Subject: More News From The C. Journal.
2012.

Mar. 20,

We should possibly call this News From The C. Journal part 5, but we'll call it More News Of The C. Journal, Part 1.

This talks about human invisibility.

Of course, according to me future humans do exist, so that should tell us that nothing life-ending ever did happen, and all our problems are eventually worked out. That's true except that there are a lot of loops and knots in quantum time travel, so who really knows? Perhaps we did make it, but perhaps we only made it because these future humans create this positive reality by manipulating us in 2012. Yes, this becomes the stuff of science fiction but-those UFOs are in our skies! They come from somewhere - or some when!

UFO Question Three: Why abductions and other frightening actions?

Answer: Laboratory research is certainly something humans do. Do the p-lice care if they frighten you if they take you in for questioning? Does a doctor care if he scares you as he tells you about a serious health condition? If he is a nice guy, he would rather not scare you, but he does his medical/scientific function with no problem, and some doctors don't really care if they scare you or not. Do humans mutilate and k-ll lab animals for research reasons? We of 2012 might not know every reason that time-aliens are abducting and researching Earth life forms, but this behavior is classically human. We really don't know if it is classically extraterrestrial.

UFO Question Four: There are human-looking aliens who are sometimes called "golden humans" or "Nordics" or "tall whites." These may be 3 separate groups or they may be different names for the same group. How come extraterrestrials from far-distant planets look so much like humans? Yes, perhaps humanoid r-ces were seeded across the galaxy. And how come other aliens look like human fetuses? Fetuses: Our own dear babies!

Answer: The simplest answer to the above questions is simply that these types of aliens are human! Perhaps the "golden humans" are from a mere 500 years ahead in "time." Perhaps the fetuses are from 10,000 years ahead in time. It may not be that the golden humans e-olved into fetuses, it may be that the human family tree continued to branch out as it always has. Thus we Homo sapiens do not look like Neanderthals, although it is obvious we are of the same general biological family.

To me, it is obvious that the golden humans and the fetuses are of our general biological family. Neither of them are Homo sapiens because many years have passed for them, and ev-lution moved on, branching, ever branching. Homo sapiens is hopefully not the last of the Family Tree, our tree will likely continue to grow.

Of course if time can be traveled in any "direction," then perhaps the golden humans or the fetuses are from way back in time. The myths of g-ds and go-desses as well as the elongated heads of ancient Egyptian rulers, and so many other ancient astronaut concepts, suggest that time travelers were back in ancient time, too. Is their "native time" in ancient days or future days? "When" do they come from?

UFO Question Five: Why don't the aliens just tell us where they are from and what they are doing? They have probably made an agreement with Earth g-vernments not to deal directly with the human populace, but perhaps there is another reason.

Answer: It is actually easier to fathom that extraterrestrials got in their space ships and zoomed to Earth in a straight line, than it is to tackle the huge enigmas, paradoxes, knots, and conundrums of time traveling humans. The concept of time-alien is really mind-blowing, bringing with it so many quantum possibilities which completely demolish our perception of reality itself. Perhaps the future humans just don't feel we can handle it, or not yet. However, the many crises confronting Earth at present, I believe, demand that these time-alien reveal themselves soon. That is a huge subject for another day.

I do not deny the existence of human-looking folk from the Pleiades or Zeta Reticuli or where-ever, and I know certain exo-histories have been theorized to explain various questions. I feel that the galaxy and the universe are so overwhelmingly vast and strange, that just about every theory ever produced, is probably true in some manner, shape or form.

What I am saying is that so many questions are answered quite simply if we consider that many of the UFO occupants are from our own Earth family tree, whether 5,000 years ahead or 20,000 years behind. "Time" is cyclical anyway and simply does not exist as a fixed solid.

I hope that in our near future, we who are fascinated with UFO occupants, will consider them as possible humans from Earth more seriously than we presently do. The idea is there within us, but we tend to just skim right over it. I feel it is, in fact, a big part of The Answer.

I also feel we don't have to understand every nuance of quantum time travel in order to handle the fact that we are being visited and watched by ourselves. Perhaps we are even guided by ourselves, not as individuals (although that might be also), but as an evol-ing species.

Pogo the Opossum used to say, "I have met the enemy and he is us." Perhaps one day soon we will say, "I have met the UFO occupant and she is us."

- HOW NOT TO BE SEEN DEPARTMENT -

Spontaneous Human Invisibility
by Stephen W-gner

Incredible accounts of people who suddenly become completely invisible.

A WOMAN NAMED Melanie in Ventura, California had a strange experience while sitting on her own living room sofa. While just staring at the wall, she became, she believes, invisible. Her husband walked around the house looking for her. He even walked right by her - just a few feet away - and did not see her. The episode lasted about 10 minutes, then suddenly she was visible again.

This unusual story is one of several documented by Donna Higbee who is conducting extensive, ongoing research into a phenomenon she calls Human Spontaneous Involuntary Invisibility. According to the anecdotes Higbee tells at her website, The Research and Writings of Donna Higbee, people suddenly and unexpectedly become invisible. They don't seem to feel any differently when this occurs, and they can see and move around normally, just as if nothing has changed. Yet other people don't see them. They are ignored - totally - as if they aren't there.

The victims of this bizarre phenomenon attest that the experience is not the same as being ignored. Certainly, most of us have had feelings of being invisible in awkward moments at social occasions. But this experience is far different.

One of the anecdotes Higbee relates, in fact, takes place at a party. A 37-year-old man goes into a bathroom and comes out, apparently, totally invisible. He attempts to engage in conversation with several people, including his own girlfriend, but is ignored completely. He asks her for a cigarette, but receives no response. At first he thinks they are playing a joke on him and so returns to the bathroom in a-ger. When he comes out again, it's as if nothing had happened. Everything is back to normal and he could be seen again.

Higbee has collected several of these stories, and in every case the phenomenon takes place spontaneously, without warning, lasts a few minutes, and then ends. Several people have fallen victim to the invisibility more than once - they seem to be susceptible to it. She has even heard from people who claim to be able to occasionally control their invisibility at will.

Daniel S. felt he became invisible one day when he was with some friends who were setting off firecrackers. Daniel wanted them to stop because he was afraid the cops would show up and check IDs. This especially meant trouble for him because he had several unpaid tickets in his name. He was fearful of going to jail and losing his job. The police did show up, and they checked everyone's ID - except Daniel's:

"The cops started at the other end of the line (there were two lines, one in front of the other) of people. I was standing behind a friend, who was a girl. The cop asked each person to hand him their IDs as he passed down the line. Then he would take the ID and call in each person. I was the last one in the behind line. I was also the largest person there. I was even larger than the policemen. The cop never even acted like he saw me. He never asked me for my ID. Neither of the two cops paid any attention to me. All of my friends, except the two who were taken in by the police, thought I had left. Many asked me afterward where I went to hide. I told all of them that I was there. No one would believe me."

Higbee offers no explanations for the phenomenon, yet wonders if it is in any way related to the powers claimed by yogis and practiced members of the Rosicrucians, both of whom say that human invisibility is not only possible, but controllable. Higbee raises the possibility that this invisibility might somehow correlate to the experiences of UFO abductees. In the cases of many abductees, their abductors not only seem to be able to become visible and invisible at will, but the abductees themselves are often rendered invisible by their alien captors, transporting them through closed windows and solid walls all the way up to the spaceships which, themselves, may be capable of invisibility.
