54 1/2 apartment perceived may not be document location, but have something to do with someone who had something to do with document.

location reminds me of Anacostia 54 1/2 person to whom place belongs spends long periods during day away from it. It's not exactly a "place of refuge," but rather a place person has to go to but doesn't think much about as a place to be in of itself. Person is male fairly solid. medium weight. Not the best taste in dress. Expedient, value over fashion. The sort of person who might be inclined to wear checks with stripes. Not young anymore but not especially old - i.e. late 30's to late 40's. Dark hair. Brown is a color associated with this guy - like he likes brown, or everything he has is brown.

Does some distant circuitous route to where he occupies himself during the day. Office environment. Anyway, former sort of a place. One can be lost in the "establishment" and go on for years doing job without attracting attention. Processing. Clearly some "like" sort of centralized dispatches network a transfer point where things come in are shifted around & go out again to get list of distribution "routes" or destinations or whatever.

is still "cog in the machine" - not really management, though has some related responsibilities.
