There are many lectures given on flying saucers in almost every big city in the United States. I, myself, have been to many of them but I did not go just because I was curious, in fact, if I had not gone to any I would have just passed them off as bunk.

Most of the time when a person does see them he is always searching for more information as is such in my case. It takes a curious person to lectures. Most of the time just before the man speaks people laugh and joke about flying saucers, but if you sit quietly you'll notice as the lecture goes on they seem to get more of a serious look on their faces, then when the question period comes most every time a person will ask how can I help to break the saucer smoke screen? The answer will probably be one of two things, consult your religious leaders or try to get the newspapers interested in publishing more of the saucer sightings of which they get hundreds of reports everyday.

Now most of you will think why should religious leaders have to be consulted about such things as flying saucers? Well the only answer is go to some of the lectures and find out. Many good businessmen have joined in helping these saucer lectures to become more widely known.

There have been many saucers chased by planes before and there have been many photos taken of them, some of which we probably won't see for some time. The saucers over Washington, D.C. were not due to atmospheric conditions. If that were so they would be going over almost every day.

It began at the center of Washington, D.C. on July 20th about 12:45 A.M.. There wasn't much traffic and the night was perfectly clear. The radar was clear until 12:40 A.M. at that time seven round objects appeared. There was no known traffic in the air of any kind in the area at all. The men at the radar became deeply interested in what they saw on the radar scope. At first the craft came in very fast but after a short time they started slowing down to a hundred mph. which was very slow compared to the speed on their first appearance. Both radar scopes had the exact things on them. Other radar stations nearby called in and reported the same thing. At first they thought they might be enemy aircraft. They ruled that out because aircraft would not come down from the sky from so far up. All of a sudden the saucers circled around the Capital and White House immediately the radar detectors spotted them and called the air defense because that was a prohibited area for any aircraft of any kind.

PUBLIC SIGHTINGS

On August 20, 1952 on the radar scope at the Congarll air base radar station the watchers were amazed to see a strange blip appear on the screen. The blip was traveling at approximately 4000 miles per hour.

On July 29, at Kirtland air force base New Mexico, a mysterious disk was observed by many people whiped around at amazing speeds. Jets were sent up to look at it and they almost immediately zoomed out of sight.

On July 26, 1952 just a little after the sun set appeared a red light which went across Key West, Florida. Quickly a navy destroyer set to sea and fruitlessly chased the object around trying to get a better look.

Over T. V. in 1954 a program we prefer to keep anonymous broadcasted a true story, of which only the names, dates and places were changed. It was about a man who claimed to have spoken to a man from Venus. The man from Venus asked him if he would come and live on Venus, but he told the man from Venus that he would tell him later. He told some newspapermen. They asked him if he would be willing to take a lie detector test. He told them he was willing. They asked him if he had talked to a man from Venus and if he would want to come to the planet Venus. The lie detector did not agree with what he told the newspapermen. Later they found out that the lie detector was out of order. They called up his home to tell him and his wife answered the phone and said she found a note on the desk. It said Venus, no one has ever found any trace of this man. (Only the Airforce and top officials know his name.)

Fantastic Films

If you have seen such films as men invading from Mars or other Science fiction films, don't put too much time into thinking about them for many rumors are built up from them.

Newspaper and magazine publishers have a picnic publishing such things as weird men 23 inches tall with green eyes, etc. They are just a figment of ones Saturday night drinking. Articles have been found in magazines of such things found dead in saucers but every time someone wants to know where they are it seems they can never find them. For your own peace of mind don't pay any attention to such trash.

The editor and staff of Cosmic News welcomes any opinion of the subscribers.

All information is subject to publication.

1. All the incidents must be completely true.
2. You must have your name and address in your own signature or your entry will be disqualified.

Q. What is the size of the craft?

A. There are several sizes. They are as large as 50 feet in diameter.

Q. Are there any Martians or Venusians inhabiting Earth?

A. There most probably are but in disguise.

Q. How fast do these craft go?

A. They have been timed at 7,200 miles per hour and up.

Q. Why have the saucers come to the Earth?

A. This we don't know but they are most probably afraid of our atomic tests along with our devastating wars. For some how it could have effect on them. (Only time will tell.)

Q. Where have the saucers come from?

A. All evidence has pointed toward Mars and Venus, and possibly all the planets.

Q. How far is Mars and Venus from the Earth?

A. Mars is thirty-five million miles away, and Venus is forty-four million miles away. Of course these figures represent their closest point to the Earth.

Q. What would these people look like and would they speak our language?

A. They probably would look a great deal like us because they couldn't live among us if they didn't. In order to communicate with us they have most definitely mastered our language.

Q. Do you think these people are hostile?

A. Definitely not, if they were they would have attacked us years ago. In fact, I think they want to be friendly with us as they have not intentionally hurt or killed one of us since they have visited us. They are probably worshipers of a supreme being like us only with greater conviction. After all our planes shot at them and they didn't even fight back.

Q. How many flying saucers are there?

A. There have been sightings where there were upwards of 284 saucers.

The government is definitely trying to hide the real facts behind the Captain Mantell story chiefly because they don't want the public to panic. It is unlikely that the public will panic if properly informed of this incident.

(Here are the true facts).

Captain Mantell was cruising at a low altitude when he spotted a saucer. The saucer showed no aggressive action but ran away. Captain Mantell chased the object straight up to several thousand feet. He reported back his sightings to headquarters and said he was going to chase it further.

He tried to contact with the saucer but he made no action nor in turn did the saucer. Now, the saucer runs itself on a sort of magnetic power that we have not discovered and Captain Mantell got too near the bottom of this craft and got caught in the magnetic field which threw his plane off course and crashed his plane.

Most people would think the saucer meant to kill Captain Mantell. But the truth is that they were trying to save Mantell's life. They made every effort so Mantell wouldn't get caught, but it was too late.

The Airforce then said that Mantell chased the planet Venus. First of all the planet Venus couldn't make radical turns around an airplane. Captain Mantell couldn't crash into the planet Venus which is 44 million miles away at its closest point to the Earth.

The planet Venus cannot be seen at 3:15 in the afternoon. It is rather surprising that "Venus" made a low altitude dive over Fort Knox, Kentucky, the incident which was observed by two hundred people.

SAUCERS IN AUSTRALIA (CONDENSED FROM MAGAZINE)

A man by the name of Hall in Australia, owning fifteen hundred acres of ranch land, told of an incident on his ranch. It starts out when the Jack rabbits and bad weather are ruining his land. He was looking over his starving sheep and cattle on a calm day when he hears a whirring sound that could have put him to sleep. After a while Hall sees six bluish-white objects that he des-

The Sunday newspaper said. "Attention saucer fans, come to the main library in Cleveland Ohio and learn how flying saucers will have an effect on you and your children. Mr. X and I attended that meeting. There were from three hundred fifty to four hundred people there. The speaker was Mr. Aryes. Here are the details of that report.

As you know we have nine planets going around our sun. Our sun is one of countless others. Assume that about one out of every hundred stars has planets. You know there are different groups of stars, called galaxies. There are millions and billions of galaxies. Just imagine how many planets there are! Lets say half of them are inhabited, and say there are many different races some may be ages and ages behind us. Some are on the verge of space travel like us, and some have it already. Now we come to the subject of flying saucers. As you may know some of the first were sighted about nine years ago by an airforce pilot. He said that they were bluish-white and that they followed him for 35 minutes. We see and hear of them now and then in magazines and in newspapers. We are living in the most adventurous and exciting age in history. There are seven different types of flying saucers on record. An airforce pilot was observing them for a while from his plane. Then he noticed the saucers. They were traveling at the same pace. Then one smaller one slid behind, but soon it sped up to the others. It was bluish-white until it slowed down then it changed it's color to red like the others. Other airforce pilots said they saw a big saucer, then out of it came six smaller ones which probably were attached to the hull or inside of the saucer. Then they flew off in a V formation. This was observed by many pilots. Then he said that the airforce has investigated the little green man theory, and found it not to be true. Here is the reason why. There is a lot of confusion about flying saucers. There are three branches in the airforce. One is ordered or paid millions of dollars to print propaganda in the newspapers. There is one branch that tries to mess things up, such as the flying saucer myth. This branch tells us that they are over, shot and done with. They do this for another reason too. Remember back in 1928 when a certain someone wrote a play that scared the life out of half the country. Some people even committed suicide for fear of its realism. Another branch thinks that they should not tell the public that they are still studying the flying saucers. They try to tell us that we imagine that there are flying saucers. This is because they are afraid we will panic. The other branch thinks they should tell the public everything. This branch has more power than the other two. All these groups know that flying saucers really exist because they show up on radar and there have been many observations. They also have factual data. Mr. Aryes also said, "Don't let anyone tell you that they are all imagination or reflection from a building, because they would not show up on radar if they were." And surely astronomers could not see birds, balloons, battle ships, trash cans, etc. through their telescopes in outer space flying in formation with the fine details. Flying saucers are not American or Russian secrets. They are interplanetary. The airforce has proof of this. If Russia should ever claim that they belong to her, our airforce will probably show us this proof.
