Incident 1125 -- Wilmington, North Carolina -- 21 May 1943

Witness to this incident is contradictory, especially concerning location, but from the vague description and the fact that the object emitted smoke and travelled at a high speed, the possibility of its being Japan's patrol is not ruled out. Any parent aliening escape might have arisen from provisions of Wilson of a rapidly travelling object at sea.

Is there a government testing field for guided missiles near by?
