4. REPORT OF FINDINGS

On 13 July 1983, Source CL-01 was interviewed concerning two areas identified to him as "A" and "B" within a group of unidentified buildings. Source stated substantially as follows:

Area "A" was a multi-story building, perhaps four floors, which contained offices for some sort of internal police force (not further identified). Military personnel in civilian clothes occupied offices in area "A". Many of these personnel were young (not further identified). Some of the offices in area "A" were large rooms with desks, telephones, and file cabinets. Source described the telephones as being switchboard operated and as being used for an internal phone system in conjunction with "security, management; control." The telephones were black and had very thick, heavy bases and small handsets. The file cabinets contained personnel folders or files of people with names and other data (not further identified). In another section of area "A" (not further identified) there may have been jail cells or rooms with bars. Activity in area "A" consisted primarily of internal security, visitor control, and administrative management. There was also a training aspect (not further identified) to the activity in area "A".

Area "B" was a multi-story building, perhaps 5 floors, which was divided into two sections. The upper two floors were offices or rooms with many women at desks with what appeared to be typewriters. Source described the typewriters as "standard type manual typewriters." Source stated that the desks had no drawers and appeared very similar "one desk to another." Source summarized his comments of this section by stating, "very much like secretarial pool, much activity, typing." The lower three floors of area "B" were classrooms. These rooms had bench type tables and blackboards. There was

4. REPORT OF FINDINGS  no equipment in these rooms and their primary purpose was for lecture. Here, students received lectures on "operation theories and foreign techniques of some kind" (not further identified). Source described the students as being young, specially selected, "all handpicked, specific backgrounds, family, acquaintances." The students all had a "striking resemblance in outlook." This similarity was evident as a nationalistic zeal. The students were dressed in civilian suits but they felt awkward in this clothing as if this was not their normal attire.  In reference to both area "A" and "B", Source stated that these buildings were not new and that the activities within the buildings were not new either. In reference to the entire group of unidentified buildings in the immediate area, Source stated that there had been a recent, perhaps within the past five months, reorganization. The change had to do with "upper echelon command and management of some kind of field controls...some significant change in flow or type of flow of information that's targeted" (not further identified).  No further amplifying information concerning SUBJECT was obtained from Source during this interview.  AGENT'S NOTES: Information provided by Source relevant to descriptions of rooms or offices may be accurate independent of their locations within buildings. Source is sometimes unable to accurately relate the position of rooms within buildings, or the position of a building within a group of buildings, due to the nature of his access to a targeted area.
