Dear Scott,

First off, let me apologize for the inordinate delay in my responding to your last letter. I had started to write you, but then had gotten sidetracked off the issue. I had assumed Grant was going to fill you in on some of the details of my activities anyway, so I thought perhaps a letter would be a little redundant. However, you did request a copy of the phone conversation between myself and Walker, and in part my delay in getting the tape dubbed, was in part responsible for the lateness of this reply.

Enclosed, you will find both a copy of the taped conversation, along with a transcript. Walker's responses can be interpreted in a number of ways. If anything, Walker's actions are consistent with his most recent, strange behaviour. Not only does he not answer questions directly, but is evasive and experiences convenient memory loss. The fact that Walker is still active at his late age, tells me that he probably is not senile, nor going through the throes of early Alzheimer's disease. Please send the tape, transcript, or both, to Vidmar if you think it would be useful. However, I would appreciate it if, for the time being, yourself or Vidmar doesn't directly refer to the conversation as being tape, when and if Walker is confronted. That essentially will compromise my position with Walker, and I'm sure he will not wish to speak with me again if he learns of this fact.

As you've no doubt learned from Grant, by the time I had received your letter, I had already sent out some selected excerpts to Walker himself. I cleared these first with Grant, and the specific page numbers I sent him are pages, 15,16, 24-28, 30,31,49 (alien letter), 53,54, along with a xeroxed copy of the cover page, and his article on "The Right to Know...". I have never received confirmation from Walker that he received this packet, sent by next-day courier on 8/16/89, and which he should have received on 8/17/89, 6 days after our original phone conversation on the morning of 8/11/89. Since then, I have received no replies from Walker.

After waiting several weeks for a reply, I have sent out another letter to Walker, again by courier. Enclosed, I have sent him basically the same materials (no new ones), along with a copy of my original letter, and a more...you might say emotional...entreaty requesting that he please come clean. Since Walker is evidently good at playing games, I don't think it can hurt if we engage in some also. I admit that this second letter sounds something more like what Bill Steinman might have written, but perhaps Walker will warm up enough to it to at least reply, as he did several times with Steinman originally.

If I hear anything in response, I'll be sure to let you and Grant know immediately. I'm very much intrigued by the "code letter" which Walker evidently mailed back to you a couple weeks back. This is extremely interesting, and shows that Walker is not finished with this subject just yet. I suggested to Grant that perhaps there is some hidden meaning to this letter, which Walker is less than subtly trying to get your attention with. Perhaps some amateur cryptologists down at the University could have a go at trying to decipher it, it may yield some results, who knows.

Today, this afternoon, I phoned Walker's office for the second time, not wishing to speak with Walker himself, but trying to ascertain what his schedule is for the next little while. I learned that he is still active at University Park, and will be popping in now and then. Evidently his wife has just taken ill, so he's been cancelling some of his work days, such as tomorrow (9/7/89). However, I got the impression that he will still be around, and therefore it should be relatively easy for Vidmar and Co. to arrange some kind of confrontational meeting.

I don't know how committed to this Vidmar is, but it would be a shame not to follow-up on this matter in this way, after so much groundwork.

Please let me know how you intend to approach the matter. One other thing, Walker's secretary confirmed to me that the courier packet arrived today, and that Walker would probably be picking up his mail in the next day or two. This then confirms that Walker will be seeing the material, most likely for the second time.

Keep in touch.

Sincerely,

Tom Mickus

Dear Grant,

Thanks for your two recent letters, and updating me on the Azadehdel situation. It really sounds like Henry is taking a bizarre turn, but I guess we'll have to wait a while before we see where it goes. Anything to do with "alien" communication is definitely tricky business, and I hope for his sake he knows what he is doing, and is not being duped.

I agree with what you've been hearing about the South Africa case. For all intents and purposes, that soap opera seems to have run its course, and despite all the hype, doesn't seem to warrant any further attention. The simple fact that the location is a world away, is another reason that this thing has been both difficult to investigate, and long drawn out. As additional proof as to this event's importance, I would merely point to the example of Azadehdel, who for the most part seems to have lost interest in this matter some months ago, and has moved onto other matters. At least that is my impression.

With regard to those South African transcript material I promised, I have had some problems with locating them in my files, thus will need a little more time in locating them (ie. running through a few hundred pages of looseleaf and xeroxed material...). Hopefully I can get them to you by next week Grant.

In lieu of the above, I do have a somewhat interesting letter which I received not to long ago from Richard Todd. As you may recall, I inquired about him to you since he was pestering me with demands for some files which I had, and which he wanted me to send him gratis. Well, as his most recent letter will attest, our Mr. Todd seems to have again reared his ugly true self, and is attempting to be a trouble maker of sorts. I don't know what you will make of his threat to start releasing Walker material, but I would suggest that this might be a good reason to publish your Report as soon as possible. Hopefully if Henry gets in gear, you will at last have the materials you need to publish. If I were you, I'd pull out all the stops with Henry, and tell him to produce the goods or else.

Good luck, and P.S...still no word from Henry on anything, via mail or phone. He's got my last letter though, so this should spur some action....I hope.

Sincerely,

Tom

Dear Mr. Mickus:

Due to the tone of your most recent correspondence, I choose not to cooperate with you but choose instead to circulate copies of your August 16, September 5, and October 17, 1989 letters to Dr. Eric A. Walker. You may rest assured that they will receive wide circulation.

Quite frankly, I don't give a damn if you acknowledge this letter or not.

Sincerely,
