I believe you will find that the good type space people called the Andronamins have interviened and have told to Greys to straighten up their act or be force to leave Earth. The Grey have changed their plans and are now working with the Galactic Federation but then I could be wrong.

In her senior year of high school, Michele remembers that one of her friends became pregnant and left school to care for her infant at home. When Michele first saw the baby she became hysterical -- so much so that her mother had to come and get her. It was then that she started "remembering things."
Michele remembers feeling that she, too, had a baby. This was foolish, of course, since she had not even dated a boy. But she began to believe this more and more. A year earlier she had suddenly stopped having her period and thought nothing of it. Several months later she recalled having a bloody discharge that initially scared her, but she kept it to herself. Later her regular period returned. It made no sense to her, but the idea of having had a baby persisted.

She began to "see" mental vignettes which she described as "like scenes from a movie trailer" where she was being shown an infant which was then taken away from her. The emotion she felt when recalling these memories was so strong she would start to cry. Eventually she became obsessed with the memories and confided in her parents. They then sought psychiatric help for her.
Under hypnosis, her therapist sought to revive the truth of what happened to her in her younger years. It is common for girls to repress things like a r-pe or s-xual abuse. But when she began to recall the on-going events in her life it was obvious that something more extraordinary was happening.

"There was a small person I call the 'face' because his face used to scare me. He had big eyes and was really skinny. But he talked to me -- I mean he could send me thoughts -- and he would tell me that I would be ok and that I was special. There were other small people who would do things to me but always the 'face' would be with me and tell me that no one was going to hurt me. They would put me on some kind of bed or table and then they would touch me with instruments like in an operation. I don't remember getting hurt but I was afraid. Some times I would be in a small room and I would see the 'face' and I would suddenly know what was going to happen, like I had done that before. I think it has happened many times."

When she was asked to recall her memories about the baby, Michele got very emotional.

"One time the 'face' took me to a different place. It was much bigger than the room with the bed. It was like a waiting room with chairs. Then another small person came into the room -- she looked more like a person, but had different eyes -- and she held a small baby girl and showed it to me. It was a beautiful baby girl. I asked if I could hold her and the person with the baby looked, as if to ask permission from the 'face' and the answer was no -- but they held her close to me so I could touch her and she grabbed one of my fingers. She looked like she was sick or something. Then the being took her away. I remember I started to cry when they took her away but the 'face' told me that I would see her again. I kind of knew it was my baby but I didn't remember ever having a baby. It was confusing. The 'face' said that I would understand some day. He once made me look at his face, which was horrible. When I looked at his big eyes it was like watching television. I had a movie inside my head and the earth was on fire and lots of people were d-ad. I didn't understand why he made me see such sad things."

Michele is now in her mid-30s, married and has children of her own. Her youngest daughter, now 7 years old, knows nothing about Michele's past and yet has started to exhibit similar behavior, suggesting that she is also being abducted. Abduction experts say that it is common for aliens to be interested in specific genetic lines.

Michele is at an impasse now, not knowing whether to discuss such things with her young daughter for fear of traumatizing her. Michele also believes that her own abductions are continuing. She often finds herself "waking up" in different rooms of her home, or outside, with no memory of having intentionally walked there.

The abduction procedure

<http://www.viewzone.com/event88.aliexam.jpg>

Abductees can be any age and in any environment when they are abducted. Typically they are rendered immobile by some type of tele-athic process and then moved to a waiting vehicle which is nearby.

When the abductee is secure in the alien vehicle, their clothes are usually removed in a separate chamber before being moved into the examination room.

The abductee is made to lie down on a table.

There is often a "handler" -- a being with whom the abductee is familiar -- who assures them that everything is ok, no harm will come to them and that they are "special".

The "exam" usually starts with an alien who places hands on the abductees body. Many report that they feel very uncomfortable when this happens. Then other beings approach the table and begin poking and scraping the skin with various instruments. The focus of the aliens appears to be on the health of the abductee and their sexual organs. Many males report that an apparatus is placed on their penis and they are stimulated to ejaculate, at which time their sperm is collected. Women (and girls) report that they are often subjected to invasive procedures during which eggs are taken or, in some cases, actual fetuses are implanted or removed.

Before being released, some female abductees report being shown infants and asked to interact with them. Others have reported seeing what can be described as "hybrids" who look human-like and can be of varying ages from toddlers to teenage in appearance. Often abductees are shown "movies" on a screen or have scenes projected in their mind. The scenes can be of ordinary life (barbecues, playing in the park) or, more often than not, depict tragedies and disasters in which many people are killed.

The abductee is brought back to the first chamber where they are dressed and then transported back to the site of their initial abduction.

Within seconds of being returned to their initial abduction site, the abductees awaken and remember nothing that has just happened to them.

The abduction phenomenon is a traumatic one and usually is not welcomed by the abductee. It is rare to have a real abduction victim consider themselves "lucky" or "special". Instead they live with a secret they cannot share with others and the constant fear that they can be taken by aliens at any time and subjected to intimate and invasive procedures without understanding the purpose or nature of the abductions.

Alien Agenda

It's looking more and more like the ultimate plan of the aliens is to create a hybrid species that can adapt to the climate and environment of our planet. Specifically, the alien hybrids are being designed to appear more human like and there is evidence from various encounters that some hybrids are already living among us now and successfully manipulating science and culture in preparation for their eventual take over of the planet.

<http://www.viewzone.com/event88.aliengirl.gif>

I know this sounds like science fiction, but it fits logically with what has been observed. Abductees report that hybrids look very human like except for their eyes, and often report that hybrids wear colored contact lenses to remedy this anomaly.

So the big question is, why are they secretly creating hybrids and what are their intentions?

Dr. Jacobs explored this issue in a recent interview on godlike productions radio and painted a dismal picture of the future of humanity which he derived from the changing nature of his patients' abduction regression sessions. Abductees report seeing hybrid toddlers, teens and even adults who so closely resemble humans that they are now apparently living among us.

<http://socioecohistory.wordpress.com/2010/09/21/professor-david-jacobs-alien-abductions-hybrids-integration/>

In some amazing stories, abductees are shown movies where people are standing in line, walking down streets or having a picnic. The alien being then asks them if they can tell if the people in these movies are real humans or hybrids.

Apparently other abductees have been made to teach hybrids and explain how to behave like a human and to understand various aspects of human culture.

In one amazing story, an abductee reported being made to drive two alien hybrids to an apartment complex where he was taken inside an apartment unit and made to arrange newly purchased furniture in a manner consistent with human living. He reported that the hybrids had absolutely no idea where a kitchen table, bed, sofa or pillows should be placed.

Dr. Jacob has spent 35 years studying the abduction phenomenon and has regressed hundreds of abductees. He feels certain that the intentions of the aliens is to build a critical mass of hybrids and then, when they are ready, a "trigger event" will disable our infrastructure and culture, allowing the hybrids to initiate their planned takeover of the planet.

Yes, it does sound a bit woo-woo... but the evidence seems to support this idea. The projected visions of an earthly catastrophe, increasingly shown to abductees before their release, appears connected to the trigger event and Dr. Jacobs believes that this should happen relatively soon.
