Dear Colonel Connelley:

On March 24, 1960, I received a letter from you dated March 24, 1960, in which you stated that you were interested in the case of the missing person, and that you were interested in the case of the missing person, and that you were interested in the case of the missing person.

We are now working on the case of the missing person, and we are now working on the case of the missing person, and we are now working on the case of the missing person. We are now working on the case of the missing person, and we are now working on the case of the missing person, and we are now working on the case of the missing person.

We are now working on the case of the missing person, and we are now working on the case of the missing person, and we are now working on the case of the missing person. We are now working on the case of the missing person, and we are now working on the case of the missing person, and we are now working on the case of the missing person.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ J. J. Connelley
