We have now increased the number of pages to 40, but the price of the periodical is unchanged. This time we have few reports of observations. However, it's pleasant that two of them is from Hessdalen. Maybe the activity there will rise again. Otherwise the matter of subjects this time are affected by Mr. Odd-Gunnar Røed's visit to the UFO Conference in San Marino in May this year. He got new information on «what's up» in ufology, and met many interesting scientists and investigators. One being Mr. Derrel Sims, until now unknown to us, but obviously a front-runner when it comes to research on implants. Such implants represents the so far strongest indication, or dare we say evidence, of physical contact in asserted fourth-degree encounters.

We also have a Norwegian report, experienced in Spain, of a possible abduction, where the involved person felt a telepathic contact and had subsequent dreams. The number of such reports are increasing. If this not reflects real physical experiences, we should seek to uncover what mechanism in the human mind that makes people all over the world have similar traumatic dreams.

NORWEGIAN SIGHTINGS

By Odd-Gunnar Røed pp. 4-8

The number of reports has decreased dramatically since last issue. The arrival of spring, with brighter skies, naturally makes sightings more difficult.

At Gvarv in Telemark, summer 1984. Late evening

Three persons observed a light with a diameter of 15 m, some 25 m away only. It was shaped like «an American football» and moved slowly, some 20-30 km/hour. The object itself was black and had many-coloured lights on the underside, and white light on the upper surface. After some 10-15 seconds it disappeared behind some trees. There was no sound.

Tynset in Hedmark, 1986. Late evening

«We were standing outdoors, and suddenly heard a strong, ticking sound. We saw a big, round globe coming in from south over the ridge, were it stopped and remained for a while. Then the sound grew stronger, and the globe divided into five or six smaller globes, which flew in different directions. The sound subsided, and the original globe stayed put. Suddenly the ticking sound started again, the small globes returned and «melted» into the big one, and this disappeared southwards.»

Rykende by Arendal in Aust-Agder, 14 September 1991

This area has been in the news before. In 1981 there were multiple reports of lights over the area, through a fortnights period. A few years later it started again, this time a little northwards. In 1991 a 16 year old boy went out at seven in the evening to visit a friend. He got aware of a cigar-shaped, metallic looking object with green lights, moving with a steady speed and a humming sound. It disappeared behind some trees maybe 150 m away, and seemed to be 50 m behind the trees. He then ran back home for his parents, but they came to late to see anything. One week later the incident was confirmed in the local newspaper. Similar sightings were done several places in the area the same evening.

Storsjoen by Koppang in Hedmark, 25 January 1996

An observation done from the terrace by a woman and her husband outside their own house. It's 25 minutes past 10 o'clock in the evening, and a bright and unusually big looking moon is sinking to the ridge in the west. Suddenly it seems like the leaves of a tree comes before the moon and divides it in two parts. The observer takes a few steps aside, and confirms what she already knew, there are no trees in that direction. She calls on her husband, who comes out and observes the same. Now the moon seems to split in two parts, and the upper half fades and is soon gone. The lower part slowly sinks down behind the ridge and is gone by 30 minutes past ten. A bright light is seen behind the ridge until 11 o'clock. The observers think that this could hardly be the moon, because by 10.30 the subsequent evening, the moon was positioned in south-west.

The editorial staff welcomes this report as interesting, because we are sure it really was the moon that was observed! It's a classic example of how optical illusions can play tricks on your eyes, and minds as well. The almanac tells us that the time for the moons position in south is shifted with 50 minutes every day, and the time for disappearing in the horizon is shifted by 90 minutes. The rise however, is only shifting by 13 minutes. The impression that the moon looks bigger, is an optical illusion of the atmosphere when it is positioned low above the horizon. The «leaf-like» dividing of the moon is one of several types disturbances in the atmosphere. It's the same phenomenon that makes the star blink, or suddenly disappear and return. Another phenomenon is the «earthlight», that makes the dark part of the moon visible when it's only half illuminated by the sun.

EDITORIAL COMMENT: Here are two reports that show that the Hessdalen phenomenon may not be dead! Maybe it will even return on a greater scale?

Hessdalen in Sor-Trondelag, 23 February 1996

This report comes from Jan Baldwin and Andreas B. Olsen, who traveled to Hessdalen in the purpose of doing some observations. They had prepared for this by reading the Hessdalen Report and studying the geographical conditions by maps. At 10 minutes to 11 in the evening, they saw a blinking light in the south, just above the horizon. They were then located at the «Plateau» (editor: Where the headquarters was located in 1984-85). Viewed through a telescope on a stand, it looked like a «pill capsule». First it was motionless, and had a blinking light on the right side. After some seconds it began moving downwards at moderate speed, and again was stagnant. Then moving to the left, and stopped again. Before they could make more observations, it was gone. The phenomenon lasted about three minutes.

The object looked like a solid frame, with sharp outlines illuminated from outside. They observed several aircraft during the evening, all looking quite different from this object. The telescope used was a 20x50 binocular.

Comments from the editorial staff: The observers also tried to photograph the phenomenon, but we have not received any photos. Instead we got two drawings, one from each observer, that looked quite similar. We would like to point out that a plane coming straight towards you, will appear stationary. A sudden change of course will appear as an acceleration from the stationary position. It's a pity the report contains no information of the distance to the object. If it was inside Hessdalen, extending 12 kilometers, or above it this would eliminate many sources. If the drawings we received, are according to reality, it looks like these observers has seen the «typical» Hessdalen phenomenon with a «cigar-like» shape.

Hessdalen i Sor-Trøndelag, 12 April 1996

There is also another report from Hessdalen this spring: The observer is driving through Hessdalen. The weather is good, no downpour, and a light cover of clouds only. Suddenly he becomes aware of a bright yellow object with four corners, that have even brighter lights. The observer felt fear and held high speed with his car. The light gradually became blue, and the observer felt it was following the car. When the car reached Hessdalskjølen and turned towards Vårhus, the object disappeared. The observer assumed it was some 800-1200 m from the car, and was «four times bigger than Venus».

UFO CONFERENCE IN SAN MARINO

By Odd-Gunnar Røed pp. 9-16

The fourth conference in the row, and this time with a Norwegian as one of the invited lecturers, Mr. Odd-Gunnar Røed. Already on the flight from London, Røed met Michael Hesemann from Germany. On board was also Derrel Sims from Texas, who is spoken of in another article. On the day of arrival there was a big car-race that slowed down all traffic to San Marino. Several participants were delayed up to 24 hours.

On the first day the conference was an all-Italian event, the simultaneous translator, poor woman, did not turn up until Saturday morning. Many non-Italian speaking people met in the lobby, among others Mr. Johannes von Buttlar, or «Johannes the BARON of Buttlar», as his card says. At least one of his 24 books is translated into Norwegian, being the Reisen in die Ewigkeit. Mr. Derrel Sims had located himself in a corner with his implants and plates. All three days this corner was crowded, the only time it was empty was when Mr. Sims was holding his lecture in the conference hall!

von Buttlar held his lecture on Saturday. He treated the subject, the possibility for life on other planets, and the scientists attitude towards it. He had little good to say of the hypothesis that all developments of life were ruled by coincidences. He also spoke of the debate of the age of humanity, and claimed that there were indications of human beings 70 million years backwards. Furthermore, he told that scientists now thinks every 24th star in our galaxy has a planetary system.

von Buttlar lives three months every year in Santa Fe in New Mexico, north of Roswell. He claims to have received a document from a CIA agent containing information of a spaceship crash near Socorro in May 1947. It was claimed that two surviving beings were not of our time, but timetravellers from our own future. The story they told, allegedly was so terrible that US authorities would not give publicity to it, but rather gave the impression that they came from an alien planet. This twist on the Roswell affair is interesting, because it is widely interpreted that US authorities is doing an effort to make confusion and dissension among the UFO investigators.

The Belgian Professor Auguste Meessen lectured on the famous «flying triangles» seen over Belgium in the period 1989 to 1992.

Next lecturer was Mr. Røed, without his own knowledge being titled «Dr. Røed»! He held a lecture on the phenomena of lights in Hessdalen and over Arendal in Norway. He also spoke of some new Norwegian fourth-degree encounters. Røed spiced his lecture with a cartoon, and made the otherwise serious UFO-researchers aware of the fact that a laugh wouldn't hurt them!

Mr. Jamie Maussan Fluta from Mexico, the President of «Television Mexicana Programas», told of dramatic events over his home country and Mexico City. During the sun eclipse over Mexico City in 1990, 17 different amateurs videofilmed a distinctive UFO-phenomenon. One sequence shown was a formation of 15-20 bright objects, which in full daylight moved across the sky, and others showing objects «playing» in and around the clouds.

Mr. Philip Mantle showed a video from the now so famous Rendlesham Forrest incident in 1980. Several British politicians and military are eager to find out what the American base personnel experienced, and their superior officers tried to hush up. A letter from, at the time being, the commander of the Base, Lt. Col. Charles I. Halt, is printed in the journal. It's a report from the observation done by two patrolmen, of how they saw «unusual lights» and a metallic object of triangular shape, three meters across and two meters of height.

Mrs. Susan Mantle, Philips wife, made her debut as a lecturer, and showed an autopsy-movie in 16-mm format, produced by the German magazine Stern. The film was made to show how easy it was to make a movie like the Santilli-film, and render this false once and for all. This film, however, was so full of blunders and errors that it rather will make the Santilli-film more credible. Philip Mantle seized the opportunity to declare that he now is quite convinced that the Santilli-movie is genuine.

Mr. Michael Hesemann has been very engaged in the Santilli question, and like Mr. Mantle, he obviously thinks it is legitimate. This film is now so much debated in our magazine, that we will only mention the most important from Hesemann's lecture. (The assertions following are entirely Mr. Hesemann's):

- 1) New examinations around «the cameraman», his name is NOT «Barnett». The camera-work is done exactly like a military cameraman would have done it, put his effort in showing the necessary details, not making a «beautiful» movie.
- 2) Studies of frames shows it's done on 16 mm film.
- 3) The objects shown, like the clock and the phone, existed in 1947.

4) Some have alleged that it's a human with «Turner's Syndrome», which is very rare. Several medical experts support the idea that it is human tissue.

5) According to «the cameraman», one of the doctors performing the autopsy, was Dr. Detlev Bronk. His name is connected to several occasions where the authorities and the military wanted to debunk UFO observations.

6) Dennis W. Murphy studied the film showing the wreckage and found that the «H-girders» were of unusual or unknown construction. Furthermore, «the boxes» that each of the four aliens were carrying, were the key to controlling their equipment and were mentally operated. The signs or characters on the wreckage were resembling the Greek, Phoenician and other related alphabets, and had meanings like «The Journey of the Gods», and «Open for contact».

7) The film was never presented otherwise than being from early June 1947, a month before the alleged crash at Roswell. This misdating would have been stupid if it was a hoax.

8) By following the cameraman's instructions and drawings, Mr. Hessemann found the locations described.

9) In the afternoon of 31 May 1947, Fred Strozzi, a local farmer, had seen a meteorite «bigger than a basket-ball» go down near the alleged crash area. Ted Loman visited the local newspaper, the Soccero Chieftain.

Here he was told that there had been a fire in the late sixties, and this destroyed many microfilms, but the microfilms covering the period 10 May to 15 June, just seemed to be missing! Investigations showed that the same was the case in other papers and libraries in the area.

An engineer working at the Wright Field Laboratories in the summer of 1947, told Hessemann that he had seen a big disc, some 30 feet across, on the trailer of a truck, being unloaded in a hangar.

10) There are now four witnesses that claim to have seen scenes exactly like the ones in the Santilli-movie by American military and intelligence units. In 1969, Sergeant Clifford Stone from US Army, together with a Lieutenant, came by chance into an auditorium in Fort Belvoir. In connection to the auditorium was a movie-room, separated from the auditorium by Plexiglas. Several people were watching short films of flying objects of saucer- and cigar-like shape. There were also different kinds of bodies. Then they were discovered and arrested, and was taken to an intensive five-day debriefing. The Japanese researcher Joshen Takanao, and the Taiwanese Dr. Hoang-Yung Chiang, both doing official UFO-research, claims to have seen the «Santilli-film» before. Takanao got to see the film when his government had asked for UFO-information from the US government. Chiang had seen it when visiting CIA in the Langley Headquarters in Virginia.

The conclusion may be that if this is hoax, it's the best trick performed in our century! Nobody has so far proved it false. Let seriously working researchers study all available material, and find the truth!»

After this there was a short debate, where Mr. Santilli was criticized for his way of handling the situation. He has declared that he wants no more debate with what he calls the «UFO Community».

On his way home Mr. Roed studied the cloud formations from the airplane, and was quite sure he saw a majestic figure blinking his eye at him as to say: «You should have known the things I have seen!» After all «He» had been there since dawn of time!

DERREL SIMS, «ALIENHUNTER» OR ADVENTURER?

By Odd-Gunnar Roed pp. 17-18, 23-24

With no doubt, Mr. Sims was the most controversial person present at the San Marino Conference. He has an energy and attitude towards things that takes the breath away from most people. He is an educated, licensed hypnotist and is also functioning as a hypnotic-anesthesia doctor. Besides he holds the title «Master-Practitioner in Neuro-Linguistic Programming»! He served three years in the US Military Forces, where he was selected for CIA service. He left CIA, by his own will, after two years.

Mr. Sims emphasizes that CIA is mostly manned by ordinary service attendants, and not the spylike field-agents we see in TV-series. The most controversial kind of work, however, may be found in the NSA, the National Security Agency. NSA is divided in divisions for every part of the military system, maybe 12-14 subagencies. All of them working secretly and isolated. This is where the real answers are to be found.

Sims could of course not give us details from his work in CIA, but spoke willingly of the 12 implants he brought with him. They were all removed from persons with asserted fourth-degree encounters. In one case there were found four small gold-spheres in the eye of a woman. Sims brought two of them. They were of 0.2 mm diameter and hollow, the inside covered with a soft substance. He also displayed one of two «peanut-like» objects removed from a knee, they were plastic-like to touch, and considered too big to have wandered around the body to reach the knee. A third object was a «wisdom» tooth, one of four that had grown very quickly, and had a size suitable for a much bigger person than the woman it had belonged to. Her dentist's journal showed that there where no trace of them nine months earlier.

There are detailed stories behind each implant, and Mr. Roed means this could be the so far strongest indication that something physical is going on in the alleged situations. The surprising experience with this implants is that they never seem to be rejected by the body. Furthermore, they surprise the surgeons by being wrapped up by the body's own organic substance, like keratin and skin. This to such an extent that it is nearly impossible to penetrate it with a scalpel. An element occurring in the implants, is boron-nitride.

Furthermore, Mr. Sims brought with him a metallic piece, asserted to be from the Roswell crash! He got this from an acquaintance, who again got it from a person «with connections to the government». It shows traces of extreme heat on the curved side, the rest is clearly a surface of fracture. It's unnecessary to say this mysterious piece awoke great attention at the conference. It easily made scratches in glass, and felt very light in the hand. It has a very good insulating quality. A provisional analysis showed it was Boron-Nitride with «a negative valence». Cubically structured Boron-Nitride is the hardest matter known, beats even diamonds, and has a melting temperature of 3.000 degrees Celsius. It was produced for the first time (at least officially) in 1957.

If this really is from the Roswell Crash, in 1947, it remains to make analyses that can unveil if it is of earthly origin. This can be done by testing the isotopic composition. Tests of meteorite material has shown a difference from terrestrial material.

Mr. Sims' role in the process of implants removal, is hypnosis of the patient. He also performs hypnosis to make the subjects reveal the circumstances around the implantation itself. He claim to be an abductee himself, totally 10 times abducted. Like all other abductees, he has only vague memories of something happened. He is really making his effort to solve these mysteries. To Mr. Røed's delight and anticipation, Derrel Sims expressed a wish to visit Norway and hold a lecture here.

An encounter with Mimi Hynek

By Odd-Gunnar Røed p. 30

During the UFO-conference in May this year in San Marino, Mr. Røed met Mimi Hynek, the widow of Mr. J. Allen Hynek. The conference was meant to be in memory of Mr. Hynek, and so it was, but Mrs. Hynek did not want to be in the «limelight». Her husband was involved in the PROJECT HESSDALEN in Norway, and she recognized Mr. Røed from these occasions, and was very pleased to meet him.

SURGERY OF POSSIBLE EXTRA-TERRESTRIAL IMPLANTATION.

By Dr. Roger K. Leir pp. 27-30

During the last year the debate on UFO matters has been influenced by new «matter». There are reports of successful surgical operations where unusual extraneous objects have been removed from persons who claim to have been involved in «Close Encounter» experiences. Dr. Leir has performed such an operation. He has studied the UFO-phenomenon for many years, and has noticed the demand for «hard evidence» from the established scientists. People like Carl Sagan do not accept the «evidence» available so far. Dr. Leir somewhat sarcastically remarks that these scientists need to receive an extra-terrestrial spacecraft complete with a pilot to accept the idea!

Dr. Leir visited the conference «UFO Expo West» in South California in June 1995. Here he met Dr. Derrel Sims (See another article in this issue).

Mr. Sims showed him x-ray pictures of a foot belonging to a person who claimed to have a CE-IV-experience. Dr. Leir has good knowledge of x-ray pictures through his medical career, and especially of radiograms of feet and hands. The pictures clearly showed an extraneous object in the foot.

Dr. Leir describes how they made arrangements for performing a surgery. During this work Mr. Sims presented similar x-rays of another person, this time of the hand.

Several persons were attending the first two operations, on 19 August 1995. After an hour of complicated surgery on the first patient's big toe they found a dark gray object triangularly or star-shaped, and about five millimeters in diameter. It was covered by a solid membrane which seemed impossible to remove. Another object was removed from the other side of the toe. This was smaller, about 2-4 millimeters, and looked like a cantaloupe seed, and had the same type of membrane. The patient showed signs of strong pain when the objects were touched by the surgical scalpel. The same reactions were noticed on the other person, who had an object inside the hand exactly similar to the star-shaped object removed from the first patient.

By the time this article was written, the examinations of the object were still proceeding, but some information are given in the article. The beforementioned membrane was removed, and revealed a black, shining core of metal. The objects showed signs of being magnetic. Exposed to ultra-violet light, the membranes became fluorescent with a strong green colour. This colour resembled the colour observed on the skin of persons who claims to have experienced close encounters. There were no signs of inflammation in the tissue around the objects, which is unusual when extraneous matter has penetrated the body.

Both Mr. Sims and Mr. Leir will continue this kind of work, and prepares a scientific paper. There is also a video available from the performed surgery.

ASTRONOMERS AND THE UFO-PHENOMENON

By Finn W. Kalvik pp. 32-34

Mr. Kalvik presents his reactions to an article in the Norwegian newspaper Aftenposten, in October 1995, by Professor of astrophysics, Kaare Aksnes. The Professor asserts that no professional astronomer has ever registered anything they would characterize as a UFO. According to the author, this is nonsense!

In 1883, professor and astronomer Jose A.Y. Bonilla, working at the observatory at Zacatecas in Mexico, became famous for photographs of «strange objects» crossing the solar surface. During two hours he claims to have counted 283 objects.

A prominent member of The Royal Observatories in Greenwich, E.W. Saunders, describes «a peculiar Guest in the Skies», in his report of 17 November 1882. He, and others, saw a torpedo-shaped object.

Several other astronomers are mentioned in the article, among them Frank Halstead, Clyde Tombaugh (the discoverer of Pluto) and Percy Wilkins. In Australia in 1963 three well-known astronomers (one, Bart J. Bok) reported a similar sighting. By 1965 about 30 astronomers had reported Unidentified Flying Objects in the skies. The number are believed to be higher by 1996.

IN CONNECTION to this article by Mr. Kalvik, follows an article by Mr. Ole Jonny Brønne, member of the daily management of UFO-Norway. This was published in the same newspaper, Aftenposten (in December 1995), as an answer to Professor Aksnes' chronicle. (On page 33 in the magazine.)

Brønne mentions the mysterious object discovered in solar orbit in December 1991, called 1991 VG. The object remained unidentified. He also refer to NORAD's radar network for surveillance of satellites. The information is not classified, but available for 155.000 US dollars!

POSSIBLE CE-IV IN GRANOLLERS, SPAIN

By Mentz Kaarbø pp. 34-36

The article deals with a close encounter experienced by a young Norwegian girl in Spain in the summer of 1991. The content is based on a report from a (non-hypnotic) regression the observer went through a few years after, when back in Norway. The observation itself was mentioned in UFO no. 2 1994.

The parents and two daughters traveled on a main road north-east of Barcelona. A while after the sighting itself, an object was «hanging» above the car. One of the girls suddenly got the idea that she should try to make telepathic contact. To her great surprise she felt that contact was achieved, and asked if she could come up in the craft to take a look. She remembered seeing two beings look down at the car. She quickly got the answer that she could make a «visit», but they could not guarantee her safe return to the car, or even to earth. She decided to stay in the car.

Half a year later, she discovered that she and her sister had experienced a similar dream: laying naked on a table with three of four beings standing nearby. One of them inserted a thin tube near one of the ovaries. Later, by a doctors examination, he alleged that she must have experienced a pregnancy or an abortion, which she strongly could deny. The article presents details of the conversation during the regression, and is to be continued in the next issue.
