My dear Russell:

I am about to write here certain things about my "background" that I swore I would never talk about again - Last week I told to A.P. a story at your request - The indictments.

Twenty one years have passed since the "Hebner" story - I have never had the good luck or had to see these written reports. So I'm going to have to read between the lines - You referred to send me a xerox copy of your letter from Stone, on the theory I suppose that I might pass it around
