Greetings to all my Earthling and Alien Friends!

Some time ago, AURA (Australian UFO Research Association) in Adelaide, invited Dom and I to speak at their UFO seminar which was held on 19th May, 2012. A full account of the presentations is included in this month's edition.

Other speakers included Andrew Arnold of VUFOA, and Shane Ryan, the investigator behind the Westall incident documentary which went to air on Fox networks.

To say we were well received would be an understatement. Although Dom & I were on last, many had stayed throughout the afternoon even though the seminar would run overtime.

One of the main attractions for us was to promote the Activities of the Society and also to promote the Eerie Encounters DVD series. Copies of the series were snapped up which will now allow us to shop for another super nightshot 'walkaround' camera which the Society sorely needs.

The Public Relations built out of this exposure had a lot of people talking about all presenters. But as the last thing anyone actually saw was the Episode 1 presentation from our DVD series, all the 'buzz' was about the ability of a small not for profit group to come up with such a production. So Congratulations all 'round. Many in S.A. will now want a copy of each disc as it becomes available. AURA will also stock discs in Adelaide as a Reseller.

I must congratulate all who were at the Seminar both as hosts and participants for an extremely productive event – not the least of which was the Sunday gathering of delegates from around the Country

We look forward to more information sharing techniques now on the way and an annual get together to improve report access to all in the future; and remember, the future is in all our hands!

VICE PRESIDENT'S REPORT

"Reach high, for stars lie hidden in your soul. Dream deep, for every dream precedes the goal". Pamela Vaull Starr
On Saturday 28th April, UFO-PRSA held its first 'Members Paranormal Night' at one of our favourite locations in the Blue Mountains. The weather was perfect for a night watch as well which saw many members taking advantage of the dark clear skies while having their supper before we commenced.

The night started with me assembling everyone on the front veranda and just going through a few ground rules. The place had been further vandalized since the group had been there only a few months earlier and there was a lot of underlying hazards to be aware of. It was also a perfect time to go over the night's schedule of where we were going to set up experiments etc, and which part of the facility we would start in. After a guided tour down the long corridors, Tiffany was using the EMI meter to see if we had any 'peaks'. Tiffany, Michelle & I had already done baseline tests when we first arrived and we didn't get any meter activity at all. During our walk through in the women's end of the facility, we all experienced a large gush of wind pass through us. The feeling was exactly like you would imagine from a person running past you. The meter spiked to the highest reading and then Tiffany started asking questions to which we were getting yes and no answers by spirit using the meter as a communication tool.

This was great confirmation for us as we had previously had the same communication at the other end of the facility when we were filming our DVD episode. The members could now see that this is truly possible and that at no time were we using any external source to move the meter. The best way to get proof is to have multiple witnesses to confirm our findings. We had 13 witnesses!

We then decided to set up a trigger object experiment in the craft room. We used a piece of paper and traced a couple of coins (pennies and shillings) and would come back to them later in the night and check whether or not they had been moved.

We decided to start the night off with the 'Spirit Board' which kept us enthralled for well over an hour. Four of our members jumped at the opportunity to participate, and after some guidance they were well on their way to a conversation with our first 'guest' Rachael. Michelle has covered the spirit board communication and findings in her article Fact Finder in this issue.

After a quick coffee break for 'grounding', we then heard and saw movement from within one of the rooms adjacent to the main building. Poor Lorraine was the first to discover 3 young boys who had broken in, we don't know who got more of a fright! They were soon sent out of the property and our next experiment started.

We moved into another area and started an EVP experiment. Unfortunately nothing clear has come through; however there is a faint noise which sounds like someone breathing. I know that the recorder was fixed at the end of my chair and at no time did it come closer to me where it may have been my breathing.

We were all a fair distance apart in our chairs, but a few of us did hear the sound of 'breathing' behind us. We also used this same room for our 'vigil' and had a few clear responses. Dom at one stage had heard noises from the corridor, and it became quite irritating trying to decide if it was 'spirit' talking or someone else trying to break in. However, during the time of the noises, we had just asked a question and could at no time see any torch light from someone trying to break in.

We finished the night with another vigil in the chapel and once again heard footsteps and movement after we asked for confirmation that a spirit was in fact with us. Some of us thought it was somebody outside, some of us thought the movement was a lot closer to us and again no torch light.

The evening concluded in the early hours of Sunday morning with all of us excited about the night we had all shared together. UFO-PRSA as a group do this all the time, but to actually share our findings with our members gives us great satisfaction. The work we do is for research, not our own personal gain, and it is there to be shared with everyone! It was our pleasure to share it with a group of remarkable people that keep our group focused on the bigger picture.

AURA UFO SEMINAR - Saturday May 19th 2012 -- Review

Adelaide UFO seminar

Hosted by AURA (Australian UFO Research Association)

Speakers: From NSW; Lorraine Cilia & Dominic McNamara from the UFO & Paranormal Research Society of Australia

From Victoria: Andrew Arnold and Jan Murray

Shane Ryan; Canberra , ACT. The Westall Case revisited.

Mr. Ryan was invited to update the public as to what witness testimonies he has uncovered relating to the infamous Westall case of 1966. In 1966, in the Australian suburb of Westall, hundreds of students, teachers and local residents witnessed a UFO hover overhead for several minutes, land and take off again at incredible speed. Silenced by authorities at the time, and still angry about not being believed, they revisit the event as tenacious amateur sleuth Shane Ryan goes back to find an answer to the mystery. With an undercurrent of Cold War paranoia, and a burgeoning military alliance between Australia and America, their story has deep resonance in the current climate of cover-ups and lies delivered by governments in the interests of national security. Despite the evidence that something had happened, the Westall principal called a special assembly at which he told students and staff that they had not seen a flying saucer – in fact, they hadn't seen anything at all. And they were not to talk about it to anybody.

We have kept all other rumour and innuendo about contacts, etc as just that. Needless to say there will be much more to come out of this story and I can't wait to hear it. Shane Ryan expressed an interest in presenting material to the UFO PRSA in the near future.

Andrew Arnold;

Andrew Arnold and Jan Murray - along with an entire entourage from VUFOA - attended and indeed filmed proceedings of the AURA UFO seminar in Adelaide. Their presentation covered their involvement into specific cases – notably, that of the Frederick Valentich disappearance over Bass straight.

Andrew wowed his audience with his wide public access to information through his web presence. VUFOA has taken the web by storm and you only need to visit their website to gauge just how much action this group takes in making information more publicly available.

The net radio show, the youtube show; all of this displays a personal face to interviews and events under the UFO banner. Listening to his story as an investigator and seeing and hearing all that this group has to offer cannot be covered in a week, let alone a couple of hours in an afternoon. But presentation material of a high calibre involving these details is short in number but well worth the wait.

VUFOA's Website and episodic bulletin UFONAUT stories on YouTube will keep every visitor busy. We were impressed with this amount of A/V coverage as it is close to our own hearts.

Lorraine Cilia –; A personal journey of UFOPRSA

Dominic McNamara – Eerie Encounters DVD re-enactment and Television series.

UFOPRSA president Lorraine Cilia, presented a historical walk-through of stand-out reports and imagery actually captured by the Society itself over more than a decade of involvement. Her presentation comprised reports from specific areas which were read verbatim from the witness statements and accompanied thereafter with video imagery captured by the Society when visiting the same areas of interest. These videos represented such instances as were not satisfactorily explained and therefore could not be given a plausible explanation. Were these the 'things' that people had reported?

Along with these reports, the Society's exploits into the wilderness to reach such remote outposts were also shown including interviews directly after events were captured to camera. There were also video interviews with witnesses themselves when events reported were so richly bizarre as to conjure a cross disciplinary approach to investigations. The Society was interested in every facet of involvement in a person's surroundings which would lend credibility to their reports.

The Mission statement of the UFOPRSA is to disseminate information to a wider public audience. To that end, Society secretary, Dominic McNamara determined that recreating such events by casting actors and directing productions of film shoots was the pinnacle of mass distribution, especially to those who might not give this topic as second thought.

As a result, the EERIE ENCOUNTERS series was born and went into production in early 2011. From casting actors in mid-2010 until finally going to air on TVS community television in Sydney, the Society committee worked as one unit to produce a series of episodes which are now available on DVD. This production is ongoing and will continue throughout the life of the Society.

Seminar meeting

The major delegates met on the Sunday Morning to collaborate on Research topics based on a 'cloud' or 'blue sky thinking' agenda. So successful was this meeting that all are agreed that annual collaboration on a face to face basis of this nature is the most productive effort. I have looked into a new form of file sharing system as a result of this meeting. I look forward to the next time.....

EERIE ENCOUNTERS

The Second DVD in series one is now available and along with the local sales and stockists, this volume is also being shipped to South Australia. The Society has already embarked on the next season of filming with the beginning of the next episode shot and cut and actors cast for the lead roles of episode 6 and 7. As soon as the next episode is ready for print, the third disc will become available which will include the director's cut of the facility investigation and night-watch imagery from the Blue Mountains.

Aaron Bishop is now a part of the regular team on shoot locations and is a welcome camera operator amongst his other skills in film production. Actors are actually encouraging us to produce a full length feature at some point in the future – but our overall skills can do with refining before taking on such a large project. I guess in the end, people are starting to notice us!

Some extremely high profile talent is beginning to filter through out of pure interest in the subject and answering to our casting calls. I am pleased with the general response we have been getting from actors in general. To that end, I need to ask members if they wish to help us out with some extras duty and in some instances, some speaking parts. The next episode we are shooting will involve some acquaintances of the lead character role who need to interact in the story line. I am eager to speak to anyone who would like to be involved on any level – including crew.

Attending members are urged to register their above interest with Lorraine or Kellie at the meeting rooms.

Psychic TP Perception

By Kellie Pataky

Lucid dreaming and the Out-of-Body State

In 1984 Stuart Twemlow and his associate Glen Gabbard followed on from their 1982 study with a review of the perceived differences between the two phenomena. Firstly, they point out that lucid dreaming is far more common than the OBE.

They claim that between 50-70 percent of the population will experience a lucid dream, whereas only 14 to 20 percent will experience an OBE.

Anthony Peake challenges these findings in his book The Out-Of-Body Experience as suspiciously high. During his research, he has only come across a handful of individuals who lucidly dream as described in the literature. He knows many who report 'vivid' dreams but that is an altogether different concept. He also claims they focus on the two lucid-dream states named DILDS (dream-induced lucid dreams) and WILDS (wake-induced lucid dreams). The former occur during REM sleep; the latter occur right at the beginning of sleep, within the hypnagogic state. Gabbard and Twemlow point out that some OOB states take place when somebody is awake. A good example of this is the case of Suzanne Segal.

In the spring of 1982, Suzanne was waiting for a bus to take her home from a birthing class when something very strange took place. As the bus approached she felt her ears pop and suddenly she felt as if she was enclosed in some kind of force field that was surrounding her and making itself a barrier between her and the external world. For a few seconds she was totally disorientated and then she found that her body was acting as if it was not really under her control. What happened next was to change her life. In her book Collision With The Infinite she describes the incident:

I lifted my right foot to step up into the bus and collided head-on with an invisible force that entered my awareness like a silently exploding stick of dynamite, blowing the door of my usual consciousness open and off its hinges, splitting me in two. In the gaping space that appeared, what I had previously called 'me' was forcefully pushed out of its usual location inside me into a new location that was approximately a foot behind and to the left of my head. 'I' was now behind my body looking out at the world without using the body's eyes.

She was suddenly outside of her body, existing in a space behind and to the left of her corporeal being. She described her new location in time and space as a 'cloud awareness'.

There is also the case of Ian Wilson who has taught himself to lucid dream. It is during that dream that Ian can manipulate the outcome. He calls this process 'mapping' and he has had recorded success in using it to manipulate his own reality in such a way that it has not only been observed by others, but photographed as well.

Ian was experiencing a normal dream. By normal, he means one in which we simply observe the events. Something triggered Ian into a state of awareness in which he knew he was dreaming. He was then in a fully lucid state. He looked around and realised that he was in his current workplace. Behind a counter was one of his associates. The environment was so like that of the location in consensual reality, it suddenly dawned on Ian that this dream could have precognitive potential. He decided that he would make something happen in the dream that may come to pass in the future. However, it had to be something that could be visible and possibly measureable. Seemingly without thinking, he lifted his arm, pointed his finger, and made a triangle appear on the forehead of his work associate. As this was a dream, this was not surprising. However, in his lucid state, Ian was fully aware that such a thing was an impossibility within the science of consensual reality. Soon afterwards he awoke and the dream faded as many dreams do. However, Ian was aware that he had done something of significance whilst in his dream state. This is his recount when interviewed by a magazine a few weeks later:

About 3 weeks later, the lucid dream actualized. Like my first lucid precognitive dream, I felt an amazing synchronicity and déjà-vu like aura as waking time and space synchronized with the lucid precognitive dream. In this reality, I stood six feet away from this person and I simply went with the flow of a lucid dream. My hand just lifted and the triangle formed as it did in the dream, perfectly on his head. It was visible enough for others to clearly see it. I remember him looking at me, as I pointed at him. Then he asked me, after the fact, what I did. I told him I placed a triangle on his head. A cashier next to him saw it, then she screamed and ducked behind the counter.

He ran to the bathroom and looked at it in the mirror. When he came out he was definitely shocked at the visible mark. I took a Polaroid and another follow-up picture of it to have physical evidence of the experimentation. Later he wrote a statement of the account. Also he had to explain to his mother who asked him how he got that strangely shaped bruise on his forehead. She saw it clearly. There was no question this was a very profound event of all of us involved.

What is fascinating about this event is that, unlike many other experiments and experiences recorded, this case actually has supporting witness statements and photographs taken at the time, which clearly show the red mark on the face of Ian's associate.

The implications are of profound significance. What this suggests is that reality (consensual or subjective) is open to direct influence by a conscious mind. But this case is even stranger, because it suggests that Ian influenced the contents of his own future by making the gesture in his dream. Indeed, one could suggest that Ian's whole dream was precognitive in that the gesture and the appearance of the mark already existed in Ian's future and all the dream did was reproduce that future. In other words, Ian had no choice other than to make a gesture in the dream because it too was part of the precognition.

Anthony Peake was rapidly coming to the conclusion that in exactly the same way that NPMR (non-physical matter reality) and PMR (physical matter reality) are aspects of the same phenomenon, so it is that the OOB state is, in fact, identical to that of the classic lucid dream. He was interested to know what some of the major players in the world of ecsomatic experiences would think of this conclusion.

To his delight, after extended discussions with Tom Campbell, Robert Waggoner and Australian astral traveller Robert Bruce all shared the same opinion. Not only are the phenomena related but, they are simply the same experience perceived in slightly different ways. In simple terms, a very real experience in which consciousness is given access to a greater reality that exists deep within the structures of the brain.

Measuring approx 220 feet in diameter, this is the first design to be reported in Barley. Early reports suggest it depicts a Polar Clock leading to a time on 4th August this year.

The shots taken show a neat lay of barley stems. The barley plant has quite sturdy stems with the grain contained within its fluffy heads. These soft heads seem to create a carpet-like impression when laid to the ground in a mass.

SIGHTING REPORTS

May 26th, 8pm
M5 City bound

I saw a strange light last night in the distance that was changing colour. I grabbed my camera to take a pic as I was going out when it caught my eye. Unfortunately my tele lens is only 200mm so couldn't zoom in too much but this pic suggests it moved pretty fast from one location to another? See what you think. It definitely wasn't a plane because I see them all the time.

A photograph capturing four UFO's - which witnesses said hovered in the same spot for more than 10 minutes before simply disappearing - was snapped from Tom Ugly's Bridge Marina just before 5pm on May 28th

Photographer Ivan Mikkelsen, from nearby Sylvania Waters, said he first noticed the objects through a window on his boat before stepping outside to confirm the unusual objects weren't simply a reflection or a trick of the light.

"We just looked up and they were there. They were just sort of hovering there," Mr Mikkelsen said.

"They were quite high in the air, which is why I thought they might be aeroplanes at first, but they weren't, they didn't move."

He said about five people at the marina paused to watch the stationary objects as they glowed over the city's west before they simply disappeared as quickly as they came.

"They just blinked and disappeared, whooshka, they were gone," Mr Mikkelsen said.

"I'm a bit skeptical, but it wasn't a reflection, it wasn't laser beams, it wasn't anything else."

A spokesman for Airservices Australia, which managed aviation traffic, said they had not had any reports of unusual objects on Monday afternoon.

"We have had no reports of any unidentified flying object activity over the greater Sydney area on Monday evening," he said.

A UFO, or UFO formation, was recorded flying over Sydney, Australia on Wednesday, May 2, 2012. According to the time stamp on the video, it was 12:39 p.m. when the UFO was spotted.

The video shows three large white spheres suspended in the blue Australian sky. Although the description of the video indicates that it was three separate unidentified flying objects flying in a triangle formation, it seems that it could have been one single triangle UFO.

Laszlo Novak, UFO Hunter, originally shared the video on his YouTube channel colourufo. Within hours, other YouTube channels had duplicated the footage and claimed it as their own. The original Sydney UFO video has already received hundreds of page views and a score of comments. Those numbers are likely to climb.

THE ROAD AHEAD.

A special research view.
My Theory of where we are heading.
Darren Terry, QLD.

Let me start by saying that this article (and I believe all future articles from me) will be in my opinion, where we are heading and what I believe we need to do to survive the future.

I have been researching Religious, News, Government cover-ups and conspiracies for at least 5 years now. I have always been meant to write articles on these topics, but each time I start to write, I ask myself what makes my article any different to the articles that I am already reading to research my article? What would stop the person that is reading my article from already reading the articles I was reading, and doing the research I was doing?

We need to keep questioning everything around us. Everything we read and watch. The main thing we need to keep questioning is ourselves, our outlook on life, our view of everything around us. The way we look at new information should not be dismissed. If it does not fit in to the frame work of the world we see or how we think it all works; we need to keep opening our mind to greater possibilities all around us and that this sometimes means looking beyond what we see as possible. We have so much to learn about the cosmos and our reason for being here. We need to take in as much information as we can and look at all the possibilities.

This is not a 21-12-2012 ‘worlds going to end’ article. That would just be plain naivety. None of the true 2012 predictions said that the world would end. They all say great change will happen. 21-12-2012 as I have come to understand will give a huge spiritual burst to those of us who are ready and can understand/feel the new energy around us. If you are trapped in the Elite/physical world of believing all the lies around you, nothing will change because you need to be open to this change. You need to allow the spiritual burst to start to take you on a great journey and be able to see just how great our spiritual self is.

For the last several years, reading about World Governments, Military Base's, UFO's and all the other topics that go with these topics, I have been looking at where the world is going and the control over all of us. I have come to realise that the Elite (our Governments) had caught me just as they catch everyone else that sits at home and waits for the next mind numbing show to start. I was reading and researching with the information going around and around thinking I was getting somewhere but not really getting anywhere. The only way to break this hold on us is to turn to ourselves. Our spiritual self can help; we just need to start to listen to it again. We need to let go and feel the cosmic force again.

We all need to understand that we can only find the answers that are out there to be found. While the Elite are giving us information to keep us happy, we feel we are getting somewhere. They set up a story to counter the argument from the other side (Sceptics or government) and this keeps us busy for a while thinking that we are getting somewhere, when in fact all that is happening is we are going around in circles only going as far as they will let us.

The only way we can bring new information/knowledge into this physical world is through what we see as the paranormal world. We have the ability to connect to a higher power, a cosmic entity. Through this every one of us can find out the true meaning to all of this and be freed from this controlled power. But, we need to let go of all the traps of the physical world and work to connect with this cosmic force. This ability is not a given. We need to be ready to receive this knowledge mentally, physically and spiritually.

I am not planning to write an article on what I am going to start calling issues of the Physical world. We have been leading or lead to where the world is today by forces and organisations that have been planning this for hundreds of years. We are at a point that we can't change the path of the game, but, we do need to understand it and how it works and influences of the world we are living in.

These physical and spiritual areas are closely connected. We need to know the game around us and be prepared so we can stand by ourselves and not need to ask the government (The Elite) for any help. We need to be able to withstand the total breakdown of society and have resources stored away so we can stay free of their total control. Social breakdown is only just around the corner. The Elite needs it to be put into place for the final control measures on society. The uneducated will see these laws as a great way to fix society and we will be trapped under their power forever.

As far as I am concerned we are heading for the final round. We need to educate ourselves with how the game is being played out and how to stand hard and fast at the end. Let's not play into their hands and be taken for granted or trapped by the elite even more. With 21.12.2012 just around the corner, we need to become more spiritually aware. I'm not going into which religion or spiritual path you should take. You do the research and find the one that feels right for you. All I will say is that your choice needs to help the spirit inside you, not control you or other people.

Spiritually, we are cosmic entity but we need to learn this and start to communicate with the cosmic force and learn our full potential. In doing this we start to see why the Elite wants to contain us. Our power and abilities are huge when it comes to our spiritual side. I am not an Anarchist, we need to go to work and we need to support the governing system around us until society and all of us can learn our true potential and we are able to run the world around us to develop our true journey through the cosmos. This may mean a completely different social system.

Society in general needs to stop worrying about what is happening around them and start to focus on themselves. Collective salvation is another form of the control measure around us. Physical world traps are all round us. Sport, Religion, social standing, TV, following celebrities of any kind, what we eat and drink (preservatives in food are keeping us from letting our mind expand), drugs both so called legal and non-legal ones, different world government, different political parties all of these things and more are keeping us divided and busy doing nothing.

Let me add that total Disclosure on any conspiracy theories will not happen while the Elite are controlling this world. We need to be ready to see the greater truths and while we waste our life doing very little to help ourselves we cannot expect to just be handed knowledge from an outside force.

It is said that the truth is in plain sight. And this is still true. There have been people throughout history that have seen all of this and have been telling us what to do to be free but either society disgraces them and/or we don't put it all together to see the bigger picture. We need to put it altogether and use this great information to help not just ourselves but to start to show the people of the world that it is real and that the world we see and live is perceived how we are instructed to perceive it.

The topics that I mention within this article I do not plan to write about. If you are watching where the world is going you can plainly see where we are heading. If a lot of this sounds new to you, by all means contact me and I will pass on as much information as I can.

We need to be prepared for the future both physically and spiritually.

FACTFINDER

Michelle Uznik

The Facility: Last issue I said that I would be writing about an investigation done at the Bush Ranger Hotel in Collector. I have since decided to write about the recent member's night at the Facility while it is still fresh in everyone's mind.

The member's night was a fantastic night, and some of the members were on the spirit board. It was also the first time we had tried using our new question and answer sheets. I thought that it might make research easier and quicker if there was a standardised format for questions. This way we can try to get the questions that are important from the research perspective out of the way before becoming side tracked by other messages spirit may be trying to convey. The members appeared to make contact with a female spirit who gave her name as Rachel Wylde. She said that she had worked at the facility, had been born in Australia in 1928 and died in 1957. She also gave her father's name as Victor and her mother's name as Anne.

When asked if she minded if the information she gave us was used for research purposes she said 'Yes'. This has highlighted a problem with that question, because the exact wording makes the answer ambiguous. I am now not sure whether she is happy for us to use the information for research and publication. I am taking it that she is happy for it to be used for research because she directed us to look for further information on the 'computer'.

So far I have been unable to find her through BDM, but both her Christian and surnames have variable spellings. This does not necessarily indicate that she did not know how to spell her name, but her name could have been recorded incorrectly by someone when details were being taken down or exchanged. Unfortunately the NSW BDM have taken the wildcard search option off the index search. This means that I need to manually type in the exact spelling of each variation and combination of Christian and surnames. So far I have tried several spelling variations with no success.

Rachel also gave her place of burial, so in the July holidays I will attempt to confirm her identity through this source. I hope to have more information in a future edition.

Next issue I will finally look at results from the investigation at the Bush Ranger hotel in Collector.
