AWARD WINNING DOCUMENTARY FILM MAKER VISITS DERBY AND THE PRA

We were contacted early in June by Gavin Maxwell, the documentary film producer and the triple Emmy award winner for his series about wildlife, people and landscapes.

His films include Richard Hammond's 'Invisible Worlds' (3x60 BBC 1), 'Wild China' (BBC 2), 'Land of the Panda', 'Tibet', 'Surviving Great Whites' (Discovery Channel), 'Nile' (BBC2) etc. These are just a selection of the many documentaries that Gavin has produced.

Documentary Film Producer Gavin Maxwell

Gavin contacted your editor and revealed that he would be attending a photography workshop at the 'Quad' in Derby from June 14-19 and that he wished to arrange a meeting to discuss the subject of UFO's, with a view to possibly making a documentary on this elusive subject. He also asked if it would be possible to interview witnesses and investigators of past UFO events. Subsequently your editor met Gavin and had a discussion about UFO activity in the Derby and local area, in particular the 'Flying Triangle' flap of Dec. 1994-May 95 when 52 incidents took place.

In view of the past UFO history of the Bonsall area*, the present owners of the 'Barley Mow' pub (David and Collette) were contacted. They agreed to a meeting and also confirmed that they had a list of a several new incidents that had taken place around Bonsall.

*Readers may recollect the famous Sharon Rowlands 6 minute video (right) filmed on 5 October 2000 and was subsequently given world wide coverage. The video had been seen by your editor and confirmed as genuine footage.

Gavin Maxwell Continued: During our discussion on past UFO cases, Gavin took advantage of the offer to visit the site of the Rolls Royce Test Bed Centre at Sinfin.

This was where Alan Beardmore had been driving past on the public road in the early hours of the 29th June 1994. Alan had been to a late night snooker match and was driving his diesel white van home, when suddenly his headlights flickered and went out!

He pulled up at the side of the road wondering what had gone wrong, then as he glanced out of his side window he was able to make out the shape of a huge black triangular craft hovering over the nearby electricity pylons.

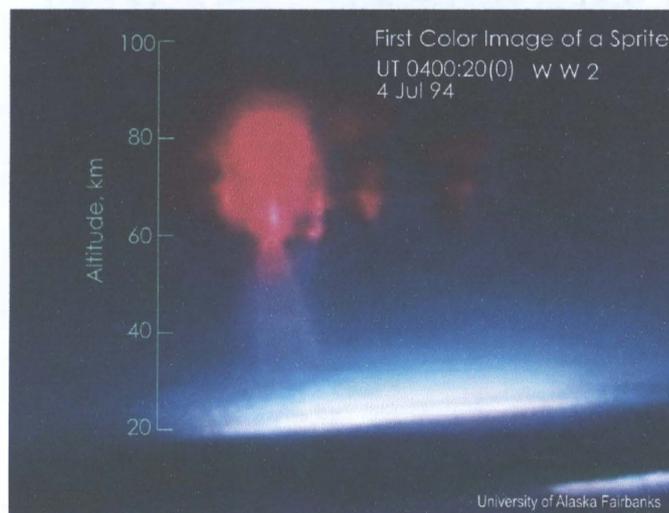

As he sat there pondering what was going on, the FT craft slowly moved away into the night and out of sight. Shortly afterwards, his lights flickered and came on. Alan then continued on his journey home without any further incident.

As numerous cases and incidents were revealed, Gavin Maxwell became aware of the complexity of the UFO scenario, not only locally but world wide.

He is a photographer of the highest quality and expressed an interest in the operation of our Derby 'Sky Camera', that operates 24/7 videoing the sky over Derby. He had made plans to meet Paul, the Sky Camera operator, but it soon became obvious that his weeks schedule was becoming overcrowded.

He was later to hear of more incidents and theories when he departed to meet Andrew Johnson, the Physicist and our associate, living in nearby Borrowash.

Gavin Maxwell made the interesting revelation that he had recently returned from the USA, where he had been filming ultra fast 'sprite lightning' formations up in the mesosphere, using high speed cameras and night vision equipment. This was for a future TV programme with Richard Hammond.

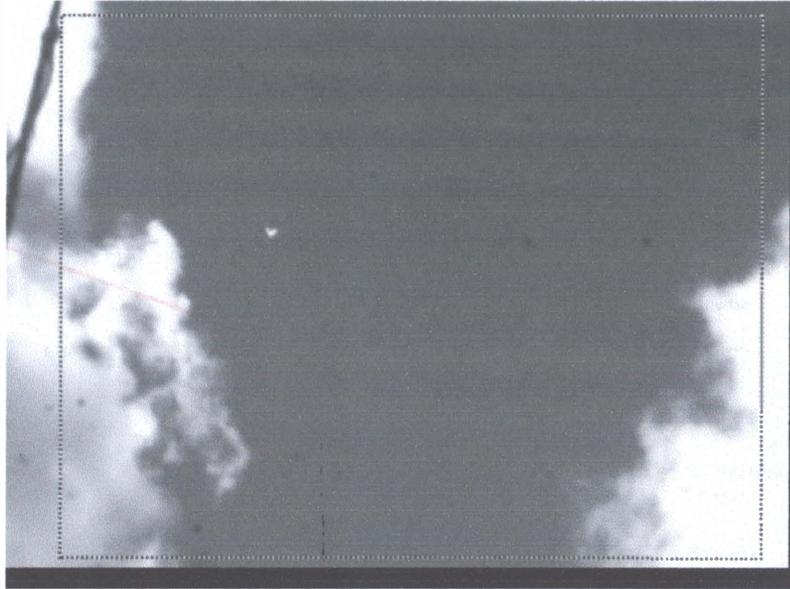

Sprites appear as luminous reddish-orange flashes. They often occur in clusters within the altitude range 50–90 km above the Earth's surface. Sporadic visual reports of sprites go back at least to 1886, but they were first photographed on July 6, 1989 by scientists from the University of Minnesota and have subsequently been captured in video recordings many thousands of times.

Sprites are sometimes inaccurately called upper-atmospheric lightning. However, sprites are cold plasma phenomena that lack the hot channel temperatures of tropospheric lightning, so they are more akin to fluorescent tube discharges than to lightning discharges.

A final message from Gavin Maxwell read: "Dear Omar, Many thanks for your time and interest last week - it was fascinating to meet you. It was a hectic week but very useful! There's a lot to think about but I'll see if there is a potential TV story in the making.

Good Luck with future sightings. Best wishes, Gavin"

DERBY SKYCAMERA LATEST

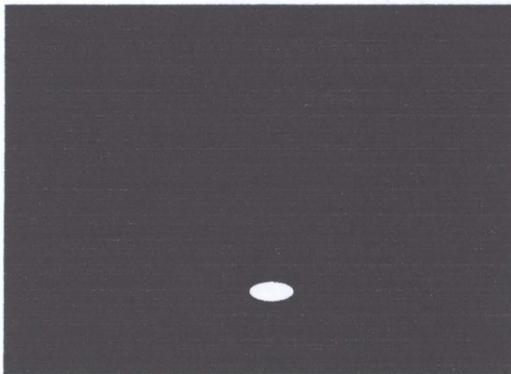

0925 Hrs. 12 June 2010

This aircraft seems to have short stubby wings and a larger tail , rather like the x37.

I am not suggesting that's what it is, simply that no other matches were found . You never know though I often see aircraft glint in the sun but never looked like this one did !

The LITS object was far away and climbing rapidly, the other Skycam failed to detect it as it was too faint.

I have never seen anything like its strobe effect and it seemed unlike any usual aircraft type.

I will keep the video for the archive records ! Paul.

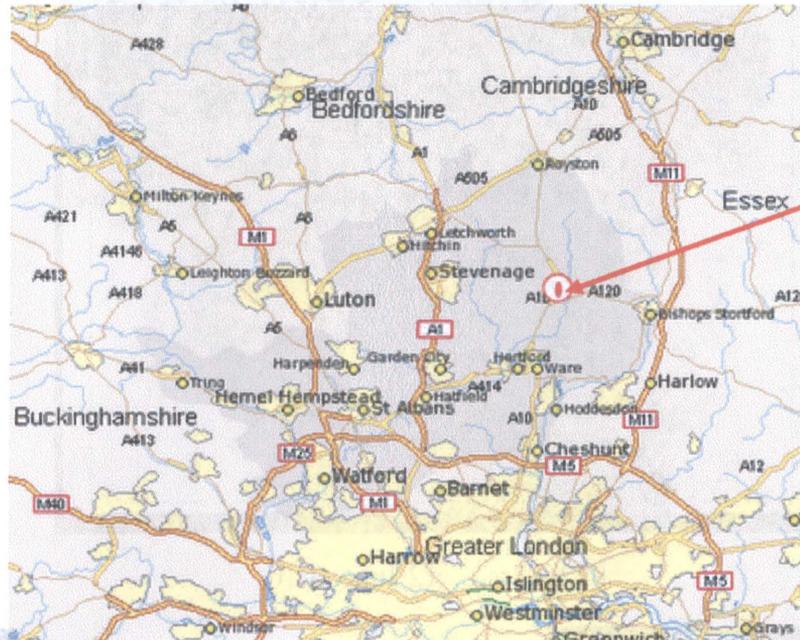

ED: We were recently baffled when we were presented with a video showing a night time series of lights passing overhead and pulsating in an unusual sequence.

Thanks to the help given by a CAA member, we are now aware of a new range of anti collision lights (Aeroflash Strobe Lighting).

This lighting system emits a series of bright flashes in out of phase pulses and the flashes also differ in brilliance. This results in an unusual sequence of flashing lights that could be mistaken for a UFO object.

Retired Police Officer Reports Alien Close Encounter

Posted: 02 Jul 2010 10:52 AM PDT

A former police officer saw a UFO, and what he thought were children that “disappeared all of a sudden”, while driving from Hertford to Puckeridge.

The sighting was in July last year, but has only emerged within the last few days on a UFO-watcher’s website.

In his tantalizing account the ex-cop, who identified himself only as Nick R, wrote: “I saw whilst driving along the A10 going home one evening after work north a light which was not the moon, orange and oval in shape. I drove into my parking space in Puckeridge and went into my flat. Faffed about for about 10 minutes then went outside for a cigarette.

“I saw something which I have never told anyone about. My flat was in Cambridge Court in Puckeridge backed on to fields. I saw in the twilight what I thought were kids messing about. No, as the light faded around 21.30 the orange globe appeared in the sky. I was at this time watching something on TV, then went outside for a fag again.”

Chillingly he raised the prospect of seeing alien beings that he initially thought were “children”, in the field – a so-called ‘close encounter of the third kind’.

He added: “I know that area is a flight path from Stansted, but that was strange.

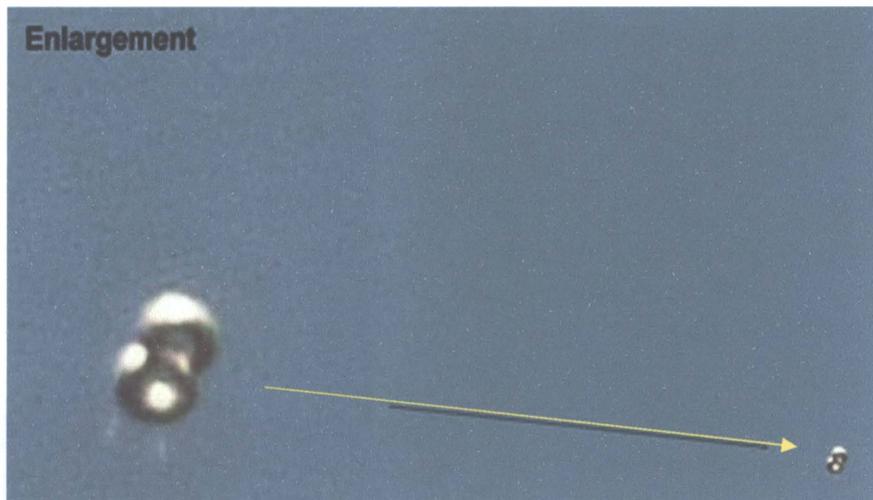

“The children disappeared all of a sudden. I lived there for one-and-a-half years, and never experienced anything like that.”

In reply to the post another site user wrote: Intrigued by your report, am interested in sightings on either 25/26th of July in this area seems to be a pattern.”

He suggested Nick R report his sighting on another site dedicated to serving and retired police officers’ sightings of UFO-related phenomena i.e. Gary Heseltine’s PRUFOS webpage.

Reports from Linda Moulton Howe's EARTHFILES
July 1, 2010 - What Are Aerial "Metallic Doughnuts"
South of London, England?

On June 24, 2010, these "metallic doughnuts" were photographed flying south to north at 9:08 PM local time in Redhill, Surrey, England, south of London. Photographer requests anonymity, but emailed the British Earth and Aerial Mysteries Society: "Observed 2 shimmering objects through 10x binoculars. They appeared brown, doughnut-shaped, brighter on face, reflected off sun, although sun was hidden from my view." Untouched original picture (far right) and enlargement on left.

'MYSTERY UFO - Chadwell Heath: CENTRAL LONDON

From Richard Colborne.21:40 Evening of 26th. June 2010.

I happened to look just East of North from Chadwell Heath, and I saw a dark object descending at a 45 degree angle as if coming in to land. It was moving rapidly and deliberately E to W and I assumed it was a large bird like a goose or swan. I then realised it was globular in shape and as it passed in front of a tree alongside the A12, I saw it was a pale globe. It passed behind a tree, but just reappeared to the left of same as it touched down.

I was wearing heavy boots so I needed only to get my camera from indoors. I set off across the golf course under construction, walking in a straight line to where I could see the object. To say the terrain there is like the surface of the Moon isn't much of an exaggeration!

When I reached the object I found it to be yet another of those damned Chinese Lanterns (see photo on right). I was amazed to have seen this so clearly at dusk at the distance involved. It must have been a quarter of a mile if not more.

However; the weirdest thing was this: About half way across the golf course I turned, only to see a big flame in the sky. It was moving E to W and sort of in my direction. It was blazing and getting bigger.

When I next turned, I thought; "I'm going to have to give in and take a photo of this"! I got my camera out, and then something struck me. There was no flame, but something reflecting the sun which was below the horizon. I thought; "It has to be an aeroplane", because flights for London City Airport stack above us in Chadwell Heath. I put my camera away; necessary on that terrain.

A Chinese Lantern: Only £1 in your local pound shop!

When I turned finally, I watched the reflection dim as the object passed me and realised it was no aircraft: it wasn't following the flight path either, as it should have started to turn.

What I saw was a dark orb. I fumbled with my camera bag, and alas, by the time I managed to get my camera trained on the damn thing, it was too far away to photograph properly. I have a picture, but it is a faint blob.

Whatever it was, it was definitely a sphere (or a disc which just happened to be presenting it's largest profile to me), and moving fast E to W; into the sunset. If it were another Chinese Lantern then it was staying aloft long after it should have burned out and come down. If it were paper, then why was it reflecting the sun as it must have been? The wind was quite strong even at ground level.

Although the 'flame' was spectacular, I wasn't really bothered about photographing it, because it would have just turned out an orange blob on a dark blue background!

UFO 'LITS' OVER SOLIHULL BIRMINGHAM - 17th January 2010

A Report by Michael D. Mills

In the early morning (00.45hrs) of the 17th January 2010, I was walking my elderly brother home, when I glanced up at the starlit sky. I immediately noticed two circular, dull orange objects flying side by side at roughly 45 degrees over to my right hand side. Their speed was extremely fast and they changed position in relation to one another.

They went from flying side by side, to one suddenly accelerating and flying directly in front of the other. Then again flying side by side (I'm not sure if the one in front slowed or the one behind accelerated).

Then finally, as if synchronised, the one object flew in an arc to the left and the other object did the same to the right, before coming back to flying side by side and that is when I lost them in the glare of the street lighting.

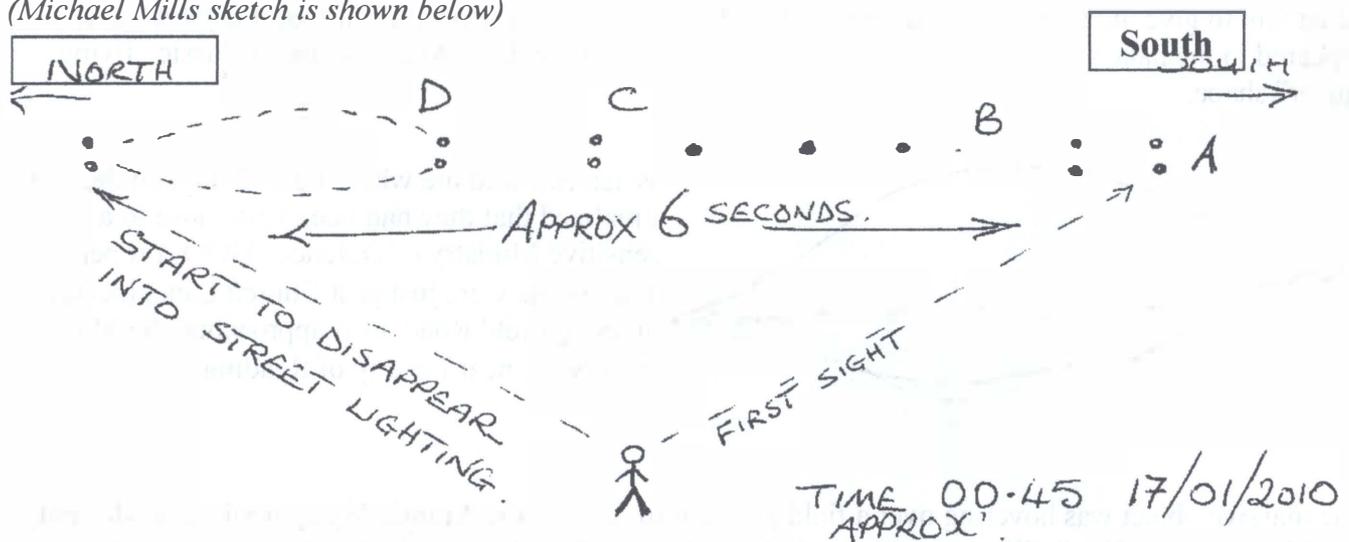

I had shouted to my brother and girlfriend to look, but unfortunately they were unable to pick them up, partly due to their speed and due partly to not having good vision (my girlfriend wasn't wearing her glasses).

I am 58 years of age and have always lived within 3 - 4 miles of Birmingham International Airport, so I am used to seeing lights in the sky from different aircraft.

The total time of my sighting was about 6 seconds as the objects moved 45 degrees from my right, then overhead and then 30 - 45 degrees to my left.

I have never seen anything move so fast that was obviously intelligently controlled and I was in awe of what I had just seen!.

(Michael Mills sketch is shown below)

- A. FIRST SAW OBJECTS.
- B. ONE OBJECT ACCELERATES AND FLIES DIRECTLY INFRONT OF SECOND OBJECT
- C. OBJECTS AGAIN FLY SIDE BY SIDE.
- NOT SURE IF OBJECT INFRONT HAD SLOWED OR ONE BEHIND ACCELERATED.
- D. OBJECTS START TO FLY APART IN AN ARC BEFORE COMING BACK TO SIDE BY SIDE, THEN DISAPPEARING INTO STREET LIGHTING.

UFO Sighted Near British Nuclear Weapons Facility

11th September 2004

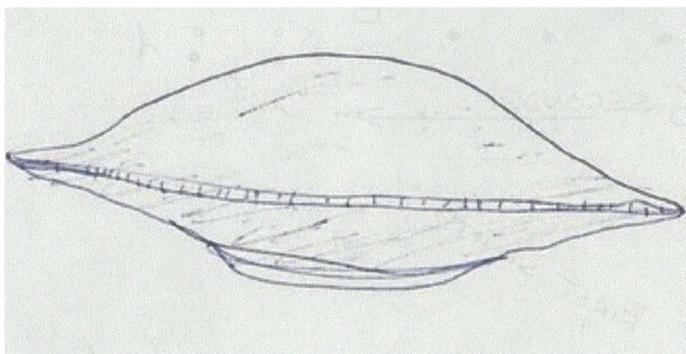

By Ananda Sirisena (With thanks to Daniel Wilson, Ohio, USA)

The source of this report, who I shall refer to as ML, told me an extraordinary story about how one morning, around 6.30 am, he and his wife were returning home after babysitting at their daughter's house when they saw a huge object hovering over a field, to the right of the road that they were driving on. At the time of the sighting, it was a bright dawn with a clear, blue sky. ML had spotted the object first through the trees and, whilst trying to keep it in sight, nearly drove into the ditch on the left-hand side of the road.

His wife exclaimed to him to be careful, wondering why he was driving in such an erratic manner. He stopped the van and told his wife to look out through his window. He asked, "What do you see?" She said, "What is it?" He asked, "What does it look like?" She said, "It's a spaceship!"

ML informed me that the object was, in his estimation, many hundreds of feet in length, with pastel lights all around it that appeared to pulsate softly. ML further described it as "cloud-like", saying that the colours around the object were like "moving clouds". It is possible the object was surrounded by a cloudy mist, perhaps a camouflage, or its colour was a cloudy grey.

The couple observed the object for a short while, which ML estimated to be a few minutes. He had gotten out of the van and climbed up on the bonnet (hood) to get a better look. I asked ML to sketch the object. He was able to do this in a matter of a minute or so. I took him outside to look at the sky and asked him to give me an approximation of the angle subtended by the object. That is, its length as it appeared to the naked eye. The figure below is the first sketch made by ML. It shows a classic "flying saucer" shape.

When ML told me where he had stopped the van, I realized that they had been very close to a sensitive Ministry of Defence (MOD) property! The couple were just past Church Lane, located on Burghfield Road, as it approached the M4 motorway, near the city of Reading.

The massive object was hovering over a field adjacent to AWE—the Atomic Weapons Establishment at Aldermaston. (The facility was previously known as AWRE, the Atomic Weapons Research Establishment.)

Suddenly, from a hovering position, the UFO started to move directly over the MOD site, then rapidly towards the M4 motorway. At that point, it was out of sight.

It was later established that the sighting had taken place on the 11th of September 2004. Whilst ML appreciates that this case is not "news" after so many years, he would like some kind of official confirmation of his sighting. He feels that the UFO must have been tracked on radar, been seen by satellite, and visually observed by many other people.

His wife is equally mystified by the appearance of this object. Her first reaction was that it was a 'spaceship' and she has not changed her opinion since. What was it doing hovering over a highly sensitive MOD site? Did the armed guards at AWE spot it? Where did it come from? Where did it go? These are questions we have no answers to at the moment.

UFO Photo - Real or Fake (From: Billy's UFOs / Aliens Blog)

Wednesday June 23, 2010

I received a set of photographs from Turkey recently, and thought I would link you up to them, and see what you think. There probably will not be a definitive explanation for them, so I will let you make up your own mind on their authenticity.

Allegedly taken near a primary school in the village of Gulab, Tocat, Turkey, on May 5, 2010, the photographer is a teacher of Science and Technology at the school, and used a Canon Digital IXUS 50 to take the shots.

THE SAD DEMISE OF THE UFONEWS MAGAZINE

In spite of the gallant efforts of Steve Gerrard to re-launch his excellent UFONEWS magazine, numerous difficulties have forced Steve to call it a day!

Steve's letter explaining his difficulties has been reproduced below for your information. ED.

Date: 23rd May 2020

Dear Omar,

Please find enclosed the recent copy of OVNI you sent in exchange for UFONEWS UK Magazine and for review. I have decided to close the magazine and it has now ceased publication as of the 10th May 2010 for the following reason:

- My ill health
- Subscriptions fell below 30 and I cannot justify 3 months work to produce the magazine for little or no return.
- I have set up my own business and I have to plough all available hours in the day into this.

I have completely retired from UFOlogy now and it has been a great 30 years+ but time has caught up with me so I have hung my binoculars up once and for all.

It has been great knowing you Omar and I hope that you continue with your great work. One final thing, if you know of anyone that would be interested in purchasing my DVD collection (900+ of them), then please let me know. I am looking for a straight £500 and the buyer pays for and arranges collection. The collection goes from the 1950's to date and I can email a couple of spreadsheets listing all of the DVD's.

All the best,

Steve Gerrard

Members please note that in view of rising costs it has been found necessary to increase the monthly meeting attendance charge from £1.00 to £2.00. This will commence as from the forthcoming meeting scheduled on the 27th July 2010. Omar Fowler

HARPOUR HILL (DERBYSHIRE'S UFO CAPITAL?)

Mike Wray.

Harpour Hill, situated some two miles south of Buxton in Derbyshire has fascinated me since a boy. I used to do a lot of cycling and walking in the area and was regaled with tales of strange lights in the sky, particularly around a quarry just outside the village. Jim was a small quiet man who took some time to get to know you, he had been a serious cyclist all his life and Buxton was his favourite destination on his rides in the Peak District. We used to go with him from time to time on our cycling club rides. He would always make a stop at Earl Sterndale for a pint with his sandwiches at a pub, the Quiet Woman. After lunch we would carry on up the B5053 which took us gradually uphill towards the Buxton Axe Edge Road. On the way we passed areas of moorland which had some strange installations all over them. Jim told us that these were part of the RAF Camp at Harpour Hill. These installations were fenced off by barbed wire and netting fences some 10 feet high supported by concrete posts.

The installations were on first sight, nothing more than the concrete and brick foundations of huts. However on closer examination they did not appear to have had any other structure on them and the foundations were designed with a concrete lining inside almost like an above ground swimming pool. The concrete structures above had hooks on the inside beams and were made of a re-enforced concrete. (see drawing). In later years I was employed in the aviation industry and learned that any installation designed for servicing or connected with refuelling aircraft had to have a pit around the base which could contain fuel in the event of spillage or leakage. This is exactly what I had seen at Harpur Hill. But for servicing what? Refuelling what? I did hear tales of rockets being stored at this site and being prepared for launch but have not been able to substantiate this. Certainly there is no runway here, it is only a narrow road to the site.

From here one can look over Buxton and Harpour Hill and to the right of the village there is a quarry, in this quarry there is a set of huge steel doors set in the hill, these have been here for years, when I was a lad the quarry was not as big as it is now and was not worked as much. These doors were said to lead into the underground installation belonging to the MOD, it was around here that Jim said lights could be seen coming out of the hill, climbing into the sky and 'dancing' about and flying very fast away. Jim claimed to have seen them himself several times. Sadly Jim died some years ago so I have no chance of taking this report further. As a lad, at the time I just felt that it was the RAF 'doing something'.

The camp eventually closed and was sold off to the County Council. One can still see some of the old RAF buildings which is now the College situated in the village.

The years passed and I thought no more about it until reports started to filter out about the triangular UFO sightings in Derbyshire, I had long parked up my bike and moved south so was not au-fait with happenings in the Peak District except that one caught my eye in particular.

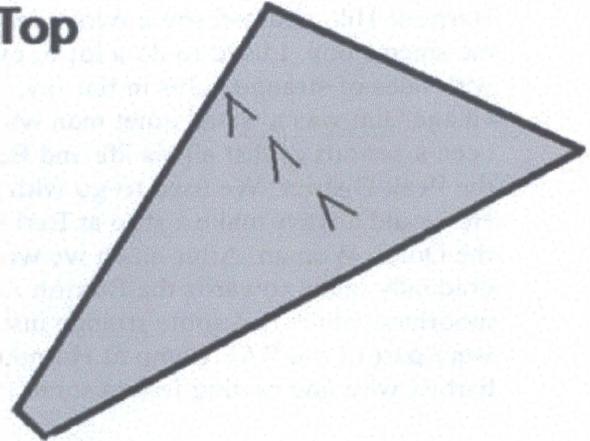

A triangular craft had been seen over Harpour Hill and witnessed by several people. Allegedly shortly afterwards a black unmarked helicopter was seen in the area acting strangely. I read this report in a magazine and it made me think back to my cycling days and Jim's story. I did some checking up and found out that Derbyshire Police had received reports for both the triangle and the helicopter. Their enquiries could not trace the source of the helicopter and certainly at one stage they wanted to know any information they could get from the public regarding it.

Now well into ufology I still wonder about this bleak area of Derbyshire, does it hold any secrets? Are the triangles and Harpour Hill connected in some way?

Norway Triangle

Tromsø -- I was watching a late movie on May 14, 2010, when my TV went stone black. A big bright light flashed through my living room, very slowly. I rushed to the window and saw very bright lights outside almost blinding me. Then it moved over to the building on my left and started flashing lights into my neighbor's apartment so I got my camera. I wasn't able to turn it on, none of my electronics worked until twenty minutes after it was gone.

Top

It continued to flash a bright light into seven apartments, and appeared to be searching and scanning the apartments. The light was like the ones you see on lighthouses with a hint of red. The object was a silent and a slim triangle, with four "spikes;" three on top, one very small one where the light was coming from.

The surface reminded me of a toaster. I opened the door as the light turned on me and I was terrified. Then it flew right over my building and was gone. Thanks to MUFON Thanks to MUFON CMS

Indiana Triangular Object

Terre Haute -- On April 4, 2010, as we drove west I noticed a very bright white light, coming from the east just over the trees north of us. It was moving faster than a plane and had very bright white lights. I told my husband about the object as it slowed almost to a stop and its lights turned bright red.

My husband saw it too, as we drove south and saw it move really fast to go far ahead of us.

We drove into a gas station near our home and I went inside to pre-pay and the attendant said, "The system just went down."

We decided to follow and drove east toward the object. When we were close, we pulled off the road and watched a triangular object with distinct bright red lights as it slowly passed over us.

The streetlights and object were visible on my camera screen but the red lights were not bright enough for me to get a picture.

We drove back to the gas station to see if their systems were up yet and as we started to pump gas, we saw the craft and the pump said, 'OUT OF SERVICE.'

The object continued on its way to the northeast until it was out of view. It was then, that the system came back up and I was finally able to fill up my tank. The object remained red until it disappeared.

Old Moon Rover Beams Surprising Laser Flashes to Earth

June 3, 2010: A Soviet robot lost on the dusty plains of the Moon for the past 40 years has been found again, and it is returning surprisingly strong laser pulses to Earth.

"We shined a laser on Lunokhod 1's position, and we were stunned by the power of the reflection," says Tom Murphy of UC San Diego, who leads the research team that's putting the old robot back to work. "Lunokhod 1 is talking to us loudly and clearly."

It looks like a creature from science fiction, but Lunokhod 1 is real.

Almost forgotten in the lore of the Apollo-era space race, Lunokhod 1 was one of the greatest successes of the old Soviet lunar exploration program.

In 1970, Time magazine described the robot's historic landing: "Three hours after reaching the Moon aboard the latest unmanned Russian Moon probe, Luna 17, Lunokhod I (literally "moonwalker") lumbered down one of two ramps extended by the mother ship and moved forward ... thus taking the first giant step for robotkind on another celestial ."

The remote-controlled rover traveled almost 7 miles during its 11 month lunar tour, relaying thousands of TV images and hundreds of high-resolution panoramas of the Moon back to Earth. It also sampled and analyzed lunar soil at 500 locations.

Then Lunokhod-1 was lost – until last month when NASA's Lunar Reconnaissance Orbiter found it again. On April 22, Murphy and his team sent pulses of laser light from the 3.5 meter telescope at the Apache Point Observatory in New Mexico, zeroing in on the target coordinates provided by Lunar Reconnaissance Orbiter. A laser retro-reflector on Lunokhod 1 intercepted the pulses and sent a clear signal back to Earth. "We got about 2,000 photons from Lunokhod 1 on our first try. After almost 40 years of silence, this rover has a lot to say," Back in the late 1960s and early 1970s, Apollo astronauts placed three other retroreflectors on the Moon to allow laser ranging of the Moon's orbit. Assisted by a fourth reflector on Lunokhod 2, a twin of Lunokhod 1 that landed in 1973, these mirrors constitute the only Apollo science experiment still operating.

JUST A REMINDER !

"More than 10,000 sightings have been reported, the majority of which cannot be accounted for by any 'scientific' explanation..."

"I am convinced that these objects do exist and that they are not manufactured by any nation on Earth. I can therefore see no alternative to accepting the theory that they come from some extraterrestrial source."

SHIREBROOK/MANSFIELD 'LITS' CONTINUE.

Neil Cairns showed members at the June PRA meeting recent video footage of the strange lights that have been appearing over the Langwith/Shirebrook area of Mansfield recently.

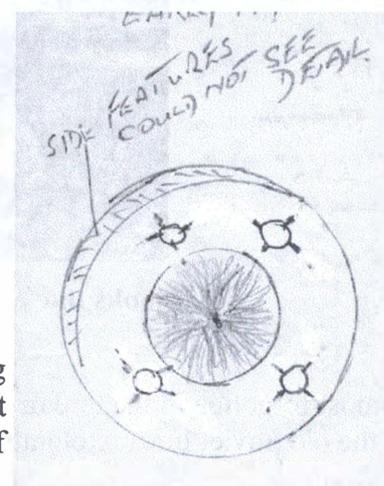

As yet, we have no logical explanation as the LITS' behave in a random fashion, not conforming to any aircraft flight path.

THE NEXT PRA MEETING

This will take place at the Royal British Legion, Allenton, Derby at 8pm on Tuesday 27 July 2010.

By popular request, a presentation by the Physicist ANDREW JOHNSON :

Wilbert Smith and the Origins of ET Disclosure

This presentation will look at the incredible work of Canadian Radio Engineer, Wilbert Brockhouse Smith, who, over a period of 12 years, went from being a UFO/ET Sceptic to building working items of technology under the instruction of "The Boys Topside". This fascinating story encompasses many of the phenomena which other UFO figures and researchers have discovered and discussed – and it is a story which most people have never heard. Additionally, we will look at documents from the Douglas Aircraft company, which show they were seriously investigating UFOs in the 1960's. Also, recent developments in UFO disclosure will be analysed.

Plus the latest UFO news & Free UFO book raffle: £2 on the night: Non-members welcome.
