Pepperell AFB, NewComGand

3 February 1953

I. Description of Incident

From F20 to F25 local time a low unidentified object resembling the landing light on an aircraft was observed by two crews of this base until the object disappeared behind the horizon. The observation was strictly a visual one with no optical aids and no radar contact.

II. Character of Incident

This is a very brief report with no information given on the experience level of the observers. From past experience, however, such sightings have been attributed to bright stars sinking below the horizon.

III. Conclusion

Possibly a star.
