In the evaluation of reported radar sightings, the Electronics Section of ATEC has been consulted. The majority of the radar sightings are very difficult to evaluate due to the possibility of phenomena caused by weather or is the electronic aircraft of the set. About all that can be concluded on these sightings is the weather was or was not conducive to presenting phenomena known to be caused by certain weather conditions.

In certain instances special detailed reports will be written on the conclusions of the investigations of sightings. There will be in compliance with requests from higher headquarters for such reports. The conclusions of all COMBAT incidents will be concluded in the status report.
