkers of the ages show a reverence for the g-ds' who intervened at Marathon and Salamis, sending flying shields to aid Alexander storming the walls of Tyre?

Did a UFO encountered near Troy save the army of Lucullus from destruction?

Were omens observed in the sky just before the murder of Caesar?

How does one explain the manifestation of mysterious voices and apparitions in the heavens as Hannibal ravaged Italy?

In a marvelous update, recent activities, including encounters with humanoids and men in black-like individuals, are taken into consideration offering proof that the ancient aliens of antiquity are returning to their original haunts and are guaranteed to make open contact soon!

White House Says: "No UFO Cover-Up"

The White House has responded to two petitions asking the US government to formally acknowledge that aliens have visited Earth and to disclose to any intentional withholding of government interactions with extraterrestrial beings.

"The U.S. government has no evidence that any life exists outside our planet, or that an extraterrestrial presence has contacted or engaged any member of the human race," said Phil Larson from the White House Office of Science & Technology Policy, on the WhiteHouse.gov website. "In addition, there is no credible information to suggest that any evidence is being hidden from the public's eye."

5,387 people had signed the petition for immediately disclosing the government's knowledge of and communications with extraterrestrial beings, and 12,078 signed the request for a formal acknowledgement from the White House that extraterrestrials have been engaging the human race.

"Hundreds of military and government agency witnesses have come forward with testimony confirming this extraterrestrial presence," the second petition states. "Opinion polls now indicate more than 50% of the American people believe there is an extraterrestrial presence and more than 80% believe the government is not telling the truth about this phenomenon. The people have a right to know. The people can handle the truth."

These petitions come from an Obama Administration initiative called 'We the People' which has White House staffers respond and consider taking action on any issue that receives at least 25,000 online signatures. Regarding these two petitions, the White House promised to respond if the petitions got 17,000 or more signatures by Oct. 22.

Larson stressed that the facts show that there is no credible evidence of extraterrestrial presence here on Earth. He pointed out that even though many scientists have come to the conclusion that the odds of life somewhere else in the Universe are fairly high, the chance that any of them are making contact with humans are extremely small, given the distances involved.

But that doesn't mean we aren't searching, there is just no evidence yet. Larson mentioned SETI (correctly noting that this at first was a NSA effort, but is now funded privately) keeping an "ear" out for signals from any intelligent extraterrestrials, with none found so far. He also added that the Kepler spacecraft is searching for Earth-like planets in the habitable zones around other stars, and that the Curiosity rover will launch to Mars this month to "assess what the Martian environment was like in the past to see if it could have harbored life."

Regarding any evidence for alien life, all anyone has now is "statistics and speculation," said Larson. "The fact is we have no credible evidence of extraterrestrial presence here on Earth."

Whether or not this will appease or satisfy any conspiracy theorists or UFO believers is yet to be seen, but it is gratifying to see the White House respond in such a no-nonsense manner.

UPDATE: The Paradigm Research Group, one of the organizations sponsoring the petitions, has issued a statement saying, "As expected it was written by a low level staffer from the Office of Science and Technology Policy - research assistant Phil Larson. The response was unacceptable."

JW Although the government is saying this, they have actually been contacted by the space people many times.

Crews Rush to save Russian Mars Probe

The Russian Mars case has struck again. Since 1960, the Soviet Union and, later, Russia have launched 18 unmanned missions to Mars. Sixteen failed completely, and two returned data from the planet only briefly.

Now engineers are scrambling to save the country's latest attempt.

Known as Phobos-Grunt, the spacecraft, loaded with scientific instruments, lifted off early Wednesday Moscow time from the Baikonur Cosmodrome in Kazakhstan. The ambitious mission marked Russia's first attempt to send a spacecraft beyond Earth's orbit since a 1996 Mars probe crashed shortly after launch.

Phobos-Grunt was to land on one of the Red Planet's two small moons, scoop up half a pound of dirt ("grunt" is Russian for "soil"), and return this scientific prize to Earth.

But after reaching orbit around the Earth, the 15-ton spacecraft failed to fire its upper-stage rocket as scheduled. The craft is circling the Earth as mission engineers try to diagnose the problem and light the rocket.

"I'd bet even money these guys will pull it off," said James Oberg, a retired space shuttle engineer who closely watches the Russian space program. "Nothing irreversible has happened, they haven't burned up any fuel or jettisoned any tanks. They are in a safe parking orbit, so they're good for a few weeks."

Oberg said Russian mission controllers will attempt to start the rocket late Wednesday.

The Russian news service RIA quoted Vladimir Popovkin, head of the Russian space agency Roscosmos, as saying the rocket failure could be a software problem, which might be fixable. "This error can be corrected, and the flight can be continued," RIA quoted Popovkin as saying.
