

THE STEADY SIGNAL

Electromagnetics and Anomalies.

A newsheet for editors and authors.

Nov-Dec.1994 No.001.

This newsheet has been produced in response to the large number of enquiries about, and interest in ALLERGIES AND ALIENS. Since May 1994, when this modest book was published, I have been inundated with correspondence from around the world. At the risk of sounding grandiose, it is clear that the fundamental approach to the understanding of a range of anomalies introduced in this book has been recognised by a number of researchers and writers, as significant. Some, who are known for original research themselves, like Jacque Vallee, Paul Devereux and Professor Kenneth Ring, have sent letters of endorsement. Others, like Eddie Bullard, are cautious, although recognising that a major new approach has come into existence. Therefore, THE STEADY SIGNAL is to provide information and debate on issues related to this new environmental health approach. There will be only about thirty-five copies of each issue produced, and these will be distributed to published authors and/or editors of specialist publications. There will be no ready access for the general public, and it is hoped that editors will use the material sent to them in THE STEADY SIGNAL in their publication, although there is absolutely no obligation on their part to do so. Indeed, if anyone regards TSS as unwanted and an unsolicited intrusion, notification at the outset will cease receipt.

THE STEADY SIGNAL newsheet will take the form of a free limited edition, and will appear only when newsworthy and significant information on issues related to electromagnetics and anomalies has accumulated sufficiently. It is hoped that TSS will evolve into a periodical itself eventually, although this information service to editors will continue.

Contributions are welcome and it is hoped that TSS will receive information and correspondence from editors, that in the normal course of their work receive and collect on electromagnetic aspects and that TSS will act as a clearing house and outlet, so that these may be shared. In addition, due to the small numbers of TSS produced, each editor may receive additional material which pertains to their specialisation specifically, which is not in all editions i.e. additional items of interest/relevance will be added appropriately for individual editors with specialist areas. Such supplements will be listed however.

Many publications state at the outset that the editor(s) hold no fixed or corporate views on the phenomena under study, however, TSS does. It can be said that unlike the majority of similar sources of information on anomalies, TSS does not accept that any form of alien intelligence is involved in UFOs, abduction/contact experiences etc. This position has not been arrived at lightly or as an a priori stance, but has evolved over a period of about fifteen years, during which the author has witnessed the growth of many types of sensationalist belief-system. Such mythologies, whilst of enormous popularity, have actively held back the progress of understanding, and discredit the subject in the minds of the press and general public. Therefore, TSS will take the rare position of fully recognising that genuine and unusual anomalies exist, but that they have causes outside of the confines of alien intelligence hypotheses.

ELECTROFORMS -THE EVIDENCE.

It was folklorist EDDIE BULLARD (PhD), who was sponsored by the Fund for UFO Research to compile a study of the alien abduction phenomenon. These mighty tomes of epic proportions were sent to me by Eddie, preceded by a covering letter. In it he expressed his doubts that a ball lightning-like phenomenon could be produced as an accidental side-effect of electromagnetic pollution. I had proposed this idea in ALLERGIES AND ALIENS, calling this variety of unclassified atmospheric phenomenon : ELECTROFORMS, which seemed a usefully descriptive label to me.

I had argued that as ball lightning is produced in the charged atmosphere of electrical storms, something like it must occur in the permanent fields produced by high tension cables and/or radio-frequency transmitters, under certain conditions. It was PAUL DEVEREUX who told me of a sighting of a discrete ball of light associated with pylons that he had received. Many researchers/investigators believe, as a working hypothesis, that such light phenomena exist, although nobody is aware of any being produced under controlled conditions.

All this has now changed however. Two researchers in Ohio in the USA have done exactly that. They have produced some spectacular and beautifully coloured 'electric fireballs' in their laboratory using two synchronously pulsed high power radio-frequency oscillators designed by TESLA. They say:-

'Our laboratory in Ohio has developed equipment that will produce electric fireballs that will last after the external power is removed. We have been able to produce electric fireballs that will fit the conditions and circumstances that are frequently seen in nature, i.e. fireballs passing through window glass, inside airplanes, travelling along fences etc...Tesla, of course, was running about 100 times the power which we could produce with our rather modest equipment... We set about creating conditions as described by observers of ball lightning. By having the streamers, produced by the two resonators operating together, strike a window pane surrounded by a wooden frame, we produced conditions normally found in nature. What was observed by the operator of our apparatus was astounding! The streamers went from the high voltage terminal and struck the windowpane. There were many fireballs present between the electrodes and the window. But where the streamers hit the glass, there were many fireballs emanating from the opposite side of the glass. The fireballs would then travel slowly horizontally 12 inches or so and flare up. Some would travel out a bit farther and explode. We captured this on videotape, and these results are reproducible on demand. Try it!'

Throughout my research into the effects of EM fields with co-worker ANNE SILK, we had maintained that the effects we had discovered in people and the environment were due to an interaction between two or more frequencies - known as an intermodulation effect. This specific condition was never used in controlled studies, and we found skepticism amongst the specialists we had approached with our findings. We were understandably delighted to find that we were vindicated in our beliefs on receiving this paper, as these electric fireballs are produced by exactly that - an intermodulation effect between a higher and lower field frequency!

This reproduces the conditions found in so many UFO sites, where artificial fields from RF transmitters/pylons and natural piezoelectric and piezomagnetic fields from faults mix and match on vast and powerful scales, and at huge voltages to produce spectacular balls of light. These irradiate the witness, thereby creating the bizarre consciousness and extreme physiological effects that had been described to us by so many in association with their alien contact experience e.g. amnesia, paralysis, tingling, sensations of heat, ocular irritation, dehydration causing intense thirst, 'sunburn', unconsciousness etc. These UFOs are not just light phenomena, but electric fireballs - ELECTROFORMS in fact.

ITEM 1A.

Earlier this year, I produced an article which linked ball lightning with animal mutilation phenomena. This was published in the NEW UFOLOGIST. Although there is not enough space to elaborate here, it is also my argument that the anomalous light phenomena so often associated with cases of animal mutilation in the USA, are ELECTROFORMS and these induce the characteristic physical trauma electrothermally. ELECTROFORMS have become more prevalent due to the proliferation of electronic communication systems. (See first edition of the NEW UFOLOGIST from Rodney Howarth on: 0282- 451315) For a copy of the article write to THE STEADY SIGNAL with a sae and 50p in stamps to cover copying costs.

I will be giving a lecture for BUFORA at the University of Westminster (ELECTROFORMS-THE EVIDENCE) on the first Saturday in September 1995 at 6.30 p.m. I will be showing a video and/or photographic evidence in addition to providing the practical and technical aspects involved. Photographs of balls of light needed please (these will be credited)

However, I will also be organising an earlier lecture, hopefully in March 1995, for those editors (and colleagues) who utilise THE STEADY SIGNAL. I will also try for an actual demonstration, possibly at Imperial College, London, S.W.7. Please notify TSS if interested ASAP.

'NASAL IMPLANTS'

In ALLERGIES AND ALIENS, I identify various aspects of the CE4 experience as systemic field effects, i.e. the physiological effects of fields as electromagnetic pollution, on the electrically hypersensitive abductee. e.g. the 'time lapse' is caused by drop attacks, blackouts, 'blankouts' or automatic behaviour as a response to fields.

I am gradually working my way through the more physical effects, the most recent one being nasal trauma or nosebleeds as a post-encounter symptom. This has been wrongly interpreted as being due to the insertion of some type of advanced monitoring device by aliens and has been 'confirmed' by CAT scans, which have found physical metallic particles high up in the sinuses, although there has been the qualifying reminder, that these objects must be very small. Strieber, in COMMUNION (pp.128-129) gives a very good description of this 'insertion' experience, and his family, who were present in his rural 'log cabin' on the night of his experience, also complain of 'knots' high up in their nasal regions. The scenario that suggests itself to those bound up with the fiction of aliens implanting devices, is that his whole family are being monitored. Those who encourage this mistaken belief should read a certain article in the prestigious scientific periodical NATURE.

In 1983, three zoologists, Baker, Mather and Kennaugh, in the Department of Zoology at the University of Manchester, found and photographed naturally occurring particles of magnetic iron (magnetite) in human sinus bones, (sphenoid/ethmoid sinus complex). In NATURE (Vol.301. 6th January 1983. pp.78-80) a microphotograph is reproduced as part of the article, and it shows a clear and distinct layer of magnetite. They tell us that this area may just be a dumping site for iron in the body, as anemic individuals do not have this it. Or, it may be something to do with our sense of direction. But whatever the reason, it is these particles which, when violently disturbed by a magnetic field in a hot spot location, damage the delicate blood vessels there and cause bleeding.

I have an article on Strieber as an electrical hypersensitive (EH) coming out in the MUFON JOURNAL shortly, which describes this in more detail. Also, there is an article in the BULLETIN OF ANOMALOUS EXPERIENCE (BAE/CANADA) which also goes into more detail. It is called :ALIEN ABDUCTIONS -VISIONARY DRAMAS AND SYSTEMIC EFFECTS.

ITEM 3.

In ALLERGIES AND ALIENS I state that the alien contact/abduction experience occurs in an allergic trance state in individuals with electrical hypersensitivity. It is triggered when such EH individuals are 'zapped' by a EM field that they are sensitive to from a pylon or radio transmitter etc.

Therefore, is there any evidence in terms of detecting the presence of magnetic fields during the CE4 experience? There appears that there is. Quite independently from myself, a specialist in electromagnetics called Nicholas Reiter in the USA, carried out an experiment where he put magnetic field detectors into the homes of abductees. These were triggered on the nights when they had a CE4 and not when no experience was detected. He chose 15 abductees all over the USA, and his experimental design is well-grounded. For copies of this lengthy report, write to THE STEADY SIGNAL with a sae and £5.00. to cover copying costs and postage.

ITEM 4.

Neurologist EVE LAPLANTE, in her book on temporal lobe epilepsy, writes of her work with WHITLEY STRIEBER. She tells of Strieber's MRI(magnetic resonance imaging)brain scan which showed 'occasional punctate foci of high signal intensity' in his left temporoparietal region, suggesting scarring that could lead to TLE(temporal lobe epilepsy).(p.107)

I have found that individuals who have CE3/4 experiences often develop epileptiform symptoms due to their repeated exposure to EM fields as electronic pollution. These are listed and described in ALLERGIES AND ALIENS. Therefore LAPLANTE'S work supports this finding. I also state that the form of the 'grey' entity is due to the electrical stimulation of specific brain areas i.e. it occurs consistently across populations of abductees because it is the same areas of the brain that are being stimulated. It seems that LaPiante would agree with this, as she states:-

'Although some critics dismissed Strieber's 'nonfiction' as invented, his alien creatures would be true in the medical sense if indeed they resulted from seizures:they would be the psychic representations of abnormal electrical activity in his brain.'(p.108)
