2. (S/NF/SK) The target was the Knoxville Dulin Gallery of Art, Knoxville, TN, which contains a series of finely carved and constructed diaramas of complete rooms as found in a typical turn of the centry home.

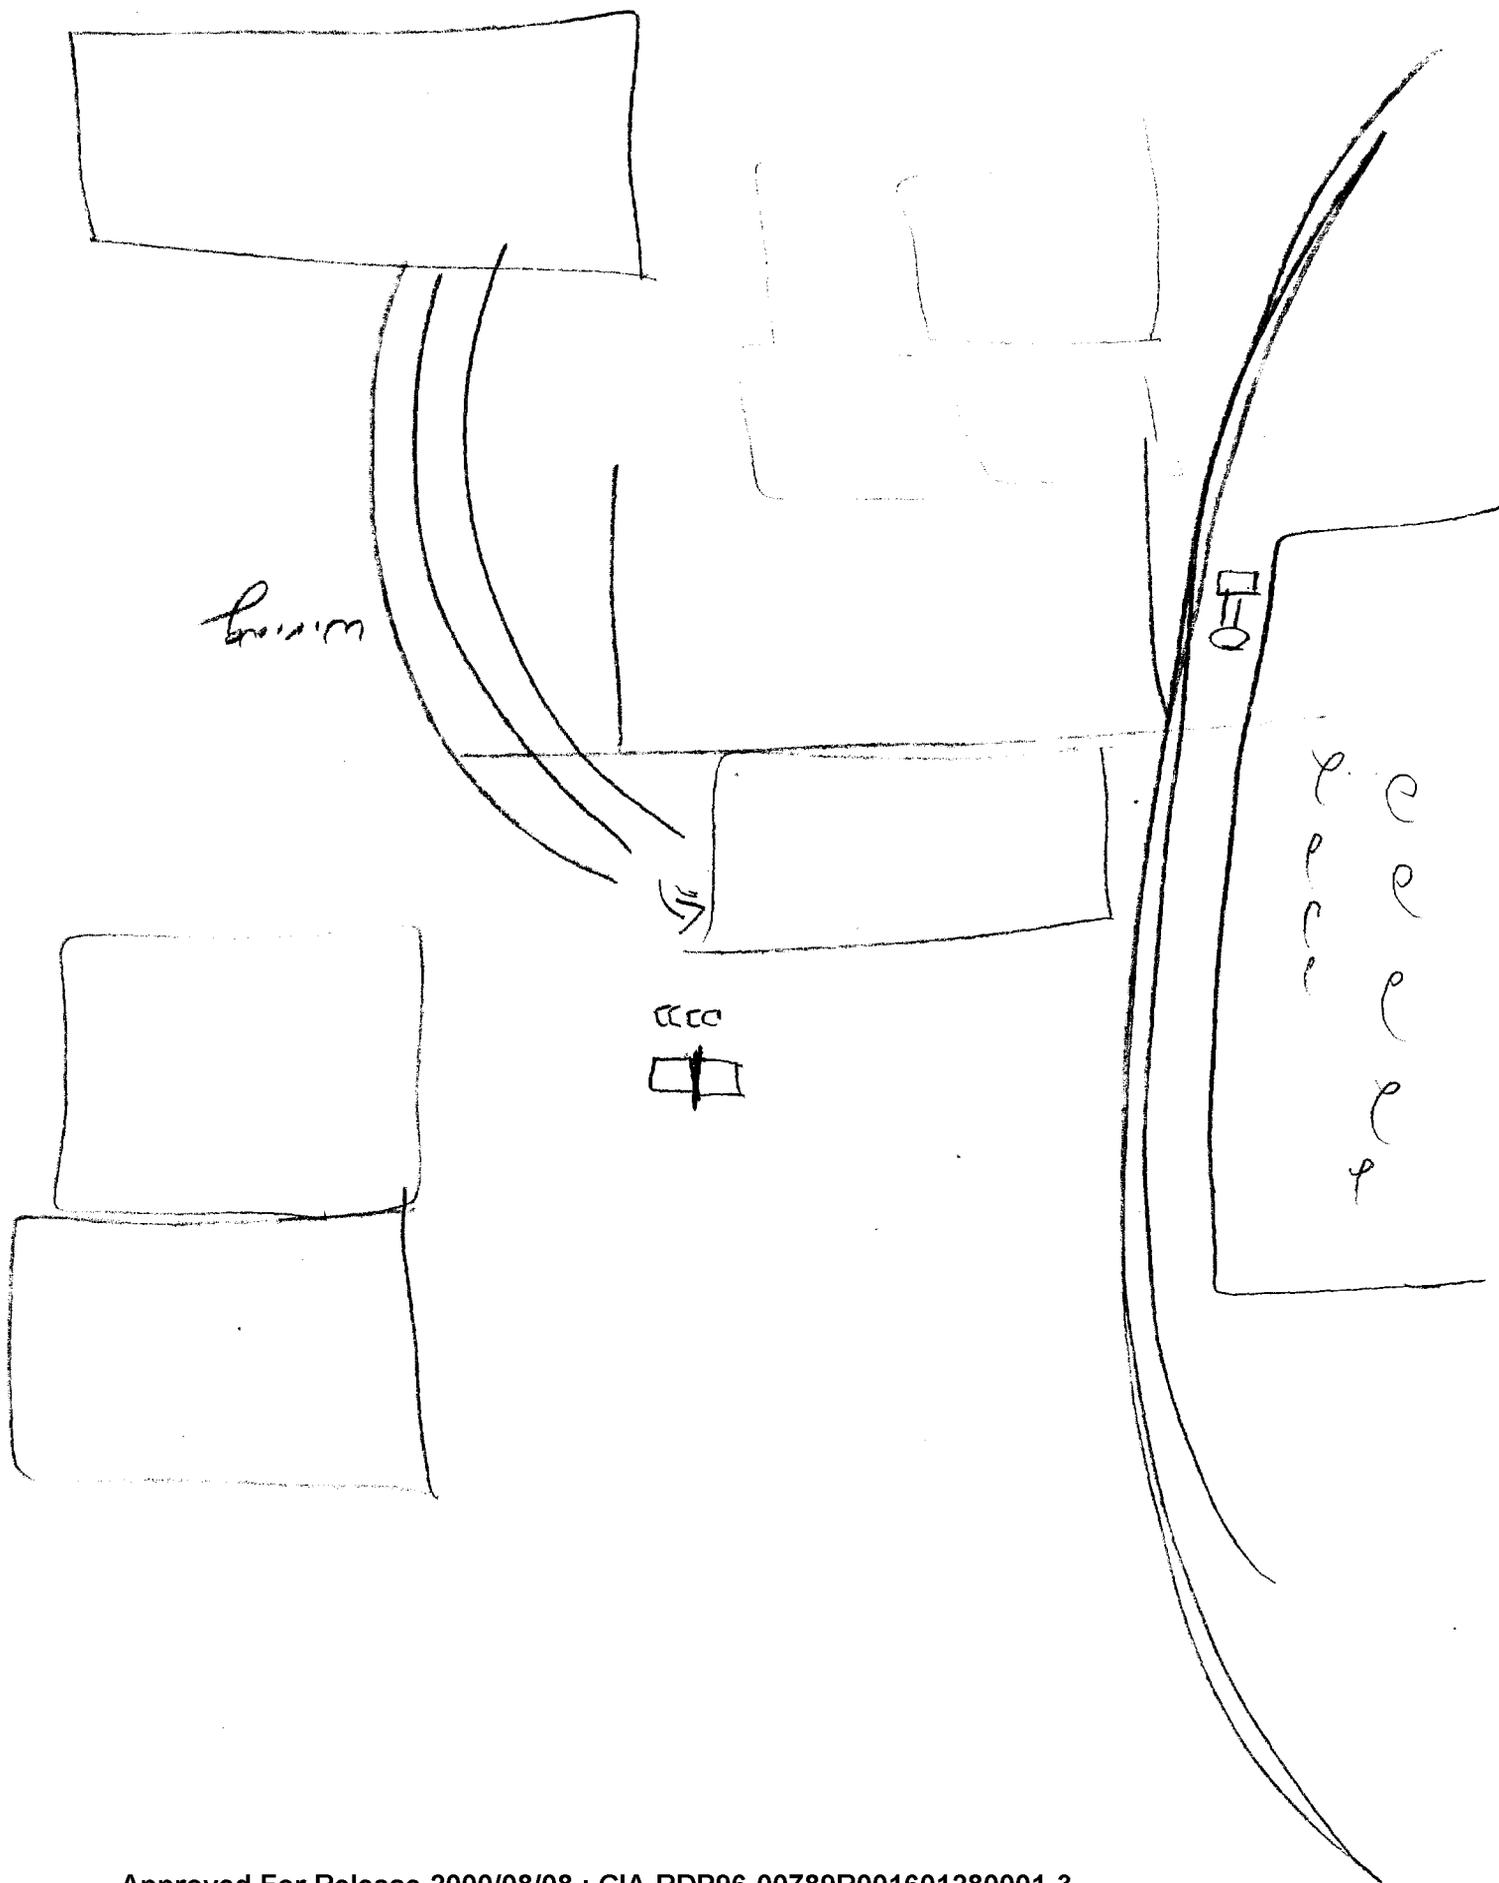

3. (S/NF/SK) Source was able to successfully acquire this interesting site and though understandably confused, She nevertheless identified the co-existence of large rooms (the actual gallery facility) and the "tiny" rooms of the diaramas. The use of phrases such as, "dividing, inside, pretty, magical, boxes and little squares", were prime indicators of Her "presence" at the site and were excellent RV descriptors of Her impressions from a non-analytical point of view. Other descriptors dealt with the actual facility, its lighting, related structures (spiral staircase) and the building itself. This was an excellent session and constituted Source's initial session in the advanced phase of Her training. WELL DONE!!

- END Session -

At first I felt that I was in an opened area with blue skies & white clouds. I sensed calm water very nearby.

I then focused in on a circle, a triangle and a small U. I then asked was asked to find out what Gene wanted. I felt that I was walking up a big, wide steps. I noticed that I was walking by myself and only one person can enter by himself.

I then went inside a very tiny dark area and saw boxes. It was like I was looking at magic. I had sensed a blocking off of one area and another box in this room behind glass. I then backed off & the room did not seem so small and the lighting seemed good.

I sensed wiring of some sort. I sensed also square floors. I also sensed a clicking - like on/off.
