

DATE DUE

DATE RETURNED

I THINK
THEY WANT...
MILITARY ADVISERS....

R. COBB

©1968 R. COBB ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

*Raw Savage Unprocessed Cartoons
R. Cobb*

CONSULT ASTROLOGY FOR SERIOUS DECISIONS?
OH, NO - ONLY AS A JOKE

WASSERMAN © '88 THE BOSTON GLOBE PIST BY L.A. TIMES SYNDICATE

THE REAL REASON REAGAN WON'T FIRE MEESE...

"...AND SO WHEN NORTH IS IN THE
HOUSE OF CONTRA AND JUPITER ALIGNS WITH BUSH..."

© 1988 Newsday

MacNelly
Chicago Tribune

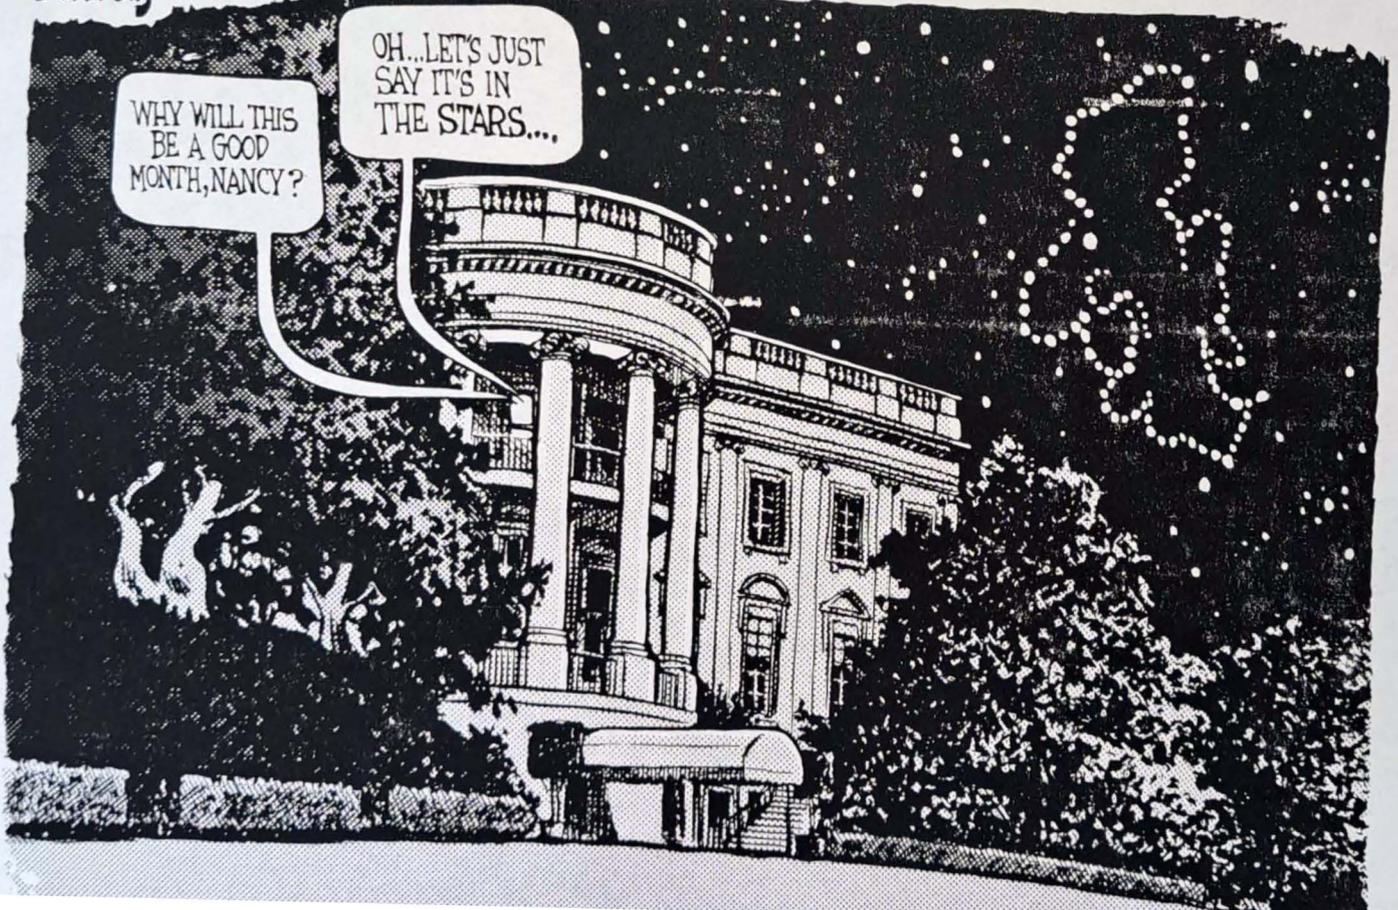

Chicago Tribune

Day

Bill Day
Detroit Free Press
Tribune News Service

Detroit Free Press

Osrin

Cleveland Plain Dealer

WHEN THE MOON IS IN THE 7th HOUSE...

AND JUPITER ALIGNS WITH MARS...

THE MAMA AND THE PAPA

OSRIN '88

Marlette
"WE HAVE NOTHING TO FEAR BUT FEAR ITSELF!"

"THE BUCK STOPS HERE!"

"ASK NOT WHAT YOUR COUNTRY CAN DO FOR YOU..."

Atlanta Constitution

"WHAT'S YOUR SIGN?"

MARLETTE ©1988 THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

Basset

Atlanta Journal

BASSET ATLANTA JOURNAL COO

"NOW HERE'S THE PLAN."

Arizona Republic

Benson

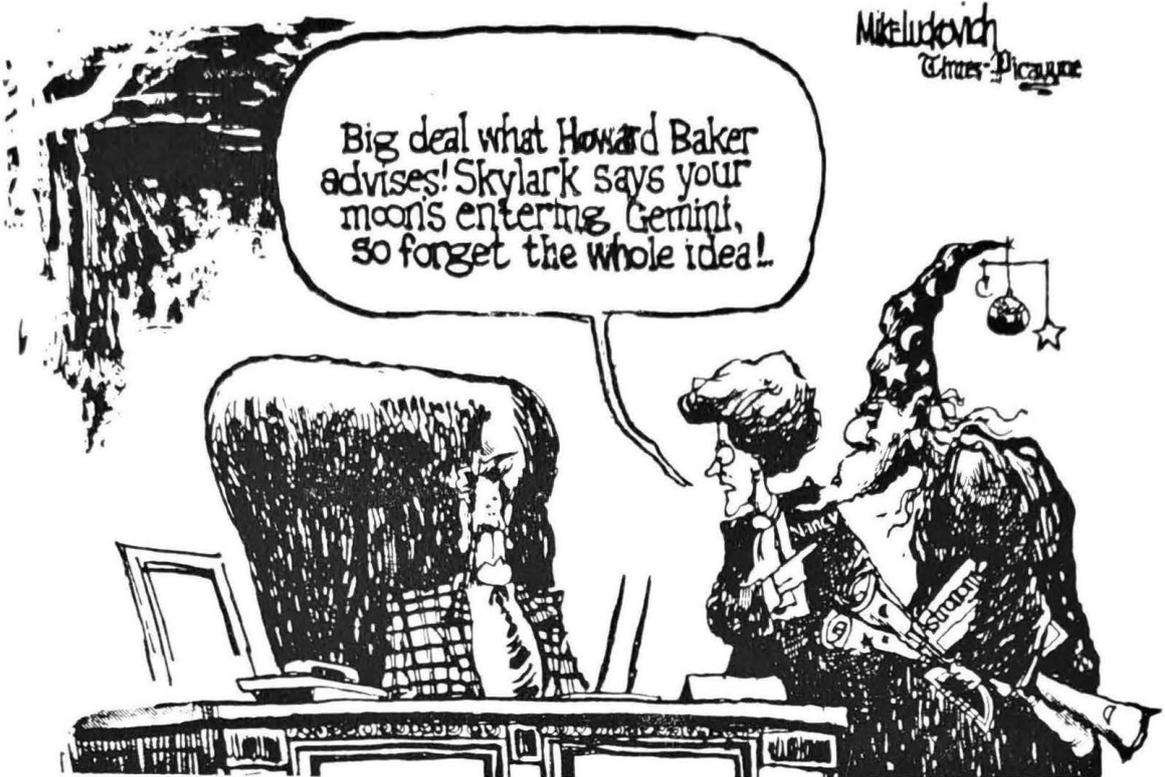

Benson

Luckovich

New Orleans Times-Picayune

Rosen

Albany Knickerbocker News

Wasserman

Boston Globe

SIR... I DON'T THINK THAT'S WHAT HE MEANT BY EXPLORING MARS TOGETHER

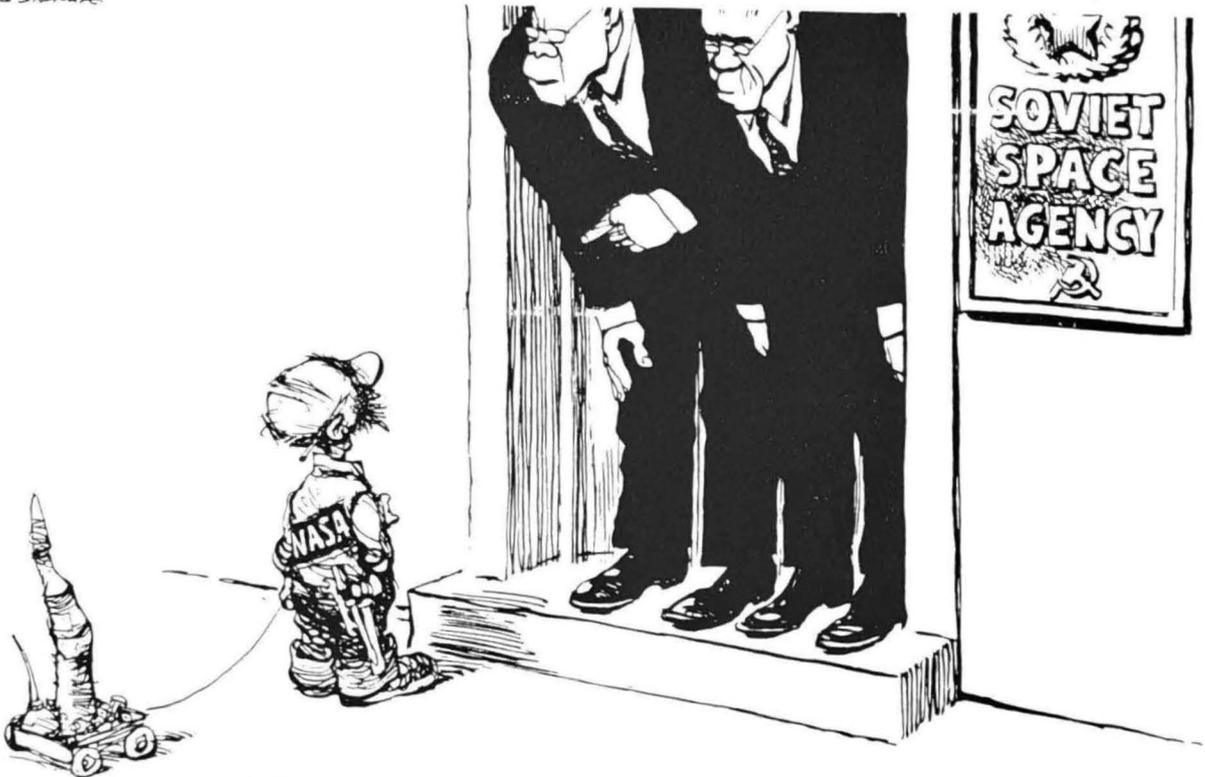

Oliphant

Universal Press Syndicate

© 1988 UNIVERSAL PRESS SYNDICATE

Oliphant

DO?? HE CAN GET MORTON THICKOL ON THE PHONE ZAP JUST LIKE THAT!

Trever

Albuquerque Journal

TREVER ALBUQUERQUE JOURNAL

Dist. North America Syndicate Inc. 1987

"DON'T FORGET, AS SOON AS THE PHOTOGRAPHERS ARE GONE, REMOVE THE WARHEADS. THEY'LL COME IN HANDY FOR THE NEXT GENERATION OF MISSILES...."

Benson

Arizona Republic

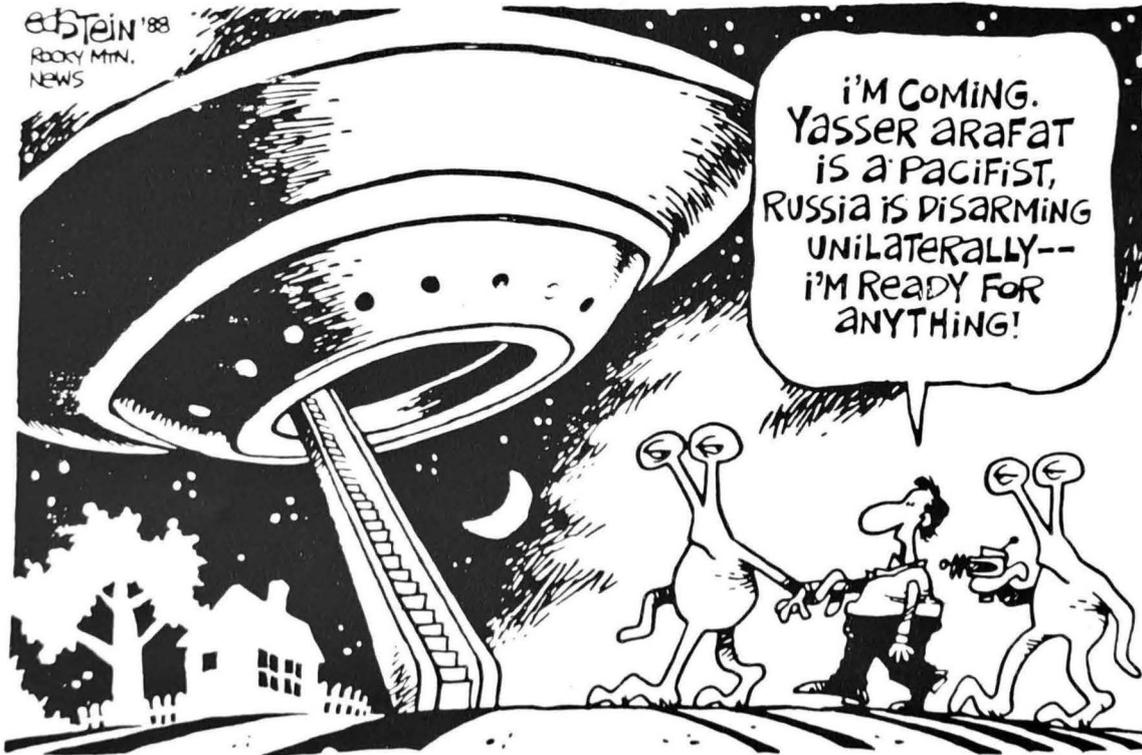

Gov. George Deukreagian

14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64 65 66 67 68 69 70 71 72 73 74 75 76 77 78 79 80 81 82 83 84 85 86 87 88 89 90 91 92 93 94 95 96 97 98 99 100

Stein

Rocky Mountain News

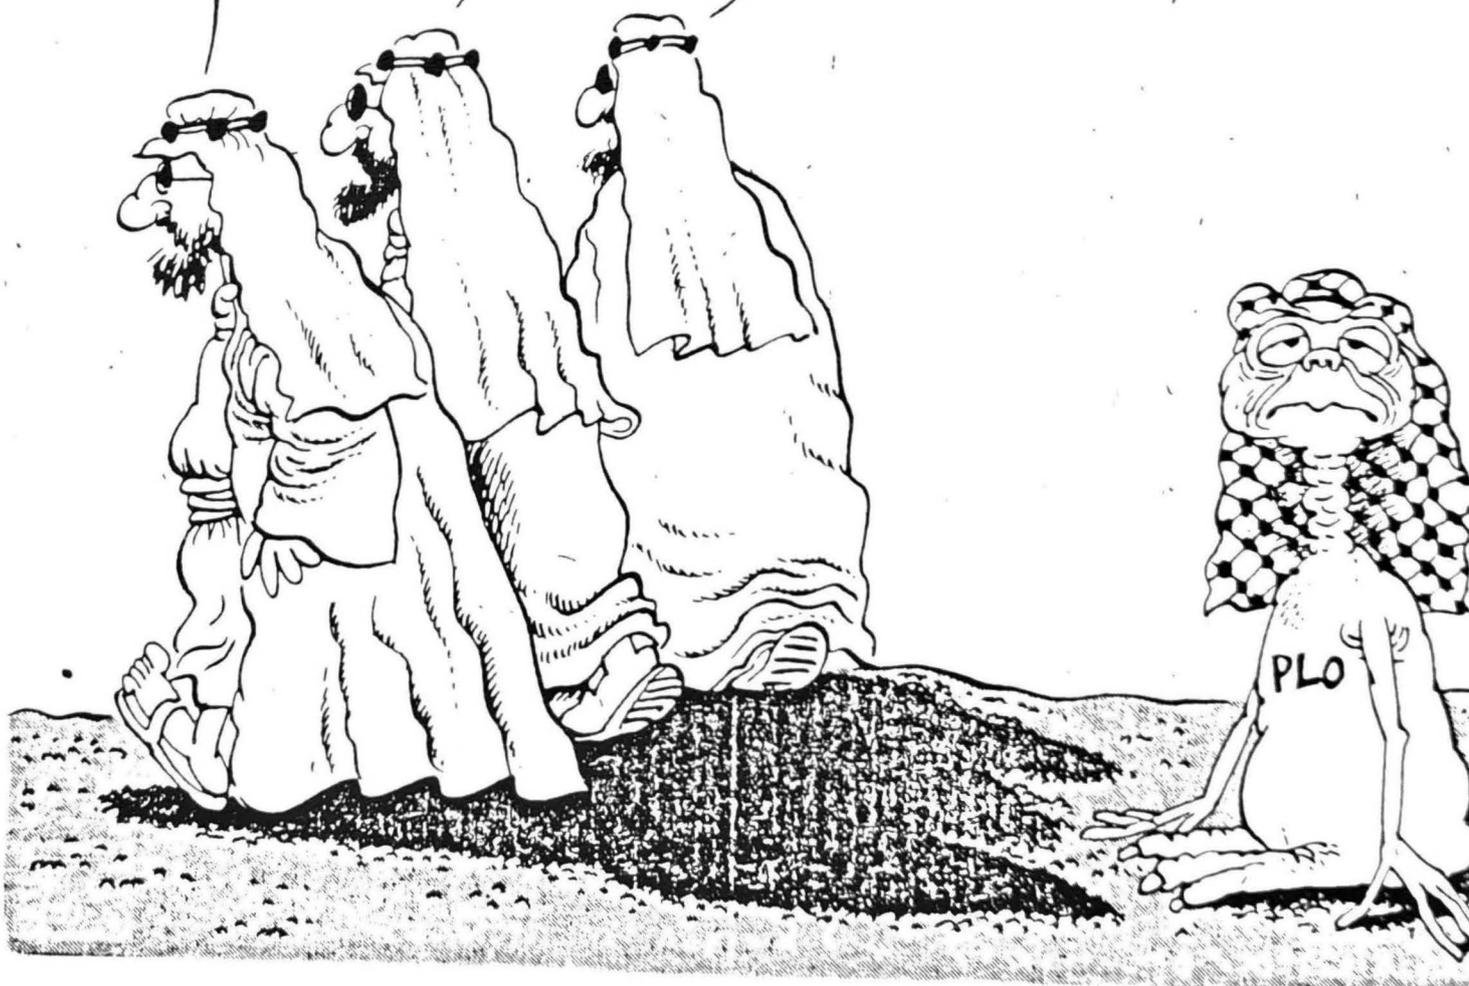

I DON'T WANT HIM!

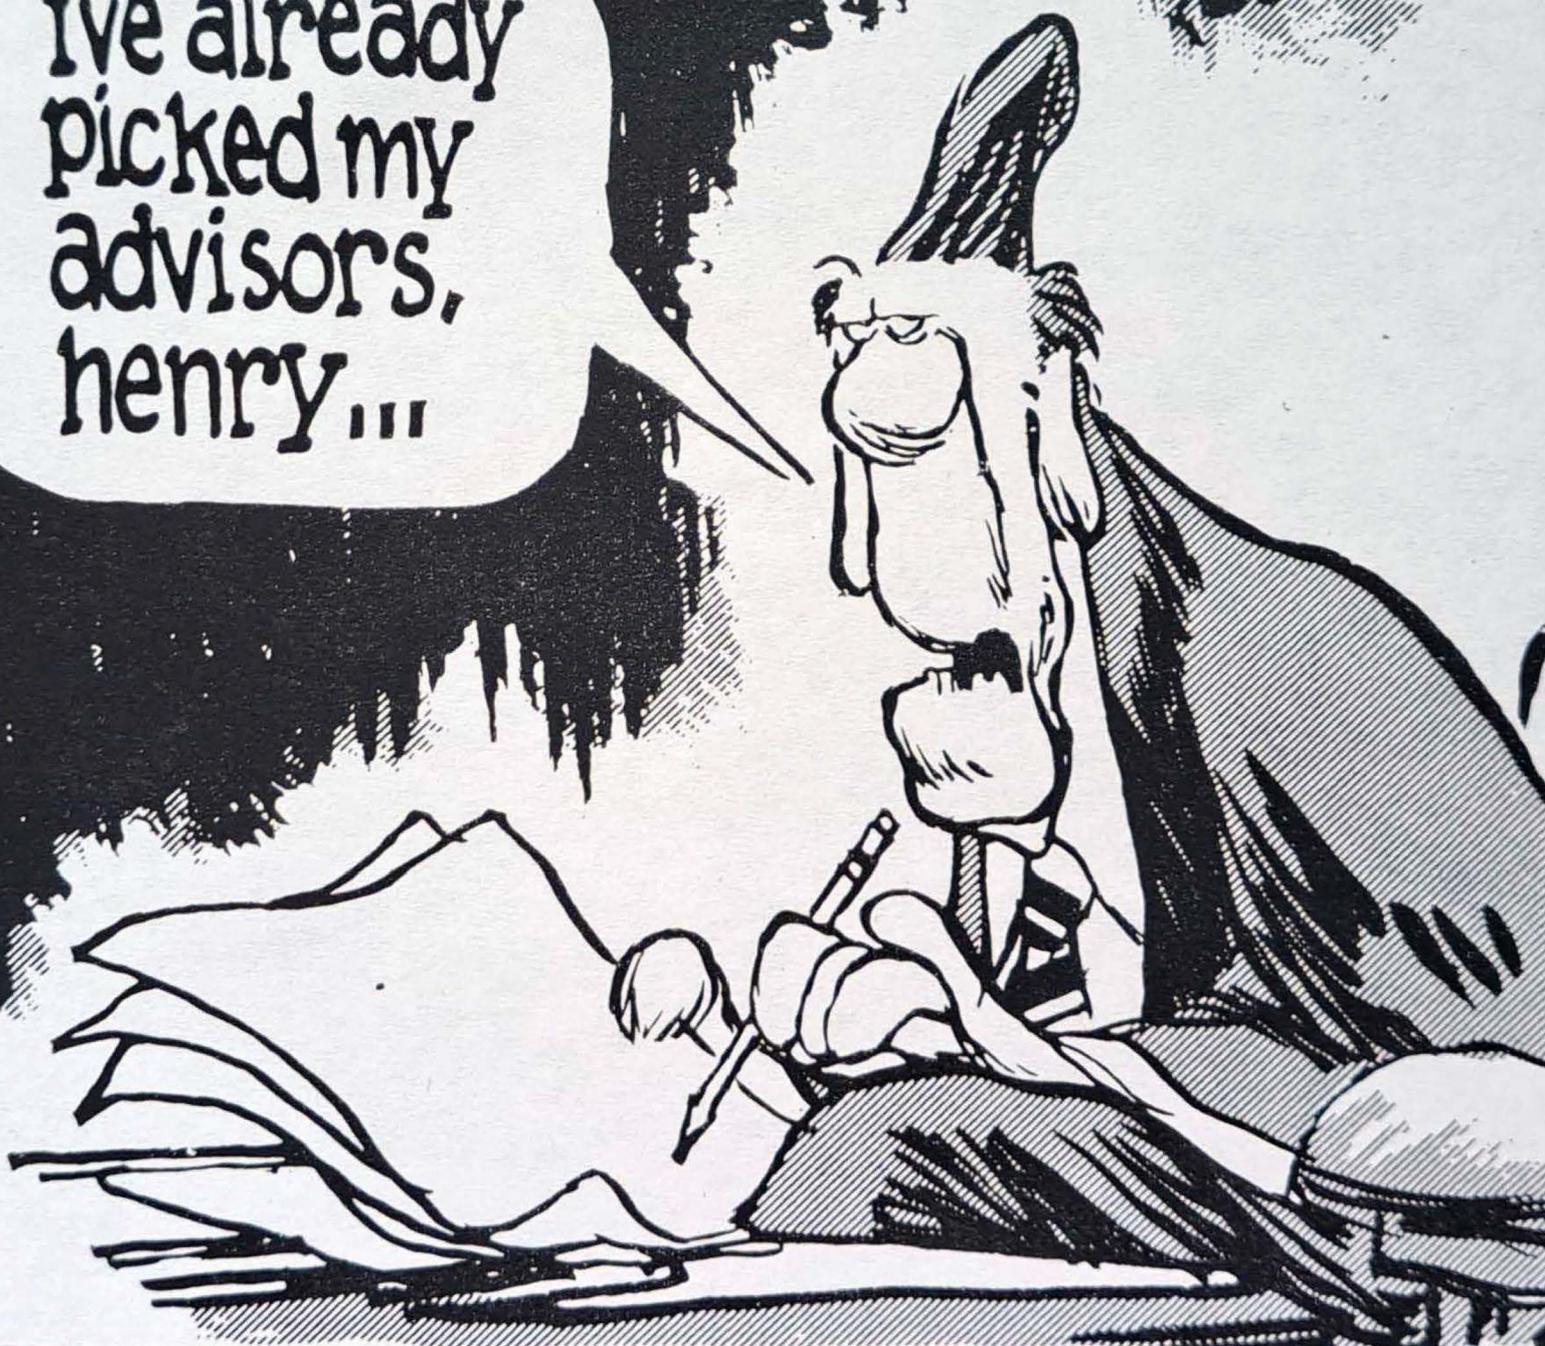

ME NEITHER!

FORGET IT!

BORONGLEHA!

ive already picked my advisors, henry...

More extensive

© 1981 DAYTON DAILY NEWS

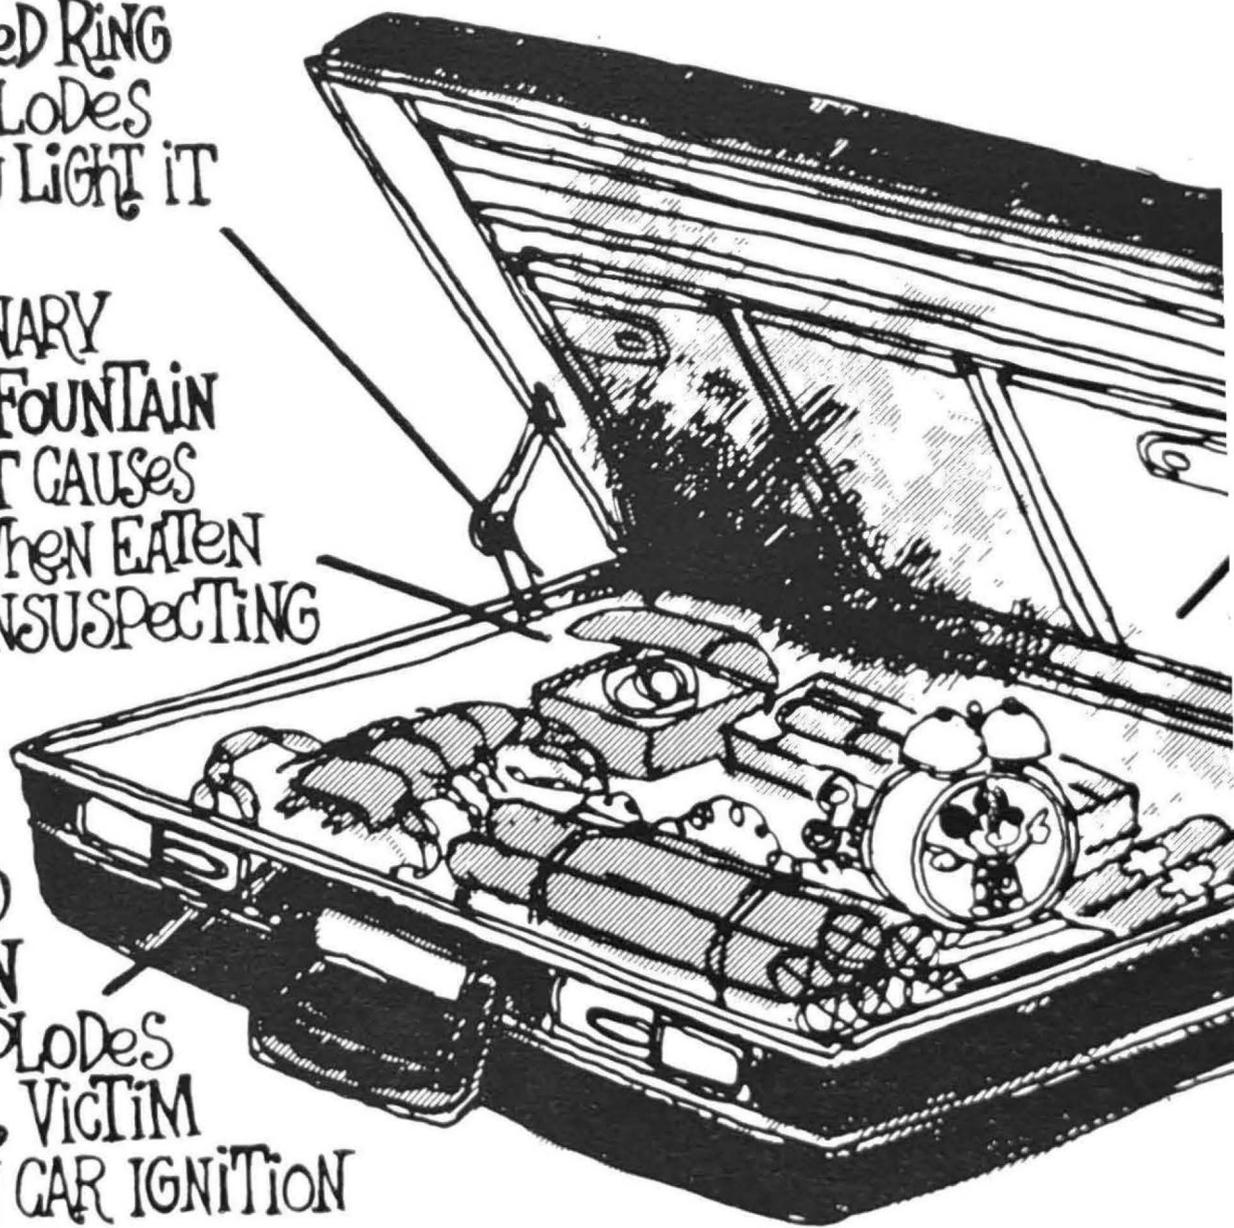

OK, NOW TRY IT...

OFFICIAL CIA ASSASSINA

A POISONED RING
THAT EXPLODES
WHEN YOU LIGHT IT

AN ORDINARY
LOOKING FOUNTAIN
PEN THAT CAUSES
DEATH WHEN EATEN
BY AN UNSUSPECTING VICTIM

A TRAINED
SCORPION
THAT EXPLODES
WHEN A VICTIM
TURNS ON CAR IGNITION

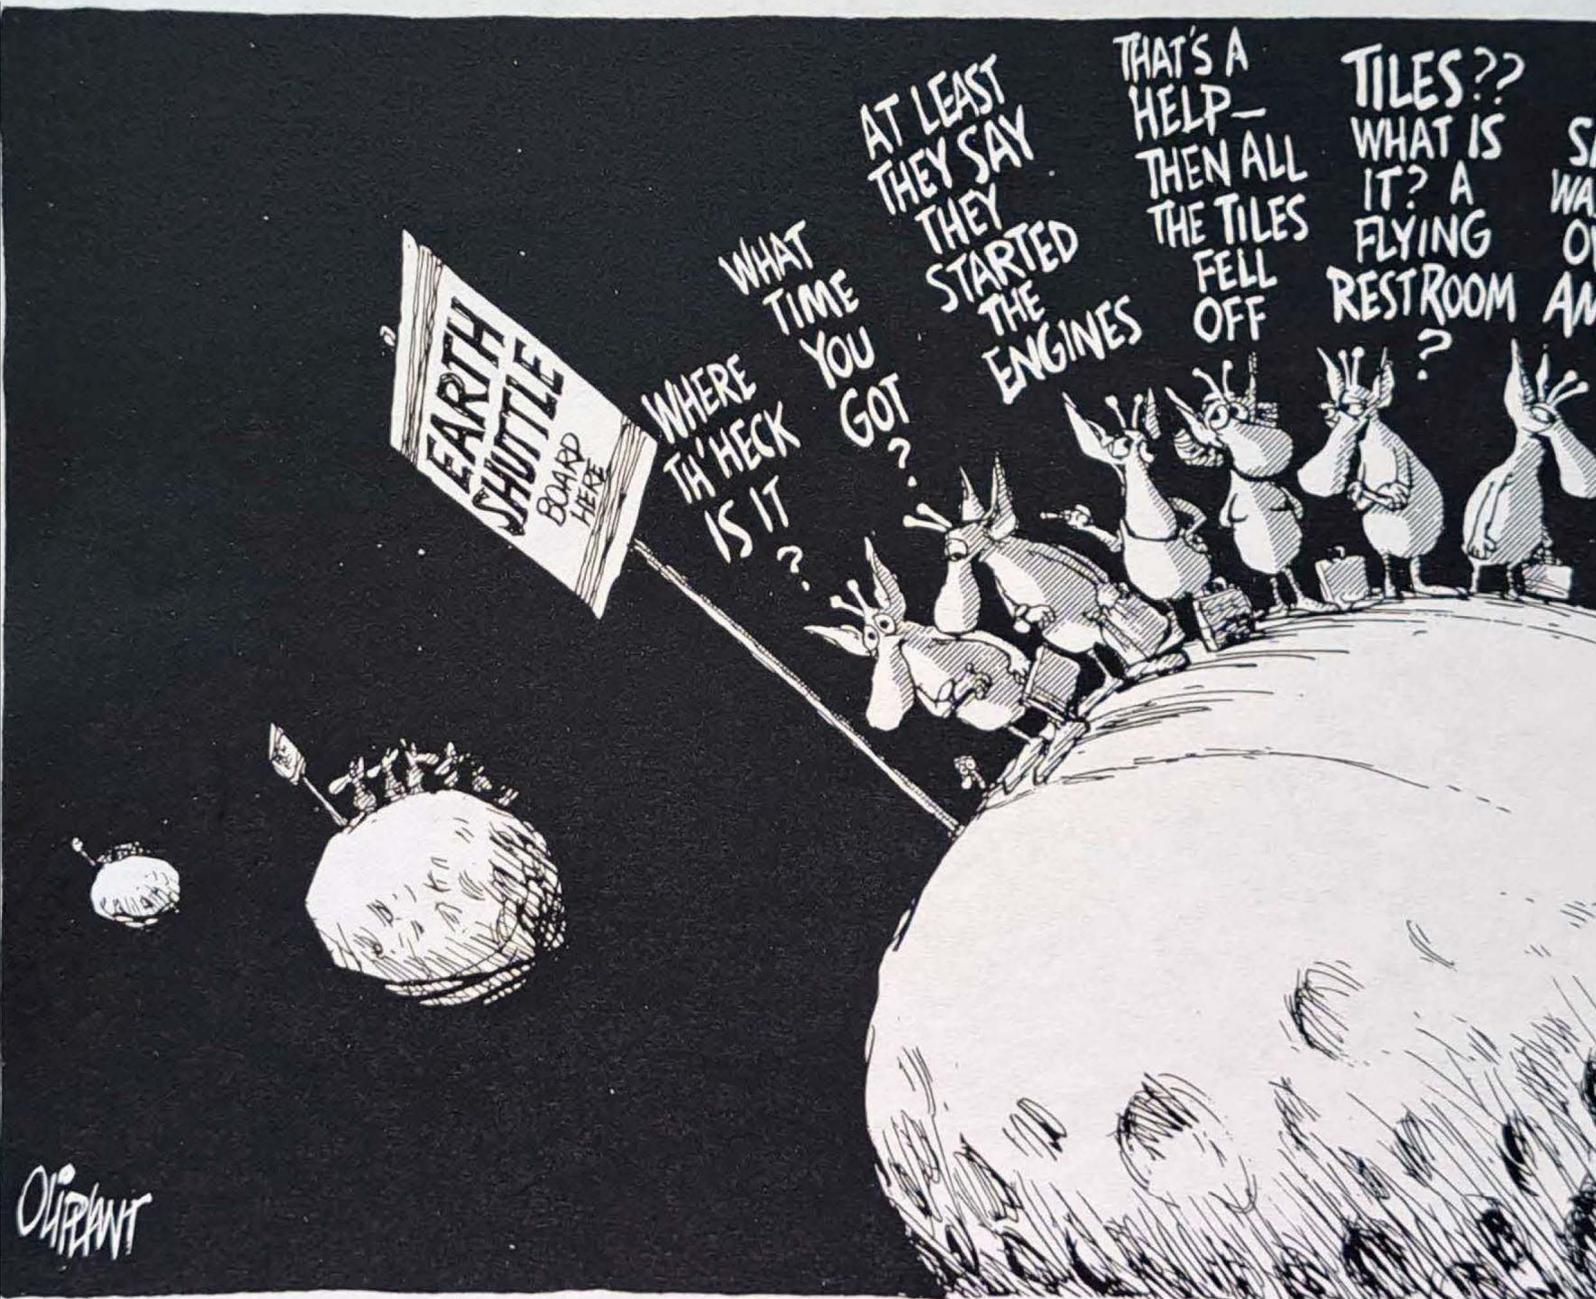

'WELL, YES, STRICTLY SPEAKING THE CIA'S JOB IS ABROAD. HOWEVER, WE WERE NEVER VERY GOOD AT THE OVERSEAS SPYING, SO THEY'VE DECIDED WE SHOULD STICK TO THIS DOMESTIC STUFF.'

'CUTTING DOWN ON FOOD STAMPS—THAT'S OUTRAGEOUS! MOST OF OUR LOWER RAN

SHUTTLEBUTT

'DO YOU THINK IT'S STILL HUNGRY . . . ?'

17. The Watergate Bug
 The widespread wiretapping, or "bugging," of offices during the Nixon administration is used here as a symptomatic symbol of the misuse of power. Nixon and Chief of Staff Robert Haldeman scheme in the corner as the "Watergate Bug" begins claiming victims, including L. Patrick Gray, acting director of the FBI, who resigned in April 1973.

SECURITY BLANKET

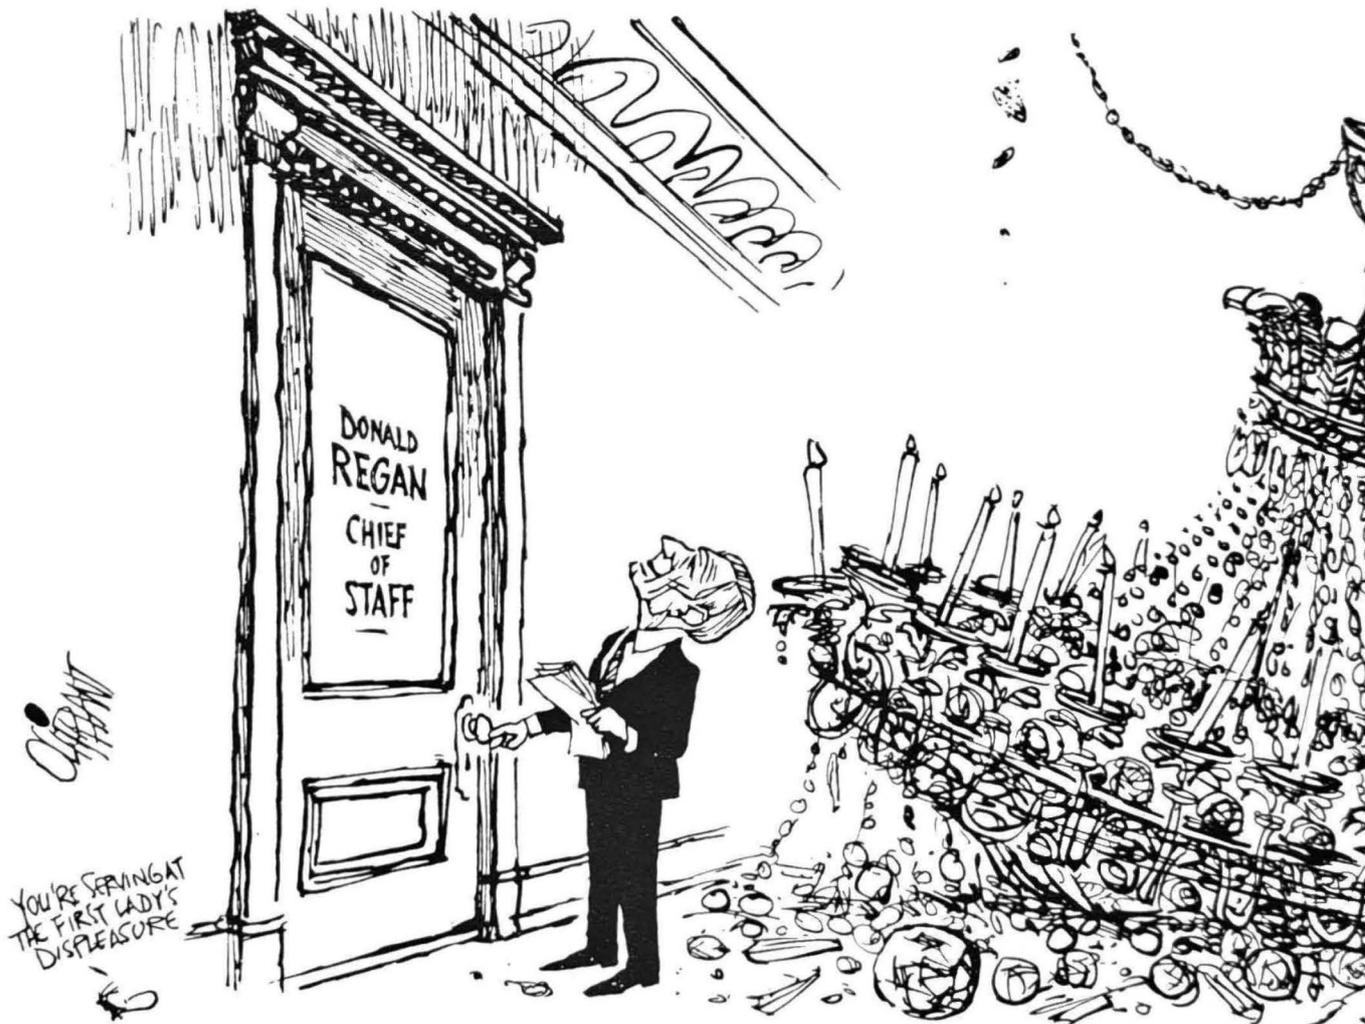

18. Security Blanket
 As the Watergate scandal grows, Nixon wraps himself in the defensive cloak of protecting "Sensitive National Secrets."

By the time of Nixon's resignation, the caricatured figure had become the essence of hardened corruption. In the cartoon Shopping for a Special Prosecutor (19), Nixon is portrayed as a pirate, an image of lifelong criminality where brutal and rapacious force is the only measure of dominance. The President had finally succeeded in firing special prosecutor Archibald Cox, although both the attorney general and his deputy resigned in protest. The cartoon summarizes Nixon's hope that he can find a "pet" prosecutor who will listen to instructions. It portrays not only an action but also a mental attitude towards the problems the President was facing.

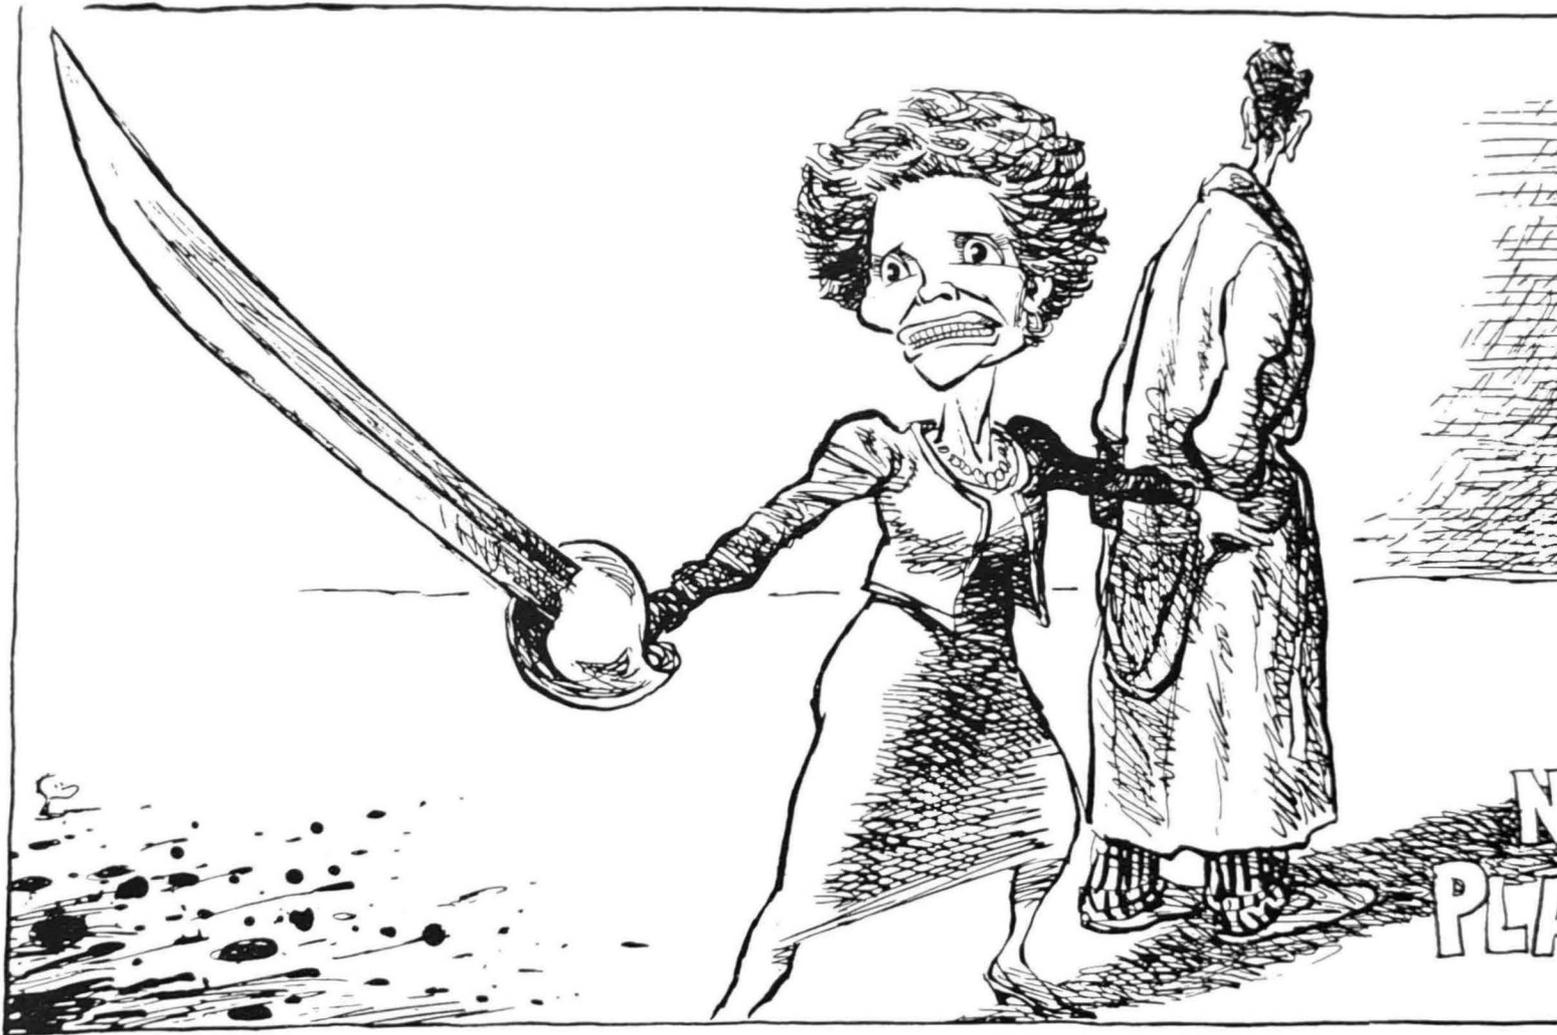

THE PRESIDENT'S ADVISER.

The power behind the throne.

'THAT MRS. REGAN - HEH, HEH - BOY, WHAT A KIDDER

Reportedly, Mrs. Reagan didn't like Donald Regan, the White House Chief of Staff, very much at all.

OUTRANT

ARE WE READY TO LAUNCH, GUYS?
I DONT HAVE MUCH TIME LEFT IN OFFICE

SDI RESEARCH
&
DEVELOPMENT

SOME WOULD SAY THAT AIN'T A BAD THING

HE WANTS TO PUSH THE BUTTON

BUTTON?

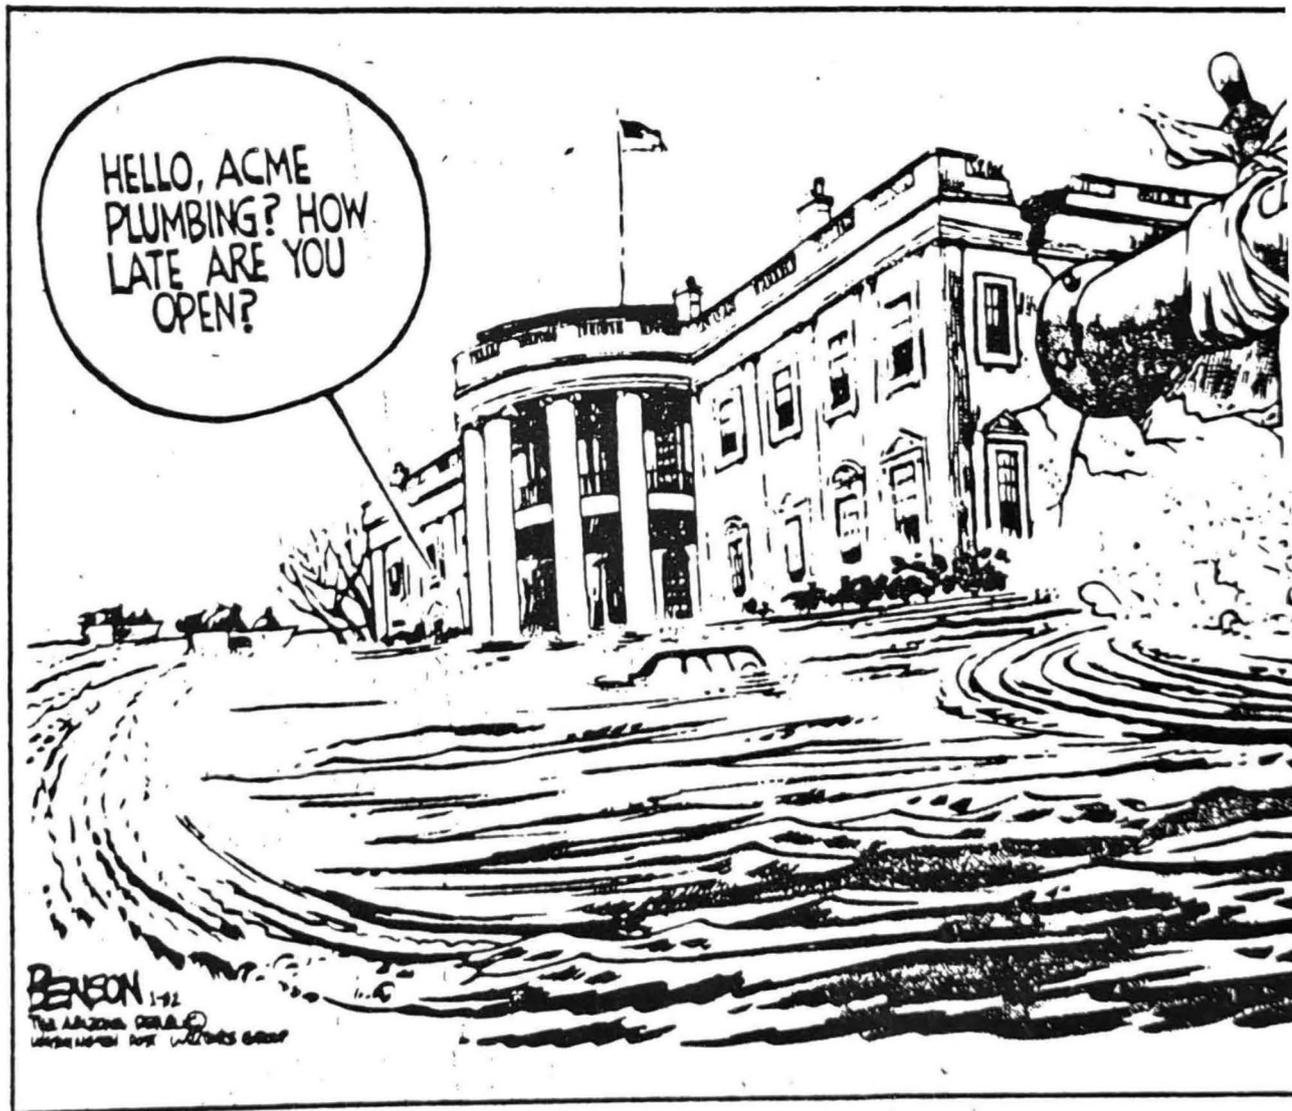

Space Defense Initiative — an idea ahead of its technology.

© 1993 Chicago Sun-Times

"Let's start shopping for hardware in Taiwan."

BENSON 1-92
THE ARIZONA DESPATCH
LAWRENCE W. WATSON GROUP

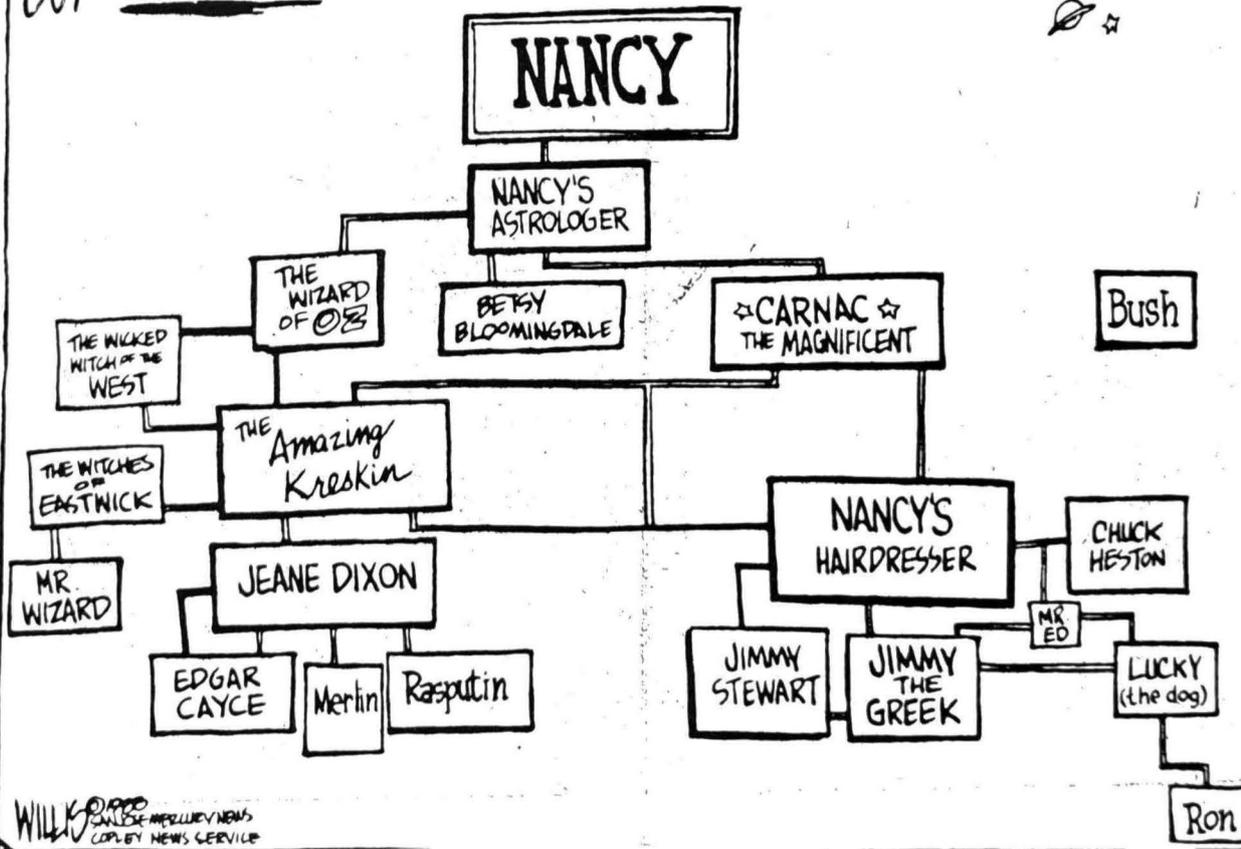

OHIO
NEWS BUREAU INC.
CLEVELAND, OHIO 44115
216/241-0675

THE ADVOCATE
NEWARK, O.
PM & SUN-CIRC. 22,300

MAY-17-88

WHITE HOUSE FLOW CHART

WILLK © 1988
SUNBELT NEWS
COPY BY NEWS SERVICE

Final briefing

Chicago Tribune

FOUNDED June 10, 1847

STANTON R. COOK, Publisher

CHARLES T. BRUMBACK, President

JAMES D. SQUIRES, Editor

LOIS WILLE, Editorial Page Editor
DOUGLAS E. KNEELAND, Associate Editor

F. RICHARD CICCONE, Managing Editor
COLLEEN DISHON, Associate Editor

JACK FULLER, Executive Editor
DENIS GOSSELIN, Assistant Editor

10 Section 1

Saturday, M

WHITE HOUSE STAFF ENTRANCE

KNEW BUT WOULDN'T TALK

STEVE LINDSTROM

Courtesy News-Tribune & Herald (Minn.)

PHILADELPHIA, PA.
DAILY NEWS
E - 295,747

8

MAY 20 1988

PHILADELPHIA DAILY NEWS

Letters to the Editor

BillDay Detroit Free Press
Philly Daily News

PRESIDENTIAL ADVISERS

One Nation Under Hollywoodism; In Stars We Trust

It is not true that Nancy Reagan neglects God in decision making for the White House. You might underestimate her!

At proper zodiac-approved times, she keeps God informed on what He should do about anti-communism and Ronnie's enemies and our one nation under Hollywoodism.

In Astrologers We Trust.

Ed Schempp
Barrington, N.J.

Mike Ludovich
Times Picayune

Ron, why's it so important to endorse me at exactly 3 a.m. up in this tree
during a full moon?...

Don't ask.

BUSH
88

DECATUR, ALABAMA
DECATUR DAILY
F-25, 150
S-27, 963
MAY 8, 1988

Star Wars vote shows Congress will follow president's lunar-guided lunacy

WASHINGTON — It would have been enough, you would say, to have the big Star Wars debate in the House of Representatives on the day after we learned that the real chief of staff at the Reagan White House was the court astrologer, who determined to the minute when the INF treaty should be signed at the summit.

Mary McGrory

Universal Press

In a way, former nominal Chief of Staff Donald Regan's deadly disclosure about the first lady's devotion to the signs of the zodiac was not entirely unexpected. After all, she and her husband are from Hollywood, where people have been known to say, "How do you do? What's your sign?"

Fools that we are, we had thought that Ronald Reagan's spectacular political successes had been the result of luck. Actually, we see now, they were achieved by careful planning and meticulous counsel with experts who took careful calibrations of the relative positions of the moon, the stars and the planets to guide presidential actions.

Certain things about the last seven years become clearer when reviewed through the horoscope. For example, astrologer Joyce Jillson, who says she was a White House consultant, tells us — while assuring us that she keeps the discretion of the grave about her prominent star-struck clients — that presidential press conferences were timed to coincide with the full moon. This explains the mad misstatements of fact that so often occurred during those rare sessions.

Star Wars makes sense in this newly discovered planetary context. Scientists don't understand it. Members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff say it can't stop more than 30 percent of the missiles headed our way.

Nobody seems sure what it is. It's not an "Astrodome," not an "umbrella." Originally billed as a population shield, it seems to have dwindled down to a security blanket for some missile sites. All anyone knows for sure is that it will cost a

MARLETT © 1988
THE AGANTA CONTRIBUTION

"... BUT NANCY, GORBACHEV'S A PISCES — I THOUGHT I GOT ALONG WITH PISCES!"

trillion dollars.

It certainly was a shield for the president against the nuclear freeze movement, and on March 23, 1983, when the planets apparently gave the go-ahead, he announced it. He eventually found a name for it, too: the Strategic Defense Initiative. "Star Wars" got under his skin.

Congress had no idea what it was all about. All they knew at the time was that Reagan was in the ascendancy, and overlooking the fact that "air" is the mark of his sign, Aquarius, they hitched their wagon to his star.

To date, we have spent $12 billion on Star Wars.

We'll spend billions more.

The House made the decision to spill out more money while the chamber was awash in zodiac jokes, and Donald Regan's revenge on Nancy Reagan for getting him fired was discussed with huge relish among the Democrats. Sample quip: "Regan has Irish Alzheimer's. He forgets everything but the grudges."

The hope was that now that they knew where Star Wars came from, the members might come back to earth.

Rep. Barbara Boxer, D-Calif., spoke in favor of fellow California Rep. Ron Dellums' amendment that would cut Star Wars funds back to basic research, costing $1.3 billion.

Boxer described the Strategic Defense Initiative as the president's "astrological dream ... a dream of laser weapons powered by nuclear explosions, particle beam weapons, chemical rockets and space-based interceptors parked in 'garages' in orbit."

Dellums spoke passionately of spending $5 billion annually for the next five years just to find out whether SDI would work or not. He spoke of the threat to the ABM treaty, which just two weeks before the House had reaffirmed.

Republicans countered that the Soviets think Star Wars will work.

Eventually, all time expired and the clerk called the roll.

It was then that the stars tried to tell the members that reliance on technology, which is what Star Wars is all about, is a chancy thing.

The electronic scoreboards on the wall were busy recording the huge numbers of those in favor of more voodoo in outer space, when all of a sudden they went wild and started flashing a sensational victory for Dellums.

Members gathered around Dellums' elegant figure and congratulated him noisily as the numbers piled up. At one point, the score for Dellums was 358 to 237, and the fail-safe technology showed a total of 595 members — 160 more than exist.

There was wild laughter about the wonders of science. The heretics hailed the vivid proof that software can go soft and the timely hint that a wayward microchip could bring Star Wars crashing down.

The presiding officer announced that the roll would be called in the old way, by hand. The laborious reading began, and the hilarity increased. But the result was what it was always going to be: 118 in favor of Dellums-Boxer, 299 for pressing on amid the wars.

Let any lunacy come from the White House. Congress will ratify it.