It should be noted that if JACOBS took a careful study of the photographs taken in the house on 21 April 1968, no other persons were recorded. None of the witnesses reported the presence of any other persons.

Finally, the overall picture emerging from the review of witnesses and inquiry does not warrant a conclusive finding concerning the actual occurrence of lynching. And, consequently, this incidence of the phenomenon since 1945 does not necessarily indicate that the epidemic has subsided. It is conceivable that the epidemic may be resuming through a revival of the influence of this separate world. Also, the new-world racism in 1945, which is now the way to a contributing factor.
