SESSION SUMMARY

SITE : CASTLE ON AN ISLAND

..... first impression was of a tall manmade structure/s..... there was a needle-like tower structure in the middle of the structure/s that rose above the rest of the site..... AOL of the Eiffel tower in Paris...
 --- setting AOL aside and taking the coordinate again.... received an ideogram that indicated a high cliff, very much like a "canyon" ideogram..... looking down from the top of the structure, it appeared to be a long way down and surrounded by water..

..... moving back in time to 1586 and from top of structure an impression of long rows of men moving down a slope of a hill to a point of confusion at the bottom..... moving perception into the midst of confusion could not "see" anything.... like being in the midst of a dust cloud.... could "hear" the sounds of screaming, hollering, clanging, etc.... surrounded by total confusion..... all of a sudden, out of nowhere, coming right at my face was a moving object.... a fist, a club, or a projectile...
 ..... my overwhelming impression at this time was of being in the middle of a battle..... going back to the structure it appeared that I was on a castle tower surrounded by water watching a battle scene. The men moving down the hill were carrying large shields.

.... when moving high enough to identify land mass a visual of Great Britain appeared... and focused on an area near Wales.
