 This chart appeared on television screens throughout North America on October 14, 1988, when it was included as part of the two-hour show, "UFO Cover-up? Live!" on the Lexington Broadcasting System. It shows the connections of various U.S. government agencies to Majestic 12 and Project Aquarius, as prepared for the show by two of the guests on the show, William L. Moore and Jaime Shandera. Only one part is not known to CUFORN, i.e. D.C.5. When questioned as to its meaning, Mr. Moore refused to give it to CUFORN. It appears to be a part of the C.I.A. as it is linked to it on the chart.

Startling statements on "UFO Cover-up? Live!" TV show drew large viewer response; thousands report close encounters on TV network's special telephone lines

by Lawrence J. Patrick

A series of startling revelations about UFOs was the highlight of "UFO Cover-up? Live!", a live television show on the Lexington Broadcasting System network in the United States. The October 14, 1988 show from 8 to 10 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, ran in Canada on the Global Television Network which is only seen in Ontario.

Two men, code-named "Falcon" and "Condor", disclosed information classified above top secret concerning UFOs. They appeared on camera with their outlines blurred by computer pixels and their voices altered electronically to disguise their true identities and thus avoid repercussions from their employer, the United States Government.

Americans flew UFO in 1980

After Betty Cash and Vickie Landrum were interviewed about their famous CE2 in Texas, "Falcon" stated that "the craft that was observed was an alien craft piloted by military aircraft pilots. Although they had been trained and were somewhat familiar with the craft," he said, "they found that the aircraft did not respond to certain controls. They radioed that they thought the craft was going to crash. Standard procedures for the military in a situation where an aircraft is going to crash: the military would send up search and rescue helicopters. The helicopters were following the craft. The craft experienced severe problems. It was thought the craft was going to crash. However, the craft did not crash."

Moore, Shandera interviewed

Half-way through the TV show, Jaime Shandera and William L. (Bill) Moore, were interviewed by the show's host, Mike Farrell, an announcer-actor. Moore described his contact by phone with "Falcon" in 1982. Moore said "Falcon" was a government intelligence agent "who wanted to disseminate information about UFOs to the public."

Farrell heard from Moore and Shandera about the Majestic 12 documents while the audience saw the documents briefly on camera. Farrell suggested that the viewers listen to "Falcon's" explanation of Majestic 12. Then the camera moved in on a wall TV monitor where "Falcon" appeared with his visual and voice disguise. In the background, you could see an automobile driving past the building where "Falcon" was being televised.

"Falcon" said "MJ-12 functions as a policy-making group relating to extraterrestrial activities and contacts and UFO activities within the United States. They make the policy, obtain Presidential approval and then field activities implement the policies."

puzzles and riddles

Shandera, who is a television producer based in Los Angeles, said he got the MJ-12 documents in the mail. After that occurred, he said, he got a series of Ethiopian postcards mailed from New Zealand which contained puzzles and riddles. Moore was by that time working with Shandera. He gave an example of one clue they found on a postcard. An advertisement read "For a stylish look, shop Suitland." That led them to the National Repository in Suitland, Maryland. There they found top secret documents and filed a Freedom of Information request which led them to the Cutler-Twining document.

After saying that all of their meetings with "Falcon" were secret, Shandera stated "We always looked for a hoax, but within every clue there was always some verifiable fact." Moore added that he and Shandera have on-going contacts with "Falcon" and nine other government agents.

Shandera said he and Moore were able to meet with their contacts and to verify their credentials. He did not say how this was done. Nor did Farrell ask them how they did it. Shandera pointed out that their contacts were in secret "Need to Know" positions. He said that "Falcon's" job gave him access to the MJ-12 infrastructure.

MJ-12's origins, members

"Falcon" stated his position thus: "MJ-12 is a group of people in the government. MJ-12 was created by President Truman in the early 1950's and their job was to investigate and keep track of information pertaining to UFOs. Part of their job was scientific advancements. But their primary purpose was to keep track of the information coming in on UFOs, evaluating information, depending on what it was, both scientifically and in a way that would advance our technology."

"There are government officials and elected officials that are briefed on the existence and view of MJ-12 activities. These officials include the President and the Vice-President as elected officials, the Director of Central Intelligence and the Director of the National Security Agency. The MJ-12 policy is headquartered at the Naval Observatory in Washington, D.C.," he added.

U.S. Navy's role vital for MJ-12

"Falcon" went on to say that "the United States Navy has the primary operational responsibilities of field activities relating to the MJ-12 policies. All information gathered in the field, not necessarily by Navy personnel, is transmitted to the Navy for analysis."

Bill Moore interjected "Other known government agencies feed information to MJ-12 through a Top Secret cover project known to us as Project Aquarius." Jaime Shandera pointed out that "MJ-12 connects to select individuals within the National Security Council, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the White House Intelligence Unit, the National Security Agency, the Central Intelligence Agency, and the Defense Intelligence Agency. The research is conducted, the data classified and catalogued, all under the umbrella of strictest national security."

"Falcon" continued his statement: "The fact that I've given my identity to you, showed you my credentials and verified my existence within the government community" proves that he is who he says he is. "You also have some of my colleagues who have verified the same information."

"Falcon" was asked where he found his information about extraterrestrial biological entities or EBEs.

aliens guests of U.S. Govt.

"This book on- it's called the Bible in the MJ-12 community, contains historically, everything that occurred from the Truman era up through the three aliens being guests of the United States Government, technological data gathered from dead aliens that were found in the desert, autopsy information gathered from dead aliens found in the desert, and information obtained from the extraterrestrials regarding their social structure and their information pertaining to the universe."

He went on to say: "Presently, as of the year 1988, there is one extraterrestrial being. He's a guest of the United States Government and he's remained hidden from public view. The Yellow Book is a book that was exclusively written by the second alien. The book relates to the alien's planet, solar system, suns, the culture and society make-up on the planet, the social structure of the aliens and the aliens life among earthlings."

alien crystal pictures

"What was most intriguing to me in my experience with the aliens is, I believe, an octagon-shaped crystal which, when held in the alien's hand and observed by a second person, displays pictures. These pictures could be of the alien's home planet or pictures of Earth many thousands of years ago." Falcon said the aliens came from the "Zeta Reticuli star group."

"Condor" took up the narrative from "Falcon" at this point. "From what I understand, there is an agreement signed between the U.S. Government and the extraterrestrials. Essentially, the agreement says that we will not disclose their existence if you do not interfere in our society and we will allow you to operate in a designated base here in the United States. It's in the state of Nevada in an area called Area 51, or "Dreamland."

Next, "Falcon" gave more information: "The extraterrestrials have complete control of this base, which is located in Nevada. My understanding of it is that three different aliens of the same species have resided in the United States from 1948 or '49 until the present day. The first alien was captured in New Mexico in the desert after its craft crashed. The alien, who was named "EBE" by the government, was kept in captivity for three years. We learned a great deal of information about the aliens race, culture and spacecraft.," "Falcon" said.

"The second alien was part of an exchange program. I don't recall what year that alien visited. The third alien was also part of an exchange program and has been a guest of the United States Government since 1982."

autopsy data

As to their looks, "Falcon" said: "They're about three feet, four inches to three feet, eight inches tall." As the ensuing description went on, computer- or laser-generated three-dimensional green-colored graphics appeared on part of the TV screen. "Their eyes are extremely large, almost insect's in style. Their eyes have a couple of different inner lids. The face was extremely bright- came up to three times as bright as ours. They have just a tube opening where our nose would be. Small mouth. They have no teeth as we know it. They've a hard, gum-like area. Their internal organs are quite simple. They have one organ which does the job of our heart and lungs: "CUFORN members, possibly you will recall this description was given to us by Stanton Friedman at a CUFORN meeting in 1983 at the Park Plaza Hotel in Toronto. "Their digestive system is really simple. Their skin structure is extremely elastic skin, and hard. Probably hardened from their sun. Their brain is more complex than ours. It has several different lobes than ours. Their eyes- where our eyes are controlled by the back of our head, theirs is controlled by the front."

"Their hearing is quite better than ours, almost better than a dog's. Small areas: their sexual organs. They have males and females. Their kidney and bladder are one organ. They excrete waste. They have another organ which I don't know if our scientists know what it is for, but we believe it's to transfer the solid wastes. They have hands without thumbs. They've four fingers without any thumbs. Their feet are web-like-small, web-like."

'universal religion'

"Their average life span is approximately 350 to 400 earth years. It's my understanding that the aliens have an IQ of over 200."

He added that "they have a religion, but it's a universal religion. They believe in the Universe as a Supreme Being."

Concerning aesthetical matters, "'Falcon" said "the aliens enjoy music, all types of music, especially ancient Tibetan-style music."

strawberry ice cream

"They do eat vegetables. They like vegetables and their favorite dish or snack is ice cream, especially strawberry."

"Falcon" wrapped up his statements by saying: "I personally feel that the information should be presented to the public. There is only a small portion of the information that we gathered from the extraterrestrials that should be safeguarded or classified."

"Condor" said he'd like to have the U.S. Congress hold hearings on the subject. He, "Falcon", and a third source have agreed to meet with a Senator's staff to discuss all of the information they claim to have about UFOs and aliens, according to Farrell.

Farrell said that the meeting could be followed by a Senate investigation.

important omission

One of the items omitted from the show, according to William Moore, was an interview videotaped with Richard Doty, former special agent with the United States Air Force's Office of Special Investigations. Moore said in a telephone interview with your Editor that the interview with Doty concerned the UFO incident at Kirtland Air Force Base at Albuquerque, New Mexico in 1980.

The Doty segment was three minutes in length, Moore said, and was edited down from its original 20 minutes. He said that Doty had been transferred to the U.S. East coast and was retired from the Air Force. Actually, Doty had been fired or, to put it less forcefully, relieved of his position. Moore said that the interview would have brought out the truth about the KAFB incident. Moore said he hopes to have it for sale as a video in his publications listings which are circulated to ufologists regularly. He did not say when he would make it available nor give any price for the videotape.

Moore expressed his disappointment with the fact that the Doty interview was not on the show itself.

phone calls totalled 71,000

Interspersed in the show was a phone-in feature whereby viewers could call one of a series of special "900" phone numbers which were displayed on camera. People who had what they thought were close encounters of the first kind could call the network in Washington using one number; other numbers were for CE2's, CE3's and CE4's or abductions. Phone lines were left open until 1 a.m. for calls. There was even one number for those who had never had a close encounter. According to Bill Moore, there were about 71,000 calls received, many of them after the 1 a.m. deadline; some of them on the next day.

Here are the percentages as shown on the show just before it ended: CE1-66%; CE2-5%; CE3-3%; CE4-6%; no CE-20%. Taking the CE4 or abduction reports alone, this translates to a potential 4,260 abductions. Since we do not know the total number of people who watched the show, we do not know what percentage of the viewers 71,000 represents and therefore we do not know the same for the number of potential abductions, or for the other categories.

Another poll was taken on the show. It asked how many people were in favour of an investigation of the cover-up by the United States Congress. The figures given were: 87% in favour; 13% not in favour. We were not told how many of the audience registered their vote by phone.

Peter Leone, appeared on camera and said: "I met with a government intelligence agent with the code name of "Falcon" in 1983 with Jaime and Bill at the time that I was an executive producer of news for the CBS station in Los Angeles. At the time, we verified as authentic his credentials. And then again in 1987, we met again with "Falcon" and again verified his credentials. I'm satisfied at this time that he is who he says he is."

Gulf Breeze segment

The second most lengthy part of the TV documentary dwelt on the controversial Gulf Breeze, Florida case. The chief observer known only as "Mr. Ed" did not appear, as he wants to remain anonymous. The man is a building contractor in the small town near Pensacola, Florida.

Close to 100 local observers from Gulf Breeze were gathered in that town's local TV station and the show's host, Mike Farrell, questioned some of them about their observations and opinions of the incidents. The five and one-half month flap involved some 36 photographs and videotape of acorn-shaped UFOs in the air in that town. There were other photographs taken by people other than Mr. Ed, but attention was paid to his pictures, some of which were shown on on screen.

Budd Hopkins, author of Missing Time and Intruders told the viewing audience: "I believe Gulf Breeze will turn out to be one of the most important UFO cases of all time."

Three different cameras were used to take the pictures, including one stereoscopic or three-dimensional camera lent to Mr. Ed by MUFON's investigative team which is in charge of the investigation. Witnesses include Ed's wife and children, friends, neighbours, city officials and others. Ed himself described one CE in which he found himself enveloped by a blue beam from a UFO which lifted him into the air some six feet and then dropped him. The same blue beam was seen by other witnesses and was seen in one of Ed's photos taken through the windshield of his automobile. An entire sequence of his videotape of an object was shown.

Other people who appeared on camera were Duane Cook, editor of the Gulf Breeze Sentinel, MUFON's Donald Ware, who is a U.S. Air Force veteran, and Chief of Police Jerry Brown, who was skeptical of the case. It was pointed out that there were a total of 153 observers. Of these, four people have reported CE3's, six reported blue beams of light coming from a UFO, and there were ten reports of missing time, or possible CE4's.

Reporter Mike Curtis of the newspaper in Pensacola was interviewed and made a favorable comment. It was also pointed out that "Ed" has taken two lie detector tests and passed both of them. Observers interviewed on the show included Charlie Summerby and his wife Doris who saw a UFO in November, 1987. A young boy, Jesse Bertram, who was on the show with his mother Alice, said he and some friends had seen a UFO while they were climbing a tree near the local school. Jeff Thompson described his daylight CE1 of November 11, 1987, at 8.10 a.m., where a 400-foot-long object appeared at tree-top elevation. Immediately afterwards, two military jet aircraft were seen to chase the UFO.

Pro and con statements were presented on the photographic evidence. Dr. Robert Nathan of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in California, attempted to debunk the pictures, although he only had examined five of the photos using computer analysis. He said there could have been several methods used to fake the pictures: overlays, or double exposures. This is, according to MUFON, highly unlikely, as it is very difficult to do so with a Polaroid camera, which was what Ed used for the majority of his photos. He pointed to the bottom of each object's image in the pictures, saying that the bottom edges are too sharp compared to the top, meaning it could be a cut-off from a separate photo which has been superimposed over the background. It could be a cut-and-paste job, he said.

Dr. Bruce Maccabee, famed ufologist and U.S. Navy optical physicist, defended the photographs. He said he had analyzed all of the pictures and the videotape and found no evidence of a hoax.

One of the most unique parts of the TV show was a direct live link-up to Moscow with comments by Soviet scientists and one man-in-the street interview.

Soviet participation

This was the first look at UFOs ever televised from the Soviet Union, obviously part of Gorbachev's Glasnost policy. It was previewed at the start of the show by an on-the-street interview with a young man speaking English and telling of his personal report of a UFO sighting.

The Soviet participation in the show was divided into two separate segments. First, Tass reporter Sergei Bulantsov expressed his view that the show so far had been "exciting". He went on to tell of the 1984 sighting by pilots and passengers of a Tupelov airliner flying from Tsibili to Tallin, Estonia. One of many excellent pieces of art work showed the audience what was observed.

Other reports illustrated were the 1981 Yugoslavian CE3 by two observers of a landed UFO in a park where seven-foot-tall creatures emerged from the craft, which opened up like a blooming flower; a June, 1975 CE4 at Gurosovert in which one of two Soviet army officers reported one hour of "missing time" and subsequent recurring dreams; and finally, the viewers were shown a series of photographs taken in countries such as Bulgaria where a Polaroid picture was taken of a UFO in July, 1978.

The appearance of Leonov Nikishin, Science Secretary of the Working Group Extraterrestrial Intelligence, of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences, was marred by the obvious unfamiliarity of Farrell with the delay in satellite transmission which had him and Nikishin waiting until their words were heard in each country. Often, Farrell and Nikishin talked over each other out of frustration and words were missed. Nikishin ended his portion of the show by saying that "we may meet extraterrestrials soon, perhaps sooner than we think." Does he know something we don't know?

Bulantsov talked about a new bit of information about the famous Tunguska explosion of 1908. The Soviets have discovered that there were two explosions at two different times on the day of the event. Two objects exploded, he said, one at 8 a.m., and a second one in the afternoon. He suggested that there should be a joint U.S.-U.S.S.R. expedition to Tunguska to probe the evidence there.

Nikishin, who is a scientist, technician and journalist, remarked that in 1984, a plea for UFO reports which the Soviet government placed in two Soviet newspapers, received 20,000 reports.

the Holloman film

In another segment of "UFO Cover-up? Live!", an American Air Force film of three UFOs appearing at Holloman Air Force Base in 1970 was described. Robert Emenegger, author of the book, UFOs, Past, Present and Future, was a guest, along with Paul Shortell, former Security Manager and Chief of Requirements for the Audio-visual Program at Norton Air Force Base.

Emenegger had gone to Norton AFB to get film footage for a television special publicizing the Air Force. He was working for Gray Advertising at the time in 1973. Shortell showed him a piece of film of three discs, two of which left the area while one landed after exhibiting the oscillating or "falling leaf" motion associated with UFOs in trouble. Emenegger said "one landed on three pods, a ramp came down and out came three aliens, human-sized, with gray skins and pronounced noses, wearing tight-fitting jump suits, thin head-dresses that appeared to be communication devices, and held "translators" in their hands."

"A Holloman Base Commander and other Air Force officers went out to meet them." He was all set to take the film with him when "the Pentagon confiscated the film at the last minute. What I saw and heard was enough to convince me the phenomenon of UFOs is real-very real," he said.

Shortell said he was told it was "theatrical footage the Air Force had purchased to make a training film." Training for what? Shortell said his job was to keep records of any such purchase and he had no record of such a purchase. He said it was "too real" to be theatrical film.

CONCLUDED ON PAGE 8

Two comments about two elements of the show are à propos here. The exchange of humans for humanoids was hinted at in the movie "Close Encounters of the Third Kind", along with the cover-up, and the landing at an airstrip is reminiscent of the climax of the movie. It appears that the movie was part of an attempt to prepare the public for the truth about UFOs, if and when the public is told it by the U.S. government. We do not usually deal in rumours, but one which we have heard is that two of Stephen Spielberg's closest associates work on a contract basis for the National Security Agency. Spielberg is unaware of their connection to NSA. On the humorous side, William L. Moore's favorite snack is ice cream. If he prefers strawberry, we may have something of importance here.

There were many other segments in the TV documentary. We have no space left to mention them in this magazine. If anyone who has a videotape cassette recording of the show will

Letters to the Editor

In a letter to the Editor, member Lloyd L. Arnold, age 82, of Lakewood, Colorado, U.S.A., mentioned his daylight disc sighting of the summer of 1915 in Lansing, Michigan, when he was eight years old. Arnold is now a consulting engineer with his own company.

He, his parents and neighbours and the local lamplighter saw, "approaching from about eight miles west a UFO heading due east", "golden in the light of the then setting sun. At its closest proximity as it passed due south of me, it was about 800 ft. altitude and about 0.7 miles south. It was cigar-shaped, more than a city block long (500 ft. m/1), travelling smoothly at probably 50 mph without sound or contrails in a clear and cloudless sky. I and the others watched it disappear to the east over the trees, consuming about 10 minutes."

"Subsequent to my first encounter related, I have had others, plus numerous "out-of-body" contacts, on-board examinations and other related experiences of paranormal nature as a whole, but nonetheless completely physical and with completely human entities (not humanoid) of extremely tall stature."

Arnold is also a member of the Denver UFO Society, which publishes a small newsletter.

The show's host Mike Farrell be kind enough to show it to any readers who did not see the show, they will be able to evaluate it for themselves. Enough said.

Dear Larry:

Glad to hear from you. I left files of your kind of UFO research material behind when I fled California in 1985, a 40 year accumulation, and the scientific explanation of the origin of the UFOs is no closer to an answer than it was in 1947. As far as I'm concerned, the search for a scientific answer is part of the cover-up! You would do well to follow the lead of your most prominent Canadian researcher of a generation ago, Wilbert "Wib" Smith, and move on into the philosophical aspect of the flying saucer phenomenon-if you have the intellectual courage he had.

People want to know why these aliens are here and what are their intentions. You won't have any answers to those questions until you talk to the invaders yourself, or to the contactees, as did Smith.

There's no doubt in my mind that some elite group in the U.S. government has been test flying man-made space vehicles since the early 1960s. Rumor has it on this side of the world that the supersecret underground base at Pine Gap in the middle of Australia is such a facility. When Aussie PM Gough Whitlam threatened to cancel the American lease at Pine Gap a few years ago he was suddenly fired by the Queen's Governor General! So you must be aware that if you get too close to certain secrets, you will be subject to punitive action, as I was in California. Yours,

Riley Crabb

CUFORN reports go to on-line users of ParaNet - an association of computer bulletin boards across North America

CUFORN's published UFO reports are being sent to those persons who are members of ParaNet, a computer bulletin board set-up in North America. New member Tom Mickus has arranged to send all reports immediately after he has received the latest Bulletin.

ParaNet is a loose association of computer bulletin boards which "specialize in mature discussion of a variety of paranormal phenomena," according to Mickus. He said in a March 31, 1988 letter to CUFORN, that he is "interested in the Canadian UFO scene, and its evolution over the years."

"Recently, I have set up here in Toronto, the Crucible Bulletin Board System, which is a member of ParaNet. Currently, we number close to 20 BBS. One of the primary areas of discussion (on the systems) is in the field of UFOlogy. Thus we are often on the cutting edge of recent sightings and UFO flaps occurring across North America," he said.

"As of this date, we are still involved in analyzing the recent Gulf Breeze, Florida incidents along with some sightings in Texarkana and Seattle."

Mickus said it is his intention to be a "clearing house for Canadian UFO developments for ParaNet," he stated. CUFORN has agreed to allow him to reprint in whole or in part the CUFORN Bulletin, which is now available to On-line users across North America.

He said that "the Crucible is a non-profit operation, and indeed, we do not solicit funds even for operating costs. Our only purpose is to promote intelligent and mature discussion on subjects such as UFOs, in the hopes of making the public more aware and informed."

CUFORN urges all members to contribute their own expertise in various areas of ufology to the Bulletin, by sending short articles to the Bulletin. This is especially applicable to those of us with a scientific background. We need your input. Aside from that, we are sure you'd like to see your name in the Bulletin as the author of an article. Your contribution to the field of ufology is just as important as anyone else's, even though you may not be considered as a famous ufologist. Who knows where your article may lead? Even an opinion piece or editorial is welcome. Write to us.

While we are on the subject of ParaNet, there is one rather famous name in ufology who is a member of that association. He's John Lear, Jr., son of John Lear, founder of Learjet Corporation.

MJ-12 has British equivalent

British member Mark James has been corresponding with your Editor for some time now. He is a Field Investigator for MUFON in England and lives in the Shropshire area of England.

From his letters and several long distance telephone calls we have received a few tidbits of information about items of interest in the U.K. He says he has a few very good contacts in the British Ministry of Defence. He has also met Gordon Williams, the Base Commander in the famous Rendlesham Forest, Bentwaters AFB-Woodbridge AFB incidents of 1980. He claims Williams followed him on a local bus after he spoke with him. He said Williams admitted there was a cover-up on the case and on UFOs in general.

James says he knows of the British equivalent of MJ-12. It is called Operation Apotheosis. It was started ten years ago, with only eight members on the panel. A British Air Commodore told James "the government is getting very worried about the future. A six-page document was sent to the Chief of Staff, which caused quite a stink. Let me tell you this, we haven't got a clue how to handle this situation. Yes, we are trying."

James was given a memorandum by the Air Commodore (now Air Vice-

FOUR "PALE BLUE" NL'S GYRATE OVER TORONTO

by Joseph Muskat

On Thursday, November 17, 1988, I received a call at 10.10 p.m. from a couple in Toronto who live near the intersection of Weston Road and Eglinton Avenue West. This is in the west-central part of the city, in a heavily populated residential-commercial area.

The couple, whose first names are Michael and Lorraine, told me that they were very skeptical, but wanted an answer as to what they had seen. They had first phoned the police. Then they called Downsview Air Force Base who gave them my phone number and they called me.

Michael was first attracted to the window by a blue streak of light. He then called his fiancée. They proceeded to watch the object(s) shown in the accompanying drawing from 9.45 p.m. to 10 p.m.

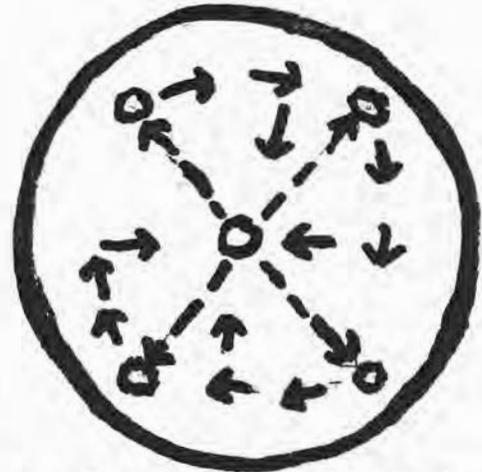

Above the apartment where they live, they observed four large circles of "light pale blue" (the size of a thumbnail at arm's length) coming together to form one large circle. Next, the smaller circles slowly fanned out in opposing directions. At this time, they appeared to be 1/4 mile apart and approximately 1/2 mile high. They then turned a quarter turn and came back together. Again, they fanned out. The same inward and outward motions were repeated again and again for the entire 15 minutes of their observation.

Both Michael and Lorraine were so excited, they left the opened window and missed the departure of these objects.

There was no noise noted, nor any EM effects, according to the couple.

We hope further information will be received from them. They said they would send a more detailed account to CUFORN.

Michael and Lorraine refused to give their last names, nor their phone numbers and addresses.

The circles of light start at the centre of the drawing above, moved outward, rotated 1/2 turn, moved back to the centre, and repeated the movements over and over again.
