Project 94-266-0

(S/NF/SG/LIMDIS) Following are the perceived highlights from each source.

- (S/NF/SG/LIMDIS) Source A:

SG1A -- The target vessel is large, hispanic by name, and is moving at a fast rate in a northern direction. The [REDACTED] is light in color, possibly white with a mast and may have dark colored decks. Contraband is aboard a boat in plastic bags hidden in a compartment below the deck. There are several people involved with the transport and transfer of the drugs to include a middle man. An older man of middle age status is heading up the operation which is to occur in the October time frame.

SG1A

- (S/NF/SG/LIMDIS) Source B:

SG1A -- The target [REDACTED] is a vessel which seems to contain attributes of two different types of ships. It has two or possibly three large poles or masts but when viewed from underneath, it has no keel. It has a long and heavy appearance and three levels are visible. This vessel looks like the upper portion of a sailboat that has been placed on top of the bottom section of a freighter. The hull is white or light colored.

-- The target is currently moving in a circular "holding pattern". The owner and/or pilot of the vessel has become "dirty" or corrupted from rubbing shoulders with the wrong people. He is trying to figure a way out of this situation. This vessel is somehow associated with the word "columbian".

-- This vessel has extra antennas on board; they are near the center mast or pole in an attempt to camouflage their presence. There is a large, rolled feature reminiscent of padding around the interior curve of the rear of the vessel. A film or mist is being sprayed out in a wide, flat sheet. This film has a metallic taste, constricts the throat and can be explosive.

-- A section of one of the masts/poles has been cut out and replaced (sketch 2a). There is an inner casing which can be moved or slid up and down. A thick layer of material i.e. paint, has been applied, smoothing over any evidence of a cut out. The surface of sections of either the vessel's hull or cargo is peeling or flipping up in layers; exfoliating.

-- There is a single boat-shaped object hanging in/over the star-board rear portion of the vessel (sketch 2b).

- (S/NF/SG/LIMDIS) Source C:
SG1A

-- The [REDACTED] target vessel, is rather large and has been involved in drug trafficking. Target vessel is hispanic in nature and there is an older man who may be the captain of the vessel. This older man has gray/silver hair and is very intelligent. He is very well aware of the on-goings. This man could also be an American who helps with the off-loading once the drugs get into the U.S.

-- Target vessel is active now and could be carrying a rather large amount of drugs and is traveling in a northern direction.

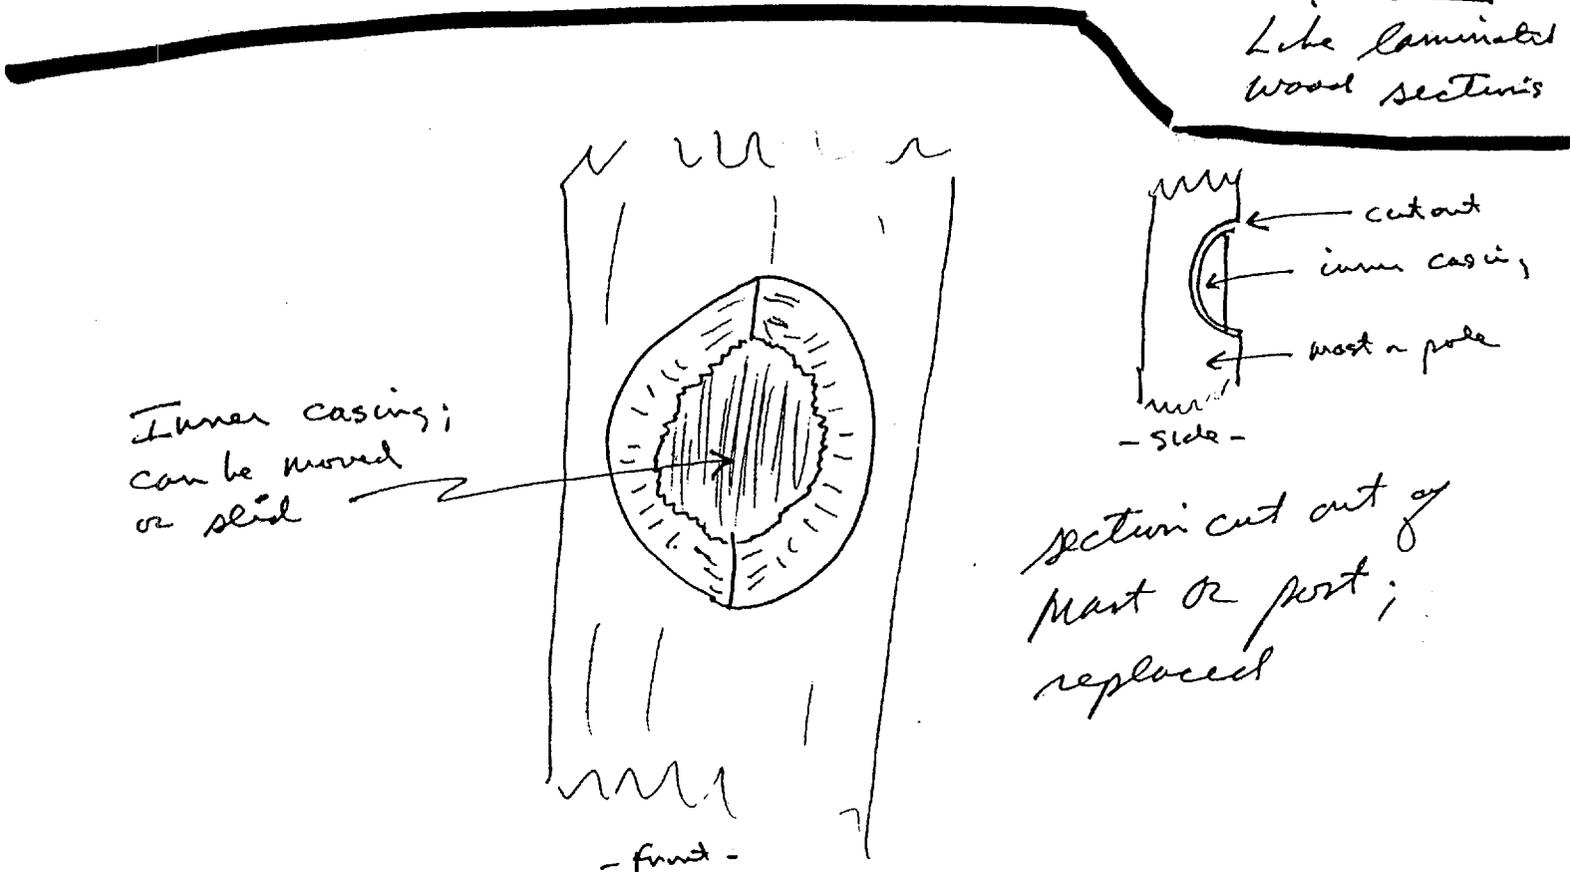

-- The drugs could be inside brown square crates.
