California and we had a man named Hury (Don't forget this name its in your letter) I told him we had a man coming out to check the oil in the area and our test which was drilling in a horn bleed granite lens at 1600 feet (common stuff in that area)

About a week later, Jackson and Marshall, having motored out from Denver turned up at the Knickerbocker Hotel in Hollywood with the Dr. in tow. I had gathered several well logs from the Standard Oil on their wells at Daft, the Midway field with 7000 wells - and some well logs at the Lakeview field East of Daft about 10 miles - 8000 to 9000 feet deep.
