The observer driving a truck saw an object shaped like a broad short propeller traveling 4500 RPM in a bank just above the trees at thirty feet altitude. It was eight feet long, two feet wide and one foot thick, with "fins" on the upper sides of the blades. The object climbed with no spinning motion, and there was no sound or trail. The object was thought to have fallen, but a search revealed nothing.

NOT RECORDED No satisfactory conclusion can be drawn.
