INTRODUCTION

Cosmology is the science of the Universe as a whole, a treatise on the structure and parts of the system of creation. The title COSMOLOGY NEWSLINK, was formulated from the need to fit together inter-related subjects which may or may not have bearings on each other and perhaps leading to the answers or conclusions of some of them - if not all of earth's mysteries in which case this magazine has accomplished its function. Most of our title was suggested by Mr. Patrick Dineen, of Co. Kerry Ireland. We added the LINK.

YOU AND ME

BY BRINSLEY LE POER
TRENCH

Brinsley Le Poer Trench, writer of numerous U.F.O books is also International Chairman of CONTACT INTERNATIONAL group.

YOUR EDITOR HAS INVITED ME TO CONTRIBUTE AN OCCASIONAL COLUMN TO "COSMOLOGY NEWSLINK". NOW, THE ENIGMA OF THE UFOs HAS MADE THOSE THAT STUDY THE SUBJECT THINK AS NEVER BEFORE. THIS IS ALL TO THE GOOD AND WHAT MAKES UFOLOGY SO FASINATING.

IN THIS COLUMN I AM GOING TO PUT DOWN MY THOUGHTS. YOU, THE READERS, MAY OR MAY NOT AGREE WITH THEM. I WOULD BE HAPPY TO HAVE YOUR VIEWS. LET US MAKE THIS PART OF YOUR MAGAZINE A KIND OF FORUM FOR THE EXCHANGE OF IDEAS. IN SHORT, LET US PUT CONTACT INTO ACTION. IT TAKES MORE THAN ONE PERSON TO MAKE CONTACT. WRITE TO ME AND IN SUCCEEDING CONTRIBUTIONS I WILL TRY AND BRING OUT YOUR IDEAS. PLEASE DO NOT EXPECT ME TO ANSWER LETTERS, AS I AM ALREADY SWAMPED WITH MAIL. I WILL DEAL WITH YOUR POINTS IN MY ARTICLES. THIS SHOULD BE MOST STIMULATING.

In the 1950's and early 1960's the general view among ufologists of those years was that the UFOs came from extra terrestrial sources. That is if not from our own solar system, then from somewhere else in our galaxy. This was the ET theory. Now the pendulum has swung the other way round and the popular view seems to be that the UFOs come from invisible parallel universes.

Frankly, looking back in retrospect, we really know very little. However, I would like to throw out some thoughts for your consideration.

First of all, though I think that there is a lot to be said for the parellel universe concept I do not think that the E.T. theory should be entirely discarded. It seems to me that Ufology is getting in to a similar position to women's dress fahions. Mini skirts one year and Maxis the next.

Let us take another look at this somewhat discounted E.T. theory. The first point that comes to our attention is that leading astronomers, both sides of the Atlantic, including Dr. Harlow Shapley, the dean of American astronomers; Sir Bernard Lovell, director of the Jodrell Bank Radio Telescope; Professor Fred Hoyle, who has recently resigned as Plumian Professor of Astronomy at Cambridge University, and Dr. Carl Sagen, of Cornell University, have all postulated that millions of planets in our galaxy the milky way—and indeed, in other galaxies, may well be inhabited.

Furthermore, Britain's Fred Hoyle, has hinted in one of his books, that there might be a galactic civilisation and that we should get our name in to what he terms the "galactic directory."

Of course there must be intelligent life on millions of planets in our physical universe. You just could not have a lot of empty mudballs floating around in space, devoid of life. That would be a mockery of Creation! It wouldn't make any sense at all.

Now, we here on earth have only had our present technology for some two hundred years, and we are just an average third-rate planet. On the basis of the law of averages, there must be planets in the galaxy far more developed in every field, possible thousands or even millions of years, in advance of us. Just imagine what they could do!

The great argument that the anti-E.T. ufologists and scientists generally, produce against the E.T. theory are the distances involved for the UFOs to come here. They quote the number of light years involved. I agree that the distances are astronomical and awesome!

One light year is approximately six million million miles, and when you think that the nearest star system, outside our own solar system, is Proxima Centauri 26 million million miles away, then you may get my message.

The anti-E.T. critics states that it would take an awful lot of years for UFOs to come from even the nearest star system to us, and many scientists have added that it was impossible for us to travel faster than the speed of light, that is about 180,000 miles per second, and so it would be impossible for us to reach the stars and presumably for UFOs to come to us. They said that the late Albert Einstein had stated that it was a fact that we couldn't travel faster than the speed of light and that this was the final word on the matter!

Well, of course, it now transpires that this is not true! We are indebted to Ivan T. Sanderson, the well-known biologist, a member of the Royal Society, a former member of the British Naval Intelligence now resident in the United States and author of two very interesting UFO books, for telling us that Einstein meant no such thing.

Sanderson was a personal friend of Einstein, and shortly before the great man's death had an interview with him. All Einstein envisaged was that when an object was travelling at the speed of light it would turn into infinite mass.

Now, Professor John A. Wheeler professor of physics at Princeton University, for better or worse, was co-discoverer of the hydrogen bomb. He has done some in depth research into Einstein's theories and has come up with the idea that we can definitely reach the stars one day. An article about his work edited by Adrian Berry was published in the 7th May, 1971 issue of the London Daily Telegraph Colour Magazine. Although this article was not discussing UFO but the possibility of us reaching the stars, and professor Wheeler thinks it is more than possible that we will be able to do so, as a result of his conclusions, it is my considered opinion that this article should be standard reading for every ufologist. IT IS THE MOST IMPORTANT ARTICLE THAT HAS EVER APPEARED IN PRINT DISCUSSING THE WORK OF AN EMINENT SCIENTIST ON SPACE TRAVEL

I have not the space here available to go into all the technical details in this article. Briefly, Professor Wheeler, as a result of his work considers that it is possible for us to reach the stars almost INSTANTANEOUSLY when we have the know-how. In short, this trip would not involve all the many years envisaged by the anti-E.T. group.

The whole trouble is that as so often happens most people look at a problem based on their present knowledge, and this quite frankly, is a ridiculous thing to do with Ufology. We are probably dealing with people, thousands, possibly that professor Wheeler states that in order to reach the stars we have to go into an area where time and space do not exist, rather similar to the hyper space that the science fiction writers have been talking about in their stories. Wheeler terms it super-space. When I read the article about his work it thrilled me, because in my book "Forgotten Heritage," published in 1964, I had written about something akin Wheeler states that the shape of the physical universe is like a doughnut and that all the stars and galaxies of the universe are on the curved surface of the doughnut. The hole inside represents the mysterious region of superspace, in which time and space do not exist. All journeys through it are, therefore, instantaneous. In my book I postulated that the physical universe and mankind were originally made by some of the "Sons of God," and that this physical universe in which we have our being was a bastard one, deriving from four original cosmic ones. Professor Wheeler stated that this physical universe was an ADDITION to something created before, bearing out my own conclusions.

galaxies, may be capable of visiting us. Professor Wheeler has shown us in the article cited by Adrian Berry that it is possible for us to visit the stars. So, the corollary must also be true, that the UFOs can visit us! Especially if they are so much more advanced than us which many planets in the universe must obviously be.

It seems that the answer as to the point of origin of the UFOs is a mixture of both the Extraterrestrial theory and the parallel universe one. Both may play their part in this cosmic conundrum.

A distinguished scientist, professor Kopal of Manchester University, recently stated that if we heard any signals from a galactic civilisation then it would be wise not to answer them, as they would be so advanced and we would be like primitive savages to them. In my next article, I will give a contrary view and back it up with some evidence of a startling nature.

MY HYPOTHESIS WHY UFOs DO NOT LAND PERMANENTLY ON EARTH

By Edward Harris, Editor

I would like to propose the following hypothesis as to why UFOs seem to flit around our planet and never make contact.

Have you ever wondered just how many planets in the entire cosmos contain Oxygen! This thought came to me during the reading of Mr. Trench's article here. Consider our own space programme. Would our astronauts land and stay on a planet consisting of any other gas than oxygen? This may be one reason why our earth has not really been attacked or interfered with by some of the entities. Quite a few contact cases show the creature is wearing some sort of breathing apparatus. Others may be able to breathe our atmosphere but only for short periods. So there you are-one more hypothesis to consider, pure speculation, of course!

PHILOSOPHICAL VIEWPOINT ON UNIDENTIFIED FLYING
OBJECTS. By F.O'Gardner. FRG

Continuing from previous issues of CNK.....

oOo oOo

Man is spirit or a spirit entity. Upon incarnating in a human body, he first clothes himself into a mental body, then an astral or emotional body and finally a physical body. The spirit of the real man or higher self lives on in the realms of spirit.

knowledge of his previous experience is retained by the immortal part of his nature, but is not necessarily brought over in the next incarnation, in fact, conscious knowledge or memory of previous life lives is rarely brought over when the spirit incarnates again. (there are however known cases of some people who have a conscious memory of a previous human existence who have given a reasonable amount of evidence to justify their claim or ability). I refer interested readers to "Reincarnation-Based on Facts" by Dr. Karl E. Müller. Very few schools of Christian thought teach this concept, although it was taught in the early Church. Later, the Church when it was recognised and given full power and status by the Emperor Constantine, in the Council of Nicaea, in AD.325, destroyed every book it could find which was contrary to the doctrine established at the council of Nicaea, when Christianity as we know it, was formulated. There are examples of reincarnation in the Bible. This is also taught by Hindoos and Bhuddists and many erstwhile Christians are coming to accept the concept of reincarnation as a reality.

Where do I-we-come from? Physically speaking, we all know the natural process of procreation, development of the foetus in the womb, and the eventual birth and the normal life of the average human being

But since man is essentially a spiritual being, his origin is more complex and meaningful than that of mere genetic conception.

I- you - as individual egos or individuals or shall I say entities, come from spirit, from God, and in course of time, depending on our nature or degree of spiritual evolution we incarnate again and again, by means of the natural process. In other words I-we - re- incarnate. The purpose of our coming is to gain experience, develop our awareness of God or God-consciousness and evolve spiritually and learn what we may have failed to learn in our previous life or lives. It is very important that we know why we are here and to know how we can do whatever is necessary.

This naturally spills over to the next question: Why am I here?

Sometimes, in moments of reflection, occasioned by some deep experience or episode in our lives, we may have said. Why did I come, why, was I ever born, especially into a world or a situation such as this? On the other hand there are those who are content to say: "Eat drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die" This is purely materialistic because it implies all we are here for is the gratification of human appetites and then that's the end of it all! That's too easy and it's a wrong idea.

Why am I here? According to the teaching of the Church Man's chief end is to love, glorify God and enjoy him forever. That is true, but only partly true. We are also to manifest such belief and goodwill by feeling and service to our fellows.

According to the Space Masters and Teachers, we are here to gain experience, further our spiritual evolvment and expand our cosmic consciousness.

We are here- to exist, to survive, and in view of the contemporary scene the problem of survival is most urgent. When I say survival, I mean survival under satisfactory conditions, survival in peace, in happiness, in sincerity, in well-being, both personally and on a world-wide basis, not for ourselves alone.

We are here to survive the length of our days, and so fulfill the length of our days and our raison d' être. There is no running away or opting out; however hard things may be, there must be no premature termination of our life nor injuring that of another. We came for a purpose and that purpose each one has to find it out and complete it to the best of his ability. This life is a proving ground, and the lessons we learn, the character we produce are far more valuable than we may realise.

These then are some of the inner meanings behind the Flying Saucers. You may hear of many people who profess to have some knowledge of cosmic matters and of Flying Saucers and those who have supposedly investigated them on behalf of this body or that. Of the various which come to our ears, all cannot be right, and many will be right in the whole but wrong in the part. The interpretation of the detail will be in accordance with the wisdom and understanding.

It is necessary to think deeply and carefully, make up your own minds what you read and hear about these things for you have to think and decide for yourself, and no one else can do that for you. You are personally accountable to God your Maker, and to yourself for the decisions, the choices you make, it is on that basis you act and produce your own character and determine your own destiny both now and in the hereafter.

But please remember, you are not only a native of your country or a human being belonging to this world, you are something bigger and better than that, you are a child of God, you belong to the universe and you live in eternity and ultimately find your way back and be re-joined to God, the Ultimate source of your very existence as a spirit-entity.

This is not a new religion or a new philosophy but an introduction to an understanding of the Universe of the nature and destiny of man and which paves the way for the eventual merging of science and spiritual understanding.

If you are wise, you will give heed and ponder, and exercise tolerance and humility, for one of the great, if not the greatest things in life is, the love of pure learning.

Questions dealing with the scope of this article and allied matters are invited from interested readers, and if answers are required would you kindly enclose a stamped, addressed envelope, (or international postal coupon) and address your letter to me at this address: Fred O. Gardner, FRGS, 8, Boundary Road, Chatham, Kent, England. THE END

* A new philosophical viewpoint by Fred O Gardner will continue in a future edition of CNK. The above article, incidently was titled "The Inner Meaning Behind the Flying Saucers"

SCIENTISTS NOW SAY OUR SUN IS SHOWING SIGNS OF VIOLENT INSTABILITY. HOW LONG CAN OUR SUN LAST? We cannot answer that but only to present the facts on..... IS OUR SUN ABOUT TO EXPLODE?

Report from SAGA magazine:
By Joseph F. Goodavage.
"According to science writer and astronomer, John Rublowski, our galaxy is due for another spectacular and unbelievably destructive upheaval--with a star going nova or even supernova (literally burning itself out), in just a few months or years.

Although no one knows exactly which star will go critical, or when, increasing signs of violent instability are now being displayed by our Solar System's very own Sun!

"...Astronomers recently reached the alarming conclusion that the nearby cosmos is not the changeless, serene, environment we have always believed 'Something weird', says Robert Hjellming of the U.S. Radio Observatory 'is happening to the star system called Cygnus X-3'. Even more ominous from our viewpoint, new studies indicate that our sun in beginning to exhibit signs of instability! When an unprecedented solar storm passed OsO-7 (orbiting Solar Observatory) on August.7,1972, the Chief of Solar physics for NASA reported that the solar eruption released more energy in one hour than the U.S could consume in 100 million years. By the time the incredibly hot solar wind from this storm rocked Pioneer 10 on its voyage to Jupiter (at a distance of 204 million miles from the sun), the temperature of its gas particles had increased to about 2 million degrees Fahrenheit--20 times higher than normal. The interplanetary magnetic fields were more than 100 times stronger than usual."

"For one thing, during the last 2 periods of lowest activity in the 11-year sunspot cycle, scores of eyewitnesses reported that the sun had apparently "moved". They seemed to be experiencing a subjective preview of how the sun would appear if the earth through some mysterious gravitational anomaly, suddenly began to wobble off its axis. Any such interruption of what we regard as the normal, orderly activity of the solar system would necessarily originate from the sun-- and it would be catastrophic" (from Saga, May 1973/Vol.46, No.2) Gambi Publications Inc., 333, Johnson Avenue, Brooklyn, New York. 11206. 60¢ per copy. Now read this: Publication unknown: THUNDER ON THE SUN! Pasadena April 6 1972..Solar astronomers have discovered what they believe is thunder on the sun. Giantic waves unulating outwards at speeds up to 25,000 miles an hour from the centre of sunspots. They act like sound waves as they move through the sun's gaseous atmosphere. They seem associated with flashes of light observed in susspots regularly every $2\frac{1}{2}$ minutes. The flashes are not believed to be lighting in the earthly sense.

MYSTERIOUS ERUPTION ON THE SUN

On August 2 a huge storm erupted on the sun (1972). Radio communications throughout the world were subject to frequent blackouts. In the U.S. Power utilities have reported sudden fluctuactions of voltage in their transmission lines. Telephone companies have experienced difficulties with their long distant circuits. And watchers of the night sky have seen the AURORA BOREALIS -the display of northern lights normally visible only from extreme northern attitudes.

Newsweek Magazine (August 21,

1972) says, "What is baffling about the present solar outburst, is its timing. Magnetic distrubances on the sun normally follow a rough cycle of eleven years...the last peak of such activity came at the end of 1969, and thus the current outburst which reveals the 1969 peak is, completely unexpected."

* So there you are readers, this is the evidence. It is now just a matter of time. It was once said that man must seek another planet just like earth in the eventuality of our sun dying, or exploding, even if it is for our childrn's children. This was said by a competent T.V science reporter, strangely enough around that period. The nature of CNK does not allow me to state details of man's survival, this is covered in our Xmas issue of Space-Dive.

"IF THIS IS EARTH, I DON'T THINK MUCH OF IT!"

A New Mexico State University Student Photographed an apparent unidentified flying object. He was photographing land formations.

The Picture of this sighting is so well known that it leaves little for us to say about it. We have reproduced it just as a frontespiece for our collective sighting pages.

Perhaps in our next issues we will discuss this further.

UFO at Fort Beaufort:

POST OFFICE TECNICION TELLS OF HIS INVESTIGATION. By B.A. Lawrie (Fort Beaufort)

It is a recognised fact that the recent sightings of UFOs and all the related stories started 9 km from Fort Beaufort on the farm. Braeside, owned by Mr. Bennie Smith.

Many Post Office personnel phoned me asking for the facts especially after they had read about my efforts from an aeroplane, in trying to find a trace of the UFO after it had been shot and thought crashed in the Fordyce Mountains.

I have not seen the UFO, a few wild goose chases and a cold night spent waiting for it with cameras, is as far as I got. But I have spoken to all the people involved. I have kept notes from Monday 26 June 1972, the day it all started. My own feelings are that something is around. Lots of people have seen it. Many people, however are only seeing the planet Saturn.

The following is a summary of the events according to my notebook: SATURDAY: 17 June 2300 hours Neighbour 1 km away from the Smith's house heard a humming noise, but saw nothing. MONDAY: 26 June, 0900 hours: Bantu labourer of Mr. Smith sees ball of fire in bush. Called Mr. Smith at 0920 hours. They shout at it and it moved 300 yards and disappeared behind a big bush. It reappeared and kept changing colours. 0940 hours: Police contacted. While waiting for the police Mr. Smith had a couple of shots at it with his .303. One of the shots appeared to hit because it moved up and down then disappeared behind some big trees. 1010 hours: Two police officers arrived. They also fire shots at this ball of fire. 1015 hours: Ball of fire changes into a black shining object about 3 m in diameter as it emerged from the trees. It bobbed up and down for a while. Shooting did not upset it but the human voice made it veer off. 1020 hours: Mr. Smith stalks object and got within 20 yards of it. He fired two quick shots aiming at the aerial like star protruding from the ball. It seemed to lose control and veered up the mountain side bending tree tops in its flight. It disappeared completely.

TUESDAY-27 June: Police searched the area and found imprints in the clay. These dug up and sent away to the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research, for analysis. There were three sets of three imprints, giving one the idea of a tripod support for the object. Fort Beaufort invaded by SABC (South African Broadcasting Corporation), and reporters of all top newspapers. WEDNESDAY: 28 June: Police enforcement comb mountain hoping to find the wreck or something else. An ex-Air Force instructor, Sandy Matthew and myself flew over the area in a Cessna 125 'plane, taking photographs and also hoping to spot something. All searchers failed to find a thing. THURSDAY: 29 June: Smith contacted from the USA and asked four questions. To this day we do not know what they were. FRIDAY-30 June; 2100 hours. Mr. Smith hears whirring noise near his house. Sees nothing. SATURDAY-1st July: 2000 hours. Crowd of sightseers see object at Smith's farm. SUNDAY-2 July 1951 hours. Municipal ranger sees object clearly on Smith's farm. MONDAY-3 July: Mayor and councillors see object at farm. That same night two policemen in Bedford, about 45 miles from Braeside see object. TUESDAY-4 July: 1800 hours. Object again seen near Braeside by crowd of sightseers. Some time later Queenstown and Macleantown people see object. WEDNESDAY: 5 July: 2100 hours. Two P.E.men see object near Sidbury. By 2130 hours Port Elisabeth newspapers had received six reports of an object over the city. Later that night three Kingwilliamstown men saw the object and a little later it appeared over Queenstown. THURSDAY-6 July: 0125 hours: Object seen clearly by truck driver near Fisch River bridge between Kinswilliamstown and Grahamstown. He described it as 100 m across.

2000 hours: Port Elisabeth newspaper reporter takes clear pictures of two objects over P.E. These photo's convinced me that there are two objects: a big mothership and a smaller scout ship. Saturday-8 July; 0125 hours: Mr. Smith hears two loud bangs near his house. He saw nothing. SUNDAY: 9 July. Mr. Smith finds that his cement dam has blown up. The walls did not just cave in as pieces were found as far as 100 m from the dam. These are the facts as I have found them. Judging from the descriptions, it becomes obvious that there are two separate objects: one is smaller which I have termed the scout ship. The other is a bigger object which I call the mother ship. The scout ship was definitely the one that the police shot at. The same one has reappeared in our area several times and has been seen all over the country. I have made a drawing of the photograph taken by the PE newspaper photographer. This photo clearly shows the two objects. The photo was taken at about a 10 second exposure. It clearly shows the mothership in a stationary or hovering position because very little blur or movement is visible. (A moving object taken at a 10 second exposure will show up as a streak on the photo)

The scout ship on the same photograph has the appearance of a streak. Closer scrutiny of the photo, however, shows three points at which, I maintain, it was stationary long enough for its size to be estimated. Theories abound about these objects. I personally have an open mind about concerning this phenomenon and am convinced that something is about. People have reported that on hearing the whirling noise their radios have faded completely. This suggests some sort of magnetic force. In the meantime hundreds of questions surround the sighting of these objects, here and elsewhere in the world. One day, I think, we will find all the answers.

TOWN HAUNTED BY EXPLODING BLOBS
Evening News 18.5.1973

(edited) A town was today in the grip of the mystery of a black blob. Twice within a week UFOs have floated over the town and exploded in flame and black smoke before plunging to the ground. But no remains have been found. It has been haunting Slough, a town surrounded by no fewer than six scientific research stations at which accusing fingers have been pointed. But the mystery deepened after each of them denied responsibility. Balloons were not the cause, said the stations who used them, "we do not use balloons" said one, and another stations balloons were striped. Besides meteorological balloons fly at 60,000 feet. A witness said "it was black and pear shaped. It seemed to accelerate, but exploded in flames and smoke before crashing to the ground about a mile away"

Seeds From Space

or Hoax?

Were longevity seeds really left on earth?

This is undoubtedly, in our opinion, one of the greatest mysteries or hoax in the world, because it seems to have mystified all who have ever handled or sown the "seeds from space". This all began, according to the Danish magazine UFO CONTACT, vol 1. no.1 February 1973: extract- "It all started with a letter from Lucius Liotto from Seattle, Washington. He had heard of a dramatical UFO-observation within his area and had traced it, until he ended up with an old man living alone in a ramshackle cottage. Inside, the windows were smashed, eggs had been thrown upon the walls, and spots of coffee on the wall-paper. Also a number of holes in the walls against which a number of things had been thrown with great force.

had suddenly come into the land and said they came from another planet. Not remembering the name of the planet, he was, however able to remember they told him that their planet was in the same orbit as earth and is moving at the same speed around the Sun, but exactly opposite on the other side of the sun, therefore, any observation from earth is impossible. Not scared of the visit but became so when the little men said they wanted him to go back with them to their planet. He said he was 70 years old, and that a younger man would be more fit for the purpose. The leader of the little men from space said that he was more than 300 years old, and that the leader of the group of inquiry they belonged to was more than 500 years old. You reached this high age by eating a certain plant growing on their planet. It was a substantial part of their food. It was supposed to have the characteristic of prolonging with 1000-1200 years an ordinary length of life. The old man was then offered a double handful of plant seeds, and they encouraged him to eat them saying that it would give him strength for the long journey. When he refused, two of the visitors tried to pull him off the bench he was sitting on. The old man resisted and started throwing things at them, eggs, coffee, etc, anything he could get hold of. The man's reaction made the small men leave the hut, and they did not return. When calmed down a bit, the man began wondering if this had all been a dream etc., but caught sight of the double handful of seeds from the life-prolonging plant, that the small men had dropped, when he had resisted. Some of the seeds were still being contained in the flower itself. The old man offered some of these seeds to Liotto as a proof of this contact with the strange visitors. Liotto was very sceptical and told the man that somebody might have been playing tricks on him. When he got home he sowed the seeds in a rose bed and then forgot the story. But in the spring a peculiar plant came up, vigorous, beautiful with small yellow flowers, which in autumn set seeds. It dominated the whole bed. Believing it to be a narcotic plant, Liotto inquired at the police. A police officer from the drug department came out to him, but after having seen it, assured that it was not an illegal plant.

Until now nobody has been able to identify the plant," So was in

This then was the story published in UFO CONTACT magazine and they added the following: "Our co-worker in Austria, writes that she got hold of some of the seeds in 1971 and sowed them in a pot on the balcony in spring 1972:-
After a couple of weeks the first thin sprouts appeared, I almost believed they would come to nothing. But they grew to be delighted with the largest measured 1.72 meters and the smallest 1.52 meters. They bore small yellow flowers on top, but each plant had only one single flower. They do not smell, and they look very insignificant. "I have noticed that my seeds are twice as big as those of Liotto." She adds that they do not grow well indoors, remaining smaller in growth. "I have eaten many of the leaves raw, and at any rate they are not poisonous. Nobody here ever saw such a plant or such seeds."

End of Quote.

Cosmology Newslink now takes up this story with our own researches into this. We asked UFO CONTACT for some of these seeds, which are now in our possession also. In issue no.6 we stated that the seeds had been sent for analysis and identification. Here are the results:

From Roy Lake:

I passed the seed on to Stephen J.A. Onis, for examination in his University college of Dagenham. But the results again proved negative, nobody there could identify the seed." Roy did not give up the quest, the seed was given to two people who said that they had an encyclopedia of 'all the seeds of every plant in the world'. Their verdict- said Roy, "The seed is supposed to be a "Miniature Mexican Sunflower"

Further, in Issue 6, the Emergency Issue, we published news of the "hoax" and the drawing of the seeds. This brought the following response from Monika Swanson in Canada, one of CNK's correspondents, who helps out when she is able. She writes :

"One item in the latest issue of CNK got my special attention. This was the article on the 'Space seeds', I also received some, about a year and a half ago. I can tell you now that they are not wild oats, as I have seen wild oats and they are our biggest problem, there's no resemblance. I got them in winter of 1972, tried some indoors. Only one germinated. Due to poor lighting, it didn't do so well. It got only about a foot tall. But did get a few blooms, but died before seeds set on. So that spring I planted the remaining few, on the south side of the house. Summer came and went- no plants, so I gave them up as a lost cause. This spring, I noticed 2 odd seedlings, sure enough, two of the 'space seeds' had finally germinated, a whole year later. So I watched and cared for them and they grew and grew, and got to be five feet tall, before going to bloom. But you know, not even a bee would go near them- no insects whatsoever. All around them seems to 'get buggy' in August, but not these plants. This might be the reason the seeds are so poor to germinate. No insects to pollinate, but it's just my guess. I'm no authority. Then too, maybe the seeds need frost action before they can germinate. As you say, some seeds can lie in the ground for years before growing. As you know in this area (Alberta), frost comes early, so as these flowers were setting on I had to dig up both plants and bring indoors, which was quite a chore. But it didn't seem to bother them, they went right on blooming and now seed is ripening. The plants are dying which annual type plants do - they grow, bloom, and go to seed, then die. I have planted some more of these seeds (off my plants) and will see what happens next spring, I am sending you a few seeds to try. Needless to say these 2 big plants roused a lot of curiosity in the neighbourhood. Everyone who went by had to ask what ever were those big plants by the house! I really didn't dare tell the story behind them."

MONKA SWANSON IN CANADA WITH STRANGE STORY TO TELL (above) Cnk is still investigating.

Continuing the saga of the seed, we also heard from Mrs Betty Jones, of Kalispell, Montana who wrote: "I am sending you some material on the space seed and my plant that may be of help to your researchers, to help identify the plant

Mrs. Betty Jones grew the seeds as well. Here with two model flying Saucers she made Betty says; "My plant is still alive, so far. On tuesday Oct 2 1973 the plant opened up its flowers and contained the space seeds. It is 6½' to 7' tall and has a reddish stem until it reaches the newest joint on the top of the plant where the new stems are light green." Mrs. Jones goes into much detailed drawings, even to sending sketches and an actual leaf.

We have now given a closer look at the seed from space, if it really is of course. One thing we can say, any foreign seed in another country not of its origin would not be identified. A sunflower? We wonder!

We have not left the seed identification as that alone. Below are the sketches of the seeds and plant. So we ask once again. If anyone on earth can recognise this plant, maybe as a Mexican Sunflower seed etc., then it is definitely NOT A SEED FROM ANOTHER PLANET. Astronomers, I believe are not convinced that there is another world orbiting the sun in line with us, but out of sight. This looks to us at first sight like an immense practical joke on researchers who have far better things to do with there time, than "mess about trying to grow seeds from another country, not suited for that climate.

Of course, foreign seeds won't be recognised where they are unknown, that is obvious.

Most of us are sick and tired of hoaxers, who have nothing better to contribute to RESEARCH than hinder it.

If however, this seed is NOT a mexican sunflower, and the report from Denmark IS found to be true, then the world has been given a very valuable contribution to the extention of human life span.

I am certain, in my mind, that there must be many life sustaining plants or fungi SOMEWHERE in the world, that will, one day, effect, which this ~~story~~ perpetrates.

The main purpose for CNK in publishing this report, is to try to confirm some evidence which Major H.C. Petersen in UFO CONTACT, seems to have found about the seeds. Anyone recognising these below, should sign the report, send it to me so that I can pass it onto them for confirmation. We are now awaiting UFO CONTACT's own report through their magazine on the seed. CNK's helpers are attempting to grow the seed in greenhouses, and other places, and also find out. They are. Mr. Peter Squirrel, of Fyfield, near Ongar, Essex, Alan Saunders, of Little Dunmow, Essex. Alan has 4 seeds and Peter 6—he said one is already in. Also Mr. G.B of Felsted, Essex is helping in the investigation. Far afield Mrs. Elisabeth Johnson, in Staffordshire, will try also. Whatever they are, they may now be no longer native to Mexico—if that IS WHERE THEY REALLY DO COME FROM. My thanks to all of you. Edward Harris

FLYING SAUCERS BROUGHT UP

REPRINTED FROM THE INTERNATIONAL GET ACQUAINTED PROGRAMM'S

What connection has Adamski, with the United Nations? As far as we know, his IGAP group have forged ahead in this sphere. George Adamski, reputed to be the first man on earth to have met a man from Venus; if true or not, launched the IGAP in 1959. One good reason for taking, not only the UFO 'problem' to the U.N. but all outerspace activities could be summed up with Adamski's notes on the situation as it stands today. We will take a look at it, before the UN report. Now, extract from UFO CONTACT 2nd Dec 1966:-

UFOLOGY- A SPACE ECONOMY PROGRAM

By George Adamski

If you would like lasting WORLD PEACE and PROSPERITY for yourself and your children, you will be interested in the following program. Many peace and security movements have been started but none have offered a workable solution or replacement for war economy, which has kept the United States and the world out of economic depression. As we all know, economy is founded on the ability to produce and consume the product. In the machine age we produce more than we can consume due to the un-balanced conditions that result. One condition is that the world-wide unemployed, can also reach a saturation point. And then what? The only answer is a common enemy who threatens our right of survival. When our way-of-life is endangered, allied countries are armed and this provides an outlet for surplus materials and production continues. The Korean war was an example of this. Also, the state of emergency created by the cold war causes the people of the world to live in fear of mass destruction. Every individual must realise that our modern weapons of annihilation would spare no one. It sounds stupid doesn't it, to think that intelligent people would sanction the signing of their own death warrant. Should all defense plants close I am sure that you realise what the results would be; thousands of unemployed-hungry-panic-stricken people. Many industrial nations are faced with over-production. Now we have two alternatives

IN THE UNITED NATIONS?

JOURNAL: UFO CONTACT, Tvaerhave 6, Mølholm, 7100, Denmark.

Space exploration coupled with the production of space craft for the defense of the world. This could be done by a change-over of machines and would not interfere with our present economic system. The idea of an invasion from space will not be readily accepted by some due to their idealistic thinking, but we must face reality. Even the most orthodox astronomers admit there are perhaps millions of inhabited planets in other systems.

Common sense tells us that surely that we could not be the lowest in infinite space; that there must be systems far beneath us whose ships could come our way. It is better to be alert than caught asleep. A vast new horizon-Space exploration-has opened to all the people of the world. Can you picture what the results will be when every nation has this same common goal? Past civilisations, when faced with the same problems that we face today, have retrograded and eventually destroyed themselves, but we are an educated people. THE SPACE ECONOMY PROGRAM can be launched in only one way-by the insistant demand of the people-singly and united. Neighbourhood groups civic organisations, churches, all united in a crusade for Economic Survival and Security from a World War.

SPACE EXPLORATION IS OUR SURVIVAL FRONTIER!!!! Your part in THE SPACE PROGRAM-if you feel this to be a worthwhile effort, write your representative to insist that the National Aeronautical and Space Administration (NASA) and also the United Nations Program be given top Priority. THE NASA program came into being on July 29th 1958 when the President of the USA signed it into law. Many nations have accepted this program for it can solve economic problems without war. Small and large nations are involved in the space program in one way or another. When people take interest in one single objective-space exploration-they automatically become united. It is urgent to act IMMEDIATELY. Write to your representative and to the UNITED NATIONS ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COMMITTEE. I would like you to read this. (Quote) PTO

'INTERPLANETARY CONFLICT'

Los Angeles Herald Express Oct 8th 1955. MacArthur Forsees 'War of Worlds'. New York. Mayor Achille Laruro of Naples, Italy came away from a 45 minute chat with Gen. Douglas MacArthur quoting a prediction that future wars would be interplanetary rather than between nations. Laruro said the general thinks "that another war would be double suicide and that there is enough sense on both sides of the iron curtain to avoid it." However, he added. MacArthur forsees trouble from outer space." He believes that because of the development of science all countries on earth will have to unite to survive and make a common front against attack by people from other planets." the Italian mayor reported. Disarmament would endanger the already weakened economy of the world. . . Hungry people resort to civil war. So whichever way we look, danger is facing us. There is one alternative. For the first time, another door is open. A change over of the aircraft and instrument plants for production of outer space craft would assure employment for everyone throughout the world. . . UFO craft have challenged our intelligence and caused us to think in terms of outer space. Space Travel and research should have top priority, not by one nation but the world as a whole. The potentials of a space war cannot be fully ignored. It is true, as far as we know, the ones who operate the UFO have shown no hostility towards the earth's inhabitants. There have been rumours that such acts have taken place. I believe the danger of attack could come from another system. Information that has been given to me is that there are systems out there that are hostile to our way of life and they have ships moving through space. Today we have no defense against such aggression. When we as people are big enough to recognise that there are only slight variations of ideals and ideas among the nations of the world, that all depend upon their individual economic security, we can unite with one purpose=defense of the world. This should not be too difficult when we learn to give and take ideas from each other and have a common interest; construction of space ships. As great as our weapons of defense are, including atomic warhead-satellites, fast planes and rockets, they would be like putting up tissue paper in defense against the force that could come our way. This is not an idle thought for within the past twelve years we have tried to intercept the fast moving space craft to no avail. To build a fleet of ships will involve time and expense, that is why it is important for all nations to work together. So instead of reducing our resources let us swing them into this progressive endeavour, thereby eliminating war among nations and thus keeping industrial production at top speed. I sincerely hope that our space craft would not have to be used for defence against attack, for there are endless possibilities for their use in space exploration. But it is always wise to be prepared for the unknown. GEORGE ADAMSKI.

*What Mr. Adamski is saying is that turning towards space research will bring a halt to all wars on earth. For missiles of war can easily become for peace, gives restless nations something to occupy their minds, other from "bashing each other's brains out". I personally feel that war is a very childish affair, only on an adult scale, shame on us all, bad boys!

One leading skeptic, the Late Frank Edwards of the USA states that the USAF has adopted the official policy of denying the existence of flying saucers because they are SOMETHING THE GOVERNMENT CANNOT COPE WITH! How do the United Nations feel about unidentified Flying Objects: U Thant himself is reported by reliable sources to consider the UFO-case "SECOND ONLY IN IMPORTANCE TO THE WAR IN VIETNAM", Consequently the UFO question is definitely an acute international problem, and is already a long time overdue for the authorised United Nations to study and examine the cases, and inform the nations regarding the facts and security of earth people. The UN should study the CONTACTEE CASES also, because only the United Nations is authorised to confer officially in the name of all nations with people of extraterrestrial origin and representation. In the event of evidence being forthcoming, the UN should prepare the nations for a friendly contact with human space-beings of an outer civilisation. In a letter to UFO CONTACT 31st Jan 1966 was the following: (from A.H. Abdel-Ghani) UNITED NATIONS (extracts only)...the United Nations is not engaged in investigating the UFO phenomena, as no country has ever raised the question in the United Nations. Yours sincerely, A.H. Abdel-Ghani, Chief, Outer Space Affairs Group. (Further, it needs just ONE NATION to make the first step possible. ONE SMALL NATION TO START THE BALL ROLLING. UFO CONTACT repeated its plea to the UN with this reminder; "The United Nations is not engaged in investigating UFOs, as NO COUNTRY HAS RAISED IT AT THE UN.

man — to try and make real contact with extraterrestrial creatures from outside our own world. In this issue we take a look at SAUCER INTELLIGENCIES, and ask—do THEY really, exist?....The following story was taken from SAGA the Magazine for Men, August 1970. 333 Johnson Avenue, Brooklyn, New York 11206, United States of America.

TED OWENS'S PAST RECORD—200 documented predictions and paranormal phenomena—IS INDISPUTABLE TESTIMONY OF THE MAN'S UNIQUE ROLE AS A "GO BETWEEN" FOR THE SPACE INTELLIGENCES. FOR INSTANCE, IN JUNE 1967 HE NOTIFIED THE U.S. HURRICANE CENTRE THAT THE SIs WOULD PRODUCE THREE SIMULTANEOUS HURRICANES. THIS HAD HAPPENED ONLY 4 TIMES BEFORE SINCE 1886. IN SEPTEMBER 1967, HURRICANES BEULAH, CHLOE, AND DORIS WERE ALL ACTIVE ON THE SAME WEEKEND, SOMETHING THAT THE WEATHER BUREAU ADMITTED WAS "UNPRECEDENTED" IN MODERN TIMES!

Now read the rest for yourself, those readers who still do not know of TED OWENS" the PK man—editor to Pres. Richard M. Nixon, dated July 30, 1969, read in part: "The SIs told me that there is a plot already underway ... has been completely planned ... to kidnap you at your Key Biscayne (Florida). The 'bad guys' (Cubans) know how well protected you are ... but they are going to kidnap you at night, by water ... with fast boats ... with a highly skilled commando group of 50-100 men. The letter was signed, Ted Owens, PK Man.

Miami Herald on August 24, 1969—only three weeks later—carried the headline: SPY PLOT REVEALS PROSPECTS FOR RENEWING U.S.-CUBA TIES. After revealing that Fidel Castro's diplomats doubled as spies, the text stated: "The U.S. public is likely to consider the recruitment of spies for a mission relating to Presidential security very much more seriously than guerrilla warfare in a faraway land. There was, according to some reports, a James Bond touch to the recruitment ... These reports claimed the plan was to study President Nixon's movements at his Key Biscayne home, using scuba divers as part of the surveillance team."

On March 10, 1966, after years of drought in the Northeastern states, Ted Owens wrote to Pres. Lyndon B. Johnson: "I have some very good news: from the UFO Intelligences ... to PK man ... to you. We have decided to end the entire drought on the East Coast. In the days, weeks, and months to come there will be rain, rain, rain ... not just a little, not just 'above average,' but phenomenal rain ..."

the Philadelphia Enquirer of July 22, 1967: "We were pleased to note ... the admission by the United States Weather Bureau ... that the drought which plagued the northeast corner of the country for the last six years, has ended." After citing that abnormal rains had been reported all through the Northeast during the spring and early summer, it was stated that New York's reservoirs "could hardly be fuller". The year 1967 was also called the "year that had no spring" because it rained so much. The sunny days of blossoming flowers and awakening life were rare. The rainy spring led to an even wetter summer, as if nature was making up for the six years of drought all in one year.

On October 26, 1965, a telegram sent to George Clark, CIA, Washington, D.C., held this alarming statement: "A rare warning. They (the SIs) will unleash a terrible catastrophe within 10 days." Signed: "PK man" (Owens) A little more than 10 days passed without incident. But on November 9, 1965, the Big Blackout hit seven northeastern states and parts of Canada, plunging 30 million people into darkness. Without electrical power for up to 12 hours, the lights of entire cities flickered out, machines stopped, and TV and radio went off. Emergency measures were required to rescue people trapped in stalled elevators and subway trains. Hospitals switched on their own power generators for critical operations. Was this what the telegram meant? On the morning of November 14 1969 the Apollo 12 was in the final stages of the countdown, ready for lift off to man's second moon landing. North of Cape Kennedy, in Virginia Beach, Va., three prominent citizens (their signed and sworn affidavits are on file) heard Ted Owens state that lightning would strike either the pad or the spacecraft. Seconds after the giant rocket roared into the overcast sky, the control crew at Cape Kennedy was alarmed to see a sudden drop-off of telemetered data from the spacecraft. Through an alternate voice-circuit, astronaut Charles Conrad told how lights had gone out within the spacecraft, adding: "I don't know what happened. I'm not sure we didn't get HIT BY LIGHTNING." The PK man had done it again.

Most tragic was the prediction in a letter of March 4, 1968, sent by Ted Owens relaying a warning from the SIs of the "destruction of one or more highly-placed US Government Officials-by assassination." Within 12 weeks, Martin Luther King and Robert Kennedy were killed by assassins' bullets. The above are only a few cases out of more than 200 DOCUMENTED PREDICTIONS AND PARANORMAL PHENOMENA originated by Ted Owens. Now, just who is this Ted Owens, the PK Man? He is a tall broad shouldered man of 50, with a receding hairline, thin lips, penetrating brown eyes, and an IQ of 150. But that doesn't tell you who or what he REALLY is. Let the man who knows him best do that, Ted Owens himself: "I am the only human being alive able to communicate TWO WAYS with the SIs, and prove it. I'm the PK Man." The SIs are Saucer (or Space) Intelligencies. PK stands for "psychokinesis," the power to manipulate, move, or otherwise affect physical objects, through mental forces alone. The two are related.

Ted Owens claims he gets his PK powers from the SIs.

It all began, says Owens, in 1965. In order to support his wife and 3 children, he had already "mastered a bewildering 50 professions, including lecturer, jazz drummer, magician, hypnotist, bodyguard, boxer, private investigator, office manager, fortune teller, teacher of auto suggestion, instructor in knife throwing, designer of jewelry, psychiatric secretary, lifeguard, last (of this incomplete list) but hardly least-rainmaker.

He cheerfully admits he has no academic degree or official standing in the "establishment" yet it's a matter of record that he has an IQ of 150 - (genius starts at 140) and for two years worked with Prof. J.B. Rhine at Duke University, in various ESP experiments. In a private experiment with Rhine and his wife, Louisa plus friends, Owens startlingly demonstrated his PK powers by causing a scissors to whisk off a table and fly for several feet without being touched.

From the book: How to Contact Space People, by Ted Owens - Saucerian Publications, 1969 Owens claims, it all started in 1965 while driving in the country one night. "A cigar shaped UFO suddenly appeared at our left over a field, and came floating towards our car making no noise. It had red, white, blue and green colours flaming vividly from it. Its nose was tilted down towards the ground. As we watched, it approached close to our car, then instantly vanished, just light a light turned off."

At first glance, this seems to merely be one of the many vivid, although common, saucer sightings. But it was far more than that for Ted Owens, as he wrote: "From that day on, my life changed radically. While in Fort Worth I gave my daughter, Lornie, several demonstrations of making lightning strike in certain areas during thunderstorms. I was playfully experimenting with a theory I had on the practical application of PK or psychokinetic power, to nature's forces. The idea to experiment with ESP for weather control came to me again, so I gathered my children together and showed them how I would make it storm. It did, so intensely that the city was declared a disaster area." We can infer that TED OWENS was more amazed at his success than he admits, and a bit dubious of his presumed PK powers. " To make sure it was I who had brought this about, and not just a coincidence, I announced to my family we would make a series of storms--and I wrote to the local paper to that effect." This was certainly gambling, for it would be the first public demonstration of his PK powers..if he had them. Results? "It produced eight terrible, rocking thunderstorms complete with tremendous lightning displays, within a period of three weeks." Owens has signed and notarised statements from his family that all this is true. Now all of Owen's doubts vanished. "Electrified by my success and knowing for certain I had something, I wrote to government agencies and to many important people, but to no avail. No one would believe me. Owens is careful to document his apparent PK feats by telling various officials or prominent people what he proposed to do, then having them sign an affidavit before or after the event occurred on schedule. Gradually, there came a greater revelation to Ted Owens..."Now, I figured that somehow I had managed to contact the essence of the intelligence behind Nature herself." He found this out later by directing a hurricane along a rough map he had drawn--to the letter! He even made a more "impertinent" notice to the Chief of the U.S. Hurricane Centre in June 1967, saying that the S1 would produce three SIMULTANEOUS hurricanes. This had happened only four times, before since 1886. Owens could perform a great service, so bombarded government officials with letters, telling them what he could do. Even some men like Clark off the CIA and Eastwood of NASA saw him, and admitted a strong interest in his claims, but-- "no action" He discovered that he had not, by himself, created all this, and was from some extraterrestrial intelligence that had guided him. After predicting various UFO flaps in certain areas, Ted Owens concludes that these demonstrations by the S1s is to prove to the people of earth their existence, and what fate's in store for us if they lose a battle with the Ols, (other intelligences). End.

tenous radio source: Tass breathlessly reported that the signals were a beacon from the supercivilisation. The source was later identified as a distant, star-like quasar. When Cambridge Astronomer Anthony Hewish and his assistant Jocelyn Bell in 1967 recorded blips coming from space at precise intervals, they playfully named the sources LGMs (for Little Green Men) on the chance that they had detected the beacon of an advanced civilisation. The LGMs were later named pulsars and recently identified as natural phenomena, the long-sought neutron stars. Despite man's failure to pick up any interstellar communications, however, the entire galaxy could be filled with chatter between advanced civilisations, transmitted by a technique still undiscovered on earth. Says Carl Sagan: "We may be very much like the inhabitants of an isolated valley in New Guinea who communicate with villages in the next valley by drum and runner but have no idea that there is a vast international radio traffic going around, over and through them."

If a signal from another planet is ever received and deciphered, it would surely have an immeasurable impact. Any civilisation capable of communicating with earth from another planet would unquestionably be older than man's. It would have long since mastered the problems that now plague the earth: pollution, overpopulation and the ever-present threat of war would surely be a part of its past. And if it had learned to control the awesome power of the technology that it surely must possess, perhaps it would teach that secret of survival to man.

that Epsilon Boötis "contact"

A young Scottish graduate called Duncan Lunan will stand up at a special meeting of the British Interplanetary Society tomorrow and deliver a lecture called "Space Probe from Epsilon Boötis." In it he will put forward a theory so fantastic and exciting that, if it's true, "Star Trek" and "Dr. Who" will seem like old-fashioned history in comparison. For Mr. Lunan is sure he has stumbled across proof that there's an unmanned spacecraft circling the moon. And that it was sent up by the people of a dying star 13,000 years ago. The very responsible British Interplanetary society is so impressed with his documented hypothesis that next month it will mount a major scientific experiment to try to re-establish contact with the space probe. It all sounds like pure science fiction, conjuring up visions of some old eccentric keeping a constant watch on his back garden for little green men from Mars. But 26-year-old bearded bachelor Duncan dispelled that image within five minutes as we talked in the trim bungalow in the seaside Troon, Ayrshire, where he lives with his mother and father,

"I know people might think I'm some kind of nut, but I don't believe in flying saucers. I'm a writer who graduated in English and philosophy and studied physics and astronomy. "So my hypothesis is based on a sound, mathematical scientific background."

He spread out a huge array of carefully compiled charts, maps and diagrams as he explained how he began work on his theory.

"As president of the Association in Scotland for Technology and Research in Astronautics I was running a discussion project on stellar travel and communications.

"While researching I came across a record of experiments done by a group of scientists in 1927-29 about radio signals beamed out into space and a set of peculiar echoes which kept coming back." These were no ordinary echoes because they did not just repeat the original signals, but returned one of different length and at different intervals.

"I was puzzling over this late one night when suddenly it hit me that the sounds might be a return signal from a space probe sent out by another planet, similar to the one we have nearing Jupiter at the moment.

RANDOM

"The signals were sent out at different random intervals like three, five, right up to 20 seconds. I could not understand what it meant till I remembered that in 1960 Professor Ronald Bracewell, of Stanford University, California, put forward a theory that if a space probe from another planet were trying to contact us, the first thing they would probably do would be to plot their position.

"I felt this was it—the key to the puzzle that has stumped experts for all those years. I plotted the signals in the shape of a graph! He paused to stab out the relevant stars on a map with a pen: "They formed an instantly recognisable stellar constellation, that of Bootes, the herdsman, just to the left of the plough. "From then on I felt a bit like Sherlock Holmes, taking the clues and slipping them into place. Once I had the key, the rest was simple. "I translated all the other sets of signals into graphs, and they show an enormous amount of detailed information.

"Including, by mathematical deduction, the star Epsilon Boötis.

"We know that this star has been dying for years, because of expansion and overheating.

"So I think the inhabitants sent out a spacecraft to try to contact other planets which they might travel or who could help."

He thinks that if the radio experiments on the 1920's had continued, they would result in a further series of messages from the probe.

"That's what we're trying to pick up now. At this moment highly sensitive and powerful equipment is being assembled at Twickenham and at Shepperton. (Middlesex)

"And next month we're going to beam out a radio signal, hoping to re-establish contact."

Official scientific opinion at the moment is understandably cautious and reserved.

"I'm prepared for scepticism," says Duncan, "in fact I welcome it. My evidence is on graph for everyone to see.

"At the moment I'm searching through old records for a missing set of 1929 signals which would form the other half of a detailed stellar map that would prove my theory conclusively. I won't rest until it has been documented beyond doubt." Also investigating the theory has been Mr. Anthony Lawton, a computer designer who worked with Sir Barnes Wallis on radio-control systems for swing-wing aircraft. Mr. Lawton is cautious, but fascinated by the possibilities. He agreed yesterday that the echoes might well be emanating from an artificial object. But he knows there could be other explanations. The dying planet explanation, he insists, is "purely hypothetical—a straightforward rationalisation of what fact we have been able to collect."

This view is echoed by Mr. L.J. Carter, secretary of the British Interplanetary Society.

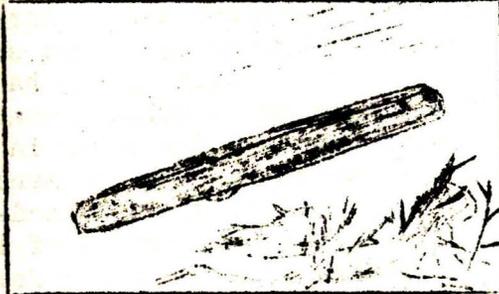

"We must keep our feet firmly on the ground," he said yesterday.

"But if the echoes have not been explained, and if they make an identifiable signal, a curious situation exists which should be investigated." The Shepperton Middx, scientist with a tin and wire telescope in his back garden could be in touch with little green men—13,000 years of age! But the man with his own backyard probe into the past is not a flying-saucer fanatic. He is 36-year-old computer chief Mr. T. Lawton, of Gaston Bridge Road, and he believes

AND WHERE TO FIND?

The mysterious object hovered dead-still over the ocean, began to hum and vibrate, then exploded and sank into the gulf. And an Argentine farmer saw it all. (see below)

Source: Unknown, but by R.A. Stiff

"The proof that UFOs exist lies on the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean!" So says Carlos Corosan, a witness to perhaps the most phenomenal UFO sighting on the record to date. According to a high Argentine Government official whom we are not permitted to identify, Corosan, a 35-year-old farmer, was strolling on the beach near Deseade, Argentina, enjoying the fresh, cool breeze from the South Atlantic, when a harsh sound interrupted his reverie. Looking up he saw "a large craft with no wings and shaped like a cigar," moving above the quiet waters of the Gulf of San Jorge, less than 35 yards away. Corosan maintains that the cigar-shaped object was 65 to 70 feet long and emitted grey smoke from the tail section. "It was like an automobile having engine difficulties," he said: "Just chugging—and all of that smoke coming out of the end." Corosan told the Argentine official that this incident occurred at 4.00 PM, March 18, 1966, 10 miles north of Deseade on a deserted section of beach. Less than a year before this encounter, similar objects had been reported over the Argentine cities of Mendoza, Chaco, Bahia Blanca, Salta, Rosarie, and San Luis. In a few instances, "squadrons" of disc-shaped objects had been witnessed by thousands of Argentine citizens as the UFOs flew in formation over these cities. "I know the object was made of some kind of metal," Corosan said, "because I could see the setting sun's rays reflecting off it." The metal was described as being grey-black and apparently smooth. Corosan said that the "machine" had no markings or windows that he could ascertain. The mysterious craft stopped and emitted a short, muffled blast of smoke which by now had changed to a very dark black. Corosan became convinced that the object was not of earthly manufacture and ran for cover in a nearby grove of trees, continuing to watch the strange maneuvers of this atmospheric intruder. The object was now dead-still in the air hovering about 40ft., over the surface of the water. After maintaining this stationary position for a few minutes, Corosan said that the object began to hum and, "vibrate all over as though it were coming apart. I became very frightened because I thought it might explode."

The humming noise was followed by another short eruption from the craft and the object began to rise very slowly, continuing its north-northeast course, in the same erratic chugging motion. Corosan decided to report the sighting immediately and ran up the path leading to the main road. After climbing the sand dune he heard another much louder explosion, followed by a decrease in the humming sound. He turned around just in time to witness the cigar-shaped object crash into the waters of the gulf.

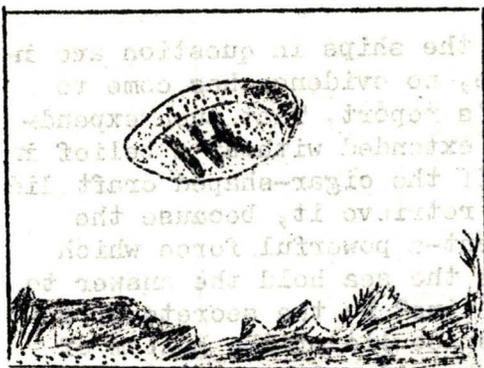

"It did not float at all," Corosan said. "It just hit the water with a huge splash and went down quickly." There was no geyser of water or any sign that the craft had filled with water. Thinking that there might be survivors, Corosan waited to see if any occupant of the mysterious craft came to the surface. After maintaining this fruitless vigil for thirty minutes, he marked the area where he stood with a pile of shells and sped to town to relate his story to the authorities. The Argentine Government has neither confirmed nor denied the sighting by Carlos Corosan. Corosan maintains to have seen Argentine Navy ships anchored off the coast in the area where he saw the object. The Argentine Government official, who had secretly released information regarding the sighting because he feels the "truth should be known." has indicated that the ships in question are indeed seeking the lost object. To date, no evidence has come to light that might corroborate Corosan's report. That such expenditures of men and material should be extended without a belief in his story is impossible to explain. If the cigar-shaped craft did sink there, it would be difficult to retrieve it, because the area is located in the Falkland current—a powerful force which may have swept the object away. Does the sea hold the answer to one of the greatest mysteries of our time? Do the secrets of interplanetary - or even interstellar-space lie at the bottom of the Argentine coastal shelf, covered by mud and known only to the inhabitants of the sea? The answer to these and countless other questions regarding the mystery of UFO phenomena may very well be sealed in the silent, deep waters off the Gulf of San Jorge, Argentina.

Early in 1971. Nuclear Physicist Stanton Friedman recieved a phone call at his home in Redono Beach, Calif., that was to involve him in one of the most remarkable UFO sightings ever reported. Air Force opinion (that UFOs don't exist) notwithstanding, the eyewitness knew that the strange craft he saw sitting on the road in front of him in 1954 did not belong to the technology of this world. Neither did two others he observed a few years later. But Wheeler waited until he could find someone with a scientific background and an objective interest in UFOs to analyze the mystifying details of the incidents. It was a misty evening evening in February 1954, around seven P.M Absolutely nothing could have prepared the engineer for what was waiting just around the next bend in the mountain road...

"I was driving up the mountain..thinking about a million other things, when (I saw) this large object sitting half on the road with the other half in an indentation in the bank In the glare of my headlights, it appeared an odd, dull grey colour, somewhat like titanium used by the Air Force today for many of our vehicles.

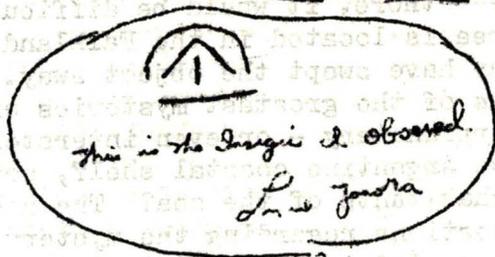

This saucer with it's elaborate "H" was viewed by a whole town in Spain.

"Shaped like two saucers face to face, it covered a third of my lane of the highway, the entire left lane of the road plus about 12 ft of the dirt. I had a good chance to gauge it against the pavement and white line, and estimate that it measured about 25ft across. "I was startled and hit the brakes fast, stopping some 30 feet away from the object.

Even as I sat there blinking my eyes for a couple of seconds, I had the distinct impression that there was a hatch in the side of it facing me, to the south, which had closed and locked into place right after I came upon it. "But the most remarkable thing were the letters or symbols on the hatch which showed dark even against the dark body of the craft. They were very broad figures; I could'n't say whether they were painted or not. There wasn't a glow from the object; absolutely nothing, no sound and no sensation. I noted that my car wasn't affected as the engine kept running and my lights remained on. The craft was completely smooth with no protuberances anywhere. Where the two saucers joined, there wasn't a ridge or band. A sheetmetal man would have told you it was bull-nosed on the edge. I had only a few seconds to take all this in when the craft began to make a funny oscillating movement right in place but apparently raising up slightly as the small gravel at the left of the road was disturbed. Larger rocks and gravel started trickling down the hillside. The smaller rocks underneath it were skittering, something like what would happen under a rear wheel." The curious symbols on the hatch were now etched in his memory, so much so that when he saw them on another mysterious craft in 1956, he was able to detect a slight change. They were as alien as the craft and only compounded the mystery. He tried to put it out of his mind and dozed off. But at 3am a loud humming awakened him, a reverberation which kept increasing until, as Wheeler put it, "I felt like I was inside the sound box of a guitar." Wheeler said it was difficult for him to tell if the sound went up or down the canyon. Then in 1956, he witnessed another type of power failure, an extraterrestrial craft in trouble that was pushed by another UFO to a destination high in the sky. One day as he was out working on a chimney, he observed overhead, at 2,000 ft., a Canberra bomber on a practice run from the Yuma Air Base. But suddenly he noticed it wasn't alone in the sky. "As the bomber pulled away the glowing elliptical mass slowly descended over the southern end of my property flipping back and forth. I thought the sun had me for sure so I stepped back into a shaded doorway, grabbed a hose, and let the water run over my head. But I was still looking up. Puffs of smoke were coming out of it in all directions, a pulsing black stuff very similar to the appearance of the worst kind of diesel smoke. It was sprouting like there were exhaust pipes at 12 inch intervals. The curious part was that the smoke didn't go over 20 or 25 ft away from it. The craft kept coming down, belching this smoke like one of those foul-burning road dragons, oscillating back and forth. It got down to approximately 1,000 feet and just hung there. No one was out in the heat except me and this thing just swinging there belching smoke and obviously in a lot of trouble. The object began to climb, carefully and slowly still smoking heavily. I stood there thinking, when wham! down a "chute" comes another craft which stops about a couple of hundred feet below the other one. After the second object arrived, they weren't there more than a couple of minutes. The 'tow truck' then ever so slowly, between glows, with the other, both went up. Due to the encounter he suffered ill health for many years. This completed the testimony and he proves a most valuable witness. (end) Shortened.

ALIENS ON EARTH SECTION

This section deals with the persistent rumour of extraterrestrials on earth, among us, and now also the reasons why. HERE IS THE STORY NOW OF SNIPPY THE HEADLESS HORSE:

This story about September 8th 1967. Below, Forestry ranger Duane Martin, checks carcass with geiger-counter. Increased radiation was found in two areas where chico bushes had been flattened.

DID CREATURES FROM ANOTHER WORLD TAKE OFF THIS HORSES HEAD???

If so, for what purpose? Why just the head? Could ants be the answer? If so why did they pick on the head? What did the horse die of? Maybe the extraterrestrial story IS the true one!....

Mrs. Berle Lewis, owner of the 3-year-old appaloosa gelding, points at the neck, where flesh has been cut sharply away at the base.

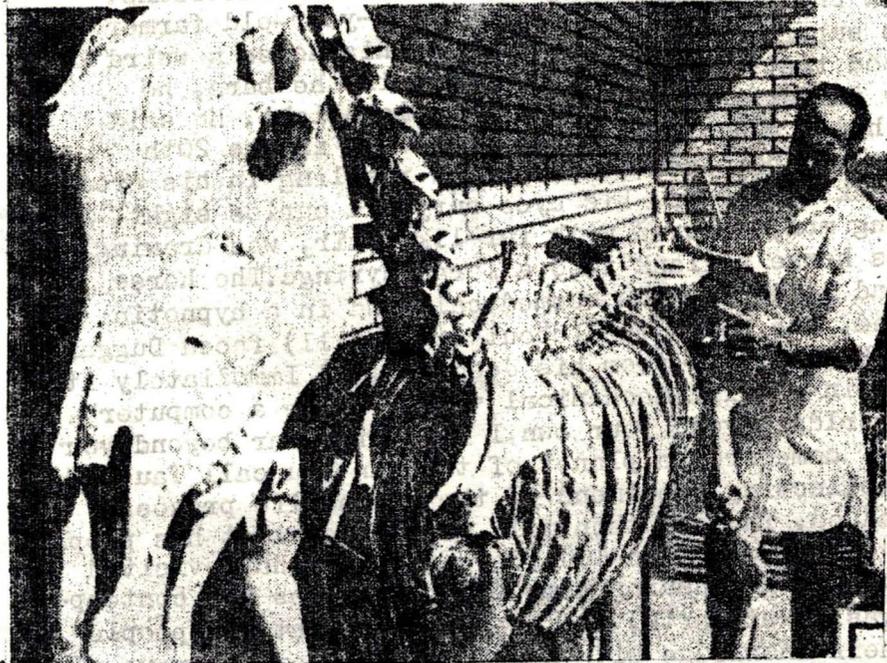

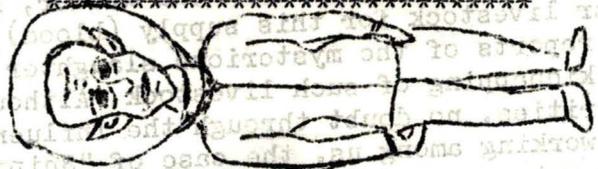

Mrs. Leona Wellington, schoolteacher at right. Vultures had not touched the body. Area was the desert area northeast of Almosa, Colorado. USA.

A lot of weird stories have surrounded this case of snippy, from Fallen Angels, to the practical. Up until 1969 at least nobody had a really concrete answer as to what did happen. If after this has gone to press, maybe, new answers may be found. So for now CNK is accepting the Outerspace hypothesis, since, this does seem to be the only explanation. I do not believe someresearch station wanted the head and brain for experimentation since, it appears no tracks of any kind were in the area. Not unless, they carefully wiped out evidence of their visit. Out of all this comes suggestions that the extraterrestrial pilots are fallen angles using various parts of bodies to build themselves up. For instance one writer, Larry Klien says! They prefer livestock for this supply (blood), and we have seen many reports of the mysterious slaughter of cattle—even the open kidnapping of such livestock. Although "covered up" by authorities, no doubt through the influence of the fallen angels working among us, the case of "Snippy" the pony, is a clear-cut example of livestock slaughter by the saucerians! However, here's one such story. In Idaho, 43-year-old farmer Lonnie Duggan surprised a creature giving his horse a weird saucerian blood test! Hearing a commotion in the barn, he rushed out to investigate, grabbing his flashlight. He said he wished he had a gun, for, incredibly, even in the 20th Century, there had been scattered cattle rustling in his area. Opening the back barn door, his eyes suryed a curios sight. A strange looking man, covered with fur-like hair, was drawing blood from his horse's flank into a large syringe. The horse, who earlier had acted up, now seemed calm and in a hypnotic daze. Surprised, the small man (about 4½ ft tall) faced Duggan (see artists sketch taken from his description) Immediately it began to speak, in a weird mechanical voice, "like a computer". "I come from worlds beyond your own. I come from far beyond your solar system. I come from a planet of the sun you call Tau Ceti. We are here collecting specimens of the earth life process." the creature added. The man then told the farmer that his people first came to earth more than 100 years ago, and have visited quite often during the ensuing time. His planet was not contemplating any invasion of Earth, and he promised that his people would share their knowledge with Earthmen some day, when we all learn to live in peace, and banish wars." Suddenly the creature as if from an inaudible signal, became alarmed, told Duggan he should immediately run to his house and stay inside for half an hour. Duggan followed the order, and from the kitchen window watched as a huge glowing object rose from behind the barn and flashed away, "like lightning." Later Air Force personnel checked Duggan with a lie detector. A team of officers and civilians grilled him for several hours, he said. One of the citizens, whom Duggan described as a "topmost physicist," at one point drew him aside, and reportedly told him that he believed his story. (from the now ceased Saucer News-Gray Barker 1969. Number 4 Vol 16. FIND the M.I.B MEN IN BLACK

FINAL WORD FROM BERYL WALLACE

9th October 1972.

I tried to tell you that I may have met a man in black! Well, it happened early this year about January when I was returning home from a UFO meeting at Kensigton Library. The train was curiously enough almost empty, which is unusual for a Putney Bridge train (London)., even at that time of night. Well, in the carriage I got in was a dark-skinned man with a moustach, almost the moment I sat down he asked me the time, which I gave him After that he did not say anything else, but when for some unknown reason I started thinking about Star Trek (TV 'UFO' SPACE ADVENTURE), he burst out laughing and once he showed annoyance when I started thinking about whether it was worth carrying on UFO research! It was as if he could read my mind, the way he behaved. I know you may think it funny but it was only after I got off the train that I realised what he could be. Also he did not get off- AND IT TERMINATED at Putney Bridge Station, but I never saw him come down the stairs. One thing is certain, if he was a Man in Black then perhaps they are not the terrible ogres we think they are for this man proved they can laugh His behaviour of course could be co-incidence, included his asking the old phrase about the time. You may draw your own conclusions about the above.

Sorry this is not the article you wanted me to write, but I feel under the circumstances it is the only one I can write (Beryl's Last Article and Farewell as follows:)

T I M E T O L E A V E

I am leaving UFO research, not because I am fed up, bored or anything else, but whilst research into UFOs is all very well, it can also be a trap since you get so wound-up with your research that you forget about a lot of other things, in fact, there comes a time when you realise all you are doing is talking UFOs. A fact which seems to apply to most researchers and began to apply to myself. This is the main reason why I am leaving, especially since I have discovered the other things I have neglected, such as the fantastic music scene we have with us at the moment. If anyone thinks I am pulling a hype or fast one, they should ask themselves when was the last time they looked at the Top Ten or read a magazine other than a UFO one? They may discover they are missing a lot

You may be wondering why I am bothering to write this article anyway, It is just to tell people not to neglect the other more down to earth things going on around us. Something else which also bugs me about the UFO scene and that is the way some researchers lose their sense of humour, they get too serious and cannot enjoy a joke. To me this is a terrible stage to reach, so I would say to all UFO researchers drop out once in a while and forget about UFOs you will be more human for it and able to continue your research without getting too hooked.

Before I go I would like to say that sometimes time can change both the dreams and the dreaming, so don't let some cherished dream slip by because you are too bound up with your research. Remember, loosen up and have a go, you will find that letting your hair down, once in a while is not all that hard.

UFO POWER

Ever since they have been seen in our skies, all kinds of people have asked- HOW DO THEY WORK!? Well, maybe for the first time in any UFO magazine, we may have some clues as to the propulsion methods. It is not known for absolutley sure IF these UFOs, in part, some are not man-made and now on test in our skies. In this issue we take a big look at anti-gravity systems, both man-made, and extraterrestrial. Of course it has been produced with our toung in our cheek. Our own re-search into a mechanical system is primitive and so far does not work, however, here is news of some, who think they have it.

Canadian-born, Dr. Paul S. Moller, 30, (with microphone) holds the Chair of Aerodynamics at California University. His second prototype saucer-US-2, is powered by an 8 cylinder radial engine using high octane fuel. US-2 is 8' diameter, weighs 450lbs. and seats two. It is designed to fly like a helicopter at up to 150 miles per hour. His earlier model US-1, is powered by two 90 horsepower engines, and has successfully been flown. (PHOTO CREDIT AP WIRE PHOTO 20 April 1968.

This does not however, bring us into the realms of levitation by a power not yet developed in full. Consider this complicated piece of extraterrestrial engineering: (From Crashed UFOs page 39, here's a continuation of Mr. Wheelr's story, which was edited out to fit here):

...but still smoking heavily. the engineer noticed his welding outfit, and on impulse put on the goggles, a number 6 Chrome glass. What was now revealed was the complex inner workings of the UFO. "As I looked into this glowing centre of electric blue, I could make out what looked to be a compound winding of a large electric motor, except instead of wiring, it was made out of large tubing which appeared almost orange. These tubings were laid flat, one inside the other, and designed in block sections within this circular form. There were six pole pieces to each of these masses of tubing, and within them it seemed that there was a plasma flowing from left to right contained within each tube, rather than flowing from tube to tube. These were where the tremendous electric-blue was being generated but now, with welding goggles on, I seemed to be looking right through the shell of the craft as if it was transparent. The orange colour wasn't a sodium type yellow but more like a sulphur yellow with a red background; that is a little warmth to it. I couldn't see the source of all the smoke. I was looking through the bottom quarter or third of the object so what I was seeing was towards the edge of the bottom. The upper section might have had something else in it."

So there you are, if you wish to construct anything like that, if you had the reserves and ability to do so. Maybe the following clip may help reserchers: ARE FLYING SAUCERS BEING BUILT AT COLOGNE??-from UFO CONFIDENTIAL NEWSLETTER via Dr. Frank E. Stranges. According to bold plans of an inventor of Cologne, Kurt Giessel, man made saucers will soon populate the sky as "flying objects." How much Giessel is convinced of his plans, can be derived from the fact that he sold overnight his small factory where stoves had been manufactured and put a cool 1/4 million Marks in the project that fasinates him. "My flying objects shall fly by remote control without any pilot. They will start vertically and don't need a runway." He thinks to have already solved the most difficult problem, namely; to keep such a disk floating in the air. He keeps silent as a grave about technical details as long as he hasn't yet applied for all the patents. This is understandable: through realisation of his plans he would cash in enormous sums of money for this revolutionary idea. Test flights have already taken place. This was a model (true to nature) that floated through the air to the fullest satisfaction of the inventory. Should further development work go ahead according to plans, Kurt Giessel will let ascend already this summer the first big flying object with four persons aboard. Then, for the first time, a "flying saucer" built by human hands would float above our land and make competition to the "saucers" that come to us from distant worlds to watch terrestrial life.

ANTI-GRAVITY EXISTS NOW! BY MAN!

according to one report by E. Fredrick Schrafft, in Ray Palmers Flying Saucers, March 1971, this is REALITY-Anti-Gravity systems do exist, and various Universities have been trying to crack the gravity barrier for some time, and they have, succeeded. The first concept of man-made disks was the USAF's FLYING FLAPJACK no.02878 V-173. around 1947. Then there are the number of inventions that have been granted patent numbers, too long here to reproduce-
But some of them, at first sight could mean an anti-gravity force. If Saucers HAVE been developed by various governments around the world, then of course the official denial of such craft would be the only answer they could give to any sightings. This does not rule out the occasional extraterrestrial craft of course, but better to deny them altogether, may be the only way to keep the lid on. Below is one of the inventions. We will look further in this series in another issue.

HERE is a lightweight atomic device less than six inches in any dimension that can produce electricity without moving parts. It can operate for long periods under extreme temperatures and actually increases its efficiency in extreme cold.

they were completely silent." His group then went ashore, and went directly up towards the strange machines, but he will not say what they saw when they got there. "I hope that one day the report shall be published in full," says Dr. Wright. "Only not how. All I can say is that when we got close to the objects they set off at an incredible speed and disappeared in the direction of Bermuda." Dr. Wright is sure there is a connection between the mysterious radio signals heard at Cape Kennedy and the disappearance of the minor planes and crafts in the Bermuda Triangle. NASA informs very little about these signals, but everybody can read about the planes and ships disappeared year after year in December. "For many years these beings have studied earth from the Bahamas, and they may safely continue to snatch ships here and there in the month of December year after year, by this they make it look like a strange natural phenomenon only. My own theory is that a big mother ship several hundred kilometers above the triangle, is watching everything happening. Dr. Wright is unable to explain, however, the way ships and planes disappear, but he supposes that the mother ship simply snatches them—the ships on the water and the planes in the air. One thing is quite certain—he concludes, "I shall never go back to the small island in a minor ship, and I shall never fly through the Bermuda Triangle"

Many years ago a man used to come to my shop during his lunch-hour for a chat. He was a welder in a local factory and one day I asked him what would happen if he kept his oxyacetylene flame continuously on a block of steel.

He said, "It would gradually burn away."

"What about the ashes?"

"There would be no ashes. It is the hottest gas flame known and burns everything."

"Where has the steel gone?"

He made a gesture, "In the air—dispersed."

"Then we are breathing it?"

"I suppose so—some of it."

"Where has the weight gone?"

(The subject was then abruptly changed.)

* * * *

Research into the fundamental structure of matter has proved that "solid matter" is, in reality, not solid in its basic constituents. The atoms have been found to consist of a bewildering number of "particles" which are nothing more than concentrations of energy. Matter and energy have proved to be interchangeable.

The principles of wave-mechanics have revealed that the sub-atomic particles behave as though they were nothing more substantial than trains of electromagnetic waves.

It was many years ago when I met that fine medium, the late Mrs. Helen Spiers, at the Marylebone Spiritualists' Association (now the Spiritualists Association of Great Britain). Her accurate descriptions of my wife and other relatives and their characteristic personal messages, which became a sort of family conversation, amazed me.

It was my first experience and I asked, "Can you actually see them?" for I could see nothing. She smiled and said, "Yes, and you will see your wife as clearly as you see me now." How true this was when later an advanced spirit teacher took me on out-of-the-body journeys to the spirit world. I attended lectures there, sometimes with my father, and for this reason I started this article with the two anecdotes, which have an association.

In astral projection my spirit body is composed of sub-atomic or elementary electric particles, and of course unseen to physical eyes, although I feel "solid."

A sunbeam in a darkened room will reveal dust, but not electrical particles.

All space is saturated with these free sub-atomic particles, and well distributed, as being negatively charged they repel one another. Those in spirit, according to their state of progress, can construct spiritual things by thought—the thought being a positive electrical emission, attracts the negative particles. Therefore, the basic ingredients of everything spiritual or material is in space around us in the form of free particles.

Only One on earth had the great and far-reaching attractive Power "The Father in Me" to bring together the substance and forming by thought a repetition of loaves and fishes.

U.S. cops attacked in new UFO flap

AMERICAN policemen claimed yesterday that they had been attacked by a UFO.

Their dramatic story — only 24 hours after and 150 miles away from another "terrifying" incident — has left the country in the grip of a flying saucer scare.

The flap began on Monday when scientists said that two anglers, who claimed to have been taken into a flying saucer, had indeed had a "very terrifying experience."

Attacked

Then yesterday in Louisiana, about 150 miles North West of Pascagoula, the scene of the first incident, a sheriff's deputy claimed his car was attacked by "an orange-reddish flying object."

"Our deputies spotted five of them and a bunch of witnesses saw them too," Deputy Sheriff Michael Moore said yesterday. "One of our deputies was scared pretty bad."

At Slidell, on Lake Pontchartrain in Louisiana, Lloyd Mercier told police he saw an object about 15 feet in diameter glowing red.

In the Pascagoula incident, the anglers claimed they saw a strange object land on the river.

Three creatures with crab-like webbed hands took them inside the craft before escaping.

FOSSILS FROM SPACE?

One of several metal pellets discovered at the Brookville landing site. Pellets were sent to a laboratory for analysis, which said they were made of titanium, metal used in high-speed aircraft.

The objects seen on page 11 were sent to NICUFO USA by Ignacio Darnaude of Seville, Spain, they now have these exclusive (in the U.S.A) photos of the 3 mystery objects which fell onto different parts of Spain in December of last year (1969) The story was carried in a brief A.P. dispatch last January (1968?)

and was written up on p. 29 of NICUFO's newsletter. The objects each weigh 31.74 pounds, and each is 14.9 inches in diameter. They are obviously artificially constructed, but there has been no explanation of their origin. Another fossile 'story' is of the remains of an alien spacecraft with its crew and operators fossilised and intact, the tiny beings crashed here on what is our earth long, long ago. The fragment that the group NUIC has, is in safe keeping, has two very distinct types of creatures on or in the craft. One type is 4 humanoid that for all the world look like we earth beings but for their 3 inches in height. The others are 3 apelike beings. The world they are from may have long ceased to exist, or may exist still outside our solar system as a dead world. Why they crashed is still a mystery—maybe a fight between the ape creatures and crew? (Information Source: UFO CHRONICLE, April 1970) Now ceased.

Aliens dragged us into UFO, say terrified fishermen

Or Allen Hyrek, chairman of the North Western University's astronomy department, said later: "There is no question in my mind that these men have had a terrifying experience."

"Their emotions and very strong feelings of terror are impossible to fake under hypnosis."

Sheriff Fred Diamond of Pascagoula said that 12 other local people had also reported seeing the UFO.

colour, with big eyes, pointed ears, pointed noses and no toes.

He said both he and Parker became weightless when touched by the creatures.

After telling their story, Hickson and Parker were questioned under hypnosis by scientists.

a strange object surrounded by a blue haze.

They said three creatures with crab-like hands and wrinkled skin dragged them into the craft and their released them.

Hickson explained that the "aliens" were pinkish-grey in

SCIENTISTS confirmed yesterday that two men who claimed to have been dragged into an unidentified flying object had suffered "a very terrifying experience."

Angiers Charles Hickson, aged 62, and 18-year-old Calvin Parker were fishing on the Pascagoula River, Mississippi, when the craft landed, they said.

The men, both shipyard workers, described the UFO as
