UFO'S RETURN TO BONSCALL !

The village of Bonsall (Derbyshire) is once again becoming the focus of extensive UFO activity in the area after being relatively quiet since the hectic days of October 2000 when it gained worldwide media coverage for the Sharon Rowlands video. (See a 'still' below right).

The 'Matlock Mercury' covered many of the sightings in detail and announced in their issue of the 26th April 2001, that there had been 23 sightings in the area in the last eight months and that there seemed no signs of the UFO activity abating.

However things gradually quietened down, that is until recently when Lynda Turner, a Cromford resident contacted the PRA to report that once again there had been extensive UFO activity in the Bonsall area. In view of the number of recent incidents and concern, local residents had convened their own meeting to discuss their concerns with the local council.

They had also contacted the 'Matlock Mercury' in an effort to contact more witnesses of the UFO events. Mrs Lynda Turner's report follows:

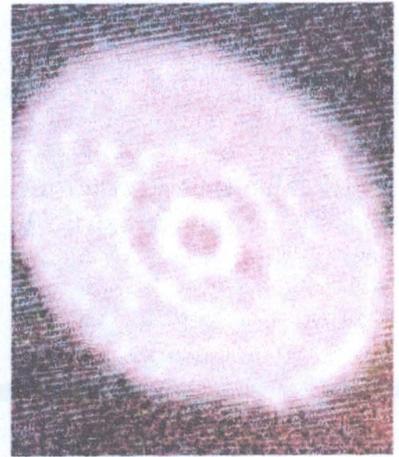

On September 15th 2012, around 8.45pm, I was walking home from my job (as cook) in a local pub. It is only 5 mins walk from my home at Cromford and I was walking up Hawthorne to Rose End. As I started walking up Hawthorne I noticed some lights above the rooftops of the houses on the right hand side. Instantly dismissing them as laser lights, as there were the Matlock Bath illuminations going on that night, but as I looked at them the lights appeared to move with me.

The lights were bright and in an oval shape of round lights surrounded by square shaped lights in an oval shape with the four lights (one on each corner and tapered).

The lights were pulsating from the left to the middle then to the right, in sequence and this was continual throughout the sighting. As I walked up the road. the lights seemed to follow me and when I stood still, the lights stayed in the same place , when I moved, it moved!

I was puzzled by this and then I noticed a young girl and her dog coming up the road. I decided to go and meet her to see if she had seen what I was looking at. I thought by this time I was going crazy. As I walked back to the girl, the lights followed me back to where we met. I asked her if she was seeing the same, she agreed (at least I was not going mad!) We stood and watched for several minutes, the lights stayed in the same place, continually pulsating. (The girls dog seemed upset and was nervous). No noise was heard but there was a thin layer of cloud around the object as it pulsated from the left, to the middle then right and back again, the cloud still surrounded it.

We decided to walk on, as this was getting a bit scary, the object, still pulsating, followed us and moved directly above us. If we stopped, it stopped, if we moved, it moved.

We then hurried to the top of the road, which is a culdesac. As we walked up the road, the object followed us and moved directly above us so that we were beneath it. The girl hurried up her steps to her house, I continued on to mine.

The lights had then moved to hover over the houses on the opposite side of the road. I decided to walk past my house to see if they followed me...they did! I quickly ran back and up my house steps. I watched as the lights now directly opposite were still there pulsating. I ran in the house and watched from the window.

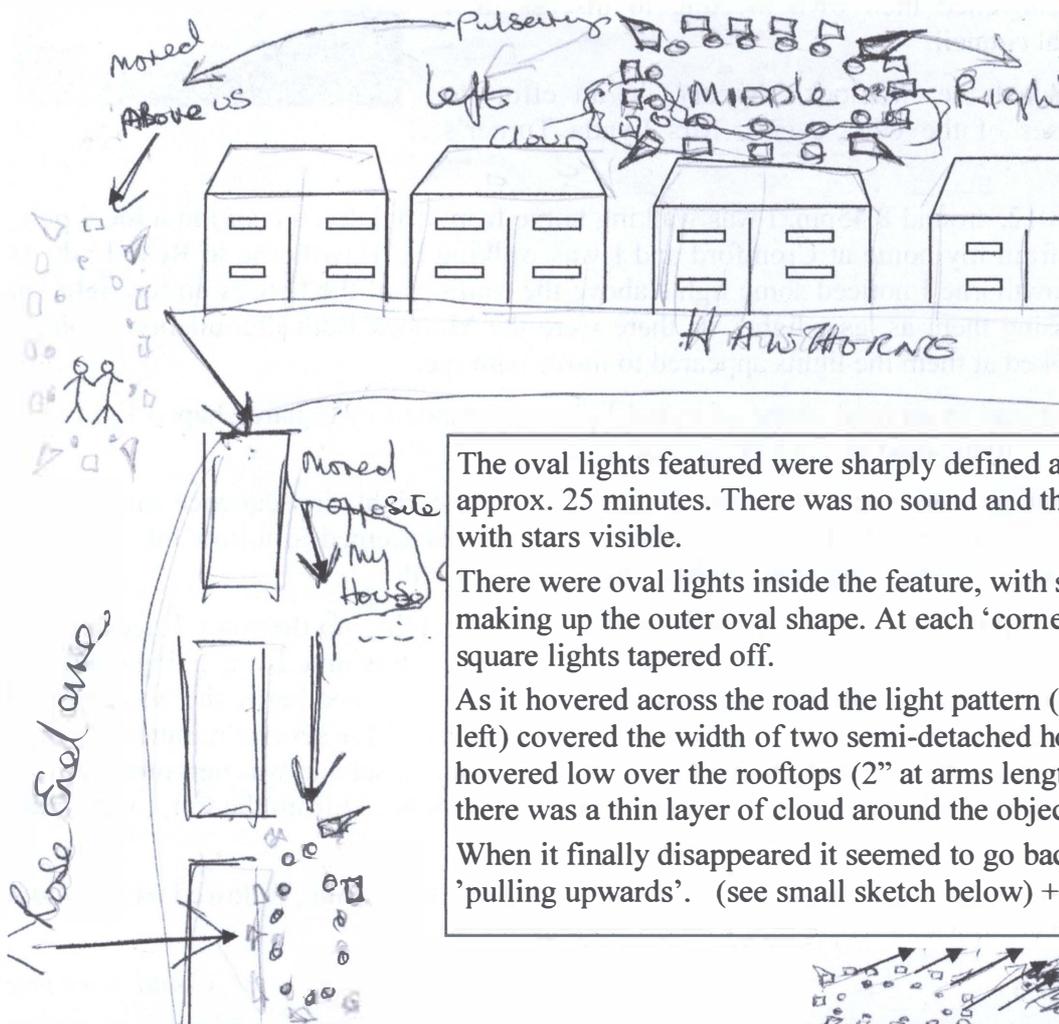

The lights, still pulsating seemed to be moving away, they seemed to be pulling upwards into the sky. All the time I saw the lights the thin layer of cloud was around 'it'. After 3/4 minutes the lights just pulled upwards into the sky and disappeared.

I have since done some investigating into the Matlock Bath illuminations. I spoke to the Council who organise the illuminations, I was told they have no lights like the ones I described! They do have lazer lights, but this is only 4 -5 lights that go straight up into the sky and they don't pulsate. I spoke to someone who saw the lazer lights of Matlock Bath that night and they said that there were 4-5 lights going straight up. The other place that could have had a display was 'Gullivers Kingdom', but they had no special events that night and they close at 5.30pm.

I have since spoken to 4-5 people who saw what I and the girl saw. One remembered the 'cloud', all remembered the oval shape. I have since spoken to the girl who was with me and she said that several people in the area had seen the lights (including her brother, who she told as soon as she got indoors and he watched them with her).

The girl and her brother confirmed the lights were seen opposite my house, halfway down the road. Also other people who have seen the lights, held a meeting regarding it. I have asked if she can let me know who they are, apparently it was put on 'facebook'.

I tried to photo it with my camera, but it did not come out. I have drawn the object/lights below.

The oval lights featured were sharply defined and observed for approx. 25 minutes. There was no sound and the sky was clear with stars visible.

There were oval lights inside the feature, with square lights making up the outer oval shape. At each 'corner' of the oval, the square lights tapered off.

As it hovered across the road the light pattern (pulsating right to left) covered the width of two semi-detached houses. The object hovered low over the rooftops (2" at arms length) and at all times there was a thin layer of cloud around the object.

When it finally disappeared it seemed to go back within the cloud 'pulling upwards'. (see small sketch below) + p14 'Tale Enders'.

THE SIX 'O' CLOCK NEWS

Sunday 30th September 11am - 10pm at YMCA Derby

AN EVENT SELL-OUT AT THE DERBY YMCA

Congratulations are in order for the organisers of this presentation by a number of prominent speakers on a variety of subjects. The PRA were well represented in the audience and the large room was full to overflowing in anticipation of a day of interesting revelations and discussion....the audience were not to be disappointed!

The list of speakers: Neil Sanders (Media Manipulation of Perception).

Andrew Johnson (Information control:911,Energy & Sequestered Technologies)

Richard D Hall (Media, Mind Control/UFO's and Animal Abduction)

Lloyd Pye (The 'Starchild Skull'- The New Evidence)

Neil Saunders,BA, MA and a qualified Hypnotherapist, has spent many years reading about and researching the subject of government mind control projects. Neil discussed how the media shape perceptions and use propaganda. He warned how mainstream media stories should be viewed with great caution when covering certain topics and stories. He gave several examples and spoke extensively about his research into this subject.

Andrew Johnson, has a background in Software Engineering, tutoring and education is known to many Derby PRA members who have listened to him intently at our past meetings. Andrew disclosed the 'cover up' involving information on 'free energy' and that we need only look around to see the great advances that have been made in many areas of technology. Yet in the matter of ground transportation, we are 'stuck' with the few advances made in the internal combustion engine. Meanwhile, a look at the current evidence tells us that we can exploit Radiant Energy, Cold Fusion and other forms of 'vacuum energy'.

Andrew went on to discuss the possibility that modern technology had been responsible for a weapon-one that had been used on the buildings during the 911 disaster.

Details of this weapon had been discovered by Dr. Judy Wood during her careful research into energy weapons, but this information had been 'covered up', even by many 'alternative knowledge' researchers.

Richard D Hall—The media mogul, has a weekly show 'Richplanet TV' on the showcase channel (201) and this has gained wide popularity with audiences that are seeking the answer to many questions ignored by the mainstream media.

Richard's series of programmes cover a series of subjects covered in his presentation at the conference and included UFO Disclosure, cases involved in Alien Abduction. The types of Aliens observed by abductees, the chilling cases of animal mutilations, cases of the mysterious glowing orbs and black flying triangle craft. He has recently been covering the 'Lincolnshire Triangle' area which has had numerous sighting reports of the 'Flying Triangle' craft. All of these subjects appear to have been of little interest to our politicians and he is convinced of a government security clamp down on this information on these subjects.

Richard has produced a whole series of DVD's on the latter subjects and these were on sale at the YMCA venue. The PRA added to their collection with one of the latest products 'The Lincolnshire Triangle', UFO's and animal abductions. This will be the subject of a PRA meeting (held at the Royal British Legion, Allenton, Derby.) in the near future

Lloyd Pye - Starchild Skull-The New Evidence.

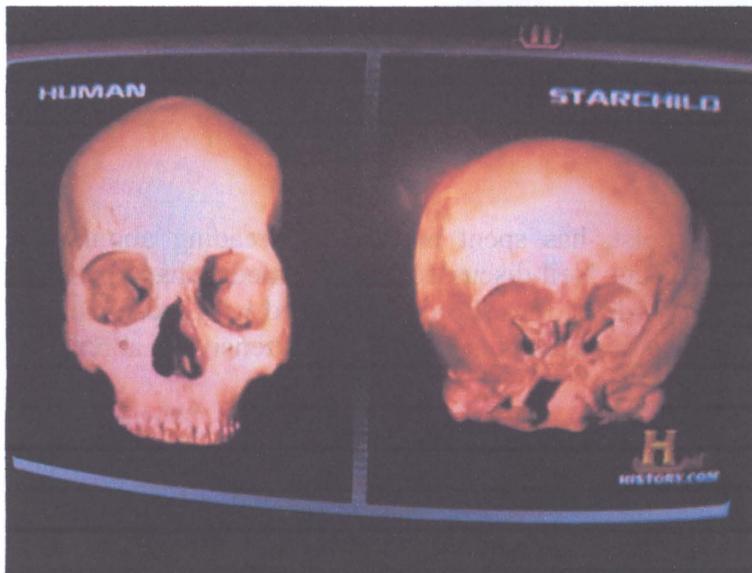

Lloyd who has worked as a Hollywood Screen Writer, author and lecturer is a long time researcher into Hominids and Hominoids.

For over a decade Lloyd has been investigating the 'Starchild Skull' that was originally found together with skelton parts in a cave in Mexico in 1930. The 'Starchild Skull' and partial skeleton was found alongside what was identified as a human skull and skeleton, believed to be 900 years old..

Lloyd Pye had identified that there are 25 major differences between the 'Starchild' and a human skull and these range from the 15% more brain capacity in the 'Starchild Skull' than the human skull, the structure of the bone (the 'Starchild' has fibres in the bone composition) and it has no sinuses.

One of the most astounding recent discoveries is the fact that the skull discovered with the 'Starchild' was found to have human DNA from the mother and the father.

In the case of the 'Starchild' DNA, although the mother of the 'Starchild' has been identified as human, the father's DNA is at present unidentified as being of human origin!

Human skull (left) and the 'Starchild' skull comparison

Reconstructed features of the 'Starchild' face developed by a movie technician. The eye sockets differ to a human, the skull shape also differs and the neck has a different connection to the skull.

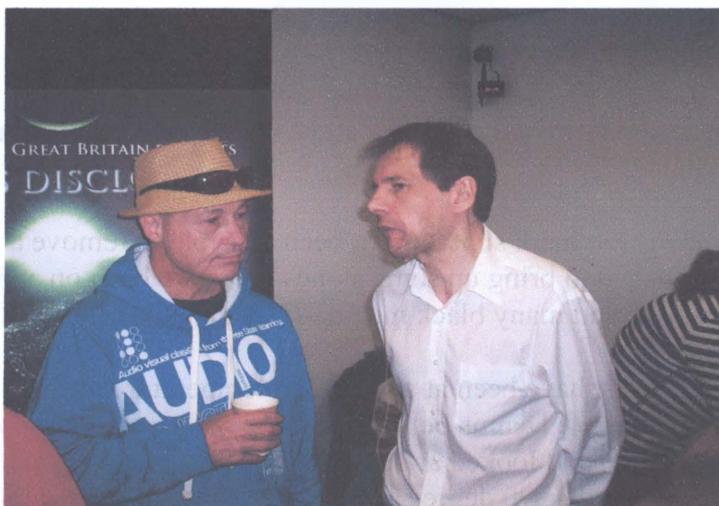

The speculation is that the 'Starchild' is a hybrid, part human and part alien from an unknown source!

Lloyd Pye left us all with the outstanding question-why have the 'scientific establishment' chosen to ignore the fact of the available evidence. It appears at this stage that he is alone in researching the explosive nature of the 'Starchild Skull' discovery!

MYSTERIOUS BALTIC SEA OBJECT ANALYZED

(Ocean X Team)

Object Appears "Purposefully Designed"

Published by NTDTV
September 23, 2012

Swedish seafaring treasure hunters Ocean X Team made headlines last year with the accidental discovery of a mysterious circular object at the bottom of the Baltic Sea.

Now, thanks to a third exploration and a laboratory analysis of stones on and around the main object, they're a step closer to lifting the veil of mystery.

The stones that lay on the object turned out to be red granite, dating to the Ice Age.

Ocean X Team member Dennis Asberg theorizes that when the ice melted, the stones landed on the object, which could mean the stones have been there for over 140,000 years.

Recent examination of the object has revealed that the object is not anchored to the ground and that it has a hole about two meters in diameter.

Dennis Asberg, Ocean X Team:

"We have discovered that the object is separated from the ocean floor it's laying on a ridge, we've investigated the object with the ROV robot and looked at the object from below. One can see that the bottom and the object is separated."

The material of the main object is too hard, so it has not been possible to remove a sample from it yet, says Dennis. But they have managed to bring up some stones that have been on and around the anomaly for analysis. The team have also found many black magma-like stones at the site.

Dennis theorizes that the object must have been at a very high temperature at some point. This caused stones in its vicinity to become charred. Dennis believes that the object was purposefully designed, saying "As I see it, when we've been and looked at it, it looks really strange to me, it looks like something is designed, in that we have these angles, 90 degree angles, the aisles of the object."

International interest in the object has grown alongside the media attention. Ocean X Team is now followed by thousands of fans on the Internet who want to know what the mysterious object is.

Dennis hopes that their next expedition will be in spring when the frigid Nordic weather has improved.

Photographer captures jaw-dropping meteor streak across Scottish loch (13 October 2012)

Thomas Heaton grabbed his camera in time when the magnificent sight trailed through the sky over a Scottish loch.

When the meteor appeared over the UK on Friday 21 September, Thomas was in the right place at the right time and chose Galloway Forest, the darkest area of Britain and the UK's first Dark Sky Park.

Speaking to Rex Features, Thomas, from Whitley Bay, explained: 'I was one of a handful who managed to photograph this dazzling astronomic light show and it just so happened that I was placed in the UK's number one dark spot.'

'It was 10.54pm and me and my missus were star gazing at Galloway Forest Park when the largest meteor I could ever imagine seeing flew straight above our head.'

He added: 'My first thought was a plane crash, as it lit up the whole area. I quickly realised it was a comet and grabbed my camera to take a quick snap.'

People across northern England, Scotland and Northern Ireland took to social media sites to report the bright objects moving across the sky.

Jason Townsend wrote on Facebook: 'I saw it at 10:55 this evening going over Cumbria. It was amazing, bright, looked like a bunch of stars shooting through the sky. Couldn't get me phone out quick enough to get a pic.'

Graham Telford, from Leeds, wrote: 'To be honest, at first I thought it was a couple of planes too close together, but they were all on identical lines across sky.'

The Kielder Observatory in Kielder Forest, Northumberland commented on Twitter: 'Of 30 years observing the sky, fireball best thing I have ever seen period.'

ED: Yes an amazing photograph and what a piece of luck, being in the right place at the right time!

MYSTERY HOVERING AIRSHIP BAFFLES SPECTATORS

Was the cigar-shaped 'UFO' actually a giant toy? Glowing object witnessed by thousands across three states may have been a solar-powered airship

By James Nye (Daily Mail Online)

PUBLISHED: 17:00, 26 October 2012 | UPDATED: 04:42, 27 October 2012

The glowing object which left thousands of people across the U.S. wondering if they had just seen a UFO may have simply been a giant toy which costs just $25.

Amateur astronomer Allen Epling took hours-long footage and videos of the mystery, glowing object from his Virgie, Kentucky, home for over two hours last week.

Now it has emerged that the cigar-shaped craft which was viewed across three states may have been nothing more than a solar-powered airship.

The airship, which is marketed as a 'toy for all the family', is eight meters in length and flies solely by the power of the sun. (See below)

Is it a bird, is it a plane? The airship, which is marketed as a 'toy for all the family', is eight meters in length and flies solely by the power of the sun

However, this photograph bears little resemblance to the coloured photo at the top of the page. The source of a mystery continues, as part-time star-gazer Epling estimated the UFO to be operating at over 100,000 feet - over twice the height a commercial jet flies.

The object was witnessed across Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee.

Undercover US agents brought down our new Superjet: Russia's extraordinary claim about crash which killed 45

(From 'Mail Online' Friday, Oct 26 2012)

State's GRU military intelligence source says Russians are investigating theory crash was 'industrial sabotage'. The Aircraft was on a demonstration flight aimed at securing lucrative orders when it slammed into a mountain killing all 45 passengers and crew

Russian intelligence official claims US have 'special technology' capable of jamming signals from the ground or causing systems to malfunction

By Will Stewart In Moscow

PUBLISHED: 17:02, 24 May 2012 | UPDATED: 17:11, 24 May 2012

Spy sources in Moscow today made the astonishing claim that a US undercover operation may have sabotaged a new Russian Superjet plane that crashed in Indonesia two weeks ago.

The aircraft was on a demonstration flight aimed at securing lucrative orders when it slammed into a mountain killing all 45 passengers and crew.

'We are investigating the theory that it was industrial sabotage,' a GRU military intelligence source said. A headline to a story in Russia's biggest newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda today read: 'Are the Americans implicated in the Superjet crash?' 'We know that they have special technology - that we also have - to jam signals from the ground or cause parameter readings to malfunction,' said the unnamed intelligence official, highlighting a US military presence at Jakarta Airport from where the plane took off on May 9.

(OVNI Editor) - Why The PRA Interest In This Aircraft Crash?

We reported this crash in the July/August issue of the OVNI and referred to the fact that 'Lee' the son of 'Patricia' (PRA member and psychic) had telephoned his mother at 7.50am on Saturday 5th May and related an OOB (Out Of Body) experience he had the previous night (4th May).

Lee had a bad dream experience and had been able to see inside the Russian plane. He knew that it was somewhere over Indonesia and about to crash. He did not know where or when this crash happened (the crash occurred 5 days later!). Lee also 'saw' what had happened in the aircraft and the panic that the passengers briefly experienced. He also gave your editor other details concerning the aircraft and its mission to Indonesia...The above report from Moscow adds another piece to the puzzle surrounding this aircraft and fits in with Lee's previous revelations.

LEONARD H. STRINGFIELD'S REPORTS GO PUBLIC

(From Filers Files #33 2012)

MUFON Executive Director David MacDonald made a tremendously important announcement at MUFONs Annual Symposium.

This is a "blockbuster announcement concerning UFO discoveries." Stringfield (1920-1994) was an American Ufologist who worked with government and private agencies to track UFO reports and had a special interest in reports of crashed objects. Stringfield was the most knowledgeable researcher I ever had the pleasure of meeting at his home. We talked on the phone frequently. Dave announced that sixty volumes of "meticulous UFO research over 30 years" by the late Ufologist Leonard H. Stringfield were donated to the MUFON and will be available to researchers. Leonard had numerous contacts at Wright Patterson Air Force Base and other important facilities and obtained invaluable data not available to 99.999 per cent of the military or intelligence agencies.

Photo of Leonard Stringfield (1920-1994) and your (MUFON) editor. He was an American Ufologist who took particular interest in crashed flying saucer stories. His contacts in the medical field gave him the first descriptions of the alien bodies allegedly recovered at Roswell or elsewhere. [\[1\]](#)

Stringfield's interest in the subject began August 28, 1945, just three days before the end of the war, when he was an Army Air Force intelligence officer en route to Tokyo, Japan, along with twelve other specialists in the Fifth Air Force. As they approached Iwo Jima at about ten thousand feet in a sunlit sky, Stringfield related:

"I was shocked to see three teardrop-shaped objects from my starboard-side window. They were brilliantly white, like burning magnesium, and closing in on a parallel course to our C-46. Suddenly our left engine feathered, and I was later to learn that the magnetic navigation-instrument needles went wild. As the C-46 lost altitude, with oil spurting from the troubled engine, the pilot sounded an alert; crew and passengers were told to prepare for a ditch! My last glimpse of the three bogies was above the transport flying in tight formation as they faded into a cloud bank. Instantly our craft's engine revved up, and we picked up altitude and flew a steady course to land safely at Iwo Jima."

In 1950, two very sincere people related flying saucer sightings to him. Stringfield then wrote:

Uneasy about the "rumored loss of Air Force interceptors chasing UFOs, the low-level green fireballs over Sweden and the Southwestern United States" and his own experience, Stringfield related he was concerned about the "intent" behind the probes.

In March 1954, he created Civilian Research, Interplanetary Flying Objects (CRIFO), and published a monthly newsletter, ORBIT. Stringfield was a guest of radio newscaster Frank Edwards and was deluged with newspapers, and radio stations wanting saucer news. Stringfield soon had 2500 paid subscribers to ORBIT. During the mid-1950s, CRIFO became the world's largest civilian UFO research group.

OVNI Editor: For many years, we had the privilege of exchanging UFO information with Leonard H. Stringfield. During this period he sent us copies of several booklets/status reports, revealing a wealth of information on abductions and crashed Alien craft.

UFO/CRASH RETRIEVALS: THE INNER SANCTUM, Status Report VI July 1991 and UFO/CRASH RETRIEVALS: AMASSING THE EVIDENCE, Status Report III June 1982.

He was also the author of 'SITUATION RED: An update on Strange and Frequently Frightening Encounters.

An example of the quality of his work can be seen on the following page.

This bone structure is based on the dimensions of an enlarged drawing in report #2 but with fingers spread to compare with drawing of human bones. (Also I reversed it to the right hand for same reference as human drawing).

I'm guessing here, but would need to be something like this to bend like we discussed [Sec. A-].

On human this is straight.

To flesh this out, take overlay and place it over the area you want to look at.

Upper left (1) is a sketch of the hand I drew for the critical view of a former C.I.A. employee in 1978, who claimed to have seen deceased aliens during a recovery in New Mexico, 1962. He advised only that I remove a small protruding nub which I depicted indicating a vestigial thumb.

Two renditions by artist Al Reed showing hand structure; hoping for further guidelines by my medical source who allegedly performed an autopsy on an alien body in early 1950's. Thinking the Unthinkable

The above named image of Europa (140 x 130 Km, resolution 180m) obtained from the Galileo spacecraft is the most extraordinary ever received from space - and may also be the most important.

It shows a landscape (or icescape) covered with ridges and what look like intersecting super-highways, some extending for 100 Km or more, although many are broken by obvious shearing movement of the underlying terrain. Puzzling though these are, they do not suggest intelligent planning - indeed, rather the opposite!

But there is one conspicuous exception, which I pointed out to JPL's Dr Doyle earlier this month. About an eighth of the way down from the top of the image, a very narrow line runs completely across the frame. It is of uniform thickness and perfectly straight, except for two slight deviations apparently associated with major changes of level. Any unbiased observer, not knowing the origin of this image, would have no hesitation in proclaiming the line to be artificial. However, one thing rather puzzles me - it seems a remarkable coincidence that it is so nearly parallel to the top edge of the image. Could it, in fact, be an artefact of the software - or perhaps of the Galileo scan platform?

In any case, it is imperative to examine the two adjacent frames to see if the line also proceeds across them - and if so, to determine its total length.

I urgently appeal for further investigation - if the result is what I hope it may be, NASA's budget worries will be over!

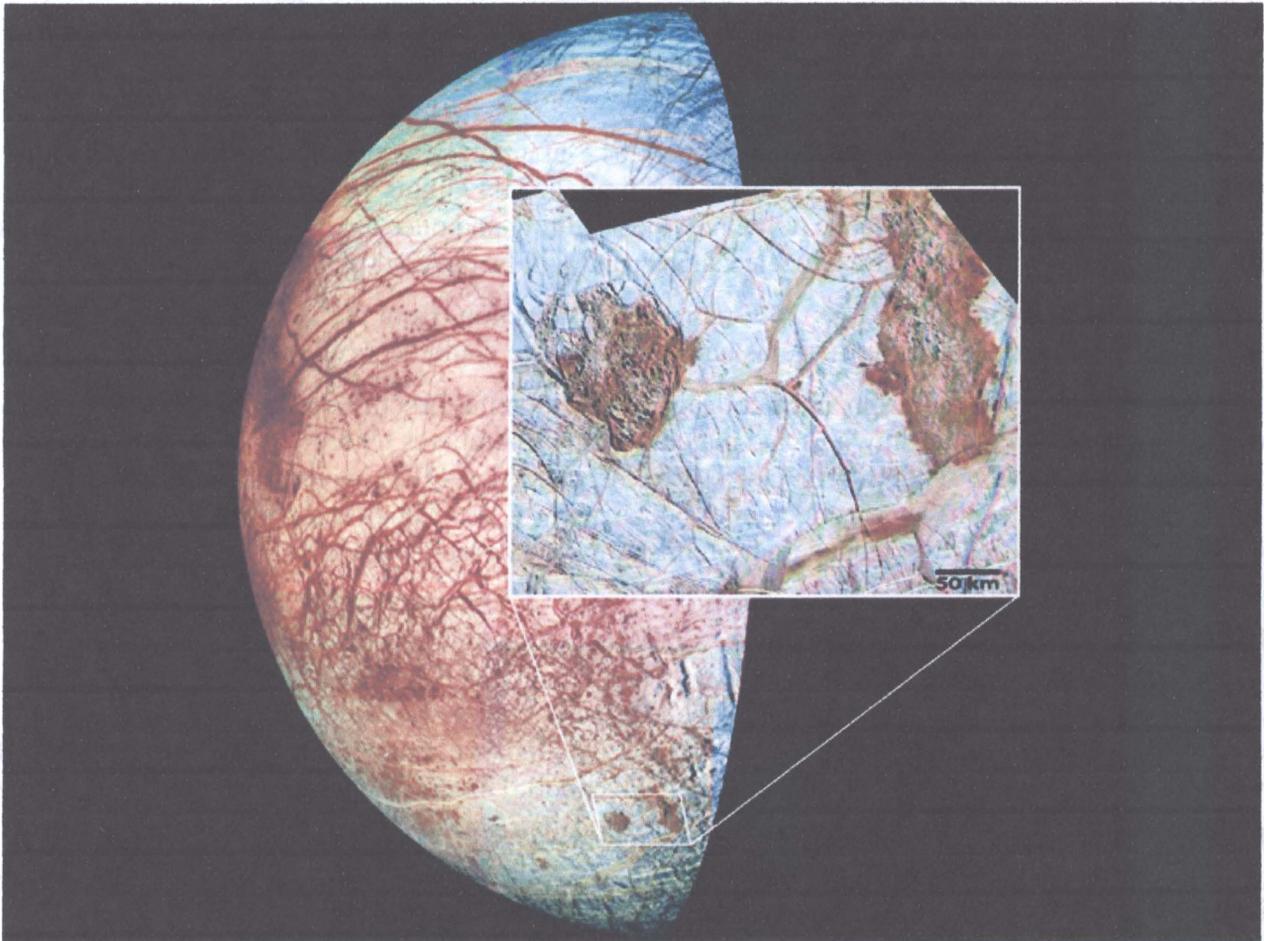

All good wishes,

atc

Although we have been unable to trace the precise photographic images referred to in the above letter, an example of the strange features of Europa, captured during the Galileo mission are shown on the following page. The early photographs obviously fascinated Arthur C Clarke, CBE.

SOLAR SYSTEM EXPLORATION

From The Galileo Exploration Gallery (NASA)

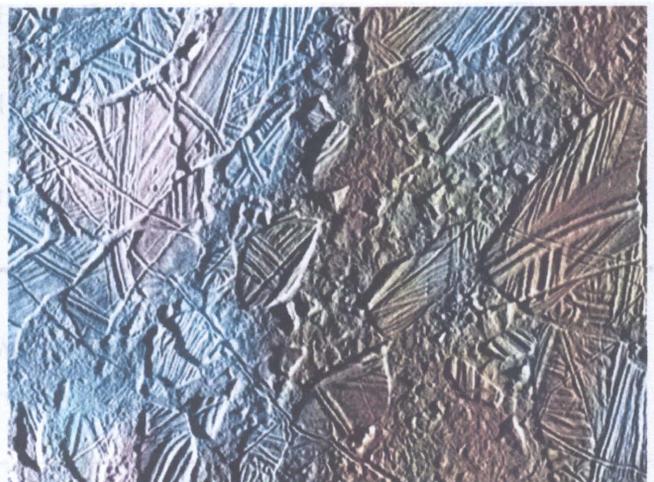

Europa and the Thrace Region

This image of Europa and an enlargement of the Thrace region gives visual evidence of the dramatic advance in our knowledge of Jupiter's second Galilean satellite due to the Galileo mission.

Prior to the Galileo mission, scientists' knowledge of Europa was simply a small ice-covered moon with an exceptionally bright surface covered by faint curved and linear markings. Now, scientists see evidence of a young and thin, cracked and ruptured ice shell, probably moving slowly over the surface of a briny ocean that is 100 kilometers (62 miles) or more deep. Europa has become recognized as a potential habitat for extraterrestrial life and is now an important target for future solar system exploration. This image was produced at Arizona State University.

The Conamara Chaos The following image is a view of a small region of the thin, disrupted ice crust in the Conamara region of Jupiter's moon Europa showing the interplay of surface colors with ice structures. The white and blue colors outline areas that have been blanketed by a fine dust of ice particles ejected at the time of formation of the large, 26 kilometer (16 mile) in diameter crater Pwyll some 1000 kilometers (621 miles) to the south. The unblanketed surface has a reddish brown color that has been painted by mineral contaminants carried and spread by water vapor released from below the crust when it was disrupted. The original color of the icy surface was probably a deep blue color seen in large areas elsewhere on the moon. This covers an area approximately 70 by 30 Km.

TALE ENDERS

NOTTINGHAM-- V shaped dim lights were moving west in night sky on August 18, 2012, just below Big Dipper, The lights faded out as they turned east. The lights were dim white and did not resemble aircraft. They looked like geese flying in formation but in complete darkness. I have never seen anything like this and I am not a believer in UFOs. Thanks to Peter Davenport, Director National UFO Reporting Center <http://www.UFOcenter.com>

BONSALL UFO RETURNS! On the 13th October 2012, at around 8.40pm, Lynda Turner witnessed the return of the 'LITS' (as reported on page 1). This time the UFO lights were visible further away in the sky. The lights were a similar shape to the previous sighting and once again showing a bank of cloud around the LITS. (Further details are expected shortly and will be covered in the next OVNI).

The above event coincided with a large CME (corona mass ejection) from the Sun, hitting our planet and causing a 'geomagnetic storm'. It seems unlikely that there could be a connection?

SWEDISH VISITORS: Clas Svahn and a colleague arrived on the 21st of September for a brief visit, to collect further UFO records, drawings and material for their Archives UFO Research Organisation in Sweden. (RIKSORGANISATIONEN UFO—SVERIGE) They left DVD copies of reel to reel tapes that had previously collected. Their collection of books, reports, recordings and photographs grows by the day and they have recently extended their premises and now employ ten full time staff to analyse and process their material.

DERBYSHIRE --Unable to put in to words as we've never seen anything like this before in the sky. The best way to describe it would be it was a long wiggly object on September 21, 2012, at 10:58 PM, completely covered in white lights. It was the length of about 3-4 aeroplanes from where we observed it, no sound but we'd normally hear a plane at that distance, did not travel in a straight line and we viewed it for about 15 seconds. Thanks to Peter Davenport, Director National UFO Reporting Center

ALFRETON (Derbys.) -- I was watching tv on September 21, 2012, at 10:55 PM, and saw a very bright flash of light out of window that I thought helicopter but very bright and huge with flames falling off it. The object was very large and flew right to left and stayed in view for a fair time with flames continuing to fall off. Then it went over our house so lost sight. It was quite high, and I thought it could be plane on fire? It made no noise and was not going as fast as a plane. Im-not sure what it was, but it was big with a main fireball with flames coming off it with big fireball sparks dropping downwards. It looked like a flaming comet? Peter Davenport, National UFO Reporting Center.

ED: It seems likely that there was a more than usual number of meteors or space debris burning up on that particular night (September 21). The report of the light not travelling in a straight line and with sparks dropping downwards could indicate a large piece of space debris burning up there's plenty up there!

NEXT PRA MEETING

The meeting will take place at the Royal British Legion, Allenton, Derby (DE24 9AF) at 8pm on Tuesday 27th November.

There will be a Richard D. Hall DVD presentation
