Welcome to issue 5

FROM

MALCOLM ROBINSON & CHRIS EVERS

Perhaps one of the most controversial of close encounter/ufo cases ever, the United Kingdom based, Rendlesham Forest Incident (RFI), of December, 1980, has seen claims and counter claims from many of those involved.

The Outer Limits Magazine does not wish to join in the debate on either side, of the argument.

We are happy though, to provide for you in this issue, an exclusive article, which features an interview with Steve Longero, a former, USAF Security Policeman (retired). This interview, by noted UFO investigator and former member of the Independent UFO Network, British UFO Research Association (BUFORA) and the Mutual UFO Network, Philip Mantle.

RENDELSHAM REVISITED

Steve Longero, spoke exclusively with Philip, during the late October, of 2016, over a number of transatlantic telephone calls. We hear from a witness, to the RFI, that (as far has we are aware), has never spoken before, for the public record.

Steve's testimony may be an answer to one conundrum which surrounds the events of those three nights of December, 1980?

Some questions may be answered, more questions may be asked?

We shall also be delighted to offer a right of reply, if so desired, by those also involved and we welcome any comments from those involved to our usual email address, (see below), if they would care to do so?

Both Chris Evers & Malcolm Robinson are grateful to all of the contributors to this issue, and we do hope this issues varied content contains something of interest for you?

May we take this opportunity to wish you (yes you) all well at this Christmas season. May your God or indeed God's bless you, and have a great and safe holiday time. See you in February 2017.

Own A Piece of UFO History!

Travis Walton is an American logger who was abducted by a UFO on November 5, 1975, while working with a logging crew in the Apache-Sitgreaves National Forest in Arizona. Travis could not be found, but reappeared after a five-day search. The Walton case received mainstream publicity and remains one of the best-known instances of alleged alien abduction. His story of those events was presented in the book "Fire in the Sky" this was turned in to a major movie which was released in 1993...

We now offer those who attend our first Outer Limits Magazine conference a chance to own a piece of UFO History.

Outer Limits Magazine are proud to offer the first 50 people who purchase their conference tickets a chance to win and own a signed still directly from the movie.

This was hand signed in person by Travis Walton, Dana Walton and Mike Rogers when they lectured in London as part of the promotion for FIRE IN THE SKY and has been validated by Philip Mantle.

THIS IS A VERY, VERY RARE PIECE OF UFO MEMORABILIA.

For your chance to own this piece of history simply order and pay for your Outer Limits Magazine Conference tickets now.

The winning person shall receive the still at our conference, directly from Philip Mantle, who will be presenting his final public lecture at the conference, on Saturday 9 September 2017.

This offer is Strictly limited to the first 50 people who order tickets for the conference. (Please note the amount of tickets you purchase are not included in the draw, but is limited to the first 50 PEOPLE that order and pay for their tickets). Tickets are £10 each make a postal order or cheque payable to Chris Evers.

OAI OAI ARGHH! ...

IT'S THE SEASON TO BE SPOOKED!

IT'S THE SEASON TO BE SPOOKED!

Not so long ago, families would gather together on the Eve of Christmas Day and sit around their fireplaces sharing tales. Not tales of red nosed reindeer and elves, but of hauntings, murder and all things grizzly.

Although mostly forgotten now, not too long ago it used to be normal for families and friends to gather on Christmas Eve to tell frightening ghost stories as a way to celebrate the up coming holiday time. Not all things about the olde Victorian Christmas traditions, were sweetness and happiness...

Oscar Wildes "The Canterville Ghost" (published 1887) comes to mind, but perhaps Charles Dickens leads the way with the definitive "A Christmas Carol", perhaps the most famous Christmas ghost story ever. Dickens published the story of Ebenezer Scrooge in 1843. But interestingly the Christmas season is full of pagan traditions dating back centuries, if not millennia.

For example, Families still decorate their homes with holly and ivy and other evergreen leaves to ward of evil spirits and ghosts, although many do not realise the significance of such decorations.

Holly, Ivy and other greenery such as Mistletoe were originally used in pre-Christian times to help celebrate the Winter Solstice Festival and ward off evil spirits and to celebrate new growth. When Christianity came into Western Europe, some people wanted to keep the greenery, to give it Christian meanings but also to ban the use of it to decorate homes.

Britain and Germany were the main countries to keep the use of the greenery as decorations.

Here are the Christian meanings: The prickly leaves of the holly represent the crown of thorns that Jesus wore when he was crucified. The berries are the drops of blood that were shed by Jesus because of the thorns. In Scandinavia it is known as the Christ Thorn.

In pagan times, Holly was thought to be a male plant and Ivy a female plant. An old tradition from the Midlands of England says that whatever one was brought into the house first over the winter period, tells you whether the man or woman of the house would rule that year! But it was unlucky to bring either into a house before Christmas Eve.

Ivy, has to cling to something to support itself as it grows.

This reminds us that we need to cling to God for support in our lives. In Germany, it is traditional that Ivy is only used outside and a piece tied to the outside of a Church was supposed to protect it from lightning strikes!

In the UK, before Christmas Trees became popular and dating back to the middle ages, another popular form of Christmas/mid winter decoration was the Kissing Bough or Bunch. These were made of five wooden hoops that made the shape of a ball (four hoops vertical to form the ball and then the fifth horizontal to go around the middle). The hoops were covered with Holly, Ivy, Rosemary, Bay, Fir or other evergreen plants.

Inside the hoops were hung red apples (often hung from red ribbons) and a candle was either put inside the ball at the bottom or round the horizontal hoop. The bough was finished by hanging a large bunch of mistletoe from the bottom of the ball. (For a simpler bough you could also just have a horizontal hoop decorated and hung with apples and the mistletoe.)

As previously mentioned tales of horror were once common place in past times.

The Kissing Bough.

The Ghost Of Christmas Present!

“Whenever five or six English speaking people meet round a fire on Christmas Eve, they start telling each other ghost stories” wrote British humourist Jerome K. Jerome as a part of his introduction to an anthology of ghost stories titled “Told After Supper” in 1891.

“Nothing satisfies us on Christmas Eve but to hear each other tell authentic anecdotes about spectres”.

Dickens ghost of Christmas present, is very similar to the person today we know as Santa Claus, Father Christmas or Saint Nick. As can be seen in this image he wears a white trimmed green jacket, although some illustrators show him with a red jacket and white fur trim. Interestingly he dons a crown of holly thorns these perhaps denoting the pagan celebrations turned in to and surrounding the festival of Christmas.

In his first full-length novel, The Pickwick Papers (1836-37), Charles Dickens introduces readers to the Christmas traditions prevalent in his youth.

Our host, Mr. Wardle, informs the Pickwickian crowd, “[o]ur invariable custom [is to have everyone sit] down with us on Christmas Eve, as you see them now—servants and all; and here we wait, until the clock strikes twelve, to usher Christmas in, and beguile the time with forfeits and old stories.”

Wardle then proceeds to tell “the story about the goblins that carried away old Gabriel Grub” on Christmas Eve. Only two short chapters in length, Dickens’s tableau of Pickwickian seated around the fire sharing ghost stories on a snowy Christmas Eve encapsulates the complex relationship that exists between the Victorian ghost story, and its Gothic predecessor.

Interestingly though Dickens may be described as the one author to bring Christmas ghost stories to the fore it really befalls to medievalist scholar and Provost of King’s College Cambridge (1905-1918) and of Eton College (1918-1936), Montague Rhodes James, who penned several stories in the early turn of the 20th century. These stories were later adapted for the BBC and were broadcast over the Christmas holiday period.

Edwardian Tales

M.R. James’ peerlessly unpleasant stories, written and published in Edwardian times, are considered the ultimate Christmas ghost tales by many. Published in a series of collections: Ghost Stories of an Antiquary (1904), More Ghost Stories of an Antiquary (1911), A Thin Ghost and Others (1919), and A Warning to the Curious and Other Ghost Stories (1925). The first hardback collected edition appeared in 1931. Many of the tales were written as Christmas Eve entertainments and read aloud to friends. This idea was used by the BBC in 2000 when they filmed Christopher Lee reading James’s stories in a candle-lit room in King’s College.

James perfected a method of story-telling which has since become known as Jamesian. The classic Jamesian tale usually includes the following elements:

a characterful setting in an English village, seaside town or country estate; an ancient town in France, Denmark or Sweden; or a venerable abbey or university a nondescript and rather naive gentleman-scholar as protagonist (often of a reserved nature) the discovery of an old book or other antiquarian object that somehow unlocks, or calls down the wrath, or at least attracts the unwelcome attention of a supernatural menace, usually from beyond the grave.

According to James, the story must “put the reader into the position of saying to himself, ‘If I’m not very careful, something of this kind may happen to me!’” He also perfected the technique of narrating supernatural events through implication and suggestion, letting his reader fill in the blanks, and focusing on the mundane details of his settings and characters in order to throw the horrific and bizarre elements into greater relief. He summed up his approach in his foreword to the anthology Ghosts and Marvels: “Two ingredients most valuable in the concocting of a ghost story are, to me, the atmosphere and the nicely managed crescendo. ... Let us, then, be introduced to the actors in a placid way; let us see them going about their ordinary business, undisturbed by forebodings, pleased with their surroundings; and into this calm environment let the ominous thing put out its head, unobtrusively at first, and then more insistently, until it holds the stage.”

He also noted: “Another requisite, in my opinion, is that the ghost should be malevolent or odious: amiable and helpful apparitions are all very well in fairy tales or in local legends, but I have no use for them in a fictitious ghost story.”

And perhaps the most intimate of these shivers comes in “Casting the Runes” (1911), in which the unlucky protagonist, woken in the night, reaches under his pillow for his watch, only for his questing hand to encounter “a mouth, with teeth, and with hair about it, and, he declares, not the mouth of a human being”.

M.R. James

That readers in the iPad age should still be so horrified by these tales of haunted Edwardian bibliophiles, antebellum Oxbridge dons and ghoulish local revenants would doubtless have come as a surprise to their author. Montague Rhodes James, for he was much admired in his lifetime, but more for his extensive work on biblical apocrypha and catalogues of medieval manuscripts than for his experiments in supernatural fiction. His ghost stories were designed as pleasant trifles, and mostly composed at lightning speed on Christmas evenings between 1892 and 1935 for a coterie of colleagues, friends and choir-boys at King's. Their author quoted with approval the comment of the fat boy in The Pickwick Papers, who ghoulishly advertised that "I wants to make your flesh creep."

Although they share densely imagined roots in local and national history and geography, the stories did not, as James wrote in the introduction to his first collection, "make any very exalted claim. If any of them succeed in causing their readers to feel pleasantly uncomfortable while walking along a solitary road at nightfall, or sitting over a dying fire in the small hours, my purpose in writing them will have been attained."

The BBC (British Broadcasting Company) took the tradition and brought it to the masses.

A Ghost Story for Christmas is a strand of annual British short television films originally broadcast on BBC One between 1971 and 1978, and revived in 2005 on BBC Four. With one exception, the original instalments were directed by Lawrence Gordon Clark and the films were all shot on 16 mm colour film. The remit behind the series was to provide a television adaptation of a classic ghost story, in line with the oral tradition of telling supernatural tales at Christmas.

Each instalment is a separate adaptation of a short story, ranges between 30 and 50 minutes in duration, and features well-known British actors such as Clive Swift, Robert Hardy, Peter Vaughan, Edward Petherbridge and Denholm Elliott. The first five are adaptations of ghost stories by M. R. James, the sixth is based on a short story by Charles Dickens, and the two final instalments are original screenplays by Clive Exton and John Bowen respectively. The stories were titled A Ghost Story for Christmas in listings such as the Radio Times, although this never appeared on screen, where they were regarded as individual films.

An earlier black-and-white adaptation of M. R. James's Whistle and I'll Come to You, directed by Jonathan Miller and shown as part of the series Omnibus in 1968, is often cited as an influence upon the production of the films, and is sometimes included as part of the series. The series was revived by the BBC in 2005 with a new set of adaptations that were produced intermittently over the next few years.

In an interview in 1995 Lawrence Gordon Clark stated that the stories "focus on suggestion. The aim, they say, is to chill rather than shock. Partly because television is not best suited to carrying off big-screen pyrotechnics, but mainly because they want to keep faith with the notion of a ghost story in its literary rather than cinematic tradition."

Helen Wheatley notes that the best adaptations maintain the stories' "sense of decorum and restraint, ... withholding the full revelation of the supernatural until the very last moment, and centring on the suggestion of a ghostly presence rather than the horror of visceral excess and abjection."

Lawrence Gordon Clark, though seems to have it the nail on the head, so to speak. How does TV win in the fight to frighten, and cause chills running up and down the spine, when they have to compete with Hollywood productions.

The age of the Friday the 13th, The Babbadook, and The Blair Witch Report, seem to have crushed to death the traditional style of ghost story.

Or do the tales and movies from the 1930s, such as Frankenstein, The Wolf man and Dracula still reign supreme in the stakes of Horror. Do they still scare or have they become a relic of a long forgotten style of story telling or has Jason taken over?

Let us know, what do you think?

If Roswell Happened TODAY (part 2)

Introduction

In the first part of this article I addressed the issue of what the government would do if a UFO crashed (or landed) in the UK. Is there a plan? Who would be involved? Would the authorities try to cover it up? This two-part article sets out the issues and works through some possible scenarios. In the first part of the article I dealt with the issue of first response and established that while the police would have a key tactical role, at the strategic level the Cabinet Office and COBRA would take a co-ordinating role, with MoD quickly emerging as the lead department. The next questions that would need to be handled range from what to tell Ministers, through to how to handle the media. What would Parliament be told and would there be any attempt to cover up such an incident?

COMETA

Before addressing these issues, it was remiss of me in Part 1 of this article not to mention the COMETA Report. I had given examples of where officialdom had given some thought to the consequences of detecting an extra-terrestrial radio signal or of a UFO crashing or landing and where some sort of contingency plan had been drafted. I mentioned the paper "UFO Hypothesis and Survival Questions" from the NSA's website and also the "Post-Detection SETI Protocol" drafted by the International Academy of Astronautics. I also mentioned the second edition of "Fire Officer's Guide to Disaster Control" by William M. Kramer and Charles W. Bahme. I should also have mentioned the COMETA Report. This 3-year study was undertaken by the French Institute for Higher Studies of Defence, a government-funded 'think tank' staffed by people whose backgrounds are generally government and military. The findings of their study were set out in a 90 page report entitled "UFOs and Defense: What Should We Prepare For?". An English language version of this report is available on the internet, but when searching for it, remember that Defence is spelled the US way, i.e. Defense.

Informing Ministers

Ministers are, of course, politicians. Defence Ministers (i.e. the Secretary of State for Defence and the various 'junior' Ministers) and the MoD more generally aspire to a culture of "no surprises". In other words, Ministers want to be told as quickly as possible of any major or controversial development. They certainly don't want to find out something only when asked about it by a journalist or by an MP in Parliament. This is why briefing is so central to the MoD culture and indeed to the civil service as a whole. Civil Servants must ensure that Ministers and senior staff are briefed quickly and accurately on important issues. In our scenario of a UFO crash, an early action would be to brief Ministers. This would probably be done by telephone in the first instance (with calls to one of the Minister's Private Office staff) and then followed up with a Ministerial submission.

The Ministerial submission is a written brief in a set format, setting out the issue, making recommendations and discussing the presentational issues. A few examples of the template for a Ministerial submission can be found on the internet, but few actual submissions have been released, as they tend to be covered by Section 35 (Formulation of Government Policy) of the Freedom of Information Act. This exemption applies where information relates to the formulation or development of government policy. The thinking is that if the advice and debate behind policy-making is routinely made public, there is a risk that officials would be less willing to offer frank advice and challenge the status quo. Accordingly, this is an area where I can say little more. However, it's worth noting that for any ma-major incident (and this would certainly apply to our scenario of a UFO crash) the briefing process would have to include the Prime Minister and HM The Queen.

Decision Making

The next step would be to call a meeting.

Meetings are central to the culture of the civil service and I attended hundreds in the course of my 21-year MoD career. Some meetings are minuted and some aren't and as I've said before, the paper trail never tells the whole story. In the scenario of a UFO crash there is likely to be an initial MoD meeting chaired by the Secretary of State for Defence. Attendees would probably include the Chief of the Defence Staff, the Chief Scientific Adviser, the Chief Press Officer, the Head of Directorate of Air Staff, staff from the Defence Intelligence Staff and other senior officials. The UFO desk officer would probably not sit at the main table but (as subject matter expert) might be in attendance, alongside other experts who might be called on for specialist advice. But generally speaking, such a meeting would be at director level and it would be expected that the respective heads of division would have been fully briefed by their subject matter experts. After this meeting there would inevitably be a meeting chaired by the Prime Minister, attended by Ministers and officials from other government departments. While the decisions that would need to be taken would vary according to the specifics of the crash, issues that would arise would include the following: is there a threat and if so, should alert levels be raised? Is there a biohazard (this was covered in Part 1 of this article) and if so, what measures should be taken? What - if anything - should parliament, the media and the public be told? What - if anything - should other countries be told?

The current UK Secretary of Defense Michael Fallon

Presentational Issues

We have all heard of the 'dodgy dossier' and 'spin', while the post 9/11 phrase "a good day to bury bad news" - even though it's a slight misquotation - has also become firmly embedded in the public consciousness. What's the truth behind these sound-bites and how would this play out in our hypothetical scenario? There's no doubt that presentational issues and news management are hugely important to the MoD and indeed to government as a whole. Type "Defence Press Office" into the search box on the MoD website for some basic details on the role and structure of this organisation. Additionally, the evidence from the Director of News on the Hutton Inquiry website gives an interesting insight into the working of the MoD's press office. Assuming the event was to be made public, a news brief would be drawn up. Again, there's a set format to this, which generally involves the key message and subsidiary Q & A material, posing the questions the MoD is most likely to be asked and giving the lines to take on them. Self-evidently, the key message would be something positive and in this case it might be something along the lines of "MoD scientists are currently examining when the object and we will make a further statement when they have completed their investigations. There is no evidence of any danger to the public". As with all material from government, while it can put a positive spin on matters, downplay negative issues and omit some material, it must be fundamentally truthful. I realise many people think governments lie all the time, but for a minister, lying is still a resignation issue and for a civil servant it is a serious disciplinary offence.

Secrecy

Assuming the media hadn't already found out about the event and put out the story, the question would inevitably arise as to whether to try to keep the matter secret. Procedurally, this would be relatively straightforward. Essentially, the matter would be given a classification (probably Top Secret - UK Eyes Only) and any questions would be met with a "no comment". As to why this move might be considered, the reason has little or nothing to do with the usual ideas about destabilising the economy, undermining religions and causing panic. It would reflect the fact that any nation that exclusively acquired extra-terrestrial technology it was able to use (the most obvious example being a propulsion system that allows viable interstellar travel) would become the dominant force on the planet. If the technology was to be acquired exclusively by the British government and passed exclusively to British companies, politically, militarily and economically the UK would once more lead the world. This would be the temptation and with the stakes that high, it's easy to see how such a course of action would be attractive. Of course, this is exactly what many people believe happened at Roswell and despite the controversy, the central idea (whether or not it actually happened) behind Philip Corso's book "The Day After Roswell" is sound. This is the one reason for a cover-up that does make sense in terms of the way government and the military actually think.

Search and Rescue

A final observation needs to be made about the scenario of a UFO crash. While we can make few assumptions about extra-set would be "Others may come to recover the craft. What should we do to prepare for this?"

The Need for a Plan

All of this brings us back to where this article started, in Part 1, when I said that one of the most frequent questions I'm asked is what the MoD would do if confronted by a UFO crash and whether there's a plan for this contingency. In the course of these two articles I think I've answered much of the first part of the question. But the second part of the question can be dealt with very simply: the UK has no official plan for such an eventuality. There are bits of other plans that could doubtless be adapted (e.g. the procedures for dealing with an aircraft accident and the plans for dealing with a suspected chemical or biological terror attack) but there's no discrete plan for a UFO crash, a UFO landing or any other form of 'first contact', including the detection of a radio signal of extra-terrestrial origin. This is partly because officials are naturally conservative and the possibility lies outside many people's belief systems. "There's no contingency plan should the Loch Ness Monster turn out to be real, so why should we have one for UFOs?", the reasoning goes. However, given the cumulative evidence in relation to UFOs and given the issues at stake, such reasoning is arguably flawed. We are back to the issue of this being a "Low Probability/ High Consequence" event. There's an old adage "train hard, fight easy". Having a plan, training people and then testing the people and the plan through realistic exercises is central to the ethos of the MoD and the military. The lack of a plan means that if the event does occur, the response will be less effective and less speedy than would otherwise be the case. Given the magnitude of some of the issues here (e.g. the potential biohazard) terrestrials (which is why I instantly distrust anyone who authoritatively makes a statement that begins with a phrase along the lines of "aliens wouldn't do that because") it's a fair assumption that the loss of the craft would be noticed and the location it had been in would be known. Therefore, just as happens when an aircraft crashes, it's reasonable to suppose that a search and rescue mission would be attempted. So any UFO crash is very likely to be followed by a UFO landing. Though it's often overlooked, this rather obvious point is one more indication that the alien autopsy video was a hoax. First contact is unlikely to go well if the first revelation from the military is that they have just dissected an extra-terrestrial body. Ufologists and government officials think in fundamentally different ways. Nobody in the government and the military, when confronted with a UFO crash, would view the event as an isolated incident. It would be seen as an event with consequences and the mind-

ard) this is unfortunate, to say the least.

Conclusion

This 2-part article has been one of the most speculative that I've ever written, because of the huge number of variables and unknowns in our scenario. But in the absence of a plan, all we can do is speculate. I may be wide of the mark in some areas, but having served for 21 years in a wide range of MoD jobs, I understand the culture. So I may be wrong about what decisions would be taken, but I'm pretty sure I'm right about the way in which those decisions would be reached. I hope readers have enjoyed these two articles and that they've offered some food for thought. If nothing else, I hope it's offered an intriguing glimpse into contingency planning and crisis management in government.

We Were Visited by Extra-terrestrials: No Doubt By Paul Roberts

Do you know who the “Those Who from Heaven to Earth Came” is? They are the Annunaki (extra-terrestrials) that are mentioned in the ancient Sumerian Clay Tablets.

Do you know who the “Those Who Have Come down from the Heavens to the Earth” is?

They are the Nephilim mentioned in our Bible. Hmm... very similar. So are the Nephilim the same as the Annunaki? I would think so. Annunaki basically means in Sumerian “Those Who from Heaven to Earth Came.” Nephilim basically means “Those who have come down from the Heavens to the Earth”. Our very own Bible is telling you the Nephilim are extra-terrestrials, but somehow our preachers, pastors and priests sort of overlook this information. Jesus even says “I am not from this world.” If Jesus is saying he is not terrestrial, that he is not from this planet, that would make him extra-terrestrial. Come on, it’s as plain and clear as the nose on your face. Either the Sumerians were GREAT science fiction writers that would make H.G. Wells blink, or what they were writing were absolute facts! They state that 450,000 years ago the Annunaki came to Earth from their planet Nibiru. They came to Earth to mine gold. This gold they were mining was to be used to fix their ozone layer. Our own scientists tell us that if we used a multitude of gold flakes and blanketed our atmosphere with these flakes, it would fix our own holes in the Ozone layer. How would the Sumerians know this kind of scientific information?

That is mind boggling, how would the Sumerians know that by dispersing tiny gold flakes in the atmosphere it would correct the Ozone layer? Sorry, if I am repeating myself, but I am trying to fully comprehend the question I am asking. Who could have given them this kind of information? Answer: Easy, extra-terrestrials told them.

It is stated in the Sumerian clay tablets that that the Annunaki were mining gold in Africa and South America. Archaeologists have discovered remnants of ancient mining in Africa and South America that dates back to 100,000 BC.

The Sumerian clay tablets mention DNA manipulation with primates already on Earth. That this DNA manipulation included adding in Annunaki DNA into this primate, creating Adamu. Adamu would be a primitive worker or slave for the Annunaki to mine the gold on Earth.

Some of these human hybrids fathered by the Annunaki would rule in selected cities. Basically these human hybrids became known as half god, half man. Hercules was half man, half god and many other mythical characters make claim of having god like qualities. It is interesting on how the hereditary bloodlines were well recorded and protected from these ruling half gods that extend out to European royalty. It appears even the Nazis were well aware of these sacred bloodlines and it is hinted that secret societies like the Illuminati, Freemasons and Rosicrucian know about the bloodlines that have an extra-terrestrial connection.

What I do know, since I am a Rosicrucian and Illuminati member that I have talked with a 33rd degree Freemason in Military Intelligence. Over drinks, he told me that the Freemasons were very much aware that the human race was kick started by extra-terrestrial’s. When I asked him about this later, when he was sober, he denied ever relating this information to me and was so furious that I asked him about it, he never talked to me again.

It is said in our Bible that Eve was produced from the rib of Adam. In Sumerian language, rib derives from the Sumerian word TI, which means life. Was Eve somehow created from the DNA obtained from Adam, giving her life?

Another interesting footnote in the Sumerian clay tablets is the mention how Enki (half-brother to Enlil, son of Anu looked over the extra-terrestrial settlement called E.DIN, very similar to the Bible’s Garden of Eden. It looks like E.DIN was also the experimental grounds for their Adamu as the Garden of Eden was the experimental ground for Adam and Eve. There are so many similarities between the Sumerian clay tablets and the Bible. The Sumerian clay tablets pre-dates the Bible and the tablets talk of a flood and how Enki loved his human creation and protected a select few with an Ark. Enlil didn’t like Enki’s creation, they were multiplying too fast, they were rebellious and he simply wanted to destroy them all. Enlil and Enki are playing the role of God and Satan. It was Enki that convinced Adamu's wife to eat from the tree of knowledge. Enki and Enlil throughout the Sumerian clay tablets play the role of God and Satan and reverse those roles. Enlil plays God by wanting to destroy Enki's creation. Enki also plays God because he wants to protect his creation through the Ark. Enki plays the role of Satan by convincing Adamu's mate to eat from the Tree of Knowledge and Enlil plays God by banishing Adamu and his mate from E.DIN.

Maybe the Cuna Indians of Panama got it right when they said that Adam and Eve came on a spaceship.

Our Bible talk about the Sons of God and it suggests that possibly angels mated with humans. The Sumerian Clay tablets says that the Annunaki males bred with human women 100,000 years ago.

The Annunaki really left an impression on the Sumerians when they set up their base camp in Iraq. To the eyes of primitive man, the Annunaki were immortal. 3600 of our years is only one year for an Annunaki. Their planet Nibiru has a lengthy elliptical orbit. It takes their planet 3600 years to pass through our solar system.

The words: "Let's make man in our own image." Why is god speaking in plural? Because there were others. Those others I believe are Annunaki. When people say we are alone in the Universe, I scoff; there is so much evidence to the contrary. Our ancient history points to the fact that we live in a busy living Universe with multitudes of life throughout our Universe. Don't fret, we are not alone.

Comments: Anything and everything you want to know about Mount Shasta is here in this book! The legends, the rumours of a UFO base within the insides of this mountain, Bigfoot sightings, etc. There are some great historical pictures in this book. The pictures and drawings are eye-candy to the reader. You will understand how Lemuria and Mu connect to this sacred mountain. There are so many stories you will take with you, after reading the book. Such as strange cattle that are seen in and around the mountain. How cigar shaped UFOs are seen going inside the mountain and out of the mountain. You will learn that Guy Ballard may have been the first person that mentioned that Lemurians resided inside of the mountain. You will understand why Wiccans, New Agers and just ordinary people are fascinated with this mountain. Timothy really places so much information in this one book. This is a book definitely to place on your personal library shelf! I will tell you one quick story. Did you know that the immortal Count Saint Germaine supposedly made an appearance on this sacred mountain in the early 20th century? That is just one more legend for this sacred mountain. If 'Mysteries of Mt. Shasta' transformed from a book to a movie, it would be the Summer blockbuster movie that everyone was waiting for!

Outer Limits Magazine Publication Review

Are you aware that 'Nessie' is protected by an old Inverness bylaw, and if you harm it, or god forbid, kill it you could be fined or imprisoned?!

Malcolm's fascination of all things Nessie is plainly obvious in this publication.

Tales of said critter/s from his father, inspired him to dive in to the history and mystery of the elusive beastie. Malcolm's fascination led to him being one of the few 'to go where not many men have gone before'. He travelled in a submarine deep below the waters of the Loch during 1994, in search of the monster. Malcolm also, and what may not be well known, is the planned hatched, jointly with movie mogul Steven Spielberg to capture 'Nessie' together.

Malcolm states from the beginning, that this publication is not a comprehensive list date by date, of everything that the people of, nor the visitors, to the Loch Ness area have experienced? The publication, Malcolm states in his introduction, is designed to encourage others to seek out the truth...

Beginning with a brief history of the formation of the famed loch, we soon find ourselves in chapter two and a potted history of many of the worlds historical 'sea serpents' are mentioned, some of which I discovered for the first time, thanks to Malcolm's careful and thorough research. As a part of this it's interesting to note that many early sightings of 'sea serpents' came from the land of the Vikings (Scandinavia), who sailed the oceans in their boats with prows containing magnificent sculptured dragons' heads and other such like monsters. Granted as Malcolm points out many of these earlier sightings from the days of uncharted waters could be nothing more than mistaken sightings. Having said that, if in ancient days, you saw a humpback whale breaching the surface of the sea would you not mistake it for a sea serpent, it could possibly have seemed such.

Malcolm also highlights both the two well-known Canadian lake monsters 'Champ' of Lake Champlain and 'Ogopogo' of Lake Okanagan and a new one to me, with the somewhat tongue in cheek name of 'Chessie' the Chesapeake USA, estuary based cousin. No matter where in the world, many areas claim similar lake and sea serpents, in fact there are far too many to name in this review.

Turning to the British Isles, we learn of some of the critters here such as the Lake District's 'Bownessie', Cornwall's 'Morgawr', we even have from Wales, 'Teggie' and the 'Afan'. Eire (Ireland to us non Celtic types) also shares many a fascinating tale of sea serpents and lake monsters.

History of the Loch Ness sightings begin according to reports highlighted in the publication, in or about the 6th century with accounts of St. Columba and continue to the present day. Malcolm provides a cacophony of many of the sightings, once again there are far too many to include in this brief review.

Of interest are many of the early reports of the modern era, Malcolm seems to have scoured many local archives to obtain important newspaper articles and reports, from 1802 onwards. Of particular interest is the report from 1868 (8th October) and a clipping from the Inverness Courier with what could be the earliest written reference to the tradition of something 'strange' in the Loch. Malcolm also includes many of the land sightings of the elusive beast. The 1930's in particular have a plethora of land sightings. Since photography became more available to the masses, as well as film, there have been many alleged images and minutes of filmed footage and video of 'Nessie', we are guided through these also...

Malcolm continues with a decade by decade appraisal of some of the more interesting sightings, until we reach the new millennium and the 2000's.

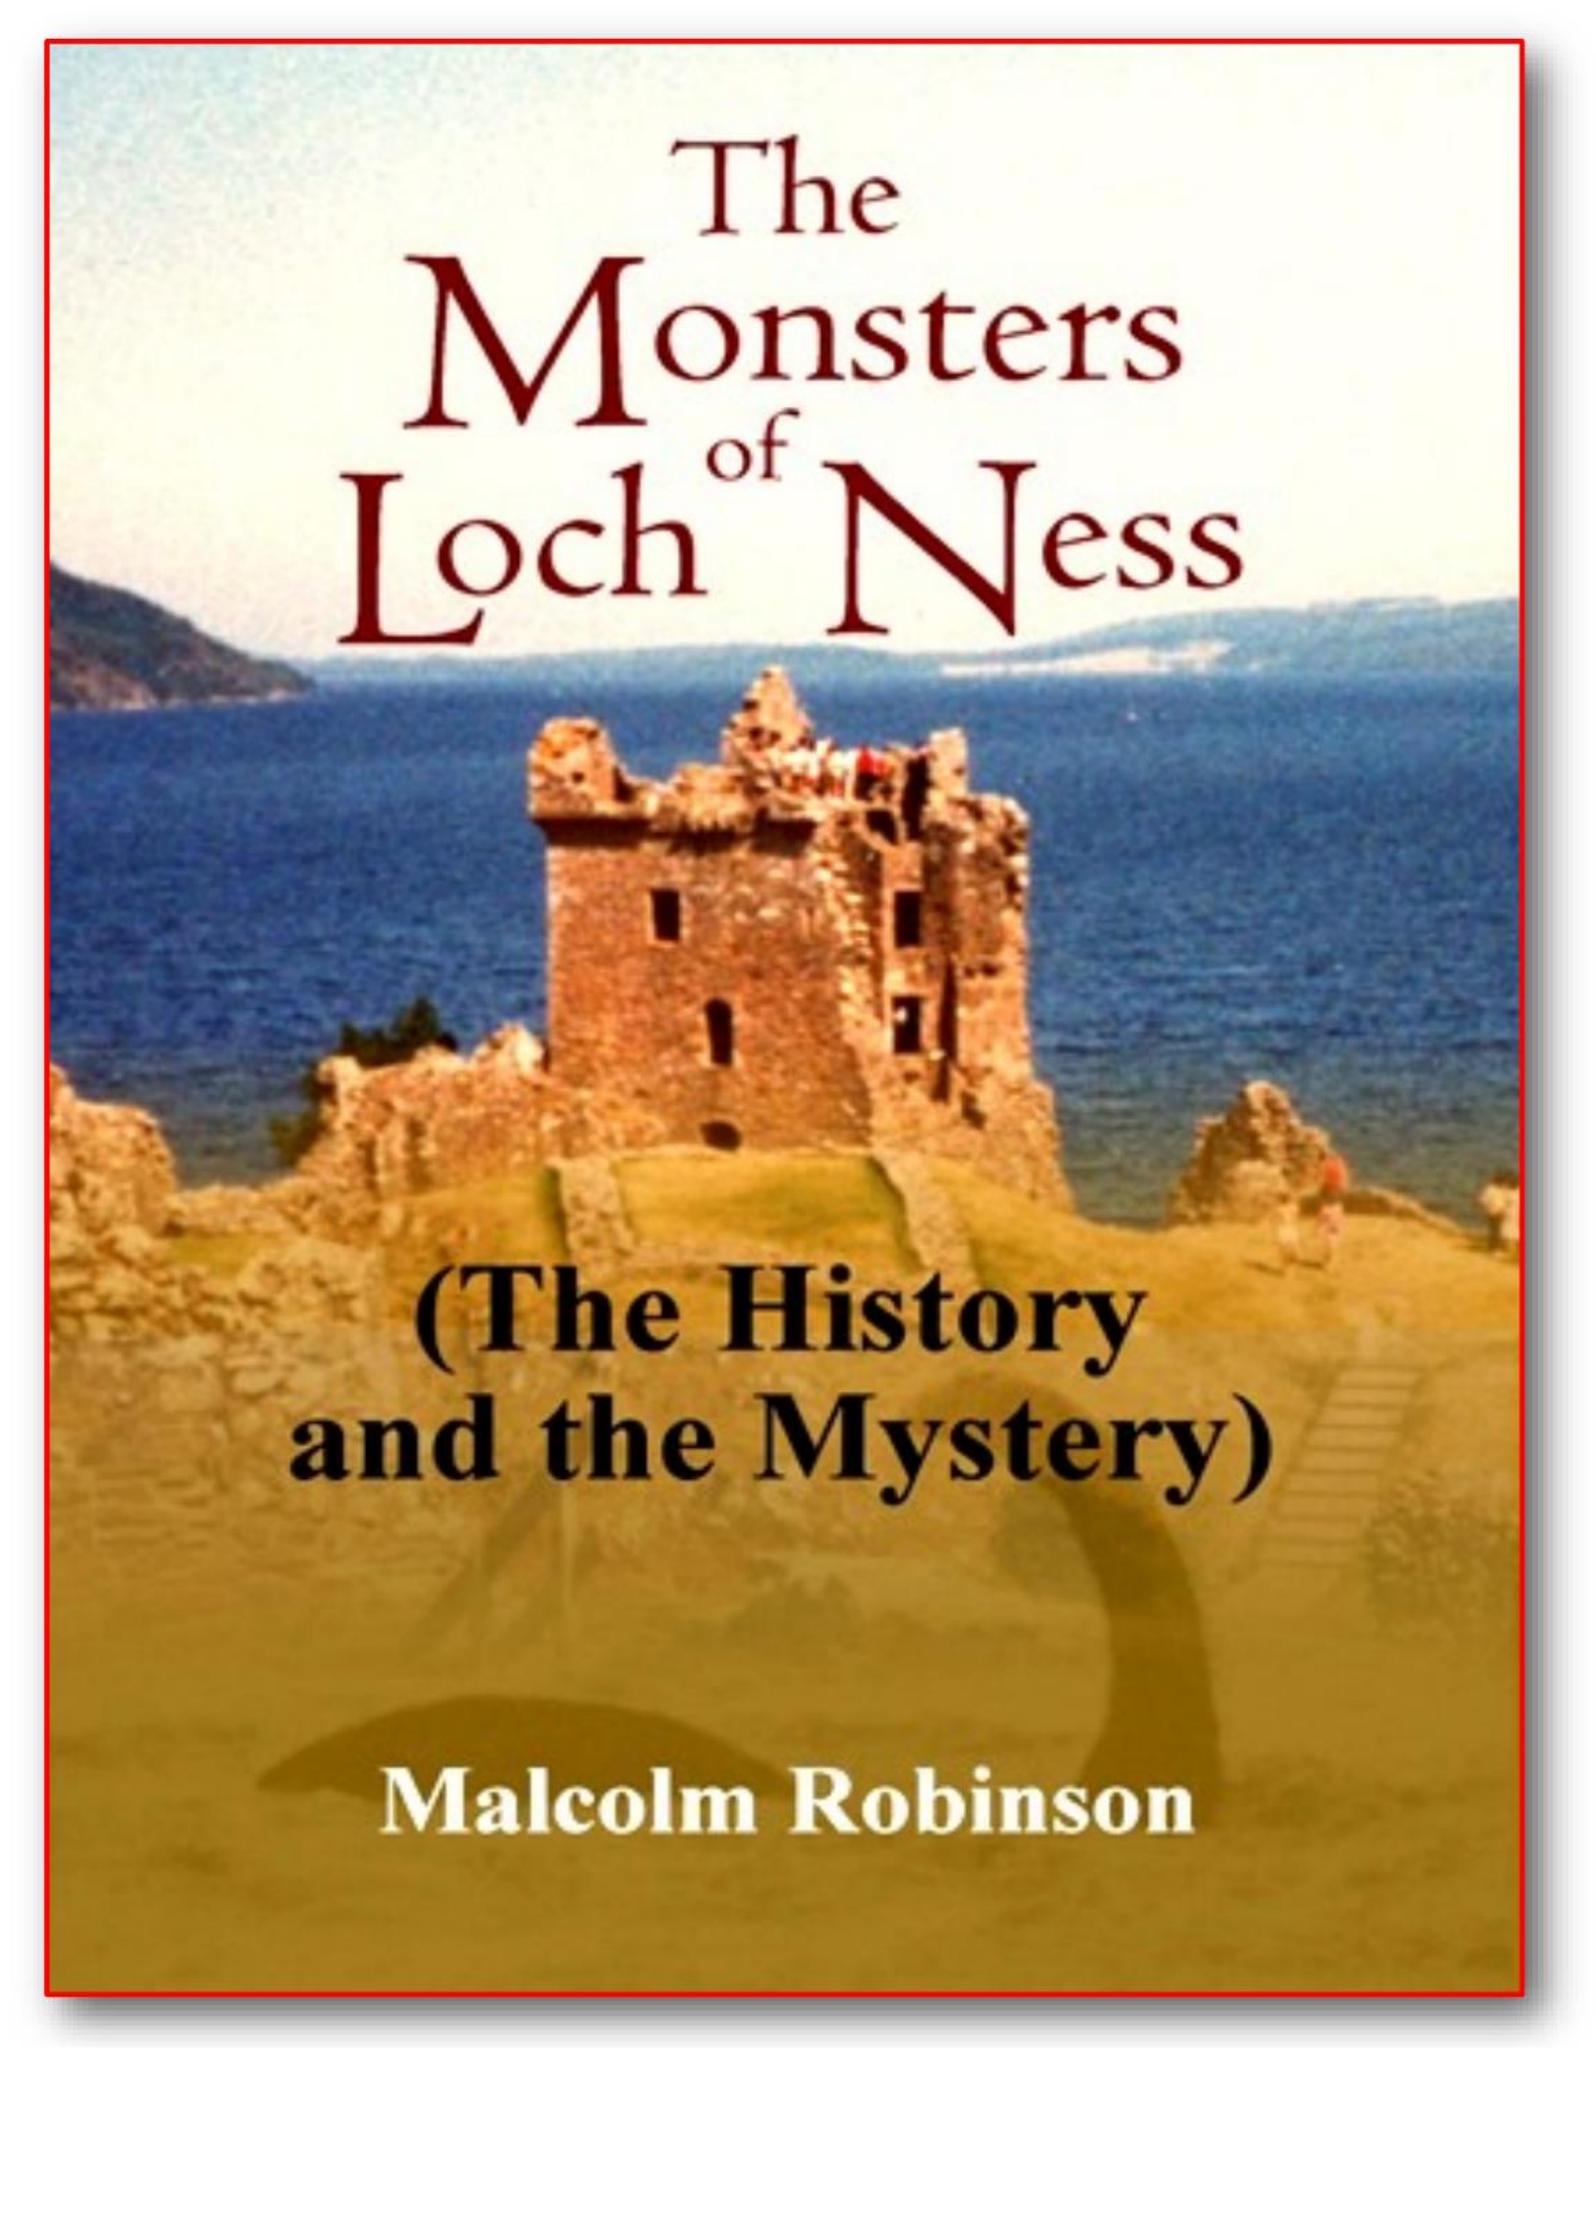

Once again Photographs are still being acquired such as the James Gray images. Mr Gray also provided a description of the unknown species, he was adamant it was NOT a seal. Roy Johnston also acquired another image the following year, August 21st to be precise. The piece also featured as a full page article in the Daily Mail.

Malcolm closes the book with his own final thoughts and conclusions, as he says: "without a doubt we can safely say that "there is something in Loch Ness, of that there is no question. What is in question is whether what is in Loch Ness lives under the surface waters of the Loch or on top of it!" To find out what Malcolm believes you will need to read and digest this well presented publication. Malcolm as endeavoured to provide all the relevant information and he provides several possible answers, from water fowl to eels, to elephants and deer crossing the murky waters of the Loch. BUT is he correct?

Well, you will just have to purchase The Monsters of Loch Ness (The History and the Mystery) to find out.

70th Anniversary CONFERENCE 1947 – 2017 The Lectures?

The Outer Limits Magazine's Conference to be held here in Kingston upon Hull on Saturday, 9th September 2017. Featuring five investigators and lectures available in what we consider to be the best in the ufo investigator and research field's right now.

LETS TAKE A SNEAK PEAK AT THEIR SUBJECTS FOR THE UPCOMING CONFERENCE...

Do not be disappointed book your tickets now and also if you are in the first 50 to do so either on line or via Pay pal
You get a chance to win a piece of UFO History!!

Veteran researcher and investigator, and now publisher, Philip Mantle (image left) should be well known to many both nationally here in the UK and to the global, ufo community, and now as our conference headline speaker he will present his own story in a fascinating talk, titled:

A LIFETIME OF UFO's

"For as long as I can remember I have always been interested in all things 'paranormal'. My involvement in active UFO research began in 1980 when I joined the Yorkshire UFO Society founded by Graham and Mark Birdsall (later editors of the UK version UFO Magazine). I have also been fortunate to be member of a variety of other UFO groups including the Independent UFO Network, British UFO Research Association (BUFORA) and the Mutual UFO Network. It was earlier this year that a well known UK, UFO Sceptic, posted on social that being involved with UFO-logy was a complete waste of time."

"I must admit that this made me think. During my nigh on forty years of involvement in UFO-logy I have investigated just about every type of UFO case you can think of.

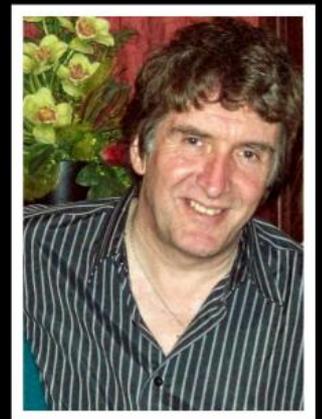

UFO landings, alien abductions, UFO photographs, to UFO sightings of every description. I shall highlight some of these events in my presentation and I shall leave it up to you the conference attendee, to decide if my involvement in the subject of UFO-logy has been a waste of time or not.

Associate Editor of this very magazine and also another renowned researcher who really needs no introduction, Malcolm Robinson, (image above right) will present a talk looking at so called

UFO HOTSPOTS FROM AROUND THE WORLD

Malcolm says: In this enlightening talk, UFO & Paranormal researcher Malcolm Robinson will discuss 'some' of the world's top amazing UFO Hot Spots or 'Window Areas' which seem to attract a higher concentration of UFO sightings than anywhere else on the globe. Why is this? What's going on? What makes these locations more noticeable for UFO sightings than any other location on the planet?

Malcolm Robinson will firstly discuss 'some' of the United Kingdom's UFO Hot Spots, namely, Bonnybridge in Central Scotland and Dyfed, West Wales. Following on from these locations Malcolm will take a look at, UFO Hot Spots such as, Gulf Breeze in Pensacola, The Nullabor Plains in Australia, Area 51 in the Nevada Desert, The Island of Puerto Rico, The Mysterious N. Triangle in Russia the infamous Skin walker Ranch near Utah and the amazing UFO sightings over Mexico and Hessdalen in Norway.

OUTER LIMITS MAGAZINE

The Freedom Centre

There is no denying that these UFO 'Hot Spots' are quite perplexing and have been for so many years. This power point presentation will show that there clearly is 'something' going on, but what! This will be a roller coaster hour of constant visual information which will certainly open up the eyes of the most hardened of sceptics. If you are into UFO's then this is a must see lecture, miss it at your peril.

Russel Callaghan, (image right) is a former editor of the UK UFO Magazine as well as UFO Data Magazine., which he and our Headline speaker Philip Mantle both co-produced.

A VIDEO REAPPRAISAL OF 70 YEARS OF UFOLOGY

Russel lectured at conferences in Europe, USA, and along with Graham Birdsall, delivered some of the most compelling video evidence with The Secret NASA Transmissions, The Journey and the extremely popular UFOs Hard Evidence series.

Russel presents many an argument as to the authenticity of some of the subjects most 'infamous' cases.

Russel, believes that there have been some VERY unexplained events over the years, but is everything actually what it seems? Russel, is a straight talking Yorkshire man with a slight hint of satire. Russel will present a fully illustrated journey through the last seventy years, featuring some of the most intriguing events.

Paul Sinclair (image left) may sound like a new name to the ufo-logical field but he has in fact, been investigated the subject for over 20 years.

"A few years ago whilst researching for my book, Truth Proof an elderly couple contacted me to say they witnessed a circle of blue glowing triangle craft over the sea. They say, 20 to 30 small glowing triangles, could this be real?

They claimed they watched them from their living room which looks directly over a secluded beach. They also said the army arrived the following day.

Their story sounded incredible, another 2 years would pass before I decided to look deeper in to their claims.

Someone totally unconnected to the elderly couple told me something similar. The locations were the same they both told of a military presence on the beach. Now I had something to work with. Armed with approximate dates and a rough idea of the years I began searching for clues to the alleged event.

Sure enough, and about the same time, chinook and lynx helicopters did arrive out of the blue one afternoon in September at 4pm. I have footage of the helicopters low over our home with the back ramp door half down observing me, the footage is dated.

I had no idea at the time it was connected with any of the above but the dates are the same. This footage of military helicopters shows these craft so low I could clearly see the men inside on the same dates. At the time of filming the helicopters, both East and North Yorkshire were experiencing a peek in UFO related sightings, my old web site ILF-UFO had been receiving ufo reports throughout the year but at that point I knew nothing about the elderly couples or their sightings. I closed the web site down sometime in 2013 due to family commitments that prevented me from devoting the time it deserved. However the force that is the internet decide to archive many of its pages, which is good for me as it backs up my claims of multiple ufo reports leading up to, and around the date of this ufo incident.

So my talk at the up coming Outer Limits Magazine conference, will give dates and locations. And be able to show the military helicopters above my home. And show the brief paper report that says where they landed etc. And I think I will have a whole lot more to report by conference time."

Mike Covell (image right) is a historian who as featured on TV nationally in programmes such as Most Haunted, and Most Haunted Live, Mike Covell will look at 70 years of UFOLOGY and beyond, with his lecture on a lifetime of research, featuring the infamous 1801 UFO sighting that made international headline news in 2015, the 1909 flap, the 1913 flap, the 1947 flap and countless cases between 1947 and 2017.

His research into the 2010 "Hull Hum," which made headline news that year, and investigation into the strange space rock that landed in a West Hull home will also feature.

Looking at cases involving the people, press and police, Mike will draw from his enormous archive of UFO reports, sightings, and official files from the National Archives and Hull History Centre.

All of this will be accompanied by photographs from Mike's extensive collection of files, photos, and other material relating to the cases that he shall discuss.

All in all the first Outer Limits Magazine conference, really does promise to open your eyes, and make you think.

By getting your tickets early you have a great chance of winning a piece of UFO History!

Outer Limits Magazine are proud to offer the first 50 people who purchase their conference tickets a chance to win and own a signed PIECE OF ufo HISTORY directly from the movie, FIRE IN THE SKY. Based on abductee Travis Walton's own story...

Russia's USO Secrets

Unidentified Submersible Objects in Russian and International Waters

By Paul Stonehill and Philip Mantle

Richard Dolan Press, 2016, 186 pages, illustrated, index, paperback.

Reviewed by Nigel Watson

We live on an ocean planet, so it is not surprising that UFOs are seen over or in the vicinity of the great expanses of water that surround us. Certainly it would make sense that alien visitors would want to explore them, and some ufologists believe that they have built underwater bases.

Stonehill and Mantle show that USOs are not a new phenomenon. For example, in 1065 AD, in ancient Ukraine, a star was regularly seen after sunset in the west, projecting blood red rays. In the same period fisherman rescued a terrifying looking child from their nets. It was so frightening in appearance that they threw it back in the river Setoml, and the sun subsequently dimmed.

Later, on 15 August 1663 AD, a great noise was heard over the Robozero Lake, 50 kilometres southwest of Belozersk, followed by a huge 40 metre diameter flaming sphere that sent two beams of light into the lake. The sighting could have been due to a meteor or ball lightning, but an expedition led by Candidate of Science, E. Gorshkove in 1982, found evidence that something had discharged high levels of energy in the area where this was seen.

Nearer our own time, on 9th August 1845, the commander of the Agamemnon brig whilst sailing in the Baltic Sea near Bornholm Island saw a 'powerful flame bursting out from the water with numerous sparkles'. One explanation was that this was caused by an underwater volcano, but Admiral Mikhail Petrovich Lazarev thought it was linked to a sighting of a meteor on 13th August near Dagerort Lighthouse, hurricanes and northern lights seen in Stockholm. Ufologists have also lumped these phenomena together to conclude that UFO craft crashed into the Baltic Sea during the summer of 1845.

In our modern era, many sightings of UFOs have been made over or near Russian waters. These sightings drew the attention of the USSR Navy, no doubt due to the possibility that they were enemy craft. Yet, some high-ranking officers believed that they were of an extra-terrestrial origin. For example, Major-General V. Demyanenko, commander of the Russian Military Diver Service alleged that during exercises in Lake Baikal during 1982 his frogmen had seen a group of underwater swimmers.

These swimmers were 3 metre tall humanoids, who only wore tight-fitting silvery suits and sphere-like helmets. They were at a depth of 50 metres in freezing water. Therefore, it was impossible they were of a human origin.

A team of 7 divers was assembled to investigate the matter, and they were able to capture one of the swimmers in a net. Unfortunately, a powerful force threw the divers to the surface and the creature got away. Even worse, the rapid decompression they experienced caused 3 of the men to die and the rest to become disabled. As a consequence, the USSR Ministry of Defence produced a bulletin listing sightings of similar creatures, light phenomena seen emanating from the depths and reports of giant spheres and discs visiting lakes, with the intent of warning against making any 'unnecessary encounters'.

That is certainly one of the best 'one that got away' stories and makes us wonder if it is any more literally true than the story of the terrifying child thrown back into the river by those frightened fishermen.

Navy personnel also reported USOs moving too fast, deep and irregular to be conventional craft in the area of the Bermuda Triangle. Similar sonar contacts also troubled the Russian nuclear submarines of the Northern Fleet. To satisfy the KGB, who always wanted 'explanations', these detections were explained as marine life.

On 2 August 1965, there was no ambiguity about the origin of the USO spotted by the crew of the steamship Raduga. They saw a 60 metre diameter sphere blast out of the water and hover 150 metres above the Red Sea. Some local fishermen in a motorboat were much closer to the object, and it caused so much turbulence in the water that one of them was drowned. A few months later 3 of the fishermen died, which might have been due to their exposure to the USO?

These intriguing reports are divided by region, and for better clarity it would have been handy to have included a few more maps of the sighting locations and a chronological listing of the types of sightings. I would also have liked a bit more analysis of the reports, but these are minor quibbles as it does meet the authors' goal of providing us with an impressive review of the evidence for Russian USOs.

STATEMENT FROM MALCOLM ROBINSON

AND

KEVIN GOODMAN

UFO & Paranormal researchers, Malcolm Robinson and Kevin Goodman have set up a Facebook site with the object to provide all those researchers who give lectures here in the U.K. a platform to showcase their talks to interested parties with a view to them being selected to present lectures at venues up and down the country.

Please note, this will be a purely British Facebook site provided for speakers, which will showcase what their topics are and how people can contact them to give talks to their club or society etc...

This site will NOT be for posting UFO & paranormal items. Its purpose, as I say, will be to provide a vehicle for people who are looking for guest speakers to speak at their event to find those speakers here on this 'One Stop Shop Site' If you give lectures in the U.K. on UFOs and the paranormal subjects then please can you provide me with your details.

We need the talks you give and a few paragraphs of what they are about. We need a head and shoulders photograph of you, and of course we need your contact details and also,

Your lecture subjects. (2 to 6 paragraphs per subject)

How long your lecture lasts for.

Do you provide your own equipment? i.e., a laptop, projection screen, projector.

Do you use a flipchart, OHP or anything else for your presentation?

What fee, if any, do you normally charge for your lectures?
Would you be travelling to venues by car or train?
Would you require a fee for either a B&B or Hotel. (Daft question I know but we have to ask it.)

We require a head and shoulders photo of you.

We require your paranormal C.V. eg, what you have done with the media and past speaking engagements. (sell yourself).

How people can contact you, your mobile number, e-mail address etc.

So Kevin Goodman and I are looking for speakers who give lectures on the following subjects.

UFOs
Ghosts
Poltergeists
Life After Death
Near Death Experiences.
Psychic Phenomena
Cryptozoology
The Loch Ness Monsters.
Conspiracies. 9-11, Moon Landings etc.
All major (and minor) paranormal mysteries.

Indeed, the bottom line is any weird and wonderful subject which science has yet to explain, if you lecture on it, we want to hear from you.

So there we have it, over to you. My aim is to share this speaker's web site far and wide and give an opportunity to those clubs and societies who are looking to book a speaker on subjects of this nature.

This site will give them all they need. A one stop shop for public speakers. Please note, that as far as payment for any society that books you goes, that would need to be taken up by yourself with them. That would have to be a discussion between you and the client.

This site is only the vehicle to get your lecture services out there. I think that it's about time that Great Britain had a site of this nature and it's through you, those stalwarts of investigative research that can make this happen. Let's hear from you.

Please contact Kevin Goodman and Malcolm Robinson at ukufospeakers@yahoo.co.uk

Our site can be viewed at:

The SPI Files!

By Malcolm Robinson

The Ghostly Photograph!

UNUSUAL GHOST/SPIRIT (!)

PHOTOGRAPH FROM THE 1980'S

Andrew Burlington & Malcolm Robinson.

I said before that I receive many photographs claiming to show ghostly phenomena and spirit manifestations, the vast majority of them turn out to have natural explanations. I was sent this photograph recently from Andrew Burlington who asked my opinion on it.

Firstly, let's see what he had to say about the photograph itself.

"Dear Malcolm",

"The attached photo was taken in my house sometime in the mid-80s. My dad was trying to photograph me on our landing, where I used to sit and play games on my Sinclair ZX Spectrum computer and the result was shocking, to say the least.

No one has ever been able to come up with an explanation as to what it could be, but when I showed the picture to Sean David Morton around two years ago, he said it was a ghost. The second picture of me holding the photo was found in my sister's photo album in April last year (I photographed it with my mobile phone). Judging by the clothes I am wearing and my hairstyle, I think it must've been taken around 2-3 years after the original photo was taken. It proves how much of an impact it had on me as a child.

Sean David Morton said he now uses the photo in his presentations. Ben Emlyn-Jones was also impressed by it. I heard you mention ghosts at the UFO Truth Magazine Southern Conference four weeks ago, so I thought I would share it with you" (See issue 1 for the conference review by Malcolm Robinson Ed)

Yours sincerely,

Andrew Burlington

As the above e-mail told me just the basics of the taking of the photograph, I asked Andrew if he could supply me with more details. He also asked my thoughts as to what was on the photograph. Here is my reply to him.

"Dear Andrew"

"Firstly, many thanks for sending me your 'ghost photo. Yes I am very interested in this subject far more than UFOs if truth be told. OK you ask my thoughts as to what it might be, well here goes".

"Well it's very, very similar to many photographs that I see. Wispy smoke like swirls which are part and parcel of ghostly phenomena. Some (not all) can be explained away by the flash of the camera hitting the dangling camera strap which does look very strange.

I don't think that this is the case here due to the angle of the tapered light. Other explanations are that it is light getting into the camera (this does happen) or an insect flying quickly in front of the lens of the camera, again another commonplace occurrence. And of course lastly it just might be ghostly phenomenon!"

"I would need to know the following as with your permission I would like to use this story in our Outer Limits Internet magazine".

- 1) "To your knowledge, was the house haunted and you or your family ever experienced anything in there".
- 2) "Can you remember the make and model of the camera"?
- 3) "Have you personally ever seen a ghost"?
- 4) "Is this the only time that your father has captured a strange light on a picture"?
- 5) "Please confirm the street and town where this photo was taken".

"In the main a very interesting photo and like Ben, with your permission I'd also like to include it in my talk of ghostly photographs (I have literally hundreds of them"?)

With best wishes.

Andrew replied with.

Apologies for the slow reply. To my knowledge the house isn't haunted, but there were one or two unexplainable occurrences back in the 80's like things going missing and turning up in unusual places and just a year or two ago, my parents experienced two possible apparitions in their bedroom.

I've never seen a ghost in the house, but sometimes our cat seems to see things that we don't, especially at the top of the stairs. I asked my dad about the camera he used to take the photo and he's pretty certain it was a Minolta, but unfortunately he can't remember the exact model. All I can tell you is, it was a compact camera.

There is another photo of me standing outside the house with a streak of light next to me. It was taken years later with a completely different camera. If I find it, I will forward it to you. The house is in Cliffview Road, Lewisham. You have my permission to use the picture in your talk of ghostly photographs.

Many thanks.

Yours sincerely,

Andrew Burlington

Andrew in a further e-mail to me had this to say.

“Dear Malcolm”,

“I sent the following message to Sean David Morton after he played Amazing Grace on his radio show a few months ago. He played it because he believed that Robert Dean had passed away because of false rumours going around on Facebook. I am curious to know if you have heard of this type of paranormal activity before”.

Yours sincerely,

Andrew Burlington

“Dear Sean”,

“Did I ever tell you what happened on the night my grandmother passed away in the summer of 1996? Around an hour after she died, my parents were getting into their car outside the care home where she had been living when they heard Amazing Grace played on bagpipes from start to finish. They searched the whole area, but were unable to pinpoint where the music was coming from.

The time was 3:00am and it was playing loudly. My grandfather, who was tragically killed in a motorcycle accident at the age of 26, served in a Scottish regiment during World War II. My parents are convinced the music they heard that night was a message from the other side.

My aunt also heard the music playing. Coincidentally, Robert Dean had a similar experience before going into battle one time. He spoke about it with Kerry Cassidy. The music he heard was Grieg Piano Concerto”.

Yours sincerely,

Andrew Burlington

The above of course could be just pure coincidence as these things do happen. But what if it was indeed a sign from the other side! I guess we'll never really know.

DEVON UFOs AND GHOSTS A BIZARRE INVESTIGATION. A BLAST FROM THE PAST

PREAMBLE

OK, I thought I'd take you on a wee trip back through time to let you know of a case that I sure found interesting as it had both UFOs and Ghosts in the same location.

When I lived in London a few years ago, I assisted BUFORA (The British UFO Research Association) with one of their investigations, and this one took myself and another research colleague Jane Jones (pseudonym) down to Devon to work on a most peculiar case. This case not only had information concerning UFOs, but also contained elements relating to ghosts.

Due to witness confidentiality, I cannot disclose in which particular town in Devon these incidents took place, nor am I at liberty to disclose the true identities of those individuals involved. What I can do is give a brief outline of what happened. For now though, here are some of the salient details.

DEVON INVESTIGATION. Saturday
11th July 1998.

Researchers: Jane Jones. Malcolm Robinson.

It took us just under 5 hours to reach our destination in Devon, in conditions that were wet and wild to say the least. Arriving at the location, we were met by witness, B.P. who made us feel most welcome, after which we sat down to hear a most fascinating tale of the strange goings on that has occurred in the witnesses home.

B.P. informed us that these strange events started in November 1991, and consisted mostly of ghostly manifestations in his home. It was around this time that all family members found it hard trying to sleep. B.P. related the time in which he woke up with 'something' pushing against his chest. He couldn't see what was causing this pressure. Most strange events tended to occur between the times of 03:00am and 03:30am, and all family members felt and sensed that 'something else' was in their room with them.

One night, B.P.'s wife woke up and saw what appeared to be four 'people' in her room. The only thing was, they were transparent and were wearing what appeared to be old fashioned clothing. Incredibly though, standing further back from them, was what she described as a tall 'grey' creature, similar it must be said, to the oft-reported greys of UFO lore. Footsteps could also be heard pacing the hallway during the night, footsteps which couldn't be accounted for by any member of the family.

B.P. also stated that on some occasions he could smell the faint aroma of tobacco smoke, yet nobody in the house smoked. (B.P. and his son used to be smokers but gave it up some years ago).

B.P.'s son also told us that on one occasion, in the early hours of the morning, he encountered a strange 'being' or 'thing' standing in his doorway. He could only describe it as looking something very similar to the children's cartoon character, 'Captain Caveman'.

Unnerved, he pushed against this 'presence' and told us that it felt as if he was pushing against warm jelly, or warm air, but that there was a distinct substance to it. He said that it had long, straggly hair and looked decidedly hideous. After a few seconds, this presence started to decompose, as if to frighten him even more, and then just 'melted away' and was gone. As the weeks progressed, more and more mysterious events unfolded in the home, and deciding that enough was enough, the family sought out the services of a Spiritualist who visited their home and conducted some form of 'cleansing ceremony'.

This appeared to work for a few days, and things were decidedly quiet, but sadly events erupted again. B.P. went on to inform Jane and I of the time when the family heard distinct moaning and screaming coming from the son's bedroom, noises which were full of cursing and obscenities.

Their initial thought was that their son had lost control and was upset at something, then they realised that their son wasn't at home! Upon entering their 26 year old son's bedroom, the terrified couple encountered....nothing!

On another occasion, B.P.'s son was coming home when he observed that all over the house were streaks of light. "It was like a laser-light show", he said. He also saw these streaks of light in some of the rooms in his house as he approached ever closer. B.P. and his wife have also seen what they call 'balls of light' appearing in their home.

They are the size of tennis balls, although on other occasions they appear to be the size of ping pong balls. These lights will move around the house and then suddenly 'pop' into nothing. At no time have any members of the family been able to touch these balls of light. They again called for the Spiritualist chap to visit their house, where he again conducted a cleansing ceremony. This time it appeared to work, for no more apparitions were encountered, although the family did state, that although they have not encountered any ghosts over the past few years, they can still 'sense' them! It was around the time that the ghosts began to depart, that B.P.'s son started to encounter the typical small grey appearing in his bedroom.

He said that on a number of occasions he would wake up to find this small head with those big black wrap-around eyes, looking at him. But it was the way in which this head looked over him that proved most interesting to him. He stated that it moved in a very peculiar manner. B.P.'s wife also informed us of the time in which she had a strange dream, a dream of meeting, (as she called it), 'aliens'.

Upon waking up, she experienced a painful feeling on the side of her head. Over the course of the next few days, her hair all fell out on this spot, and she was left with a small circular 'bald spot' on her head. She went to the doctor about this, but he was unable to offer her an explanation.

However, her hair did return, but incredibly, not as you would normally have it. It grew back pure white! Thankfully, her normal hair colour did come back eventually.

It was around this time that B.P. was in a situation which warranted the use of hypnosis. He couldn't recall where certain important documents were, and as they were vitally important to his legal 'situation', he felt that he should perhaps use hypnosis in an effort to retrieve those memories. And so he went along to visit a female hypnotherapist. However, this visit was to prove more incredible than he could ever imagine. For under hypnosis, B.P. related seeing 'alien creatures' with large cat-like eyes.

He also told of seeing a saucer-like craft which contained a door or a hatch, and which was dark inside. He saw what looked like a radar screen in front of him, and then felt that he was travelling in this craft and seeing clouds passing below him as he looked out of a window. This and other recollections came tumbling out during his hypnosis session. I should point out, that prior to this hypnosis session, B.P. had never witnessed any what could be termed 'aliens' in or around his home, and he still hasn't. It was only under hypnosis that these strange events unfolded.

The family had no prior interest in UFOs, hadn't bought any books, but admitted to watching the odd T.V. show concerning them. At one point, as B.P. was relating these events, he started rubbing his head and complained of a 'soreness' just above the eyes. This only lasted a few minutes and then it subsided. One of the most fascinating episodes that B.P. related concerned the time in which the whole family encountered something strange in B.P.'s bedroom.

Things had become so bad that the family had started sleeping in the one bedroom. The mother and father slept in the main bed, whilst the son slept on a mattress at the side of the bed. This night B.P. woke up to find the whole room lit up by a shimmering glow.

He awoke his son, and as the son diverted his gaze in the direction of the main source of light, he claimed to have seen a large grey 'being'. (B.P. did not see this being). They both looked at the mother, who was lying flat on the bed with her arms outstretched with her eyes shut. She was mumbling something but they couldn't make out what.

As it later transpired, they found out that just prior to them seeing this strange light, the mother had in fact, been dreaming of seeing this 'alien' in her bedroom and tried to wake up to tell both her son and husband. Anyway, a few seconds later, this swirling, misty light-effect rolled up into a ball, as if a large vacuum cleaner was sucking at it. It then dissolved into a small funnel of light, and with a 'pop' was gone!

These are but some of the points that came out of our investigation into this case. So, ghosts and aliens in the same room! I'd be interested to hear of any readers who have had similar stories.

BOW-LEGGED BRIGHAM - THE GHOST OF AMADOR CENTRAL RAILROAD

Danielle Mesa of Jackson, CA makes claim that she saw a bow-legged man walking around near the railroad tracks of Ione and Martell on August 27, 2016, around 8pm. She kept her eye on this bow-legged man because she thought he was acting suspicious. The bow-legged man kept looking at the railroad tracks. Danielle thought he was going to place an object on the tracks to cause the train to derail. As she watched the bow-legged man, he simply vanished. Danielle realized she just saw a ghost! Danielle told me this story on the paranormal hotline. It was odd to receive this call, because two years ago, I received a report from Douglas Carter in Sonora and he told me that he once saw the bow-legged man walking the tracks and when he told the story to his grandmother, she told him that he saw the ghost of Bowleg Brigham. Douglas grandmother said that Bowleg Brigham was a friend of the family and that Bowleg Brigham was a hobo outlaw that rode the Amador Central Railroad train in 1904. Bowleg was a good friend of Arizona Jack and committed some petty thefts with Arizona Jack in Bed Springs, Kansas Territory. When Arizona Jack was lynched for a murder that he committed is when Bowleg Brigham decided it was time to go back to California and ride the train and live the rest of his life as a hobo. Douglas grandmother says that he stole a small satchel of gold and hid that gold along the railroad tracks. If you see Bowleg Brigham walking the tracks looking down it's because he is still looking for his gold.

THE GHOSTLY BUS CHILDREN SOUTH OF SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS

Railroad tracks throughout the world seem to be a hotspot for paranormal activity. Case example. Just south of San Antonio, Texas, in a neighbourhood near the San Juan Mission, there is an intersection of roadway and railroad track that has become infamous and notorious in ghost legend. On this intersection, the legend goes that it was the site of an infamous tragedy. The legend is about 20 years old and the story is unfounded, making the story an urban legend. The story is retold and retold and various details change in the story. The basis of the story is that in the 1930s or 1940s a school bus full of children were heading down the road towards the intersection. The bus gets stalled on the tracks and a speeding train smashes into the bus killing 10 children and the bus driver.

Since that horrible tragedy, any car stopped near the railroad tracks will be pushed by unseen hands across the tracks to safety. Legend has it that the ghostly children of that tragedy will push the cars across the tracks to keep the driver and passengers safe from any accident or tragedy. Now there are many people that flock to this site, to see if this legend is really true. Case example: The driver stops the cars some 20 to 30 yards from the tracks and places the car in neutral gear. Some even turn off their engines. And sure enough, even though it appears that the road is on an upward grade, the car begins to roll. It rolls slowly first, then steadily gaining speed -- seemingly of its own accord and against gravity -- up and over the tracks. This has been tested time and time again, and cars really do roll up and over the tracks -- every time. I wonder if this is like the Mystery Spot in Santa Cruz in which steel balls will roll uphill, defying gravity? Also people will use talcum or baby powder to sprinkle over the car's trunk and rear bumper. They will see tiny fingerprints and hand prints that will appear in the powder. People believe they are seeing the hand prints of the ghost children pushing the car. There are many people who will attest that they are seeing the evidence of small children's hand prints in the powder.

THE STRANGE CASE OF AN UNWANTED VISITOR

(By Malcolm Robinson)

When I give lectures around Europe I always get people who come up to me afterwards wanting to tell me of their own personal strange experiences. One such person came up to me after I had given a lecture at the UFO TRUTH Magazine Conference at the High Elms Manor near Watford in April 2016. Basically the lady told me the following bizarre story. The strange events started to occur to Brenda (pseudonym) between the ages of 2 years to 6 years which would make it from around 1966 to 1972. She lived at that time in Meir which was a district within Rio de Janeiro Brazil but she also has a vague memory of something occurring at her holiday home at Sepetiba a coastal town to the west of Rio.

At the time she was being visited by a strange little 'being' in the night this 'being' was small in stature and had big black eyes but not like the often reported greys of UFO lore. This 'being' had a little mouth, long arms and some sort of black triangle type peak on its forehead, in effect, but that she ponders might have been hair (it looked a little like a penguin, could this have been a screen memory!) Strange as though it may seem, she can't remember being taken only that her little friend would leave her in the hall next to her bedroom from where 'he'! (this strange 'creature') would leave via the kitchen door out into the enclosed courtyard. (Bedrooms on ground floor) Brenda has a vague memory of lying on a table with two tall 'beings' and three short 'beings' moving around her but she is unsure if this memory is really a dream or of a real experience. One of the more noticeable things about these experiences was the bright light that introduced this 'being' and the lack of any external noise when this was happening. One of the aspects which is consistent with other UFO abduction tales was that Brenda could communicate without talking! Some form of telepathy was being used which as a young child she found surprising.

However, the reason why Brenda approached me after my lecture was to tell me that what I had shown on screen regarding a Scottish UFO Abduction case (The A70 case) had shocked her as when I shown a can shaped device this looked was quite similar to what she had seen when she was a young child. She saw a small rectangular machine which looked stainless steel in appearance this device gave off a metallic sound. As stated this is extremely similar to the device I showed at my lecture (see drawings here) this device also made a metallic sound. She also told me that when she was in her twenties, she was awoken one night with light streaming through her window she looked out the window and was just aware of the light, nothing else. She went on to say that she went to the toilet and when she came back into the room it was all dark she went back to bed and straight back to sleep. I was informed that Brenda sometimes has a sense of being scared for no apparent reason and she cannot understand why. She also says that her time with her little friend was always a good time with warmth and care.

MALCOLM'S COMMENTS

I believe that we are dealing with a recognisable phenomenon something not of this world what they are up to, who knows! I believe that there are different races visiting this planet each with their own agenda. I believe that Brenda truly has had these experiences, they were not childish imaginations and were meant for her alone. The why part, is why Brenda and not the young girl next door? Could this be that Brenda was very receptive to a contact such as this and as so, was perfect for this to happen? We may then ask but why, what was coming out of such a contact? and this is where it gets difficult for me as a researcher to explain the contacts stopped as quickly as they started. The strange shape of the being might not be its true form and was what we call a 'screen memory' showing Barbara not the true form of what it was. Could it have been one of those so called greys! At the end of the day, even chaps like me don't hold all the answers. Anyway, thought I would share this one with you lovely readers. My thanks to Brenda's partner John for providing me with some of the above information

ANCIENT GREEK GODS 10 REASONS THEY WERE ALIENS

BY DIANE TESSMAN

Were the Greek gods actually a group of humanoid extraterrestrials or perhaps humans from our future, who settled in ancient Greece and proceeded to install themselves as gods? There are a number of intriguing reasons why this theory might be so!

Reason One: The Greek gods threw lightning bolts.

Might “lightning bolts” have been laser or even scalar technology? There are many present day UFO sightings linked to lightning storms; it seems that the plasma corridors on which lightning travels, might also be used by advanced craft. As a variation, there is a theory that some UFOs seem to be composed of plasma or morphing liquid metal. Other researchers have suggested that the beings themselves are a form of plasma life.

There is another hint that lightning might be controlled or harnessed by UFO occupants: Apollo 12 was hit just after take-off by not one but two lightning bolts. Apollo 12 was the first of the later Apollo missions to the moon; rumour got out that after the Apollo 11 moon landing, aliens were warning humankind not to return to the moon. Astronauts on later missions encountered strange lights, colours and objects on the moon. Were lightning bolts an early warning from “the gods”?

Reason Two: The Greek gods kept themselves separate from common people. They resided on or in Mount Olympus, a perfect base of operations.

Just as today, the people knew the gods existed, they had great power, and they influenced life on Earth, but the gods could not be captured or contacted or reasoned with. It was always up to the gods to initiate contact or communication with the Greek people.

Reason Three: The Greek gods occasionally had encounters or manifestations with the common people.

These events, for all intents and purposes, are UFO encounters. The more frightening encounters with the gods could be called “abductions.” Why did the gods stage abductions and encounters? The gods also chose specific humans for sexual experiences or extended personal contact. The parallel with present day UFO occupants is apparent.

Reason Four: When taken by the gods, the common person felt an “Oz factor” about their experience.

UFO researcher Jenny Randles has coined the term “Oz factor” to explain the zone of silence and other-worldliness which descends on those experiencing a UFO encounter. Some abductees feel paralyzed. Others feel no fear at all when it makes sense that there would be fear or hesitation even in the most adaptable of experiencers. The phenomena of missing time can be found in accounts told by the ancient Greek people as well as in the accounts of UFO abductees in the present day.

Reason Five: The Greek gods rode chariots across the skies. The Greek people must have witnessed these vehicles and incorporated them into what they could identify in their own cultural context.

Reason Six: The Greek gods were a mixed group, not all were human-like.

There was an array of “demi-gods” and “monsters,” which might have been genetic experiments. The concept of a chimera began in the days of the Greek gods and describes any mythical or fictional animal with parts taken from various animals, or to describe anything composed of disparate parts.

Genetic experiments? Today we stand on the threshold of incredible genetic advancements, for good or ill. There are 20 natural amino acids, the building blocks of life, but thanks to the creation of two artificial DNA letters, added to the 4 natural DNA letters, we now have 172 amino acids with which to play. Today, we have the ability to create new and bizarre forms of life. Did the Greek gods have similar bio/genetic technology? The ancient gods had what might have been a variety of extra-terrestrial races:

Amazons - skilful female warriors
Charities - goddesses of Joy, Charm and Beauty
Muses - goddesses of Art and Science,
The Pleiades - gods of the mountains
The Nymphs - gods of nature, and the winds

Is this how the identifying characteristics of other advanced species were described to the common humans? For instance, The Pleiades were stationed inside the mountain. The Muses excelled at science.

Reason Seven: Reports of gods intermingling with humans run throughout Greek mythology. These couplings with both human males and females were controlled by the gods – where, when, how. Today, we hear about UFO occupants taking eggs, sperm or tissue samples from humans. The scenario is always under the control of the UFO occupants; humans do not have a say-so in when, where, or why.

Reason Eight: Hybrid children resulted from the mingling of god and human DNA. Those beings who resulted from this mingling were indeed “less” than the gods but they were more advanced than the common person. Achilles and Hercules are two hybrid examples.

A “hero” (hybrid) might have ongoing contact with the gods. Today, many people who have had an encounter feel that they have ongoing experiences with the UFO occupants whom they originally met and some feel they have a life on a star ship running parallel to their human lifetime.

It was said that the gods lived inside humanoid bodies with an ethereal fluid called ichor running through their veins. They had passions and human weaknesses; they did many wrong acts but usually had to take full responsibility of their actions. Perhaps keeping a connection with the human with whom they first worked is part of that responsibility.

Reason Nine: If the Greek gods were wounded or ill, they seemed to have better medical services available than did the common humans. Of course the Greek people just assumed the gods could not be wounded as badly as humans. UFO occupants probably have medical knowledge far ahead of ours; both ETs and gods are said to have healing abilities, of course this might just be access to advanced medicine.

Reason Ten: The Greek gods seemed not to age like common humans and might have been immortal – or close to it.

We do not know the life spans of the UFO occupants. It probably varies by species, but even today, we live longer than did our grandparents who did not have the medical expertise of which we can avail ourselves today. However clearly, we have a long way to go; we haven’t even found the cure for various cancers. We have not yet found the cure for Alzheimer’s or the common cold. It can be assumed that in the future, we will live longer than we do now.

We stand on the precipice of artificial intelligence; it is likely that AI will gain actual self-awareness (consciousness) in a few years and then quickly surpass organic humans in knowledge and abilities. Android bodies will offer near immortality to the once organic human race; an alternate option will be to upload one’s intelligence into a virtual program. Did the Greek gods gain superiority over humans because they were artificial intelligence?

The idea that the Greek gods were time traveling humans from perhaps a thousand years in the future is an intriguing possibility. After all, the descriptions of the actual gods and goddesses were not extra-terrestrials of the “ET” kind; they were the “golden human” type of UFO beings.

Or perhaps the gods were an alien space-going race who landed on Earth and began the classic Greek Civilization.

Or perhaps the common Greek people simply made it all up because we humans are a creative and imaginative race.

However, I have a suspicion that we have never been alone.

UFOs OVER ROMANIA

DAN D. FARCAS PH.D.

Book Review

UFOs over Romania

Dan D. Farcas Ph.D.

Another much needed and long overdue regional study and in the English language! Renown Romanian UFOlogists Dan Farcas new book "UFOs over Romania" covers a region (country) with a rich history of unusual phenomena and "legends" i.e. Vlad the Impaler which the character Count Dracula was supposedly modelled after. UFOs have always been around Romania, however this was little known in the West, except for a few and far between cases which publications such as Flying Saucer Review and The APRO Bulletin made known. And this not for a lack of many well-qualified UFO researchers from that country top among them the late Calin Turcu which I was lucky to correspond with back in the late 90's.

Dan Farcas has done an excellent job in illustrating the rich UFOlogical history of his native country Romania, covering early cases (so-called pre-Arnold) which were indeed abundant in Romania, the extensive photographic evidence is also covered, landings, trace cases and most importantly various baffling Humanoid or CE3 cases, some known in the west, but most unknown.

And of he covers other aspects of the close encounter phenomenon such as bedroom visitations, abductions and many high-strangeness episodes. The folkloric and religious aspect is also expertly detailed. Important Romanian UFO Organizations, such as RUFORS, and ASFAN which are still active are also extensively. I highly recommend this essential UFOlogical masterpiece, is full of important necessary information.

Paranormal Warnings!

THE SUNSHINE SKYWAY BRIDGE COLLAPSE: PARANORMAL WARNINGS AND MOTHMAN

BY DIANE TESSMAN

The Silver Bridge collapsed on December 15, 1967. It was a suspension bridge over the Ohio River built in 1928, and connecting Point Pleasant, West Virginia, and Gallipolis, Ohio.

The Silver Bridge collapsed while crowded with rush-hour traffic at Christmas season. 46 people died and two of their bodies were never found. It was discovered that the bridge failed due to one eye-bar, a defect of 0.1 inch in size. Analysis also showed that the bridge had been carrying heavier loads than it was ever designed to hold.

A creature which people called Mothman had been sighted in the area from November 15th until the collapse on December 15th. Super-natural happenings and UFO sightings also abounded near Silver Bridge in that year before the collapse. That calamity unfolded like a disaster film with cars which seconds before had been crawling along in Christmas rush hour traffic now hung on fragments of the bridge before plunging, filled with passengers into the frigid Ohio River.

Point Pleasant's Mothman was introduced to those in the UFO field by John Keel in his 1975 book "The Mothman Prophecies." Keel related a number of supernatural events in that area before the bridge disaster, which were topped off by the mysterious Mothman sightings. In fact, Mothman was so prevalent in the year before the Silver Bridge collapsed, that the creature established his identity at that point to the paranormal investigative world. Silver Bridge was for Mothman like the first mega-hit for a celebrity singer.

Mothman himself (could he actually be Moth woman?), was reported to be a huge, semi-human winged creature with glowing red eyes, sighted in and around Point Pleasant in 1966 and 1967. Between 6.5 and 7 feet tall, with a wingspan of nearly 10 feet, this shadowy creature was said to fly great distances at speeds up to 100 miles per hour.

Even though I respect John Keel's work and consider him one of my favourite Fortean writers, I might be a bit sceptical if I had not had paranormal events in and around my house, UFO sightings near my house, and, yes, a Mothman sighting, right before one span of the Sunshine Skyway Bridge plunged into Tampa Bay on May 9, 1980, as I got ready for another day of teaching school. Strange events had been happening at and near my house, since 1979.

The most spectacular UFO sighting of my life thus far, at least which I remember consciously, was over a small park at the end of the street on which I lived. I lived in St. Petersburg, Florida, one block from Tampa Bay; the dual-span Sunshine Skyway could be seen from this park. It was a summer night in 1979, when my daughter and I walked our dog Bailey to the park. I was a field investigator for MUFON and APRO at the time, and so the two huge glowing white orbs which were hanging in the dark sky over Tampa Bay, were absolutely thrilling!

We took the dog home, and raced back to the park. A small group of people had gathered to watch the huge orbs which had not moved. Unlike weather balloons, there was absolutely no drifting in the breeze. Perhaps this was rocket fuel from a military test at MacDill Air Force Base, Tampa? Then this phenomenon should have slowly dissipated.

Finally after several hours as I looked down for just a second, one of the two dazzling white orbs, just disappeared. Not a trace of it was left. Strangely, it was the orb with which I felt I was in communication, or trying to establish communication.

The other orb stayed there, not budging an inch, until I gave up and went home at 2:30 a.m. I had to teach school in the morning but I have kicked myself ever since for leaving. No weather balloon, rocket fuel debris, helicopter, or Chinese lantern hoax, would have stayed stationery for all those hours.

In 1979, which was the year before 35 people in cars and a Greyhound Bus, plunged off one span of the Skyway Bridge to their deaths when the Summit Venture barge hit the bridge, my small house one block from Tampa Bay which I shared with my parents and daughter, was full of paranormal activity. The walls beeped.

The television beeped, at first at set intervals, and then randomly. Lamps beeped. Ok, maybe the house was on the path of some kind of waves from MacDill Air Force Base, so I took a cassette recorder on batteries about half a block away from the house, and it beeped too. My daughter and I recorded "the beeps" but when we re-played the tapes, the beeps were either gone or very faint.

1979 was also my time of awakening as a UFO experiencer. In 1980, I underwent regression with Dr. R. Leo Sprinkle and remembered a UFO encounter when I was a child in Iowa.

After the Skyway fell and after I embraced my own UFO connection, the beeps eased off and then stopped entirely. Back to the morning of the Skyway disaster:

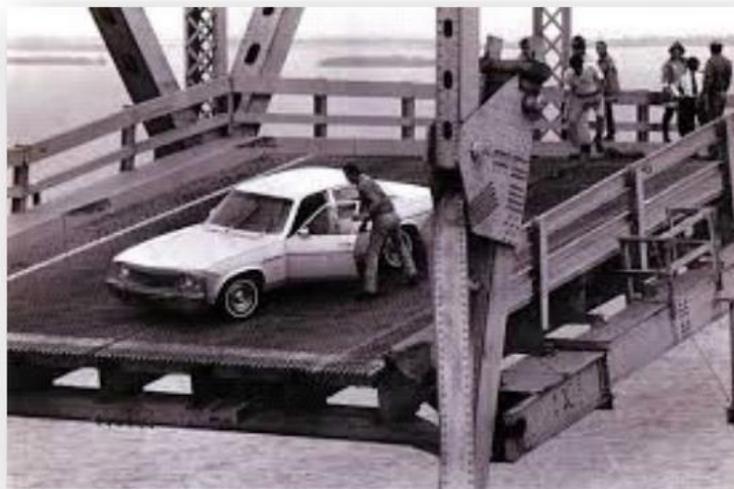

Picture: Wreckage of greyhound Bus which plunged off the Skyway Bridge

May 9, 1980, at 7:33 in the morning, I was hurriedly getting myself and my daughter ready for school, when our smoke alarm started to beep. Of course I raced around to check for fire, and then realized it was not the fire warning, but also not the "battery low" signal. It sounded exactly like Morse Code, but I don't know Morse Code. My dad was trying to remember what he knew of Morse Code, when we heard on the television news that a barge had just rammed into the Skyway Bridge at approximately 7:35 a.m.

The smoke alarm had stopped. And it never did that again.

Was this a desperate call for help from the energy-bodies of those who had just left their physical form? The Skyway Bridge was/is a tall structure and to plunge off it, there would be a few seconds of falling, falling, falling in sheer panic, through the air in your vehicle.

Or, had whatever been beeping at us all those months, finally arrived at the awaited hour and madly sent its message?

It was several months after the Skyway disaster that a memory struck me: I had been outdoors by myself in the summer of 1979, and the stars had suddenly been blotted out by something very large, opaque, and dark, but outlined in blood red. It had whooshed over, giving me the impression of a giant wingspan or a giant spread cape. It swooped low overhead, going faster than a large bird would fly and too big for a large bird, and then the stars re-emerged!

Mothman, I presume?

MILITARY MIND CONTROL AND ALIEN ABDUCTION

AN EXTREMELY IMPORTANT ASPECT OF
TODAY'S UFOLOGY

By Malcolm Robinson - (SPI UK)

Ufology today, is a 'mish-mash' of many weird and wonderful ideas, speculations and theories abound like there is no tomorrow and one wonders can this subject get any more fanciful! Admittedly we should not forget that speculation is fine so long as it is constructive and is done with the sole purpose of finding some answers. Ufology has seen many books all portraying our subject with these differing ideas. Some authors would have us believe that we are being visited by 'beings' from Zeta Reticuli, whilst others would have us believing that we are being visited by Time Travellers, Parallel Universal 'beings' or whatever, the list is extensive. One thing for sure, there is no denying that we have a UFO presence, that much we can say, but a presence is one thing determining what that presence can be, is another.

I am in total agreement with researchers wearing as many 'hats' as possible and opening as many UFOlogical doors as possible, the truth of the matter is within all these avenues of possibilities an answer must lie somewhere it's just a case of finding it. I am in the fortunate position of being sent many UFO and paranormal books by publishing houses to review and I was sent a copy of a book which absolutely blew me away! Why! well because it is so shockingly important to the subject of Ufology that it just screamed out to be read by UFOlogists and sceptics alike. The book is entitled MILABS, subtitled (Military Mind Control And Alien Abduction) and is written by Dr Helmut

What Happens to the Abductees?

MILAB Program Development Curve
A process of abductee indoctrination

Lammer and his wife Marion Lammer. It is my opinion that this book holds a very big piece of the UFO puzzle and I hope that through this article I can at the very least, share some of the salient points with you. Of course for a more overall view of the book, one must purchase a copy oneself, but take it from me, it will be the best money you will have parted with for some time. Dr Lammer has a Ph.D. in geophysics and works at the Austrian Space Research Institute as a planetary scientist. He has published many scientific papers in prestigious scientific journals such as Journal Of Geophysical Research, Geophysical Research Letters, and Planetary and Space Science. Dr Lammer is a member of the European Geophysical Society (EGS) and the New York Academy of Sciences. In his spare time, he writes for numerous UFO magazines and is the Austrian representative for the American society, The Mutual UFO Network (MUFON) and is also an associate member of the Society for Scientific Exploration (SSE). Marion Lammer studies law at the University of Graz, Austria, has a lifetime interest in Fortean phenomena and has helped her husband with his studies in his MILAB research. O.K. let's take a look at what Helmut and Marion Lammer have to say.

MILABS, A STUDY OF UFOLOGICAL IMPORTANCE. THE MILITARY KIDNAPPING OF ALIEN ABDUCTEES.

The main thrust of the Lammer's book is to inform us that 'not all is as it seems!' We are informed that many UFO abductions are the result of Military personnel, men in business suits, or men in white lab coats each who are abducting individuals either 'to'

A:-To obtain as much information from the abductee as to what Transpired during their abduction i.e., to obtain any 'technology or advanced information as they possible can which could Potentially be used by their country (America) to advance their own technology from the 'abductors'

OR

B:-The American Government 'agencies' are themselves imprinting false and misleading information into the minds of the unsuspecting public to further the cause/belief that UFO abductions/aliens are a reality, this is to steer the public's belief away from what really is going on, i.e., a new Stealth technology or advanced black budget technology to which they, (the Americans) do not wish the public to learn about, and they are more than happy for this technology to be camouflaged under the guise of 'alien abductions'.

Now, as we progress, both the above categories play an important role in the understanding of the MILAB scenario and it is my hope to paint a presentation of facts which you the reader can judge for yourself. So let us now continue on with what the Lammer's have to say about the above and I ask that you keep an open mind and try and grasp the importance of what this article is all about.

Now, what we have to bear in mind, and what is a proven fact, is that numerous UFO abductees not only report seeing small grey 'beings' during their abduction, but they have also told researchers the world over that they have also been 'interrogated' by what appear to be 'humans' who not only threaten them but implant devices into their head which cause them much distress. They describe being taken to Military Hangers in which strange UFO-like craft are housed. For instance, Brenda a Canadian UFO abductee, explains that she was abducted and taken to a Military Hanger where she was met by two 'men' in white coats who interrogated her for a period of time. This proved most distressing to her more so because these men used chloroform to knock her out. The main thing is though, she claimed to have seen advanced disc shaped objects in this 'facility' similar, it is said (by the author) to advanced disc shaped objects that are apparently being developed at Lockheed" Hellendale underground research facility near Palmdale in southern California.

Another MILAB abductee, Melinda Leslie has also experienced both alien and Military abductions. One of which occurred at an aerospace facility in southern California near Lancaster. Not only did she witness men in Navy uniform during her abduction, whilst she was being examined by small grey 'beings' but she also claims to have seen a strange triangle shaped craft in a large hanger, and also a dark unmarked helicopter. Melinda remembers being forced to sit in a chair where she was forcibly given a strange drink and had a syringe inserted into her arm by a human in a lab coat. She was then asked repeatedly by a red haired Military officer to tell them all about her 'alien' experiences and that he wanted information about the 'aliens' technology. Leah Haley one of America's more noted UFO abductees, also talks about being taken by a helicopter to a Military base where she was interrogated by 'humans' in regards to her 'alien' experiences. She also states that she was given a shot in her arm and asked repeated questions by Military officers to tell them all about the 'aliens' technology.

These are but a few of the many references that are made by the author in regards to individuals being forcibly taken by Military people in order to try and extract some details to better the minimal knowledge of the Military chiefs. We are also told that the husband of the late Dr Karla Turner (a noted UFO researcher) also recalls an abduction in which he too was forcibly taken by Military personnel to an underground facility where he too was drugged and repeatedly asked all about the 'aliens' technology. Although some of these UFO abductions in regards to Military presences being seen on board strange looking objects have been reported elsewhere, it has only been tentatively as if the authors of previous UFO books really didn't know what to do or make with them. I would probably say that some, if not a lot of other UFO authors, have in point of fact, kept these vital facts away from their readers not knowing whether there were any truth in them or moreover, it may well spoil the thrust of the book they were writing. Thankfully these stories are now surfacing. Karla Turner referred to them numerous times and told many people that we should start to sit up and take notice of these accounts, Dr Lammer states, "The presence of human Military and/or civilian personnel inhabiting the same physical reality as the alien beings exceeds the mindsets of the sceptics and the open minded researchers by several orders of magnitude.

A more truer statement has never been said. Dr Scott Jones believes that it's quite possible that the Military machines interest in UFO abductees may well be due to them (the Military) gaining important ground as to developing brain implants, virtual reality implants, holographic image projection and cloaking devices but more so for genetic research. This all sounds incredible and seems like something out of Star Trek or Deep Space Nine, but the facts are, that more and more UFO abductees are coming forward with stories of not only meeting up with 'aliens' but seeing and being interrogated by their fellow human beings. Of course as things stand, this would all appear to be hidden from the U.S. Congress and may be masked under the secret 'black budget' projects.

During the 1980's, a lot of money we are told was being used for top secret Military projects, the major one being for (SDI) Strategic Defence Initiative. It's not that hard to imagine, that a certain percent of the black budget programme went towards the procedure of finding, locating, abducting and interrogating helpless UFO abductees to try and elicit from them, what the 'aliens' were up to. Now this all presupposes that we 'have' an alien presence, and this is what makes this book so darned important. The evidence contained within this book, clearly shows that there is indeed, without any shadow of a doubt, an alien presence on this planet who's programme is decidedly targeted towards a genetic programme of sorts. Let us now take a look at some of the other important issues contained within this book.

CONTROLLED EXPERIMENTS ON HUMANS WITHOUT CONSENT, AN INFRINGEMENT OF HUMAN RIGHTS.

The Lammer's present the reader with case after case of experimentation by the people we have been led to trust, Military chiefs on not only the people of the United States, but on citizens of Canada and other countries. These experiments from many years ago, were nothing to do with UFOs or the search to understand alien technology, it was to find out various things about what the human individual could endure.

Covert operations have been deployed on countless thousands of people for many years, even our own Ministry of Defence has carried out secret radiation experiments on humans during the past 40 years. In America, nerve gas, LSD, and various biological agents were used on people without their permission. We often talk about the atrocities that the German Army committed during the second world war, the experimentation on the Jews both children and adults, filled us with horror, and to think that the people we elected to serve and protect us are still experimenting on our minds and bodies of citizens today should make everyone everywhere stand up and protest from the highest tower.

Whilst I appreciate that mankind must learn what biochemical agents can do to someone, to use it on people without their consent is immoral. Dr Lammer tells us that horrific psychological experiments were conducted on American soldiers at Edgewood Arsenal Maryland, eight former Nazi scientists worked at Edgewood for the Americans between 1947 to 1966 developing and testing lethal nerve gas and psychochemical on humans. Dr Ewen Cameron led a CIA funded laboratory at McGill University during the 1950's where people were used as guinea pigs for brainwashing experiments. People were given huge amounts of hallucinogens, some were given electro-convulsive therapy, and others were subjected to sensory deprivation. More importantly, Dr Lammer tells us that a panel appointed by the Clinton administration in 1994 to look into these matters, found that four hundred documented Government backed bio-medical experiments involving humans were undertaken between the years of 1944 and 1975.

How much more has gone on that we don't know about! I'm sure we'll never really know. Mind control victim Claudia Mulen testified before the advisory Committee on Human Radiation Experiments in Washington D.C. during March 1995 where she explained that she was taken by Military people over a course of many years, and subjected against her will, in experiments concerning Chemicals, radiation, drugs, hypnosis, electric shock, sleep deprivation and even sexual abuse! Another witness, Delora, recalls that he father who was a career Navy Officer, was stationed at an ammunition depot in Shoemaker Arkansas, and during those early years whilst he was stationed there she remembers flashbacks of being with both her parents inside a Military bunker where she saw 'aliens' performing experiments on humans. Delora knew that this bunker housed chemical and biological weapons which may have been an interest to these 'aliens'. She also claims to have seen a number of humans suspended in gas or liquid filled capsules. Delora holds the opinion that those people that were contained inside these capsules were clones and being used for secret bio-warfare or chemical warfare experiments.

American UFO researcher Dan Wright who is head of the MUFON abduction Transcription Project has a number of records on file which detail this description of humans being witnessed in large tubes or containers, some of his cases, feature humans who somehow had to 'breathe' the strange liquid that was found inside these containers. This puts me in mind of the famous Scottish A70 UFO Abduction, where one of the two witnesses, Colin Wright, found himself enclosed in a large glass or Perspex container. He was naked and was strapped to a chair when suddenly this glass or Perspex started to frost up. Colin doesn't recall the container being filled with any fluid, but certainly recalls the situation very vividly and with a certain amount of fear.

The Lammer's explain that this concept about 'fluid breathing' more or less began in the mid 1960's when a certain Dr J. Kylstra, a physiologist at the state University of New York at Buffalo, found that salt solutions could be saturated with oxygen at high pressures. He went on to perform experiments with mice and was able to keep them alive for 18 hours however, his eventual use of this practice did not work when he applied it to humans! Other researcher's began to take an interest in the work of Dr Kylstra and a number of people began their own experiments (mostly on mice). We learn that the early 1990's proved successful, scientists kept dogs alive for around 2 hours in a perfluorocarbon container. After removal, the dogs were apparently hypoxic but returned to normal after a few days. UFOlogists will of course recall another famous American UFO witness by the name of Betty Andreasson. Betty claimed that she was placed inside a large tube filled with liquid of which she was told was to cushion the large force of the gravity during the UFO's acceleration.

The Lammer's also go on to explain that during the 1960's a Dr Robert Goodwin experimented with human embryos by keeping them alive in artificial womb like steel containers. However, pressure applied by the scientific community and also members of the public forced him to abandon these experiments. Clearly then this business with UFO abductees reporting tubes and containers which hold some form of liquid and which they have either been placed in there themselves, or have seen others in there, is something which is a major part of the UFO abduction phenomenon. But of course why! What real purpose do these containers hold? Is it as was told to Betty Andreasson 'to cushion the G forces of acceleration', or does it hold a more sinister purpose! Is it really for the benefit of the UFO abductee! It's frustrating that as we approach the Millennium, we are no further forward in answering these and other questions, than we were when the modern era of Ufology first began.

One might say however, that we do have the answers, and those answers are all to do with the genetic interbreeding programme that seems to be part and parcel of the make up of the 'aliens' agenda. They may be modifying the genetic make up of humans for their own purposes, introducing their own DNA to create some kind of hybrid species, a species which will be adaptive in all environments which can stand high pressures, breathe liquid with ease etc. However, and I've said and written about this many times before, why oh why is this abduction procedure 'still occurring'! Haven't they (the aliens) got enough genetic material by now! They have been abducting the people of this planet for nigh on 50 years if not more, and here at the close of the century, they are still taking people from their homes and environments and subjecting them to clinical and medical procedures without consent. As a researcher, this angers me as I'm sure it does to most people, but more so because, if there truly is any truth to what these UFO abductees are telling us, i.e., that the Military chiefs of this world know what's going on, and are assisting in this, then this is the biggest deception, this is the biggest lie, and this is the biggest shock. As human beings, we expect those in power to look after us and to think that those we ected to serve us can betray us in this way, well it just beggars belief.

The Lammer's present case after case after case, of factual data which informs us that the Governments of this world have not been treating their citizens with any respect, far from it, they are abusing our trust, abducting us for medical procedures which can cause lasting harm if not death, all in the name of science.

We quite rightly concern ourselves about the plight of the animal kingdom, it's also about time that we should equally be concerned about the plight of humans as well! During the Cold war scientists were using mind control on helpless victims by inserting devices up their nostrils in order to control them, a procedure all too reminiscent of alien abductions. In the authors' studies, they soon came to realise that there were around 3, 'human' agendas associated with the 'alien abduction' scenario. They found that one group of humans were interested in UFO abductees purely for mind and behaviour projects, sensory deprivation and liquid breathing experiments. Another group were interested in biological and genetic experiments, indeed a number of MILAB abductees clearly recall seeing other human beings enclosed in tubes filled with liquid, they also tell of seeing genetically altered animals! All these were witnessed in Military Underground research facilities. A third group the authors explain, are solely interested in the actual alien abduction phenomenon itself, purely for information gathering purposes.

Dark unmarked helicopters have been a growing trend within the confines of Ufology of late. A large number of UFO witnesses (but more so UFO abductees,) claim that their lives have been subjected to harassment by low flying unmarked helicopters that have buzzed their homes morning afternoon and night, and when they complain to the local or national airports, no one can provide them with an answer as to where or who they belong to !!!

Debbie Jordan, Budd Hopkins star UFO abductee, claims that her life has been a misery since she had her UFO abduction, for since that time many large dark unmarked helicopters have stalked both her and her family. Debbie was quoted as saying, "Even when I am outside and obviously watching back, it doesn't seem to bother them, they just sit there in mid-air about 60 to 90 feet above the ground whirling and watching. They are completely without identification and are always low enough so that I could easily see the pilot if the windshield were clear glass. But the windshield is Smokey black, and with a finish that makes it impossible to see who's inside".

What I, as the author of this article finds hard to believe, is that this form of harassment is necessary! For surely the pilots of these helicopters are drawing much attention to themselves by doing this! If they are so interested in these unfortunate UFO abductees, then this form of behaviour surely shouldn't happen and could be done in their usual 'covert' way. Of course we can't forget the fact that these black unmarked helicopters have been seen many times over the pastures in which cattle mutilations have been found, and more recently, dark unmarked helicopters have been witnessed flying above the wheat fields of England where many strange crop circle formations have been found. Clearly then, there is great interest by these shady 'agencies' in the lives of the UFO abductees, and the crop formations in Southern England, not forgetting the obscene and tragic animal mutilations that have been discovered in unusual circumstances with each passing year. In their book, the Lammer's present many cases where dark unmarked helicopters have made the lives a misery of many a UFO abductee.

WORKING IN HARMONY !

Probably the most important aspect and significant if not disturbing part of the Lammer's book, is their presentation of facts which clearly show that certain American Government 'agencies' have been working side by side with the 'greys' for a good number of years now. This aspect of Ufology has of course been speculated on by many UFOlogists for a number of years now. And this is why perhaps UFOlogists and the general public at large never obtain a statement of sorts from the American Government admitting what's going on. They 'know' what's going on 'they' are part of it. The abduction of humans from this planet is part orchestrated by the military chiefs of this Earth in order to obtain information from these visiting 'intruders' which may further and advance the cause of potential warfare capabilities of those who learn the secrets first of people from other worlds.

The above of course sounds incredibly fanciful and full of speculation, but can there be any real truth in this! The Lammer's again present an incredible amount of information to say that this is so. The MILABS book will clearly change your perception about what Ufology is all about, it certainly changed mine. I was sent this book to review, believe you me, it's impossible to review a book of such a proportion in so little words, hence I chose to do a slightly more worded version, and even so, this will not do it justice. At the end of the day, where would Ufology be without the sterling work of a number of UFOlogists like the Lammer's and the late Karla Turner who are bringing these Military/Alien cases to our attention.

TERRESTRIAL & EXTRATERRESTRIAL IMPLANTS!

The finding of implants in the bodies of UFO abductees is a well known factor in Ufology. Strange small metallic devices some round, some small and slim, have been found in the nasal cavities in abductees, and also other parts of their bodies as well (sometimes even their big toes!) Why would a sophisticated intelligent race of beings want to track and monitor a person in this way is beyond this writer's comprehension. If they (the aliens!) can ghost into someone's bedroom and abduct someone of an evening, it seems unusual that they would need to know where people are, or do these devices perform some other kind of function? The Lammer's present the reader of the MILABS book with an in-depth look at the implant phenomenon. They tell us that the Military have been implanting electrodes into the bodies of unwitting subjects as early as 50 years ago and some horrific tales can be found in this book. I present the following paragraph (with permission) to illustrate the point.

During the 50's and early 60's, neuro scientist Dr Jose Delgado invented the 'Stimoceiver', an electrode capable of receiving and transmitting electronic signals via FM radio waves. Such a device, implanted in the brain via the sinus cavities, will act as a powerful stimulant when activated by FM radio waves. One can speculate that the Stimoceiver has since been modified to receive stimulation from microwave pulses, and is capable of wielding a great degree of control over the implanted victim's response mechanisms.

We then learn that this implant technology was developed after World War II and by now, as we approach the millennium, I'm more than sure that this technology has superseded its expectations. The Lammer's speculate that the Military Intelligence community are or have more than likely been using this technology for secret Government projects, some of the photographic plates contained within this book, clearly show the implants on the X Ray skulls of various individuals. The Lammer's uncovered a pre-classified 1960's Government document pertaining to a secret project called MKULTRA which clearly showed that the CIA was interested in expanding implant studies onto humans, they speculate, could the various Military Agencies that implant various humans, be using the 'alien' cover story to mask their own clandestine endeavours? This is entirely feasible and may account for a high percent of abductions the world over. This is not to say, that the actual 'alien' abduction phenomena is not real, it may well be, but we have to consider the fact, that the Military Chiefs would be more than happy to use the 'alien' abduction cover story in order for the public at large to be kept in the dark about their secret and unsavoury actions.

Of course there is another way to look at the implant phenomenon, and that is that the Military Chiefs may be inserting these implant devices, to monitor the 'real' UFO abductees respiration, muscle tension and physiological data.

There is no denying the evidence by UFO abductees, when they say that they have witnessed Military personnel, either on board a strange craft, or in an underground cavern whilst they have been 'operated' on by 'beings' which are clearly not human. Admittedly implant technology has its medical benefits, (for a whole range of reasons) one can safely say that a pacemaker is one of the biggest implants that we have in the human body which serves a very useful purpose, but what we are talking about here is entirely different.

We are talking about the implanting of devices (without consent) into the bodies of terrified victims by humans and 'non humans' alike. The one main aspect of the Lammer's book, is the continued reference to the fact that many UFO abductees are taken to underground facilities where they see both humans and 'non humans' alike. They (the UFO abductees) also witness strange disc shaped craft, large dark unmarked helicopters.

They are interrogated by Military personnel, sometimes viciously and with mind bending drugs, all in a desired attempt to find out from these poor unfortunate abductees, what the 'aliens' have told them. I found the following paragraph quite illuminating in regards to the overall theme of the Lammer's book.

"Perhaps the Military split the personality of some abductees with known mind control techniques like sensory deprivation, spin programming, flashlights, electric shocks, rape, in order to create 'Manchurian Candidates' for information gathering purposes during alien abduction experiences".

The Lammer's then pose 2 interesting questions to the reader:

1. Are MILAB abductees Military programmed 'Manchurian Candidates' who spy for a secret Military task force in alleged 'alien crafts'? Are they so called 'Trojan Horses' inside 'real' UFOs during an alien abduction experience?

Or

2. Is their alien abduction experience a synthetically programmed screen memory for hiding secret spy or Military missions?

What we can deduce from all this, is that the Military people are clearly involved and very much concerned about the alien abduction phenomenon as they have been for decades now. The CIA, FBI and NSA, have in the past denied their involvement in the UFO study, but thankfully under the Freedom of Information Act passed several years ago now, it was plain to see from the documentation released, that the above agencies were indeed, very much involved with what's going on, and are surely now 'still so'! In closing this article, I must say that I am deeply concerned about not so much the threat from the 'non humans' in all this, (although that is still a concern) but the threat and deceit from those people of whom we elected to serve and protect us. They are abusing their trust, they are abusing their positions to learn what is going on, but ultimately they have now become a 'big part' themselves in the UFO problem. It seems inconceivable that we have a situation such as this, it's like something you would find in a 1950's B movie or back street American comic shop, but this is 'real', this is 'happening', and it's happening now. I think we should be deeply concerned about what's going on, this is a crime against humanity. But like any crime, we require proof, and this subject is so bizarre that the stories told to us by these unfortunate UFO abductees may not be believed, but slowly we are turning the screw, this monumental book has untold possibilities for the community, no longer are we talking about strange lights in the sky, we are now on the threshold of an alarming twist in the UFO enigma, a twist that is unsavoury and demands action. It's bad enough having to deal with UFO abductions at all, but to have the Military involved (who deny everything) just begs for action to be taken.

I don't know what comes next; it is my hope and the hope of many others that something can be done about this, that the tables can be turned (so to speak). As we approach the new century, I am concerned and intrigued at what might happen next within the confines of the UFO subject. It's been with us for many years now, what lies ahead! I expect that there are more twists and turns to follow and whatever happens next, I hope that for the sake of humanity the new experiences will prove beneficial to us, and may lead us into a better world, a world of which may find us sharing with people not of this Earth.

Rendlesham EXCLUSIVE!

In late December 1980, events occurred that have become forever linked with claims of UFO landings, claims of witnesses intimidation, and counter claims. Here in Outer Limits Magazine we hear from a witness, that (as far as we are aware), has never spoken before, for the public record. Outer Limits Magazine are delighted to present this recent interview conducted by former Director of Investigations at BUFORA, Philip Mantle.

This article may prove controversial to some, yet provide answers to others. Here at OLM we take no side in the argument but are happy to provide the article for your perusal and interest.

RENDLESHAM REVISITED

An interview with Steve Longero USAF Security Police (retired)

By Philip Mantle

When December comes around each year it always reminds me that what has been labelled as Britain's foremost UFO incident took place. I refer of course to the events in late December 1980 in Rendlesham Forest commonly referred to as the RFI.

This year we have the new book 'THE HALT PERSPECTIVE' co-authored by Colonel Halt and John Hanson and published by 'Haunted Skies'. To some the RFI is THE case that can change ufology forever, while others dismiss it offering a variety of natural explanations to account for the observations in question.

I am not going to go over old ground and my own opinion on the RFI remains open but I am not convinced with a lot of the sceptical arguments against it. So, with all this in mind, I have recently taken the opportunity to interview one of the US Airmen that was on duty on one of the nights in question. To the best of my knowledge he has not gone on the record before and his name is Steve Longero. I spoke with Steve twice on the telephone on October 29th & 30th 2016.

Who is Steve Longero? My background: I worked as a Police Officer for Dept. of Veterans Affairs 1986-1988. Hired by County of Santa Clara Dept. of Correction in 1988 while working in the jails I also was a Reserve Police Officer for the city of Manteca! I ended up retiring from the Sheriffs office in Santa Clara County where I was recognized by the courts as a Gang expert, I held the title of training officer as was a team leader for the Emergency response team there until I retired in 2012.

Former Sergeant-Honourable Discharge at USAF Security Police (1980 – 1984).

Yes, I was in the forest I saw the lights heard the conversations talked about it and was told to be quiet! My roommate was Ed Cabansag! I never talked about it to Penniston and Burroughs but I was there! Warren can tell you! Yes, we were debriefed and told to keep quiet!

Interview with Steve Longero (SL) and Philip Mantle (PM).

Some of the following interview will be paraphrased while other parts will be verbatim.

PM: Can you tell us when you joined the USAF.

SL: Yes, it's been a long time. I joined in July, no June 1980.

PM: Were you stationed anywhere else before you went to Bentwaters.

SL: No, that was my first duty. I was a security policeman. You know my job was patrolling the flight line and the weapons storage area (WSA).

Steve Longero, today.

PM: Do you remember the nights in question in late December 1980.

SL: Yes, I sure do. I went on duty, what I remember that on one of those nights I was guarding the Weapons Storage Area (WSA).

While on duty that night, we had a very sophisticated alarm system and everything just went off. And then you know I could see these lights over the treetops, and I was thinking, what's going on. Then they started sending people out there and at first you know it was hard to believe, you know, all these bright lights. It hard to take in. Well from what I remember the lights, fluorescent lights, kind of a glow, like a reddish glow. I remember going out there.

Steve went on to add that he went out into Rendlesham Forest and there were a lot of other people already there. The forest wasn't that far from the perimeter. He was only a few hundred yards into the forest. He could not remember who ordered him to go out there. He remembered the flight chief being out there. He saw the lights in the forest. There were a number of others out there including Larry Warren and Jim Penniston and Cabansag. He was out in the forest from between one to two hours. A few days later they were told not to talk about it. Steve went on to confirm that OSI agents were there, he was asked to sign something and told not to talk about it.

He remembers seeing, among others, Larry Warren when they were told to obtain the 'light all's (portable lights). These were used to light up the forest. So, they were taken into the area. He remembered seeing Larry Warren there. I saw John Burroughs and others and they discussed what they were going to do.

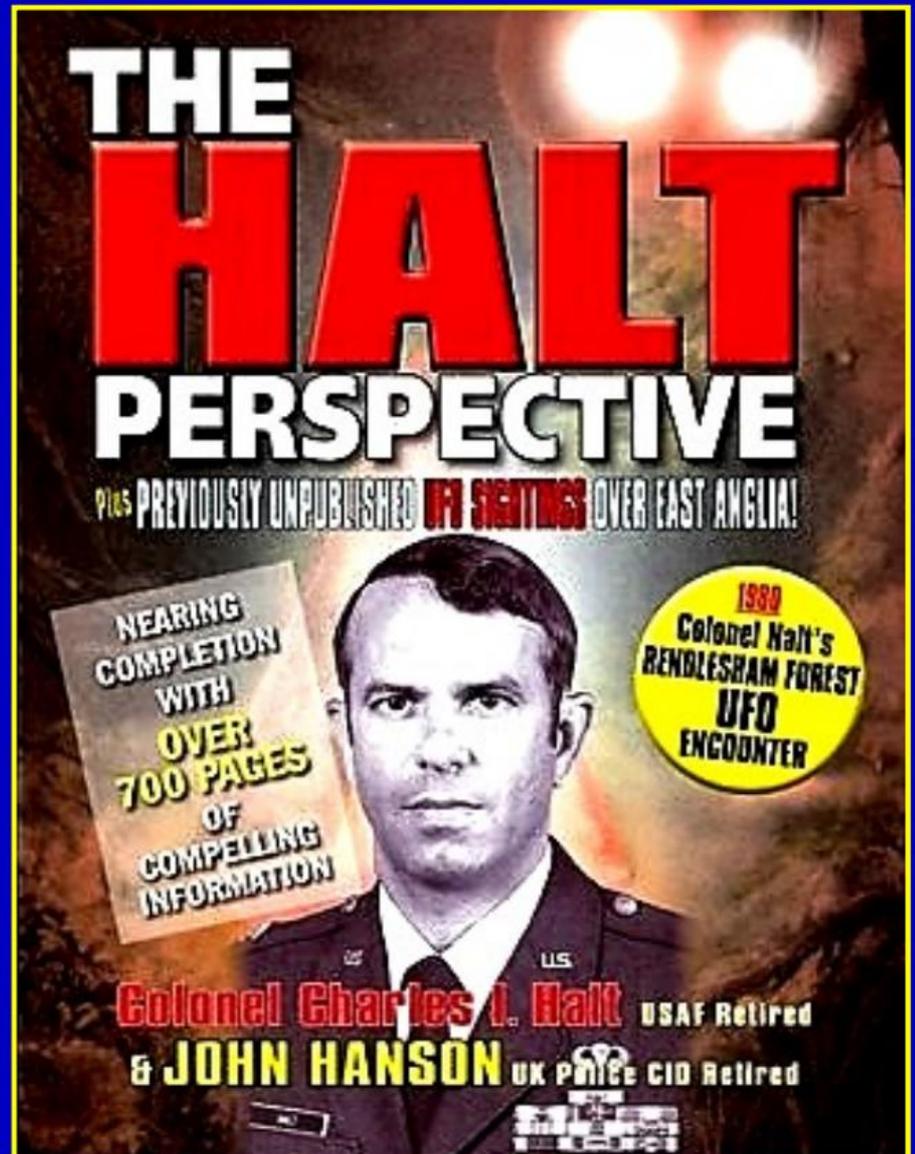

SL: I can't remember verbatim what I saw that night but I was there.

PM: What I'd like to ask you again Steve is when you went out into the forest you could see the lights over the trees. Could you tell me what those lights looked like please?

SL: They looked like fluorescent coloured lights, like red and green, glowing lights and that's what they looked like.

PM: How long did you view them for do you reckon.

SL: I'd say ten to fifteen minutes, and I could see them hovering over the treetops and it was just hovering over the treetops and it was just, just, like an eye that was almost following everybody.

SUBJECT: Unexplained Lights

TO: RAF/CC

1. Early in the morning of 27 Dec 80 (approximately 0300L), two USAF security police patrolmen saw unusual lights outside the back gate at RAF Woodbridge. Thinking an aircraft might have crashed or been forced down, they called for permission to go outside the gate to investigate. The on-duty flight chief responded and allowed three patrolmen to proceed on foot. The individuals reported seeing a strange glowing object in the forest. The object was described as being metallic in appearance and triangular in shape, approximately two to three meters across the base and approximately two meters high. It illuminated the entire forest with a white light. The object itself had a pulsing red light on top and a bank(s) of blue lights underneath. The object was hovering or on legs. As the patrolmen approached the object, it maneuvered through the trees and disappeared. At this time the animals on a nearby farm went into a frenzy. The object was briefly sighted approximately an hour later near the back gate.

2. The next day, three depressions 1 1/2" deep and 7" in diameter were found where the object had been sighted on the ground. The following night (29 Dec 80) the area was checked for radiation. Beta/gamma readings of 0.1 milliroentgens were recorded with peak readings in the three depressions and near the center of the triangle formed by the depressions. A nearby tree had moderate (.05-.07) readings on the side of the tree toward the depressions.

3. Later in the night a red sun-like light was seen through the trees. It moved about and pulsed. At one point it appeared to throw off glowing particles and then broke into five separate white objects and then disappeared. Immediately thereafter, three star-like objects were noticed in the sky, two objects to the north and one to the south, all of which were about 10° off the horizon. The objects moved rapidly in sharp angular movements and displayed red, green and blue lights. The objects to the north appeared to be elliptical through an 8-12 power lens. They then turned to full circles. The objects to the north remained in the sky for an hour or more. The object to the south was visible for two or three hours and beamed down a stream of light from time to time. Numerous individuals, including the undersigned, witnessed the activities in paragraphs 2 and 3.

CHARLES I. HALT, Lt Col, USAF
Deputy Base Commander

PM: When you went into the forest you mentioned others, can you remember anyone else who were there.

SL: Yes, Penniston and Burroughs and Cabansag and, I remember others starting coming, we all kind of got dispatched there, if I remember Larry was out there. Because if I remember right Larry was working at a gate and he got picked up by a want to say a Lt Englund, I remember, he was at the East Gate and I remember he, they transported people from there, like I said they sent a lot of people out there.

PM: So, when you were in the forest, can you explain to me what you saw and what was it like there.

SL: it was real kind of quiet and, you know, this thing hovering over the trees, and you were like kind of tracking it and like 'what is this' you know, and it was like following, it was like watching us, that's what it looked like to us. It seemed like something watching us.

PM: What colour was it

SL: From what I remember it was like aglow, it was glowing like a reddish, greenish light. It was a like, it was really glowing. You know what it looked like, like something was really, hot and it was just glowing.

PM: Did you see Col halt, was he there.

SL: Col halt came afterwards, yes, he came afterwards, after all that was called in I remember him turning up, that's when they kind of gathered everyone around and said this is what we are going to do, and everybody kind of dispersed and did what they were told to do, I remember we had like a little briefing right there and everybody was just like, we just could not believe what we were seeing. Your adrenalin was flowing and I remember people saying like 'what is that' you know.

PM; Now I know I have asked you this question before Steve but some people believe that you misidentified the lighthouse. What do you say to that.

SL (laughs). I don't think so.

PM; Could you see the lighthouse at the same time.

SL: I won't say it was the lighthouse; no, it was not the lighthouse. Not unless the lighthouse could move (laughs). Unless they could float that thing in the air. And then, you know as we got , as people were getting close to this thing it kind of came nearer to us and then it would go forward and then go back and all of a sudden it just disappeared, like something out of Star Trek, it was like warp speed and we were all 'what was that' it was gone and then that's when they started doing all their investigations and I was just a, after we secured the area they said okay, you're gone, get out of here.

PM: Was there a lot of talk about it back at base afterwards.

SL: Oh, yes, it was all over the base, I was a big topic.

PM: You said that you were debriefed a few days later is that right.

SL: Yes, I want you say a day or two later, I remember that night we all used to go and eat at the chow hall and everybody was talking about it and I remember, in fact I want to say I was sitting at the table where Penniston was sitting and he was a Staff Sergeant and he told all of us to stop talking about, it. I remember that, you know, stoop talking about it.

PM: You said also that Larry Warren was also involved in helping set up the light-all's is that correct.

SL: He was, yes that's true.

PM: So, who debriefed you Steve

SL: You know Philip I remember going in, they called us in individually and I want to say that it was security police investigations and I do believe that there was an OSI agent in there. I remember this OSI gentleman with a beard, I remember getting pulled in I remember getting talked to by Major Zickler; I remember getting called into his office for something like that PM: Can you remember what the conversation was (with Major Zickler).

SL: Well, you know, what you saw, remember where you work in the weapons storage area (WSA). It was like you don't need to talk about this you don't need to make a big deal out of this.

PM: And we are talking about nuclear weapons here aren't we

SL: Yes, sir.

PM: So, there was a lot of talk, was there on consensus about what this thing was SL: Yes, it was like 'what did we see' was this, was this an experimental aircraft, I remember that was one of the things, you know, 'what was that'.

PM: What do you think it was.

SL: I think it was something not from this world. Just because the way it hovered and just the way it disappeared. That's what I think, that's what I've always thought.

PM: You know Larry Warren ahs been criticized quite a bit. What do have to say in answer to that.

SL: I think there were a lot of haters out there who just didn't like Larry Warren. I liked Larry, I went to tech school with him and I never had a problem Larry, but I know there were people in that unit that didn't like him for whatever reason, maybe they didn't like his personality but I never had any issue with Larry.

PM: But you remember, seeing him there don't you.

SL: I remember, what I remember is that we had something to do with these light-all things, I remember yes. And that was out there, yes.

PM: Did you get to know any of the civilians in the area at the time.

SL: No After that I just kind of kept my self to my self and kind of thought I'll do my bit and get out of here.

END.

I have thanked Steve Longero for speaking to me and for going on the record for the very first time. Steve does not claim to be anything special but he wanted to emphasize that there were a lot of others involved and who were witness to the events in question, many of whom have yet to add their voice to these events.

Steve has confirmed the open secret that nuclear weapons were stored at RAF Bentwaters at the time although he did not personally witness any lights being shone onto the WSA. He has confirmed much of what Colonel Halt has already said on the record and he is in no doubt that Larry Warren was there.

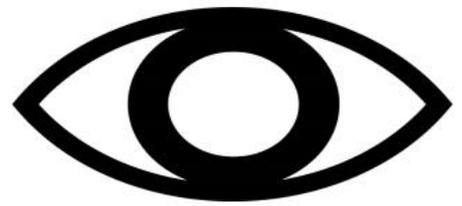

It is not the intention of this article to discuss what Steve and his colleagues may or may not have observed nor is it my aim to support anyone's story of whether they were there or not. One thing is clear is that there are probably many others who were stationed there at the time and as yet have not gone on the record. Let us hope that in some small way this article might encourage some of them to come forward.

What is clear is that despite the best efforts of some this case will continue to be hotly debated for many years to come. Do the events in late December 1980 in Rendlesham forest have a conventional explanation or is Steve Longero correct when he says it was 'something not of this world'? I leave you to decide.

The SPI Files!

By Malcolm Robinson

Malcolm's Fox Entertainment

Adventure!

Well I've given lectures in a number of strange places over the years, from a bus speeding down the motorway on its way to Bonnybridge, to lecturing to eight of the most hardened criminals in a special unit at Shots Penitentiary near Glasgow and adding to my list of strange lecturing places was the World War Two tunnels etched into the cliffs below Fort Southwick on Portsdown Hill which overlooks the Naval base of Portsmouth in the county of Hampshire England. These tunnels were the nerve centre for Operation Overlord which helped co-ordinate the D-Day landings. They were excavated by the 172 tunnelling company of the Royal Engineers between February and December 1942 and extend 100 deep into the bowels of the hill. On June the 6th, Day 1 of D-Day, there were 700 personnel working underground.

Anyway, the reason I was there was due to being contacted by representatives of FOX Entertainment based in London who asked me to help promote the release onto Blu Ray of the new blockbuster movie, Independence Day 2 (Resurgence). Anyway, always glad to help I quickly said yes and a week or so later a taxi was despatched to my home in Hastings to take me on an 82 mile journey to Portsmouth and the location of the lecture and shoot.

THE TUNNELS

After getting a bit lost in the taxi trying to find the location (it was near Fort Southwick). Neil Clark, event coordinator at UCAP Airsoft was despatched to find me and bring me to the location. Upon my arrival, I was met at the entrance of the tunnel system by the video photographer who was there to film the morning's proceedings. We had a good chat about Ufology and a few minutes later numerous cars pulled up containing the media people and representatives from FOX. I should mention that just prior to my arrival all the lights had gone out in the tunnels, not a good start but thankfully this was soon rectified. The media consisted of a wide selection of newspaper men and women from various newspapers. There were also some bloggers there to make their own alien autopsy film, (but that's another story)! It soon became apparent to me that this was going to be different to what I had imagined, and whilst yes I was still going to present a lecture to the press people, there was also another chap, Steve Hart from the U.K. Preppers Guide who was also going to give a talk about surviving not just a U.K. or Global Disaster, but also the possibility of an alien invasion, but more of Steve in a moment.

Being in these tunnels was just something else, it really was. It was like one of those ant's nest's that you used to make at school in the glass case where you could see them building tunnel after tunnel. It was also quite cold as well and some of the tunnels were unlit making the atmosphere spookier than it already was. These tunnels would make a great place for a ghostly Investigation and maybe that could be a money spinner for those that run this place. Before my talk, I met up with Pete Connell, senior publicist for Premier Entertainment arts culture in London and Annie McMonagle Wilmot and Matt Belgrave (Events Manager) of the same, to discuss my talk. Annie and Pete pointed out a small room just off one of the tunnels which had a number of small plastic chairs, rusty filing cabinets and some old P.C's from the 1960's brought in for effect and asked me to wait in there where we would soon be joined by the press people. Before too long the press folk all filed in most of whom were wearing special light brown jump suits with the words 'Earth Space Defence' etched on the back (see photos) these were given to them by the FOX representatives and little did I know it at the time, but there was a reason for them wearing them, (more in a moment)

MALC'S TALK

So I began my talk in this small arched room 100 or so feet underground (it's certainly the lowest that I've ever lectured lol) and after just 20 minutes or so it was time to take some questions from the media. All good questions and nothing that has not been thrown at me before. After this the media were invited to shoot at some targets in the dark tunnels with some specialised guns which shot out white pellets all good fun and in keeping with the day's activities.

ALIEN IN ROOM

Next on the agenda was something else that I didn't expect and that was to meet an alien! Thankfully not a real one but an alien nonetheless! We were all marched towards another area in the tunnel system which had a plastic sheet hanging down from an entrance into a small room. The lady from FOX Entertainment invited everyone to venture inside two at a time. Eventually it was my turn and I pulled back the green fluorescent splattered plastic sheet to be met by a scene like something out of the alien autopsy movie. What I saw before me was a slimy looking tall creature lying on a table next to which were some glow sticks, a wall of automatic rifles and a small table full of documents. There was a man in one of those white plastic forensic suits with a white face mask on prodding and dissecting this creature. Above our heads were rotating red and blue lights. The whole scene was pretty bizarre and you honestly felt that you were in a scene from a movie it was really well put together. I was later told that the alien was a prop used in the movie Independence Day Resurgence of which was sent over to the United Kingdom from America. For some reason it had to go through Germany and then France. Now ask yourself this folks, can you imagine those lovely chaps at customs in those countries "Excuse me sir, what's in the box"? Boy I would love to have seen their faces.

STEVE HART 'PREPPING'

After this we were all shepherded off to another dusty low ceiling room where another guest speaker was lined up to talk to the media, not on UFOs however, this time it was all about prepping which in effect, is all about preparing for any possible doomsday situation, be it a nuclear effect, or civil unrest, or, as in keeping with the Independence Day scenario, an alien threat from outer space. Steve Hart, founder of the UK's

U.K. Preppers Guide did a talk on how best to survive with your family in adverse situations. He brought along a normal backpack of which he took out item after item all of which one would need in times of a crisis. The table was soon looking like something out of the movie Mary Poppins where she keeps taking things out of a small bag. Soon Steve's table was packed with gloves, medicine, a specialised water bottle that converts dirty water into clean water and much more. Steve took questions after which it was time for lunch. Lunch for the media comprised of a vacuum-packed bag of, well knows I didn't really ask but it didn't look overly appetising. I was fortunate I got a proper egg and ham sandwich with a can of orange. During lunch I caught up with Neil Clark, event coordinator at UCAP Airsoft and his friend munchy (I'm sure there is a reason why he is called that) Anyway, they told me all about the history of the tunnels and boy there sure is some history. He told us that these days they have wedding parties down in the tunnels for gun games, and they also do corporate parties. Indeed on one occasion, they had an 80 year old women come down with a party who came up to the front desk demanding that she get a gun, "Why should all the others have all the fun" she remarked! Indeed. They also have some of the emergency services down in the tunnels from time to time to train. One of the staff members took Steve and I back into the tunnels and showed us where they had been digging into the walls as they believed that there was a secret room which had been bricked up. Peering into the hole with his flashlight it was clear to see that yes there was evidence of something and one could feel the air circulating towards you from the area that they had chiselled away. Why was this bricked up, what, if anything is hiding behind this wall? Are there some secret Government papers that are not meant to be found? It will be interesting to see what, if anything, these guys find when they eventually release the rest of the masonry

FIND THE ALIEN MISSILE!

During lunch I had a chat with a lady from the Daily Star who told me that back in the office she gets labelled as the 'UFO Girl' as she has a strong interest in such subjects. She told me that she gets a bit of ribbing from her fellow journalists, but in the main it's all good fun she said. After lunch Neil Clark assembled everyone together and told them that they were going to play another game and for this one, we would all need ear plugs. I laughed thinking it can't be that bad surely, 'it was' The scenario was that the staff had hidden an alien missile somewhere in the confines of the tunnels and teams of two would go out in search of it and bring it back to the front desk. All were asked to keep their ear plugs in and thankfully each were given a map of the tunnels so that they didn't get lost, to be honest with you, I don't think that even with a map you would have found your way out on your own. Anyway after a quick briefing everyone all filed out into the warren of tunnels. After a few minutes it became apparent why everyone (including me) were issued with ear plugs, the staff were hiding in the deep recesses of some of the unlit tunnels snapping back industrial bangers and launching them near the media people. With orange sparks a blazing the sound of one of these things going off was enough to knock a man off his bike in China! Jeez oh, loud, I'll say it was loud. Of course you are in narrow tunnels with low ceilings so you can imagine the noise. After 10 minutes or so you could hardly see your hand in front of your face as the smoke from these industrial bangers was everywhere. It was choking and you were glad to get out of there. The smoke coupled with the continuous sound of a siren pervading through the tunnels was enough to drive you nuts, but you know what? It was bloody brilliant. Steve (the prepper guy) and I were following Neil around (the main man) and I could see that he was taking great delight in snapping and throwing these bangers in the direction of the media. I was in fits of laughter I really was.

After about 15 minutes or so the sirens were cut off and we all headed back through the tunnels to the main entrance where we all had a catch up. And that was it. The lady from FOX said that the press could keep their Earth Space Defence jump suits (trust me not to bag one!) It was now two o'clock; we had been in the tunnels since 10:00am and as I stated at the start of this article, it was not what I had expected, it was much better. It had been a terrific day, a day which I thoroughly enjoyed and a day which I was happy to be involved in. I now await to see what the media will write up about this day as the media were all there to hear my lecture on UFOs and find out my thoughts as to what would happen should an alien invasion ever occur what would we do? They were also there to hear Steve Hart's "What If" scenario and unbeknown to me at the time, there to partake in a bit of fun in the tunnels.

After dusting ourselves down Steve and I jumped into the Fox lady's car where she took us down to Portsmouth train station where a taxi was waiting to take me back to Hastings and just before I climbed into the back seat of the taxi, I shouted out to those members of the press who had also been taken to the train station, "Great day folks, see you at the next one, Independence Day 3" with some laughs and with some puzzled looks I climbed into the taxi and my Hungarian taxi driver and I headed off to Hastings sharing stories of Hungarian folk dancing, UFOs! And a multitude of topical stories to pass the hours away. I'll tell you what folks, my life is never dull.

The Genesis Effect!

By

William White Crow

Ever since I was a child I, like everyone else, asked the proverbial questions of Who was I, Where did I come from and What was my purpose here? Basically why was I here? As a young boy I had to go to church just like most people back in the day. And all during this time I knew things weren't quite what they seemed. There was something all these people going to church were missing . But why did I see it and didn't they? I thought maybe it was because I was raised on the rez for a time and looked at things from a different point of view.

As the years rolled by I had finally made the decision to find the answers to all the questions I had about life. So my journey began and I started researching as many ancient scriptures, legends and writings as I could. All during this time as well I was learning the ways of the native people who were teaching me their versions of how the earth and mankind were made. What was interesting is that all of these gods everyone was talking about came from either off world or underground. Their versions of mans creation varied but all stated that these beings created man out of the dust or clay of the earth. Some even say they mixed their genetics with ours. Very interesting indeed! But facts are, almost all aboriginal peoples on the planet say we came from the sky... out there among the stars.

After many years / decades of research and searching for the truth I have come to realize that these gods we have all been taught to believe in were in all actuality beings from other worlds or other dimensions whose technology far exceeded ours at the time and literally still do today. This is why our ancestors looked at them as their gods.

This is why I have called this article the Genesis Effect because that is exactly what it describes. The Genesis of all life on earth.

I will be using the book of Genesis of course in the Bible as an example of what I am talking about. One thing I would like to say here is during my many interviews with ministers, priests, and the such, one gentleman I interviewed gave me some very interesting answers. I will not mention his religion here but will give you several of his answers which I actually agreed with as did every single other individual in the clergy I interviewed. He stated that the Genesis account was only a history of what happened within this system we live in right here.... our solar system. Very interesting comment indeed. Facts are, our scientists have found items entombed in lava and granite as well deep down in the depths of coal mines that are many thousands of years older than our presumed human civilization. Some artifacts date back four hundred million years and more and these ancient artifacts are definitely made by highly intelligent people who had technologies at least as good as ours of today or better. So it is very evident that a highly advanced civilization was here long before human kind, as we know him, was. Or were they actually humans as well? Just a different version of us. One thing is for sure, their life spans are far longer than ours. They can live for hundreds of years. Some accounts say up to one thousand years... who knows maybe more.

Terra Forming Operations Begin...

So let's begin. In Genesis verses 1 through 10 it talks only about the creation of the earth's atmosphere, oceans and land masses. Interestingly enough our scientists also agree that Earth's land masses in the beginning were one large continent or land mass, as well as our ocean. Here also our atmosphere was transformed from one of chaos and deadly compounds to a more suitable atmosphere that could and did support all forms of early life on Earth.

Imagine the technology that it took to do this. And all this was done in what the scriptures say was two days.

The God Time Compared To Man's...

We need to stop right here for a moment because in the scriptures it says that a day of these god's or being's time was equal to one thousand years of man's time. Now our time period of one year is based on our planet's rotation around our sun. So I would assume that these being's planetary rotation could take one thousand years to rotate around their home sun. Just a thought here. Something just tells me most beings would use this as a way to count their time periods. It makes sense.

So at this time, in all actuality, two thousand years have passed. So it took them two thousand years to finish with this first phase of their Terra-forming operation of Earth.

Once this is done it states in verses eleven to thirteen that this or these beings introduced many different types of plant life....Everything from the grasses, to the trees and everything else and I would automatically assume they did this with the oceans as well before they placed any type of fish or aquatic life into it. It really seems that they are literally making sure each stage of life support is being introduced into our planetary system before adding the next level of the ecosystem. Interesting thing is, this only took one thousand years to complete and I feel the reasoning for this is that everything they placed here had the ability to reproduce itself. A thousand years would be long enough for any life form to spread itself far and wide. So this here was the third day according to the god's time.

I have asked several scientists, biologists and oceanographers and they say it is totally possible to introduce plant life and microbial life into a system and have it quickly grow and take over entire areas of land and ocean. And with a thousand years to do this it would be no problem to create a plentiful habitat for the next level of life meaning insects, animals etc...

Now in verses fourteen to nineteen it talks about creating the moon and the sun and stars... I have a problem here because this should have already been done in verses 1 through 10. My reasoning for this is because to have the first day and night you would already have to have planetary rotation to have light and darkness here.

So I will move on to the next level of this massive Terra-forming program.

In verses twenty to twenty five it talks of the introduction of higher levels of life into the planet's environment such as fish, birds, and all manner of early life. This also meant all the large forms of life such as mammals, reptiles and everything else.

Mankind Is Created...

It was only after this that these gods decide to create man and place him on the earth to rule over every single thing on the planet. Interesting thought uh...

At this point in my research I stopped and took a good look at what they, these gods, were saying. "Let us make man in our image". They weren't talking about the father, son and holy ghost here I feel. If they were going to create man in their image then would it be wise to assume that all the other life forms they placed here were familiar to them as well. Maybe even came from their home worlds or from the many other worlds they had crossed in their travels through space to get here.

The creation of man was 100% genetic engineering! First man was not given the ability to reproduce and multiply. It is at this point where I have to pause for a moment and say, according to the ancient Sumerian account of what happened, first man was not given the ability to reproduce either. This happened later once the Annunaki females got tired of giving birth to us. If they were given dominion over everything else here early man was instructed on what to do and how to do it before these beings left this world, some of which never did. I feel some are still here from my personal experiences.

When all this is said and done six thousand years had passed. And it is said God rested on the seventh day. I would too so I could watch what was done and correct any mistakes I might have made. I would also want to make sure everything continued on the way it needed to survive over the long term while I was gone.

Now here I would like to add that the ancient texts from Sumeria talk of the Annunaki also creating man but here they added some of their own genetic material. This would match the biblical account because they made man in their image so it makes sense to use some of their own genetic material. The Bible's account of the creation is the same as the Annunaki except the Bible doesn't go into all of the details that the ancient Sumerian texts do. Could this be the same event just changed a little because of cultural differences or choice made by those controlling that area during that time period? Could be. I feel it's highly possible since it was normal for legends and histories to be shared during these time periods and adapted to fit their cultural, religious and spiritual teachings.

In the scriptures we were made to take care of the garden of Eden but, as normal, screwed up and were kicked out. From this time on the gods were not too nice to their creations. As soon as we gained knowledge we were in trouble, just like now.

It is very evident that this advanced civilization that came here and Terra-formed our earth did it to spread their genetic material across the universe. It was not only us but everything else they introduced here as well and we all know that there have been several times when this was done.... Like right after every extinction event our planet has ever had. Catching on now? It seems that our intelligence is something they didn't really want us to have at the levels we have. Maybe it was a good thing that early man ate of the tree of knowledge because we keep getting smarter and smarter... maybe too much huh...? Look at what we have done to our world.

The interesting thing here is even though mankind was destroyed by these being a portion of mankind was always saved. Seems they needed us.

It also says God rested on the seventh day. Cool, but right after this in chapter two verse two it talks about the creation of man again...

And the lord god formed man out of the dust of the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life. And man became a living being. And after this he was placed into the garden of Eden. He was to tend to the garden but not eat of the two trees... one being the Tree of Life and the other being the Tree of Knowledge... and as we all know he did once woman came to be.

In verse 21 God caused a deep sleep to fall upon man and as he slept they took a rib from him and then closed up the flesh. This is a perfect example of a person being given anesthesia and then surgery being done to remove the genetic material (bone and marrow) needed to clone or create another genetic version of the same individual except they made this next creation female. It makes sense if you want these two to reproduce.

In verse 22 God or the gods took the rib of man and created woman. Now the only way this could have been done is by using a mixture of genetics and cloning technologies. I have talked to several individuals involved with genetic engineering and they told me that this would be no problem at all to do with the right technological advances.

Facts are all that these sciences and abilities we have today we can do these things, even at large scale levels. We have already cloned animals. It hasn't taken us that long to change our atmosphere to where it is today either. Everything is possible. We are genetically engineering all kinds of things, from plants and sea life to livestock. And in several limited access programs we are doing exactly the same things as these gods did with humans as well.

Now what's interesting is that they did not want us to eat of the Tree of Life or the Tree of Knowledge and when early man did he, as well as woman, were kicked out of the garden forever. At this time the gods said basically that man had to be kicked out of the garden because if we had eaten from the tree of life then we would be just like them. Interesting statement. A god wouldn't be worried about such matters I feel. Wouldn't a god want you to grow and become more than just a servant? Interesting isn't it...?

What's more interesting is when Cain killed Able he was cast into the land of Nod where he took a wife. How could this be if they were the first humans to be created? This shows that there was different genetic lines when it came to humans I believe. But I'm not going to go into that story. We just know that this creation event created what seems to be one aspect of humanity in which there were obviously several others during this time as well.

After many years of research and searching for the truth I believe we have finally found it, but only after many many thousands of years and civilizations have come and gone, disappearing into antiquity forever.

The God or Supreme Being I believe in, wants me to do my best and evolve into something that will eventually place me at their level by their side. They would not want me to be subservient to anything... especially to them.

The gods of our past were definitely beings from outside our planet's sphere. They came here, Terra-formed our world and placed everything meaning every form of life needed to sustain us and everything else around us right on down to the microbial levels. Not only did they create us but they gave us, as I have stated before, rules and regulations to life by. They gave us our earliest forms of government and religion as well. Once they left, those in control corrupted both of these from their original meanings. Over time these rules have become more corrupted by our political and religious leader greedy for control over the masses.

Even in the great pyramids of Egypt, South America and more our ancestor's left enough information and messages to tell us who our gods were and where they came from. Out there. . Architecture left behind by them also contest to their existence and from what all these ancient systems say ... They will be coming back. I ask the question... did they ever leave? I think not. Maybe some of them left... but some stayed as well.

They really were our creators and, yes, ancestors but at the same time they were our controllers as well. Not unlike today in many ways. And controllers always run things from behind the scene.

We come from their genetics and genetic lines and they have continued to interact with us at many levels. But now things are different. They are making themselves known again... little by little. And yes, just like humans, some are good and some are bad. But is something bad if it does you good in the long run. Good question huh...?

Facts are folks, these beings will never stop doing what they do best... build planets and create life forms, some of which have come and gone. They are galactic scientists and planet builders and we have been their grand experiment in this neck of the woods, so to speak, in the galaxy.

It's interesting that after every single great extinction level event totally new ecosystems and life forms are placed here to thrive and evolve. Even Noah and the ancient Sumerians talked about a great cleansing or flood type events. So it seems that these gods become annoyed over time with us and tried to destroy us... back then at least. We have to ask... are we on the verge of that again? Scientists are saying that we are already in the midst of our sixth great extinction level event and they also say, yes we can be on that list if we are not careful. Think about it... are they readying our planet for the next species to inhabit? And are we helping them do exactly that? Who knows right... ?

It seems that no matter what we do they are always somewhere in the background still carrying out their own agendas. It also seems that time is on their side.

Haunted

SLEDMERE & FIMBER

By Paul Sinclair

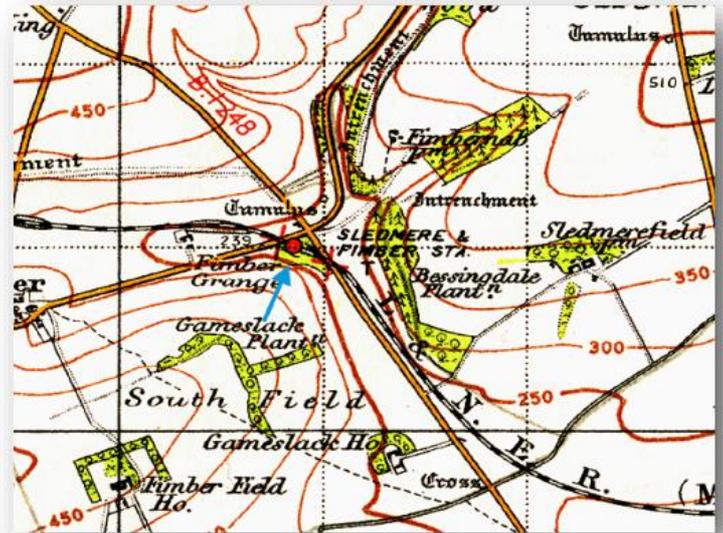

I wonder when talking about ghosts and railway crossings if the crossing itself has become some sort of concentration of human energy and emotion. These are just my own thoughts as I sit here and write a few accounts of ghostly activity from my own county of East Yorkshire.

All the stories seem to come from around the old Railway station which once sat between Fridaythorpe and Sledmere on the East Yorkshire Wolds. Both locations are noted today for big cats and UFO sightings. So it seems only fitting that reports of ghosts should be in amongst this mix of the unexplained. The station is nothing more than memories now, having closed in November of 1958. It opened as Fimber station in 1858 and was renamed Sledmere & Fimber in May 1859. The chance for one hundred years of observation in a remote location where many things had been previously seen, and continue to be seen to present day.

local folklore tells of the haunted crossroads at Fimber where the railway station used to be, all physical traces of it have long gone and it is now just an area of land known as the Fimber cross roads. It is in fact a location where two deep valleys cross, and the strange ghost lights and reports of mysterious animal apparitions were present before the existence of the Railway. Although the railway became the focal point of human activity, the place where most of the strange accounts have come to rest.

Travellers and local people have reported seeing ghosts and Hobgoblins in this area for hundreds of years. I wonder if the report I have from the same valley of small humanoid beings, beings that we today perceive as aliens were in fact one and the same. Fimber and the surrounding roads were not considered a good place to find yourself on a dark night, having spent many hours there myself over the years I have to agree. Travellers passing through the area have reported seeing glowing lights in the adjoining Besendale Valley that runs up towards Cottam just a few miles away. Another area where we have spent time watching the skies. I realise we have been observing the same things that these people saw many years before, the only thing that has changed in that time is human interpretation.

The ghosts of Fimber cross roads seem many and varied; it could be the human thing to add a frightening element to them. There are tails of grown men who have been terrified by the sight of ghostly hounds with red eyes that appear like phantoms out of the darkness along the adjoining valley, to the amazing account of a headless woman who's ghostly form is said to drift past and vanish into the night. Others claim to have seen a woman on hoarse back galloping past. When Chris asked me if I would write something about local ghosts connected to railway crossings I already knew of the Fimber crossroads and the many reports of ghosts attached to it. But finding an actual ghost story with a beginning and an end is difficult. For the moment all I can do is write about what people claim to have seen throughout the years. Whilst researching the Wolds UFOs in 2009, I found myself talking with a couple who live in Fimber, they were keen to tell me about the ghost cats that they had seen in the area of the old cross roads. "Ghost cats." I asked the question and was told the place was haunted by cats that appeared as real and sharp to the human eyes as any other. The couple claimed to have seen two black cats. They said they looked so real that the only unusual thing about seeing them was actually seeing cats in a place where they should not have been. For all intents and purposes they were normal looking house cats. That was until they vanished before their eyes. They both admitted to being scared by the experience and I could tell speaking to them that they were in fact a little embarrassed. They said that if they had not seen it they would never have believed it if anyone else had told them.

I don't know why so many accounts of ghosts are connected to the Fimber cross roads, or if they are even Ghosts. The lights seen in the adjoining Besendale valley have to be the lightforms that we are still seeing today, and the reports of phantom dogs have never gone away. I wonder if we are just labelling something as a ghost because it fits better with human belief and what we perceive as life after death. But the Ghosts the Lightforms and the phantom animals could all be showing us glimpses into another world that is as alive and vibrant as our own.
