

REMOTE VIEWING SESSION DATA

* Remote Viewer : RS *

* Interviewer : BR *

* Observer(s) : _____ *

* _____ *

* Date : 29/10/85 *

* Starting time : 0908 hours, local *

* Site # : 146 *

* Acquisition by: (CRV) ERV PRV ARV BRV Other _____ *

* Working mode : (CT) HEM Other _____ *

* Feedback class: A (B) C . *

773 281
578 146

* Ending time : 1140 hours, local *

* Notes : OUTSTANDING DETAILS *

* Highest stage : 6 *

* Evaluation : + *

* Actual site : DAVIN ART GALLERY, THORNE MINERAL ROOMS *

* RV summary : See page 6, 11 and 21 *

* _____ *

* _____ *

Paul
Fr. Meade
mb
29 Oct 80
0908

773 281
578146

Confusion break

773 281
578146

A. across
hand

B. land

A. along and along angle

solid

B. structure

A. across
flat

waves fluvial

B. water

A. rising
angle
over

solid

B. structure

5.2
grainy
greyish cool mossy sand
color moist dripping sound

comparison bk

smooth
solid
stone broad massive dense
broad
fall wide
AZ Bk
repeated feel interesting

Site is land with ^{and} ~~water~~ ^{water} with manmade structures. Structures in at least one very dense + solid, massive, broad, wide, + relatively ~~to~~ high in ~~proportion~~ relation to me.

KE Ble
good feeling

5-2 D A I E I T I A L A S green
grey rough mossy

rounded massive long

S chimney

AOL Bk
like basalt

grass

AOL Bk
reminds me of peruvian rocks

Extensive goes on for a long way

underground

underground

S-2

D

AJ

EJ

T

I

ADL

AL/S

warm light

Changes
direction

corridors

~~Estimate~~

Repeating sounds

outside

activity

~~Group~~

ADL/S sounds
empty

ADL BLK
Vehicles

Structure

S-2
black
grey

D AZ EI T I WOL #/S

Several

Substructure

ADL sind
Substruktus

many things in area

bc like Dolmen

knowing

stone
construction

people

~~working~~ working

red shirt

care taking maintain

engaged

S-2

D

A I

E I

I

100 lawn

house

for Bk
house

Structure

white

enclosed surrounded

set off

quiet

administered

clean

for Bk
castle in Switzerland
w/ municipal office

S 2

D
long established

A I

E I

T

I

AOL

A S

long established

AOL BK
Colonial
settlement admin. by Park Soc.

Flowing
water

AOL BK
my AOL
sculpt

Interim Summary

Site 13 Stone construction, w/ an underground component, extensive in area and possessing both an enclosed and surrounded feel. Many objects of stone or other dense material are in the area. People present who seem to be engaged in caretaking or maintenance & are engrossed in their work. ~~low~~ Extensive lawns are present and a structure, probably of stone with windows, suggestive of a house is present in the area. Structure has 2 levels, stairs, & several rooms.

S-2 D AI EI T I HSL A/S old

Musty
cool slightly darker

HSL BK
it's like it's well cared for but has seen a lot of varied use

rooms

BK BK
reminds of a "living museum"

administrative feel

Screen
door

center of interest
respect
venerable because of people associated w/ it

S V I

13

S-2

D H I E I I A L A S

green
key

two level or stairs

inside spacious not empty

A S
movement

A L B K
Carthage
jail wooden stairs

A L B K
wakes me think of the Civil War

A L B K
"George Wash.
Slept here"

A L B K

Handwritten scribbles and marks at the bottom right corner.

S-2 D ~~ATI~~ EI T I AOC M's

upper floor

light/bright

~~SP~~

AOL Bk
large, spacious brightly lit
meeting place
or hall

AOL Bk
elephant trunks

inside
upper level

~~rounded~~ rounded
blade

AOL Bk
antique car

Somebody
being displayed

AOL Bk
paintings

Objects manufactured
utilitarian technical

AOL Bk
Industrial Revolution
stuff

SIT

S-2

D

AZ

EI

T

I

Adc

AS

18th/19th cent. feel

"modern but
old"

"modern but
old"

inspired look

Adc BK
almost like a textile mill

furniture antique

Object

Colors

5-2

D

AJ

EJ

T

I

AsC

AsS

AsC Bk
old artillery
piece

room

wood floor

dim

chinked logs

window

~~pane~~ wavy glass

AsC Bk
old glass

•

A

AsS
wanted
Five pks

literature

AsC Bk
Colonial

AsC Bk
old church
w/ graveyard

STU

12

S. 2

D

A. 2

EI

T

I

HoL

ALS

ASL BK

"Model living room," like period museum
"how people lived"

- Upholstered chairs, woody furniture fire place, oil lamps etc.

intricate details
 objects
 emanations?
 apparatus
 pipes
 wires
 wood
 metal equipment

intricate details
 attachments
 emanations?

blue
 red copper
 brown
 soft

fuzzy wooden
 glass smooth
 compact

decorative functional small delicate interwoven interlinked
 connected reciprocating moving gemlike over-stuffed lighted interwoven
 arranged
 round angular

rectangular hexagonal

domestic electrical coils
 elaborate
 money different grey
 pleasant smells bequest or hate carved painted embossed needlepoint

intricate detail
 subjects
 enumerations?
 display
 demonstration
 education
 functioning
 accomplishment historical scientific

intricate detail
 topics
 enumerations?
 carving
 Egypt
 19th Cent.

Small
Objects
emanations ?

Figures
models people
miniatures
artifacts
tools implements

Small
attributes emanations }

light
scale delicate
tiny precise irony
fragile valuable
interesting descriptive porcelain
fabrics
aesthetic

Small Subjects
emanations ?
modeling
demonstrating collecting displaying Americans -
Carrier + lives -

Small
topics
enumeration?
Scrimshaw?

Summary

On the top floor of ~~the~~ structure at site are displays & demonstration ~~of~~ ^{of} objects ~~such as antique furniture~~ involving intricate detail, such as antique furniture, 18th + 19th century articles, ~~and~~ manufactured, utilitarian, technical, decorative objects.

Display ~~consists~~ ^{consists} of a bunch of little things connected by some sort of a theme

The following have significance to the ~~set~~ display: delicats, ~~at~~ carved, intricate, "fingerwork," textiles, fabrics, porcelain, ivory, crafts,

Seems like time is sort of frozen. Impression of old photographs;

end
'
site

11:40

Each of the nine Thorne Miniature Rooms at Knoxville's Dulin Gallery of Art portrays a various style of European or American design.

A Miniature Look At Grand Design

At Knoxville's Dulin Gallery of Art, it's hard to resist the temptation to press your nose right up against the glass of the Thorne Miniature Rooms exhibit. Here, every inch represents a foot. There are railings to lean against as you study the tiny details. There are even step stools for young visitors to stand on. Obviously, the gallery encourages these moments of looking, moments that are worth the effort.

The mood in this upstairs room of the Dulin brings back memories of childhood dollhouses. But this is art, or more specifically, it is a study of various eras of American and European decorative styles. You see a Federal dining room, a Victorian parlor, a New England bedroom, an American summer kitchen, and even a room from 16th-century Spain. The range is broad. And so was the collection of miniature furniture and accessories assembled by Mrs. James Ward Thorne, the woman whose hobby led to the creation of these tiny rooms in the early 1930's.

Mrs. Thorne always thought in small terms, although the impact of her miniature rooms is grand. As a child, she doted on dollhouses. As a young girl, she collected 18th-century furniture samples, themselves executed in miniature so traveling salesmen could easily display their lines. And as an adult traveler, Mrs. Thorne scoured both sides of the Atlantic for anything of diminutive proportions: antique in-patterns, everyday remnants of lacy wrought iron, and even colorful box tops that could be made into important details of the period rooms. When reality failed her, imagination took over. You'll see that some curtains are actually delicate linen handkerchiefs. A rug here and there was snipped from a petit point evening bag. A statuesque bust, poised atop a pedestal base, was once the ivory chess queen on a game board. And the candles are just tips of kitchen toothpicks, painted white.

It's almost impossible to single out the improvised appointments from the many items skillfully created by master craftsmen. Stunning scaled-down reproductions of Chinese Chippendale and Duncan Phyfe pieces are intermingled with mahogany furnishings copied from Metropolitan Museum of Art collections. Tiny blue-and-white delft pottery items, a little Toby jug, and ivory-handled cutlery are perfect in their resemblance to real-life counterparts.

When Mrs. Thorne first assembled her treasures into their proper groupings, there were 29 scenes in all. In 1962, the Dulin acquired nine rooms from the original set of Thorne Miniatures, becoming the only gallery in the Southeast to own part of the collection. Other rooms may be seen in Phoenix and Chicago.

The miniature rooms are only part of the Dulin's story, though. Down the gallery's winding staircase with its red velvet handrail is an elegant entry foyer, with rooms shooting off in four directions. Here, the works of masters are rotated with the artistic accomplishments of regional painters and craftspeople. The artwork is displayed much as it would have been when the wealthy Dulin family first occupied this Neoclassical house back in 1917.

Mrs. Eugenia Bell Dulin commissioned noted architect John Russell Pope to design her dream home on a bluff overlooking a slight bend in the Tennessee River. Pope, who also designed the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., never visited Tennessee to see the Dulin's finished house.

But the people of Knoxville have gotten to know and admire the house. Mrs. Dulin proudly entertained there—one diarist of the era reported that the newly completed home was known to all as the "exposition palace." Following her death in 1961, Mrs. Dulin's heirs decided to truly carry out the exposition palace theme, opening the building to East Tennesseans for use as a regional art center. Today, Eugenia Bell Dulin's portrait occupies a prominent spot in the home she loved, greeting visitors and seeming to sense their delight as they wander through its collections of art.

To learn more, write the Dulin Gallery of Art, 3100 Kingston Pike, Knoxville, Tennessee 37919; or call (615) 525-6101.

A miniature look at an American summer kitchen of the late 1800's shows such details as a good example of the real thing. Photographs: Kim McBee