Subject: Are We In Something Like A Bird Cage? Part 2 of 2.
2012

May 23,

This talks about being in green pastures.

We are own jurors and we are our own judges here in this universe. There is no one or nothing that presides over us throughout our journey but we ourselves. Understand this reality and it will solve so many of the problems, struggles and hardships that you experience. Throughout your long journey there have been many instances where you have felt you needed to learn a certain lesson or reach a certain understanding. You therefore devised means to reach this end that you felt necessary for your advancement and your upliftment. Imposing scenarios such as the one you are currently enwrapped in is one of the methods you have chosen to teach yourself these lessons.

Your current lives and situations have not been imposed upon you by a higher or even equal power. They have been imposed upon you by you, and therefore they can also be dissolved by you just as well. This is what we wish to allow you to see and to understand at this time. You possess the power, and all the power that is necessary, to remove the bars that you have placed around yourself and free your mind, your body and your s-irit for once and forever and soar beyond the limits of this cage you are calling your home.

We will help you do this if this is what you wish, and we await your choice. It is not our choice, it is not our decision, it is not our right to impose our will upon you. We await your command that it is time for you to experience something else, something bigger, something better, something freer. If this is what you command, then this is what you shall experience.

Each and every one of you must choose for yourself as no one else can choose for you. These are the rules, and these rules have been set up to allow you all the freedom that you deserve and that is rightfully yours as you experience your own journey. These guidelines have been set up in such a way as to protect each and every being while they journey out through this vast universe, and understanding this will allow so many of you who yet to see that there is nothing or no one that is your mortal enemy, as you can have no enemy that you do not create yourself.

It is your creation, the life that you are living, and it is your right to change it at will any time you feel that you wish to experience something else. If it is more challenges that you wish to experience, then it is more challenges that you shall have. If it is more fun, adventure, excitement and surprises, then this too you shall have. It is all up to you. There is no other way, and there is no one else making these choices for you. This is what we wish you to understand fully at this time. There is no one and there is nothing imprisoning you here in this limited 3rd dimensional world but you and your own desire to be imprisoned here, and it is your choice to end this way of life that you have become so accustomed to and move on to bigger and brighter pastures sprawling within this universe.

We are at your command as well, and we will do what we can to allow you to grow just what field you wish to walk through next. If it is the closing out of this paradigm and the beginning of the new for you, then this is what you shall experience. We will not provide for you anything that you do not wish to experience, and we will not keep from you anything that you wish to experience as well. This is our promise to you, our solemn vow, and we will not break it for anyone or for any reason. Move on now past this current tangled field of overgrown, thorny vine and place your feet upon the beautifully manicured lawns of your new field of dreams, hope and wonderful adventure, for it is here in this sundrenched pasture that you belong. Say I wish to place my feet upon this new pasture and it will be so, and you will feel this new pasture grow beneath your feet.

We are the Galactic Federation of Light.
