Tonight - Tuesday the 28th of July 1992 at about 9:40 p.m. I was a passenger in my husband's car. We had gone to the dump and we were on our way back out to the road. We were just getting up to the area where they throw the refrigerators and other metal when a bright amber light caught my attention. It was basically a little to our left and as we were driving we came more to facing towards it. It was roundish in shape. There was only the one light. It was not overly large - 8" across possibly but that depends on distance. I couldn't tell the depth. There seemed to be this streak of light from the top of it. We kept driving thinking that we would get closer to it but as we drove it disappeared. We turned around as we thought that it was hidden behind a tree but when we went back it was gone. We probably saw it for 30 seconds or so. It seemed to be quite a distance from us. It did not seem to be moving.
