← flat narrow, rather windy in some places.

Site is located in a dry parched area with tall hills or mountains in the background. There is a long, narrow, flat road leading to an isolated complex of buildings. There is an off-joint structure at the site that is smooth, curved, shiny and close to the ground. Other structures at the site are more conventional, i. e., regular buildings. There is a rumbling sound like heavy vehicles moving on the road. There is also a hissing sound like steam escaping.
