EARTH MISSES DISASTER—BY JUST 2.1 MILLION MILES !

(By Heather Saul The i paper Weds 19th February 14)

An asteroid about the size of three football pitches has hurtled past Earth a year after one exploded over Russia, injuring 1,200 people.

(The Russian Asteroid)

The Slooh Space Camera followed its approach via a live video stream on Monday evening (17th Feb.) as it raced past the Earth at 27,000 mph.

Slooh's flagship observatory on Mount Teide in the Canary Islands was iced over and unable to record live images of the asteroid, Paul Cox, Slooh's technical and research director, said on the one-hour web-cast, but pictures were received from a Dubai observatory.

The 270 metre asteroid known as 2000 EM26, missed Earth by about 2.1 million miles.

On 15 February last year, another asteroid exploded over Chelyabinsk, 900 miles east of Moscow.

More than 1,200 people were injured following a massive shock wave that shattered windows and damaged buildings.

The ten-ton meteor entered the Earth's atmosphere at 33,000 mph and ripped across the sky above the Ural Mountains. (End of report)

News about the Asteroid Redirection Mission 'ARM' (NASA)

Tracking the asteroids or Near-Earth Objects (NEO's) has been a significant endeavour for NASA and the astronomical community. So far 10731 known Near-Earth Objects have been discovered.

NASA is in the process of developing an Asteroid Redirection Mission (ARM). ARM will be the first ever mission to identify, capture and re-direct an asteroid.

ARM plans to use the new ORION Spacecraft and Space Launch System Rocket and high-power solar electric propulsion to capture an asteroid in the near future.

In developing ARM, NASA is developing two concepts to robotically capture and redirect an asteroid mass into a stable orbit around the Moon.

In the first concept NASA will capture and redirect an entire asteroid. In the other concept NASA will retrieve a large boulder-like mass from a larger asteroid and return it to the lunar orbit.

In both cases, astronauts aboard an Orion spacecraft will then study the redirected asteroid mass in the vicinity of the Moon and bring back samples.

NASA discovered a new potentially hazardous asteroid named 2013 YP139 on the 29th December 2013. This was confirmed by NASA on the 15th January 2014.

It was first discovered by NASA's Near-Earth Object Wide Field Infrared Survey Explorer (NEOWISE). The researchers at the University of Arizona used the Spacewatch telescope at the Kitt Peak National Observatory southwest of Tucson to confirm the discovery.

The 2013 YP139 is about 43 million kilometres from Earth. On the basis of infrared brightness it is found to be 650 metres in diameter and extremely dark, like a piece of coal. NEOWISE's sophisticated software picked up the moving object from a background of stationary stars.

The asteroid circles the sun in an elliptical orbit tilted to the plane of the solar system. It is possible for its orbit to bring it as close as 482803 km from Earth. A little more than the distance to the Moon, but it will not come that close within the next century.

In 2010 and early 2011 WISE discovered more than 34,000 asteroids and characterised 258,000 throughout the solar system. Its reactivation in 2013 followed 31 months in hibernation.

ED: There appear to be an increasing number of reports worldwide referring to falling glowing objects from the sky. On page 4 we have shown several photographs and details of a glowing triangular shaped object/craft (?) captured by the PRA SKYCAMERA over Derby on 5th March 2014 at 0159Hrs

Mystery fireball caught falling to Earth in the skies over Vermont (USA)

By Ashley Collman PUBLISHED: 21:34, 13 February 2014 MAIL Online

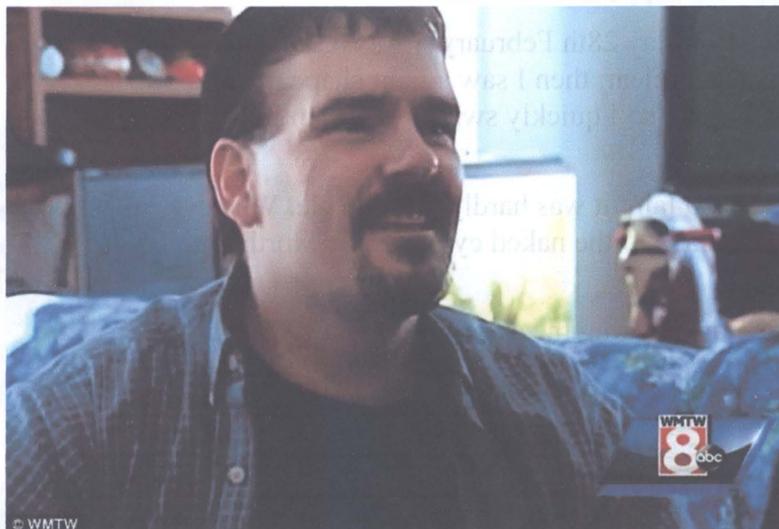

A man in South Paris, Maine captured a rare sight on his camera-phone this weekend. While driving down Route 26 Saturday evening, Bruce York saw a bright flame out of the corner of his eye he says looked like a fireball. He took out his phone and started recording the phenomenon, capturing about two and a half minutes of footage.

Bruce York saw the mysterious object Saturday evening, while driving near South Paris, Maine

He immediately posted the video to YouTube and Facebook in hopes of getting an answer about the mysterious falling flame. 'It didn't look like anything that I've ever seen before,' Mr York told WMTW. 'It didn't look like any footage I've ever seen of a meteorite or a comet.'

It just struck me as odd.' As of Thursday the video on YouTube had garnered nearly 23,000 views, and several people on the internet have stepped up to identify the enigma.

Bruce York saw the mysterious object Saturday evening (8th February 2014)

'I really don't dare to wager one way or another what it is. I really don't,' Mr York said. 'I'm just, hoping somebody will contact me and say "OK, Here's what happened. Here's what he caught on video.'"

The most confident answer came from Edward Gleason, a staff astronomer at Southworth Planetarium at the University of Southern Maine. Gleason says that while it could be a meteor, the fireball is most likely 'space junk' or pieces of a satellite breaking up and falling to earth.

PRA 'SKYCAMERA' CAPTURES GLOWING 'FT' OVER DERBY 5th MARCH 01.59 HRS.

With clearing skies arriving at last after weeks of rain, the PRA Skycamera has been in operation again. Apart from the odd meteorite we have obtained an impressive video clip showing a glowing triangular object passing over the city.

The sequence of video clips are shown on the right, as the object, that appeared to be a glowing 'Triangle', passed over the city of Derby.

The object was not falling as such, but appeared to be changing course and speed as it passed over the city. It left no 'trail' (as can be seen in the initial pages of the OVNI) which is a good indicator that it was not falling space/satellite debris or a celestial body such as a meteorite entering the Earth's atmosphere.

The PRA 'Skycamera' is a very high gain starlight camera, of approx. 0.0005 lux.

An incident occurred recently that is worthy of a mention and the camera operator 'Paul' recounts what happened.

"The time was 22.16Hrs on Friday 28th February. I was just setting up the Skycam for the night, as it was clear, then I saw a faint shape moving south. It did not trip the system, so I quickly switched to manual record and just caught it."

"It was a definite UFO, but so faint it was hardly discernable. Whatever it was would not have been visible to the naked eye. But it is worth logging anyway."

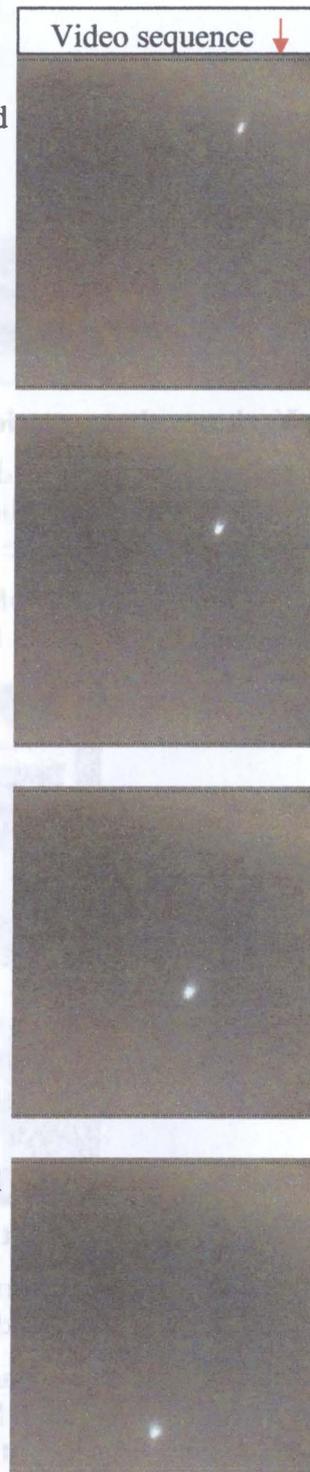

We use live 'flight radar' for checking the skycam recordings of unusual lights and probable aircraft

The time and position of an aircraft in the area can be confirmed and is usually within 1 second GMT = UTC.

We also use an external microphone to monitor ambient and environmental noise. This has proved useful in detecting passing ducks and geese at night, as they tend to be noisy. The microphone is incredibly sensitive and has even picked up the Rolls-Royce test beds on occasion.

A new cctv box has just been ordered to improve the Skycam system and should be operational at the end of May.

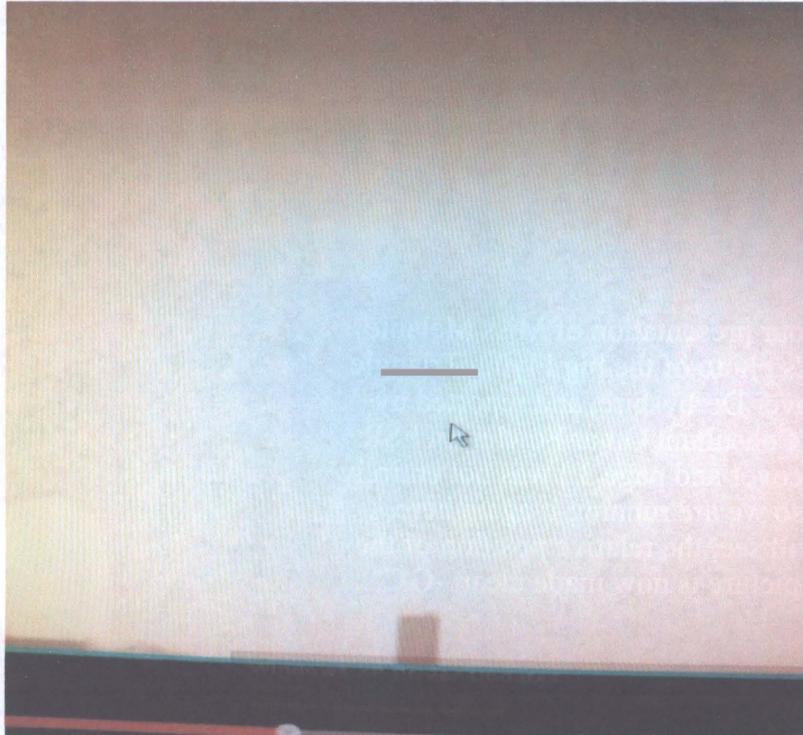

We will look forward to catching a few more mysterious craft and UFO's!

EDITORS NOTE: We have no means of substantiating this report, but the video sequence looks genuine and not manufactured. The details of the report also match the findings of Garry McKinnon who during his intrusion into USA secret files, discovered the likelihood of 'spaceships' and the names of 'Non-Terrestrial Officers' listed as crew members in a number of unidentified craft.

Ukraine UFO Top Secret US Military 'Sky Dreadnought'

'Before It's News' By Susan Duclos : Sunday 9th March 2014

(An enhanced 'still' from the video sequence taken 6th March)

Yesterday I wrote the MSM was reporting on a cigar UFO over Ukraine, the report was shown on MSN Video, but today we learn from TRN (Turner Radio Network) that it is no longer a "unidentified" flying object as they have just identified it as a secret US military asset named the "Sky Dreadnought," which does amazing things, is undetectable with radar, and has massively advanced weapons systems.

The Sky Dreadnought is the most advanced military weapons system in the history of human existence. Nothing on the face of the earth can even come close to comparing.

The ship, a long, cigar-shaped craft, is almost 3,000 feet long, about the length of three aircraft carriers. It flies by virtue of a gravity-manipulation system, allowing it to operate at any altitude - even into space— and return, without the need of jet engines, propellers, massive fuel tanks or rocket engines.

All this is achieved by the manipulation of Earth's gravity, which for all intents and purposed, affords unlimited motion possibilities. Since the craft manipulates gravity, there are ZERO gravitational effects upon the crew or systems inside the craft. Instead of the craft moving in spite of gravity, gravity itself moves "with" the craft.

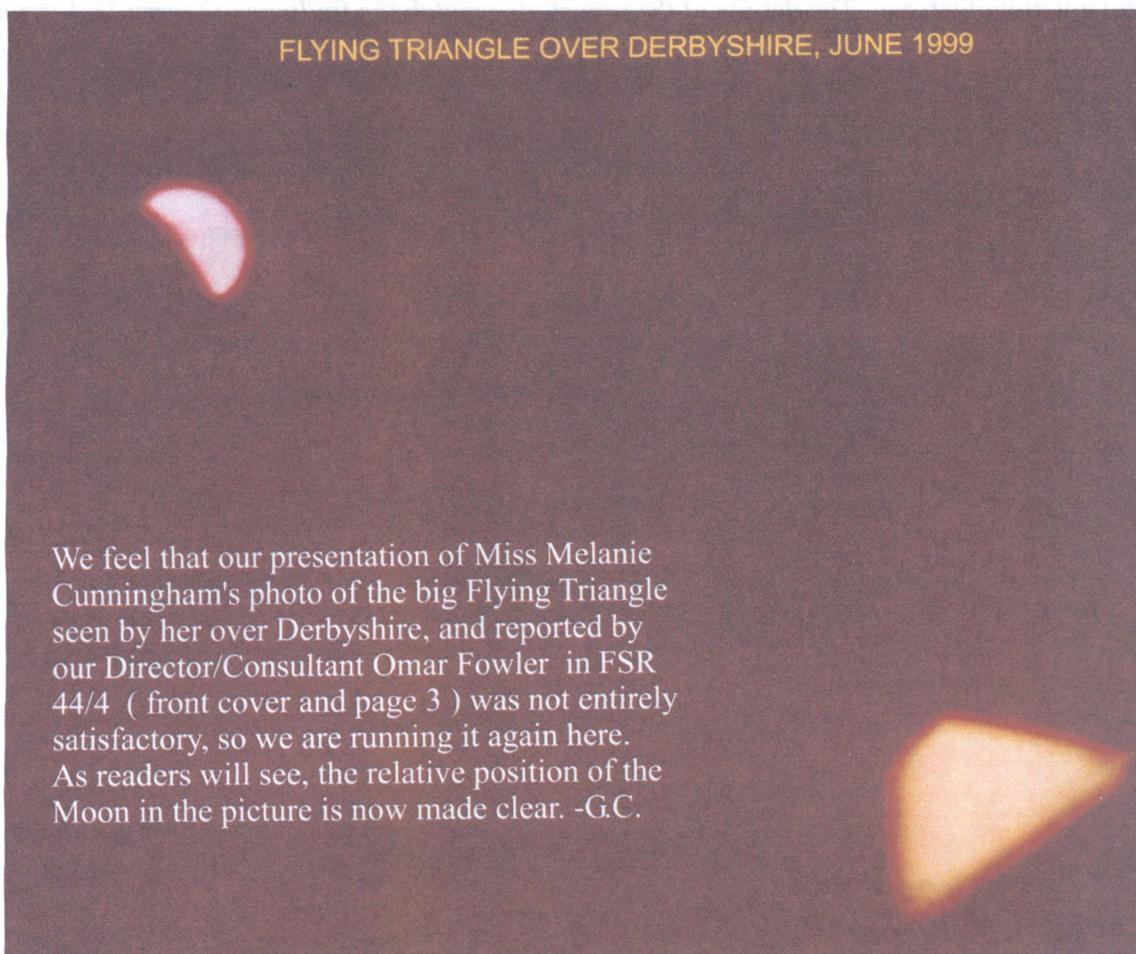

While its speed remains classified, TRN can report the 'Sky Dreadnought' can easily travel in excess of 10,000 mph inside the Earth's atmosphere or stop and hover—all of it silently. Not only can it achieve these amazing speeds, it can do so instantaneously, making the craft totally untouchable by any system on earth.

MELANIE CUNNINGHAM'S ENCOUNTERS

FLYING TRIANGLE OVER DERBYSHIRE, JUNE 1999

We feel that our presentation of Miss Melanie Cunningham's photo of the big Flying Triangle seen by her over Derbyshire, and reported by our Director/Consultant Omar Fowler in FSR 44/4 (front cover and page 3) was not entirely satisfactory, so we are running it again here. As readers will see, the relative position of the Moon in the picture is now made clear. -G.C.

Melanie Cunningham has been a PRA members for many years and has had numerous psychic and UFO experiences, one of the most famous was the photo (above) taken on an 8mm movie camera.

Melanie had stated that she had seen 'Flying Triangles' numerous times, passing overhead near Belper. The PRA loaned her a loaded 8mm movie camera to capture one of the 'FT's'and she did just that!

Melanie has kept in touch with the PRA as she has moved around the UK and she has recently sent us her recollections of an incident that occurred in Belper (Derbyshire) sometime between 1995-2001.

"I was living in an old house which had its staircase behind a closed door, the front door overlooked a busy road. A short path (without a gate) led from the pavement to the front door."

"One day, around mid-evening, after dark, I was upstairs in the spare bedroom situated at the front of the house and I happened to glance outside at the night sky. Suddenly, without any warning, I saw a figure materialize on the path, where a gate would have been."

"The figure stood facing my front door, as if it intended to make an approach . It was the height and size of an average man and dressed as it covered completely in an 'astronauts outfit'. In the dark, there appeared to be no colour , just black, grey or white. The head (like an astronaut), was covered in a round helmet extension of the suit, with a typical round glass/plastic visor. No face could be seen. The arms were positioned at the side of the body and the legs were straight and together in a standing posture, as if preparing for action."

"The whole experience lasted about two seconds, after which he 'blinked off' like a light bulb going off."

“The sighting frightened me, as I could no longer see him and I wondered if he was actually inside my home, totally invisible? Eventually, I took the view that there was nothing I could do about it and I carried on with my routine.”

“As far as I know, I came to no harm, but even now I wonder if the figure had any connection with my other sightings.”

“I also experienced some strange ‘warning’ type of experiences when I was talking on the phone to friends about UFO sightings. On about three occasions, as soon as I mentioned ‘UFO’s in the area’, I was alarmed to hear horrible ‘scratching’ noises on the glass of my front door.”

“It was as if someone was drawing scissors or a knife slowly across the glass to scare me, or warning me to stay silent and this only took place when the phone conversation was about UFO sightings!”

“At the time, I was terrified and remember Omar telling me that there was more to worry about with humans than non-humans. Perhaps this is the case.”

“There were no audible footsteps related to these experiences and I once investigated outside my front door, but there was nothing to be seen in any direction.”

“I hope my experiences are of interest and can be of use.”

UFO REPORTEDLY FALLS OUT OF THE SKIES OVER ENGLAND

'Before It's News' Wednesday March 12th

The local news in the town of Gloucester in South West England reported on a beautiful sunset picture that captures an unidentified falling object plummeting out of the skies.

Sarah-Jane Stanley told the Gloucester Citizen that she was out for a walk with her daughter when they spotted the object. She grabbed her camera and captured 15 photos of it.

She says, "I looked through my camera lens on full zoom and it appeared to have something at the tip of it and it was clearly visible on a downward descent. The object is spinning and glowing... Crazy although it sounds, it seems to be shaped like a claw and there is something glowing on it."

Stanley says she sent the pictures to meteorologists at the Met Office and they told her that whatever it was, it was not weather related, and suggested it could be something entering the atmosphere. They suggested she contact the Royal Observatory in Greenwich.

OVNI EDITORS COMMENT:

The startling headline from this edition of 'Before It's News' is basically correct, it is a 'UFO' because nobody can identify what it is!

With a mass of satellite debris circling the Earth there are now an increasing number of 'falling bodies' being seen, let's not forget that when the crew of the orbiting 'International Space Station' have dispensed with their garbage and dirty washing (which apparently cannot be washed in space), it is loaded into the empty supply module and jettisoned back to the Earth.

The module then burns up in the Earth's atmosphere and what this observer may have photographed is the space crews dirty washing, plus bags of general garbage going up in smoke as it ignites during re-entry!

The Space Department of the Royal Aircraft Establishment, Farnborough listed in its census of satellites and space vehicles 1,327 national launches from 1957 - 1973.

We now have many thousands of orbiting pieces of space junk waiting to descend and burn up!

UFO SIGHTINGS AT MARLBOROUGH, WILTS.

Our colleague and Crop Circle photographer 'Busty Taylor' has informed us of numerous UFO reports over Wiltshire on the night of the 1st March, concerning unusual LITS. (Lights In The Sky).

On Saturday night the 1st March about 10pm several witnesses watched as a 'blue light' appeared just south over the town of Marlborough. The 'blue light' proceeded to remain stationary for several minutes and then started to travel in an 'up and down' motion again for several minutes, watched by a small group of onlookers.

The light then moved from 'left to right' and back again several times before returning to its original position and remaining stationary once again and finally fading and being lost from sight..

UFO LIGHTS WIDELY REPORTED OVER TAURANGA HARBOUR (N.Z.)

(Source: Tauranga UFO & Paranormal Society)

Four people have reported seeing a UFO fitting the same general description over the northern harbour on three separate occasions during the last year. The sightings, beginning in August and occurring every four or so months, all feature a hovering fast moving object with flashing lights changing colour.

The witnesses contacted Sun Media after a kayaker's experience on the harbour last month was published in The Weekend Sun.

While kayaking between Omokoroa and Matakana on May 21 the man encountered a strange, silent craft with a white light that appeared to be hovering and changing from red to blue.

Since then, two more stories have emerged.

On August 28, 2012 at 7.50pm a woman at Bridgeman Lane, north of Katikati, saw a hovering object about a kilometre away that had bright flashing lights changing colour.

The object remained stationary and when she tried several times to call her neighbour her phone did not work.

Months later, on December 9, 2012 at 9.42pm two men fishing near Motuhua Island in the harbour nearly ran into an object they say flew away at speed. One of the fishermen took photos of their encounter. (ED: too dark to distinguish anything but a speck of light)

"It was moving pretty fast man, it was all going on pretty quick. If I'd had this phone I've got now I could peel out 10 photos pretty quickly, says one of the fishermen, who wants to be known as Teve.

"When I saw it first I didn't know what it was, but when it took off vertically I knew what it was and I grabbed the phone."

"The only reason I was a little bit onto what it was is because my mother had an encounter back in the 50s at Waihi, so it's something I have always been a little bit aware of."

Teve and a friend were fishing near Motuhua Island but headed towards Omokoroa when it grew dark. Teve says it was a "really calm night" and they came around the island at about 15 knots and saw the object directly ahead.

"This thing would have been probably four metres in diameter by about probably two and a half/three metres in height. This thing was sitting about 4.5 metres off the water."

Teve says there were a couple of other boats out fishing near Motuhua and he can't believe no one else saw it. "The light it was pouring out was horrendous. You could not have seen it if you were looking.."

"As this thing took off the lights got really, really, bright. I don't know how it was powered, but the faster it was going, the more energy it was generating, the brighter the light was."

"It's almost like three lights became one when it was under acceleration. But when it was sitting it had three: left, right on the bottom and one in the centre."

"And I have never seen anything accelerate the way this thing did from a stand-still to the speed this thing was doing in like a point of a second. Nothing on this world does that."

In August 2012, the woman, named Lynn, was housesitting north of Katikati and experienced an object with blue and red flashing lights similar to the kayaker's description in May.

Lynn had just put the cat out when she noticed something flashing brightly. About a kilometre away she saw an object hovering just above treetop level.

She says it had bright flashing lights which were changing colour and it stayed very still all the time she observed it.

She rang her neighbour several times on both the landline and cell phone, but neither worked. (End)

Giant Skulls from America

February 04, 2014 (Coastzone)

Ancient Giants in America:

Appearing during the middle two hours of Monday's show (Coast to Coast), writer and editor for the History Channel and other networks, Richard Dewhurst discussed his extensive research of articles and photo's, first person accounts and illustrated reports which suggest that not only was North America once visited by an advanced race of giants, but that the evidence for this has been actively suppressed by organizations such as the Smithsonian.

He said he uncovered numerous reports in reputable newspapers of 7 to 12 ft. tall skeletons that were found in North America, and the knowledge of these giants was widespread in the 19th century.

There were finds in New York State, such as in the town of Cayuga, where a cemetery of some 200 giants 7 to 9ft. Tall was uncovered, he cited.

Relating the giants to the Mound Builders culture, he shared Native American lore that they drove the giants into caves at Lovelock and burned them.

Giant skeletons 6 to 8 ft. in height were found buried under bat guano at that site, which lends some credence to the legends, he noted. Dewhurst has concluded that the giants were a prehistoric sea-faring people and physically might have been what we would classify as Cro-Magnons. (For more information check out related images).

In tandem with his 2/3/14 appearance, Richard Dewhurst shares two images

SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS

Beach Giant's Skull Unearthed By WPA Workers Near Victoria

Believed to Be Largest Ever Found in World; Normal Head Also Found

That Texas "had a giant on the beach" in the long ago appears probable from the large skull recently unearthed in a mound in Victoria County, believed to be the largest human skull ever found in the United States and possibly in the world.

Twice the size of the skull of normal man, the fragments were dug up by W. Duffren, archaeologist, who is excavating the mound in Victoria County under a WPA project sponsored by the University of Texas. In the same mound and at the same level, a normal sized skull was found. The pieces taken from the mound were reconstructed in the WPA laboratory under supervision of physical anthropologists.

A study is being made to determine whether the huge skull was that of a man belonging to a tribe of extraordinary large man or whether the skull was that of an abnormal member of a tribe, a case of gigantism. Several large human body bones also have been unearthed at the site.

Marcus R. Goldstein, physical anthropologist employed on the WPA project, formerly was an aide of Ales Hrdlicker, curator of the National Museum of Physical Anthropology.

Findings made through excavations in Texas are beginning to give weight to the theory that man lived in Texas 40,000 to 45,000 years ago, it is said.

STAMP SOCIETY MEETS

San Antonio Philatelic Society will hold its first meeting of 1940 at the Y. M. C. A. at 8:30 p. m.

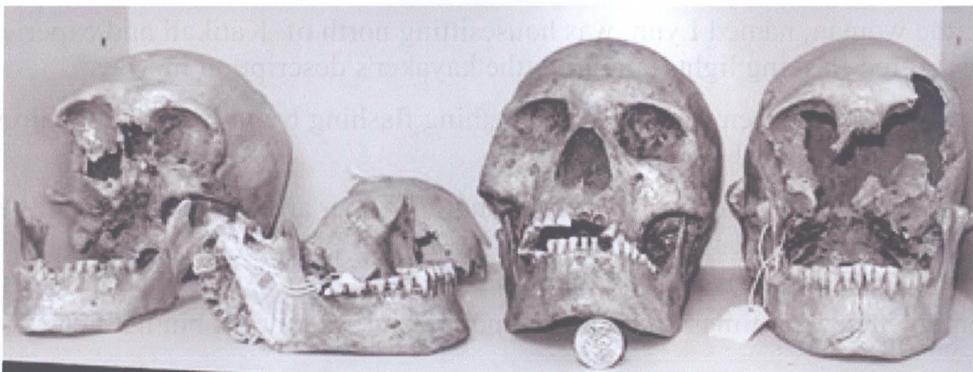

GIANT SKULL—Believed to be possibly the largest found in the world, the human skull shown on the right was recently unearthed in Victoria County by Texas University anthropologists. The other two are of normal size.

Monday, when a house of rare stamps will be shown by collectors in this vicinity. New officers of the society are Norman H. Brock, president; B. A. Turner, vice president; L. F. Fields, secretary and treasurer, and Edward Albach, reporter. Both the president and vice president were re-elected.

Also a photo of giant skulls found in Spirit Cave, Nevada.

Ancient City Found in India, Irradiated from Atomic Blast

Radiation is still so intense, the area is highly dangerous. A heavy layer of radioactive ash in Rajasthan, India, covers a three-square mile area, ten miles west of Jodhpur. Scientists are investigating the site, where a housing development was being built.

For some time it has been established that there is a very high rate of birth defects and cancer in the area under construction. The levels of radiation there have registered so high on investigators' gauges that the Indian government has now cordoned off the region. Scientists have unearthed an ancient city where evidence shows an atomic blast dating back thousands of years, from 8,000 to 12,000 years, destroyed most of the buildings and probably a half-million people. One researcher estimates that the nuclear bomb used was about the size of the ones dropped on Japan in 1945

The ruins of Harappa

The Mahabharata clearly describes a catastrophic blast that rocked the continent.

"A single projectile charged with all the power in the Universe...An incandescent column of smoke and flame as bright as 10,000 suns, rose in all its splendor...it was an unknown weapon, an iron thunderbolt, a gigantic messenger of death which reduced to ashes an entire race."

"The corpses were so burned as to be unrecognizable. Their hair and nails fell out, pottery broke without any apparent cause, and the birds turned white. After a few hours, all foodstuffs were infected. To escape from this fire, the soldiers threw themselves into the river."

A Historian Comments

Historian Kisari Mohan Ganguli says that Indian sacred writings are full of such descriptions, which sound like an atomic blast as experienced in Hiroshima and Nagasaki. He says references mention fighting sky chariots and final weapons. An ancient battle is described in the Drona Parva, a section of the Mahabharata.

"The passage tells of combat where explosions of final weapons decimate entire armies, causing crowds of warriors with steeds and elephants and weapons to be carried away as if they were dry leaves of trees," says Ganguli.

"Instead of mushroom clouds, the writer describes a perpendicular explosion with its billowing smoke clouds as consecutive openings of giant parasols. There are comments about the contamination of food and people's hair falling out."

Archeological Investigation provides information

Archeologist Francis Taylor says that etchings in some nearby temples he has managed to translate suggest that they prayed to be spared from the great light that was coming to lay ruin to the city. "It's so mid-boggling to imagine that some civilization had nuclear technology before we did. The radioactive ash adds credibility to the ancient Indian records that describe atomic warfare.

"Construction has halted while the five member team conducts the investigation. The foreman of the project is Lee Hundley, who pioneered the investigation after the high level of radiation was discovered. There is evidence that the Rama empire (now India) was devastated by nuclear war."

The Indus valley is now the Thar desert, and the site of the radioactive ash found west of Jodhpur is around there.

Until the bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, modern mankind could not imagine any weapon as horrible and devastating as those described in the ancient Indian texts. Yet they very accurately described the effects of an atomic explosion. Radioactive poisoning will make hair and nails fall out. Immersing oneself in water gives some respite, though it is not a cure.

When excavations of Harappa and Mohenjo-Daro reached the street level, they discovered skeletons scattered about the cities, many holding hands and sprawling in the streets as if some instant, horrible doom had taken place. People were just lying, unburied, in the streets of the city. And these skeletons are thousands of years old, even by traditional archaeological standards. What could cause such a thing? Why did the bodies not decay or get eaten by wild animals? Furthermore, there is no apparent cause of a physically violent death.

These skeletons are among the most radioactive ever found, on par with those at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. At one site, Soviet scholars found a skeleton which had a radioactive level 50 times greater than normal. Other cities have been found in northern India that show indications of explosions of great magnitude.

One such city, found between the Ganges and the mountains of Rajmahal, seems to have been subjected to intense heat. Huge masses of walls and foundations of the ancient city are fused together, literally vitrified! And since there is no indication of a volcanic eruption at Mohenjo-Daro or at the other cities, the intense heat to melt clay vessels can only be explained by an atomic blast or some other unknown weapon. The cities were wiped out entirely.

While the skeletons have been carbon-dated to 2500 BC, we must keep in mind that carbon-dating involves measuring the amount of radiation left. When atomic explosions are involved, that makes them seem much younger.

Interestingly, Manhattan Project chief scientist Dr J. Robert Oppenheimer was known to be familiar with ancient Sanskrit literature. In an interview conducted after he watched the first atomic test, he quoted from the Bhagavad Gita:

"'Now I am become Death, the Destroyer of Worlds.' I suppose we all felt that way."

When asked in an interview at Rochester University seven years after the Alamogordo nuclear test whether that was the first atomic bomb ever to be detonated, his reply was,

"Ancient cities whose brick and stonewalls have literally been vitrified, that is, fused together, can be found in India, Ireland, Scotland, France, Turkey and other places. There is no logical explanation for the vitrification of stone forts and cities, except from an atomic blast."

SPY IN SKY FLIGHTS TO BEGIN IN THE UK

The Army's latest "spy in the sky" unmanned aircraft is due to begin flying over British skies this week. (Another UFO to watch out for!)

Watchkeeper, a reconnaissance and surveillance unmanned air system (UAS), has a wingspan of 35 feet and can fly at an altitude of up to 16,000 feet.

It has been designed to loiter over areas of interest for "significantly longer" than existing systems, providing clear surveillance pictures to troops on the ground. The aircraft boasts two sensors - a day and night camera which produces 24-hour high-definition images and a radar sensor, allowing it to see in all conditions.

These images are relayed in real time to a ground control station that acts as the aircraft's cockpit - reducing the need to deploy troops to "potentially dangerous" situations.

Watchkeeper, which has been tested in West Wales since 2010 and is nearing the end of its trials, is expected to take a "significant role" in future military campaigns. This week, highly-skilled pilots will fly Watchkeeper in restricted airspace over the Ministry of Defence's Salisbury Plain Training Area in Wiltshire, overseen by military air traffic controllers. The Army is due to begin its own training later this year.

Colonel Mark Thornhill, Commander of 1st Artillery Brigade said: "Watchkeeper is a state-of-the-art system coming in to service now. It can fly for longer, it flies off rough strips, it has better sensors.

"Watchkeeper is designed specifically to support worldwide operations in many different locations."
 "Watchkeeper is a fantastic capability because it will allow us to provide real-time imagery back to the ground commander so that he can then take appropriate action depending on what he sees and what he learns from that imagery."

"Therefore, he will be able to perform in a much better fashion and make much better operational decisions based on the imagery we are providing to him." Watchkeeper, which is being developed by Thales UK, is unarmed and does not carry any weapons. It has already clocked up 500 hours of flying time in West Wales."

TALE ENDERS SHOWING AT THE NEXT MEETING

UFO'S AND NATO THE HUMAN MUTILATION COVER UP

In 2009 Richplanet produced "Silent Killers": a documentary exposing the truth about animal mutilation in the UK, and attempts by authorities to cover up what is happening. Animal carcasses including horses, sheep and cows have been discovered regularly having undergone surgical procedures, where blood and organs are cleanly removed. The phenomenon is difficult to explain in conventional terms, and has been linked for decades with UFO's, because strange lights are sometimes witnessed in proximity to sites where animal carcasses are found. A question people ask when they hear about animal mutilation is whether human beings have suffered similar attacks. This film attempts to answer this very controversial question. Rumours about human mutilation have circulated the UFO community for years with some people claiming to have had contact with a military group which is used to acquire the corpses of victims of human mutilation. In the film we reveal the testimony of a black ops soldier, who was employed by a secret NATO "find and secure" military team. Their job is to search for and then protect sites where human mutilation has taken place until another team arrives to remove the evidence. A staggering claim revealed in the film is the level of advanced knowledge NATO has of UFO activity, and technology used to intercept UFOs in attempts to bring them to the ground. The "find and secure" team would be sent out to locations before UFO activity had taken place, indicating NATO has some sort of advanced intelligence about the behaviour of UFOs. Our source also claims NATO has technology with the capability of immobilising UFOs which it has used to acquire them.
