SRV SITE, 4 Dec 1986
Paul

Site involves a cluster of buildings surrounded by empty space. White is an important color. It is dark, cold, and seems to be in a different part of the globe--perhaps eastern hemisphere. Definite non-US feel. Sense of remoteness--AOL of "Siberia" suggested. Site is military oriented, has people in dark, heavy, warm, uniform-color clothing. Purpose of site is to provide a "home," or locaton on which to operate large, bulky, metallic, odd-shaped pieces of equipment which can move, which have a technical and ordinance quality about them. Round, cylindrical structures are present at this location. There may be a person or persons of interest at this site. The idea of acquiring, responding to, and using information is a sub-theme of the site. "Kars-pout-in nus ser-sh . . ." something, something, may have significance.
