Letter to the Editor

To the Editor;

I've been reading all about how it's now been "proved" that Ed Walters is a fraud. A Latin phrase that I included in my manuscript defines perfectly this kind of attack: ad hominem, ad captandum vulgus. Destroy a "dangerous" anti-status quo revelation by attacking the individual who represents that revelation; and do so by appealing to the worse, the raunchiest, mob instincts in society. When "they" start using this kind of tactic, it's almost certain that "they" are beginning to panic that the truth was close to becoming common knowledge. Yeah. I still feel a need to claim Agnosticism, but it looks to me like Mr. Walters is being set up. It's all just too blatantly convenient.

Lazar gets proof

Las Vegas physicist Robert Lazar has reportedly obtained his requested W-2 form from U.S. Naval Intelligence, which verifies his former employment with them, according to UFO Magazine, Vol.5, No.5, 1990, p.16. This is one document which may strengthen his case.

As Bulletin readers may recall from our January-February issue, Lazar says he was involved in research into top secret UFOs stored at the S-4 part of "Dreamland" in the Nevada desert.

Most speakers held to theme at 1990 MUFON Symposium

by Lawrence J. Fenwick,
CUFORN Co-Director

NOTE: The quotes from various speeches given at the 1990 MUFON UFO Symposium were taken from the Proceedings of the Symposium. All are copyright 1990 Mutual UFO Network, Inc., (MUFON), 103 Oldtowne Road, Seguin, TX 78155-4099. We are indebted to MUFON's International Director, Walter H. Andrus, Jr. for his kind permission to use both them and the photographs in this issue.

Twelve speakers tackled the theme, "The Impact of E.T. Contact Upon Society" at the 1990 MUFON UFO Symposium held at the Pensacola Hilton Hotel in Pensacola, Florida from July 6 to 8.

Only one speaker, England's John L. Spencer deviated from it. He emphasized that the assumption that UFOs are extra-terrestrial in origin is not shared by European ufologists.

Spencer is an accountant, author and UFO researcher. He pointed out that only 20 percent of Europeans are convinced by the E.T. hypothesis, compared to 58 percent of Americans. Spencer feels UFOs are partly real in a physical sense, but are also a social phenomenon--a substitute for God for some people; some create a mythology around UFO events, i.e. a psychological reaction. The sociological and psychological effects, he said are clouding our understanding of the true UFO incident. He urged Americans to "consider being more positive about these other aspects of the subject."

Only by approaching the subject with a combination of European and American attitudes, he said, "will we then be able to see the physical core UFO phenomenon for what it is." This new perspective, minus preconceptions, will bring ufology to the heart of the matter, he added.

15 MPs

According to Donald R. Schmitt, he has tracked down 15 military policemen who guarded the wreckage of the UFO that crashed near Roswell, New Mexico on July 2, 1947.

He spoke about the investigation of the incident with Kevin Randle, in a speech entitled "New Revelations From Roswell." The speech reproduced in the Symposium Proceedings did not mention the military policemen. That part was added when he spoke.

He failed to give any credit for discovering the majority of the facts on the case to William L. Moore and Stanton Friedman, who had done the work ten years earlier. Among the questions one might ask, and Moore has already asked it, is why it took the Center for UFO Studies ten years to get around to investigating the event. If they had cooperated with Moore and Friedman more could have been done as a team.

secrets kept

An accurate account of the event, in general, was given by Schmitt, and in what seems to be a chronological order in terms of details. He also proved that the U.S. Government can keep secrets, with a few examples given. He went on to show how the American government covered up the Roswell crash after an initial disclosure to the media. Two interviews with participants in the case proved fruitless, as after 42 years, they would not admit that a UFO crashed. The Roswell Army Air Force Base Provost Marshal said he considered himself still sworn to secrecy.

Schmitt repeated much of what Moore and

Friedman had found out. Notes and files were confiscated from reporters, radio stations were warned not to broadcast stories, a phoney story was used, and men were sworn to secrecy, Schmitt said.

The speech was full of questions, some of which were rhetorical. He answered all of them. In addition, 33 pieces of new information about the incident were mentioned. For example, there were at least seven aircraft flights needed to transport the wreckage to Fort Worth AFB and Wright Field, 60 soldiers took two full days to recover all the debris, and the military checked the site for possible radiation. These and other verified facts disprove the cover story that the crash was that of a weather balloon.

Florida abductions

"UFO Abduction Cases in the Gulf Breeze, Florida Area" was Budd Hopkins topic. The abductions happened in the middle of the sighting wave mentioned in Ed and Frances Walters book, "The Gulf Breeze Sightings."

trauma from tests

Hopkins said that in one case a notation-al system seen on board a UFO by an abductee was identical to at least 30 other cases. He said he would reveal the system some day, but he didn't say when. He also stated that some psychological tests were given by the aliens to humans on board UFOs. These were visualizations which were so traumatic "that the emotional scars they've left upon their victims are deep enough to last a lifetime," he said.

One abduction of a young woman near Gulf Breeze's Shoreline Park on May 1, 1988, was investigated by Vicki Lyons, Hopkins said. Hypnotic regression by Hopkins and the late Dan Overlade showed that she was returned ten minutes before Ed Walters was abducted that same evening a few miles away. Her 3-year-old child saw the Pensacola TV documentary on the Gulf Breeze cases and told her mother she had seen the UFO photographed by Walters near their home. The girl said she'd seen "people" like the aliens in the drawings on the TV show. She said she saw them in the yard outside her window.

Hopkins said the child was so frightened by the drawings that her mother had to turn off the TV set. Five other people in the area may have been abducted, he said. He conducted regressive hypnosis with them.

The religious aspect of UFOs was dealt with by the Reverend Barry H. Downing, B.A., physi-pastor of Northminster Presbyterian Church in Endwell, New York. The author of The Bible and Flying Saucers holds a Ph.D. degree from the University of Edinburgh's New College in Scotland.

His speech was entitled "E.T. Contact: the Religious Dimension." He covered the cultural background, UFOs and Western Religion, and the abduction experience.

He argued that E.T. contact would probably be less traumatic for Eastern Hindus than for Western Judeo-Christian religions. He talked about five theories of UFOs and religion in the West. These are the mythological, the ancient astronauts, the biblical religion as a joke or experiment, the demonic and the angelic.

involved in religion

He said he felt UFOs "may have been involved in the development of the biblical religion, in both its Old and New Testament forms," and "may also have stimulated other world religions." Contrary to what some researchers have said recently, Downing said he does "not think that the UFO community can do more than it is doing in the area of UFO research."

Professor Robert L. Hall, a sociologist and U.S. Air Force veteran, spoke on "Mass Panic and Other Favorite Myths."

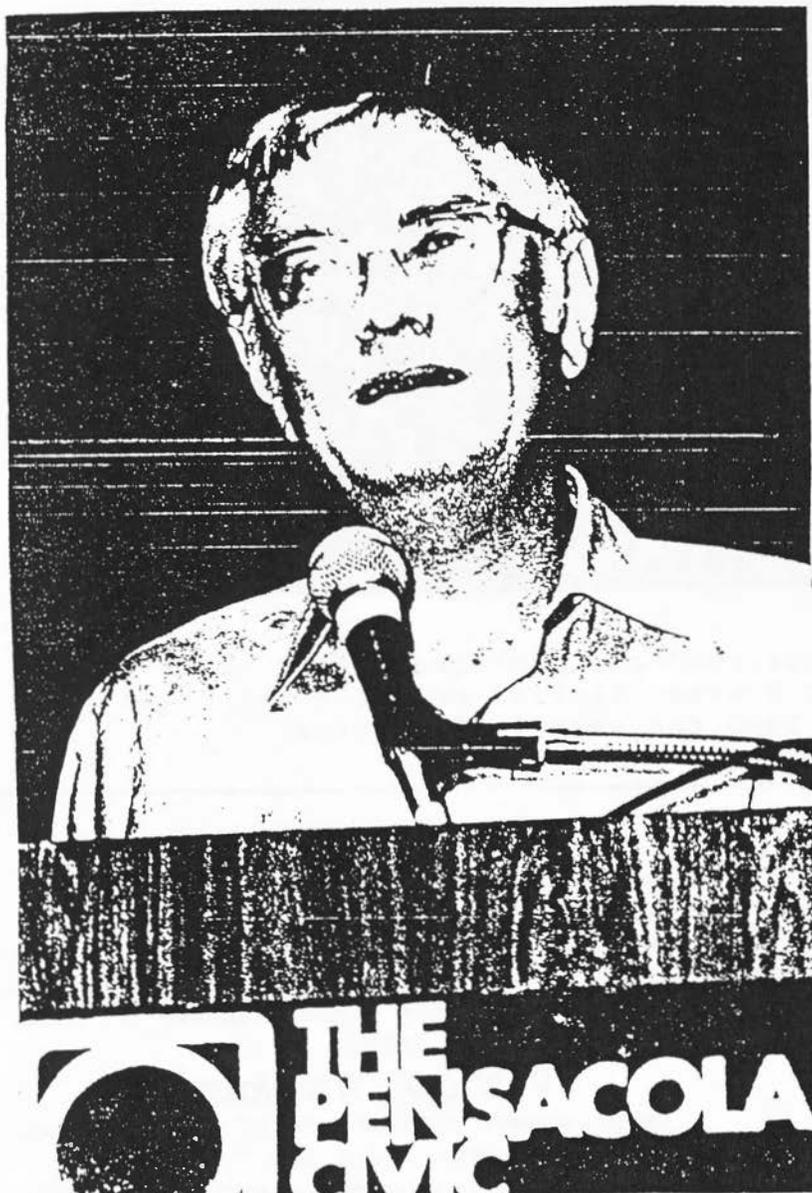

He elaborated on the two main types-- collective panic and collective delusion, with summarizations and examples of each. He pointed out that there are few examples of aliens deliberately harming humans.

prepare people

Hall said that, if the government would reveal its contact with aliens, the open discussion which would follow would prepare people for more widespread contact, a way of preventing panic. He stated that keeping the people in the dark increases fear of the unknown so that government cover-up of the UFO situation is a misguided policy.

As for collective delusions such the Orson Welles radio broadcast of 1938 about a Budd Hopkins gave one of the more interesting speeches at the Symposium. All speeches had to be made at the Pensacola Civic Auditorium as the air conditioning broke down at the Hilton Hotel where they were originally scheduled to be made. Fortunately, the Auditorium is across the road from the hotel.

supposed Martian invasion, he blamed the media for exaggerating its effect. Only two percent of the American public were even excited by the broadcast and only a few people did anything drastic. Panic flight is not a common reaction. Helping others and organizing the community's efforts is very likely as this is what happens in disaster situations.

Ed Walters spoke about "Current Gulf Breeze Events.". He described three UFO sightings made after the publication of "The Gulf Breeze Sightings; The Most Astounding Multiple Sightings of UFOs in U.S. History", which he and his wife Frances wrote.

He talked about an apparent landing trace and a "sky quake". There were 12 witnesses to one sighting in Pensacola, six to one in Gulf Breeze, and at least 15 to another in Gulf Breeze. Photos and videotape were involved, and were taken by several people other than Walters. These included Brenda Pollak and Chip Holston. The UFO observations occurred on September 12, 1989, January 8, 1990, and April 14, 1990. The January 8 event included the appearance of three search and rescue helicopters from the Pensacola Naval Air Station. The helicopters used their searchlights over the area where a black, disc-shaped UFO had been seen.

Carey Baker's talk, "The Fyffe, Alabama Experience", consisted mainly of a short description of a series of sightings made in that town starting in February, 1989.

He told the audience about the reaction of a few people, and the impact on the general populace in the area; along with their reactions. Media coverage of the flap was delineated by Baker. One previously skeptical anonymous observer had a 75-minute time lapse after his first sighting on March 3, 1989.

four photographs

An anonymous couple he called Fred and

Ethel were mentioned, Fred having had UFO experiences for 30 years. Baker's wife, Teri took four photographs of a UFO and one of an airplane. She was accompanied by newspaper reporter Susan Stockman on that night, March 9, 1989.

TV show "frivolous"

Baker showed a videotape of the "Inside Edition" TV show about the Fyffe events. It was so frivolous and discourteous that residents stopped talking to the media, even though the number of sightings had increased. He said people there now have a matter-of-fact attitude toward the sightings and are not afraid of UFOs. They are afraid of humans doing shows on TV about sightings and of newspaper articles about UFO experiences.

One long speech by physicist John E. Brandenburg was about the destiny of humanity in the cosmos. It was entitled "The Rainbow Declaration and Human Destiny in the Cosmos."

The Declaration was about "knowledge and dialogue. It concerned the HHM or Human Historical Model, which says that Earth's nations and E.T. nations resemble each other in certain ways. The Zeta Reticular's behaviour is compared to human behaviour. The purposes of each are the same, he said, in seven behavioral categories. He said he believes that the fact of Reticular hostility is why the U.S. government is covering up its knowledge of the UFO phenomenon.

So Brandenburg places himself on the same fear-inspiring ufological plane as Bill Cooper and John Lear, Jr. Yet he sees his philosophical and idealistic Rainbow Declaration as the means of countering the Reticulans. Brandenburg says that if humans follow his precepts they will be in the right and gain much needed strength of will to resist the "evil" Reticulans, or "grays."

contradiction

He feels that we must also physically attack the Reticulans. This is in complete contradiction to his own ideals expressed in his high-minded Rainbow Declaration.

J. Antonio Huneus spoke on "Red Skies: The Great 1989 UFO Wave in the U.S.S.R. "

He began with a brief history of UFO research in the U.S.S.R. He pointed out that this work is now done by local commissions on anomalous phenomena attached to the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences. He gave short accounts next of various cases and ended with a few conclusions about the nature and study of ufology in that country.

Huneus used slides to illustrate the reports. One of those slides appears on page 9 of this issue. Huneus is a full-time journalist and is International Co-Ordinator for MUFON, and lives in New York City. He did not merely talk about the publicized landing at Voronezh. He quoted Soviet researcher Emil Bachuris as telling Martine Costello of the French newspaper Le Figaro that "over 500 OEE's have been analyzed by the different scientific committees during the last three years. The stories are practically all similar, and they are often absurd if we look at them according to our own logic."

"The witnesses," he said, "seem like they've been manipulated and yet they are always sincere. Something has really happened, since we find traces on the soil, psychological trauma and often burns on the witnesses. Costello wrote the newspaper article following her trip to Moscow in January, 1990.

well-received

A newcomer to ufology gave a very interesting speech at the Symposium. Former astronaut and astronomer Brian T. O'Leary, Ph.D., spoke on "UFOs, Extraterrestrials and the New Science." His was a mixture of science and philosophy which was well-received by the audience of over 800 people.

He said the U.S. government should tell the public all it knows about UFOs. He stressed that we "need to develop theories that include other paranormal phenomena." He said the UFO phenomenon is an integral part of a future "cosmic renaissance in human awareness" and requires more "private and public funding of high quality scientific inquiry into UFOs."

Although O'Leary was briefly in the scientist astronaut program in 1967-68, he said he had no secret data on UFOs. "The fact is I am not an insider and I have no privileged informatio

paralyzed

He mentioned that he had been paralyzed along with a friend one night while visiting Whitley Striebar's cabin in upper New York State. He had a book published in 1988 called "Exploring Inner and Outer Space."

His speech began with a description of his "psychic experience and spiritual awakening" at a weekend human potential workshop in 1979. He went on to elucidate about the traditional and untraditional approaches to the search for extraterrestrial intelligence. Most scientists, he said, "do not yet have the necessary paradigm shift" from the traditional SETI approach to actual UFO research. It took him 20 years to do so, ignoring UFO data meanwhile.

possible symbols

O'Leary quoted Jacques Vallee's book, "Dimensions" in giving his own views. "Perhaps said O'Leary, " with UFOs, we are seeing a manifestation of symbols from another spiritual realm teaching us a lesson, symbols that appear as mirrors for our evolution into an expanded awareness beyond the five senses and logical brain." He stated "we can better understand the UFO phenomenon if we better understand other aspects of our own reality."

"Who Speaks for the Witness?" was the title of a speech by David A. Gotlib, M.O. of Toronto, Ontario, Canada. Gotlib is listed in this Bulletin as CUFORN's Consultant in Regressive Hypnosis. He has assisted CUFORN in several abduction cases. Owing to two misunderstandings on his part, he, without mentioning CUFORN by name, chose to criticize us without knowing all the facts.

Although he made some valid points in his speech, he said nothing that has not already been said by other hypnotherapists in their work with UFO groups. He spoke to neither of the two doctors who have worked with CUFORN in the past, and made his judgements based on his own experience. On something as important as ethics, one would assume he would have asked CUFORN about other doctors we've worked with, and should have spoken to them before writing his speech. He now refuses to release information about his regressive hypnosis sessions with many other reported abductees in the Toronto area. Accordingly, CUFORN will seek out another qualified doctor to assist us in any future potential abduction report investigations.

CUFOS exhibits in Canada

by Lawrence J. Fenwick

The Center for UFO Studies, based in Chicago, Illinois, has a large photo exhibit traveling around North America. Both in 1989 and 1990, it was on display in Canada. In 1989, it was in Orillia, Ontario, a small town north of Toronto. This year, it appeared in Kingston, Ontario and Oshawa, Ontario.

From September 4 to 8, it was at the Kingston Mall and from September 10 to 15 it was on display at the Oshawa Shopping Centre. John P. Timmerman, B.A., sociology, Cornell University, former Chairman of the Board of CUFOS and Field Investigator of Lima, Ohio and his wife were in charge of the exhibit.

Member Clive Nadin visited the Kingston display and was, according to Timmerman, of valuable assistance to him and his wife for the duration of the exhibit. Other Ottawa area ufologists came along and helped out. The large crowds in Kingston would have been hard to handle if it were not for CUFORN's aid.

In the Oshawa Centre, a large table was set up displaying various CUFOS publications. Aside from that, there was also a continuously running videotape of the 1980 UFO documentary "UFOs Are Real", which was essentially the work of Stanton T. Friedman. The CUFOS people were selling copies of the videotape to anyone who wanted to buy it. Sales of the CUFOS publications were slow, according to Mrs. Timmerman, during the week, with a few people only buying a great deal of the ones on sale. On the Saturday, business was much improved as the crowds shopping are always larger on weekends. The shopping centre itself is large than many in the larger neighbouring city of Toronto. Oshawa is 68 miles east of Toronto by car.

CUFORN member Lorne Gratton, President Joe Muskat and your Editor travelled to Oshawa on the 13th to help out. Muskat's brother Gary also came along. We would have telephoned other CUFORN members to tell them about the display, but there simply was no time to make phone calls and still get there before the Centre closed at 9.30 p.m. on week nights. As it is, by the time we got there, it was 8.40 p.m. Your Editor had also gone there on Tuesday night, the 11th. However, due to a major accident on the highway, which involved two large trucks and four automobiles, it was not possible to get there until 30 minutes before the Centre closed. Due to other commitments made prior to the display appearance, it was not possible to attend and help out on other days and nights.

CUFORN did manage to leave some calling cards, CUFORN background data sheets, and membership application forms on the display table. All of them were taken by interested people before Saturday. One new member was obtained as a result of the CUFORN presence.

professional display

For those of you not familiar with the CUFOS display, it is a truly professional arrangement which Timmerman himself conceived years ago. All photographs and drawings are covered with glass for protective reasons. This does mean that any photographs of the display would be hard to take, owing to the glare from the glass reflecting onto the camera lens.

The display includes both drawings and photographs. Each of the panels in the display is devoted to a different aspect of the subject. For example, there are sections on all the categories such as NL's, OO's, R/V's, CE1's, CE2's, and CE3's. Examples of many foreign ufojournals are there as are sections describing the Centre's work and even a section dealing with the debunkers.

CUFOS is listed with all the shopping centres in North America. Those centres that want to have it, contact CUFOS and arrange for shipment of the display to them for a specific time period. Publicity for the display is left up to the individual centre, and to CUFOS and other groups who advertise its presence in advance.

We hope other centres in the Toronto area will see fit to invite CUFOS to exhibit so that many more Canadians will visit it.

Canadian wave analyzed

by Lawrence J. Fenwick

Ufologist Chris Rutkowski of Winnipeg, Manitoba has published an analysis of the 1989 Canadian UFO wave of reports. Rutkowski is a Contributing Editor of IUR, the International UFO Reporter, published by the J. Allen Hynek Center for UFO Studies (which is abbreviated in this issue as the Center for UFO Studies). It was reprinted in its entirety of eight pages in the July-August issue of IUR. We will try to summarize it here for you.

Reports were gathered from various sources, including the National Research Council of Canada, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and individuals such as your Editor, Roy Bauer of UFORUM (Manitoba), Clive Nadin of CUFORN and OCUFOS (Ottawa), Bonnie Wheeler of the Cambridge UFO Research Society in Cambridge, Ontario, and CUFORN Members Tom Mickus (now living in Indiana, U.S.A.), John Musgrave (Alberta), Michael Strainic (British Columbia) and CUFORN Member Grant Cameron (Winnipeg, Manitoba).

We should emphasize that abduction reports were not covered by the study, which Rutkowski admits was an arbitrary decision on his part.

Fourteen percent of the cases were listed as "unknowns" with sufficient information and credible observers, multiple observers, independent witnesses, investigated by qualified investigators, not explainable as IFOs, and, in some cases, physical evidence. As for CE reports considered "unknowns", these represented only five percent of the 1989 reports.

Rutkowski emphasized that the "unknowns" might become "knowns" or IFOs if more evidence is forthcoming on them.

141 reports

There were 141 reports analyzed for the year, although there may have been more reports if more ufologists had answered Rutkowski's form letter sent to them in late 1989. He sent letters to 25 people. Only eight responded. Ninety-two of the cases came from the National Research Council (NRC). No reports came from the Yukon or Prince Edward Island, the Maritime area's smallest province.

On page 12 of this issue, you will see a map of Canada, showing the general locations of the reports. It was found that the geographical distribution of reports "roughly reflects the distribution of population in the country," he stated. There was an "overabundance of reports plotted in the prairie region" out west. This is the only deviation from the general coincidence of reports with large population centres. The map plots about half of the cases listed, and listed they are, as anyone who reads the full report will see.

Nocturnal lights accounted for 60 percent of the reports; nocturnal discs, 14 percent; daylight discs, 11 percent, and close encounters or CE's made up 12 percent of the total. Two landing traces with no reported sighting were listed, and there were two reports of cattle mutilations, with no associated UFO reports.

75 percent of the cases had a more than 30 second duration. Over half of the cases were lacking sufficient information on which to make a judgement. About 1/3 were IFOs, but this was Rutkowski's own subjective evaluation. and, as he said, "not immutable." Reports were most common in October and November.

The average number of witnesses per case was slightly more than two. This applied as much to the IFOs as it did to the UFOs, for reasons which he cannot find an answer.

The researcher notes that "only about one half of all UFO sightings reported to the RCMP make it into the NRC files. Thus, sighting report numbers may be significantly higher than recorded." (Editor's emphasis) RCMP reports are fairly well investigated, whereas NRC does little or no investigation at all. For copies of the full report, write to Rutkowski at P.O. Box 1918, Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada R3C 3R2.
