PINE NEEDLES HIT MY FOOT!

By Thomas Wilson, Associate Director, Anchorage, Alaska

I don't know if I explained to you the time I was snatched up in Mt. Rainier. I was taking a few days of vacation up at Mt. Rainier to do some fishing and hiking.

Mt. Rainier is in the Cascade Mountains, of course you live there. I am sure you are familiar that it is very beautiful up there. I wanted to stay at one of the lakes or one of the rivers and I did. The first day I was up there I was sitting in my car and something picked me up and floated me right through my car; held me up there for a few minutes, brought me right back down without a touch or anything that affected me. It wanted me to know that it happened.

The same night I saw three vehicles. Three UFOs; that is the only thing it could have been, fly right across my head a couple of times. It was so unusual because normally I wanted to sleep in my tent but I slept in my car instead. I was looking through the window straight up in the sky and there was nothing but black stars. It was clear, so clear I felt I could reach out and grab a few, that was how clear it was.

As I was gazing up at the sky I noticed lights just flashing right across the sky and I watched them as they danced across the sky. They danced so I knew that they wanted me to see them.

This was only a few days from the time I was laying in bed when something unusual happened. Normally I wouldn't wear my socks to bed. My feet got cold and that was unusual so I put a pair of socks on. They started itching after about a half hour of laying there, my feet got itchy right at the ankle. I started scratching it so I put my sock half way down so I could scratch it easier and as I was doing so I scratched it, left the sock half way down at the arch of my foot, I left it there. As I was going back to sleep I could feel myself tingling like little needles punching me. I get that sensation often. I feel like some body is sticking me with needles and all of a sudden I felt myself get really light. I felt myself leave the bed - float straight up in a prone position. I floated right through the roof top. I don't know how far I got up - I have no idea. I couldn't see anything. The only thing I could see was a light; a gleaming white light circling my body. I could hear this voice and the first two sentences I heard were "Thomas you can have anything you want - you are in the plan - it is your destiny. Understand." Then I could still hear the voice but I couldn't understand it. It was a male voice and it kept repeating it - "Understand - Understand, you are this and this and this, Understand, understand, you are this and this and this, understand." It stopped. I was trying to explain "I don't understand." I was trying to talk to it. I knew that they understood me - I don't know why I knew that, but I did.

It started releasing me down; started bringing me back down. I went right straight through the roof top again but before I went back to my bed I could feel myself hit the top of a tree with my feet that were left open. I hit the tree as I was coming down so I would know. It was a Pine tree. You know how pine needles would feel when they stick your feet. You could feel that. You could tell the difference. That was exactly what was over my house was a bunch of Pine trees. They leaned over the house so I know that was what had happened. It was planned for me to know exactly that - that I had just went through the roof.

As I was coming down they placed me in the same position as I was in before. I felt at that time I was in the same position I was in and that was the end of it.

Editors Note: Thomas has had many unusual experiences which he has given permission for us to share with you. In the next issue we will tell you about a wonderful encounter he had with an "angel". It changed his life.

REPORT FROM HOUSTON UFOCCI

By Ann Bower, Associate Director

Thought I would check in with you and let you know some of the UFO activity in and around Houston, Texas. I would also appreciate comments from other members and readers if similar experiences or sightings are taking place in other areas.

Last September, about Friday the 28th in the afternoon, a UFO was observed around Highway 288 and downtown Houston. A number of office workers watched it and it was reported on the 5 p.m. news, Channel 11. This was the only news report on this sighting that I know of; however, I just happen to get the report on video. September 28, 1989 there was a full moon.

On October 8, 1989, I was traveling to New Braunfels, Texas with another UFOCCI Associate Director. We were 75 to 80 miles out of Houston on Interstate 10, Judy Stryker was driving, I began to feel like I was drugged. I could not keep my eyes open. I fell into like a deep sleep and woke up feeling very alert after about 30 minutes. This seemed strange to me as I was not tired and had a good nights sleep. About four and a half hours later, same day, we were on Highway 46 coming out of New Braunfels, Texas; Judy Stryker behind the wheel, about 30 to 40 minutes drive out of town, when suddenly Judy almost stopped and said where are we? Judy was totally confused. Nothing looked familiar and she felt she was going the wrong way and wanted to turn around and go back. I convinced her we were going in the right direction and when we reached Interstate 10 she was back to herself again. We have been making this trip to New Braunfels, TX and back to Houston twice a month for about a year. WHO WAS DRIVING THE CAR????

On January 23, 1990, about 7:45 p.m. my next door neighbor and her daughter were traveling east on North Belt near the Intercontinental Airport. The daughter told her mother to look up at the UFOs. She looked up and saw five ships in a circle. She stopped and watched them flashing pink, purple and blue lights. They were watching the UFOs with binoculars and a helicopter went up from the Airport headed for the ships. The ships scattered and when the helicopter left all five returned to their formation in a circle. Quickly two more ships came and went to the center of the circle. They flashed green, yellow and orange lights. The two ships in the center seemed to dart from one ship to the other. After a couple of minutes two helicopters started up from the airport toward the ships. All seven ships took off so fast they were out of sight in seconds. This is the third report I have had in about four months of ships around the airport; but it is the first report I have had of ships with purple lights. I talked with Ron Medley of HUFON (Houston UFO Network) and he was not able to get a confirmation of UFOs near the airport, just an incident, but if we would furnish the "N" number on one of the helicopters they would ask the pilot. Sorry, no camera was in the car. I did ask about the purple lights as I had not heard of this color lights displayed and was told of a report last year - 1989 - on three ships near Ellington

Air Force Base with purple lights. ANY ONE KNOW OF REPORTS ON PURPLE LIGHTS???

January 17, 1990, I woke up for some unknown reason at 2:45 a.m., looked out to see six ships passing over my house headed east. I found out the next day that a lady in Kingwood (an addition just northeast of Houston) saw a ship at 2:30 a.m. the 17th. She watched it hover over some trees for a few minutes and it went up and was gone.

It has been busy here on the Gulf Coast and 1990 may give us some more interesting experiences..... Ann Bower, UFOCCI Associate Director, Houston, Texas.

Editor's Note: If anyone can add to this interesting report we will publish it in the next issue of the Missing Link.

Observers don't have clue about UFO's origin

Sightings as far away as western Md.

By ERIC RUTH
Staff reporter

The mysterious glowing ball that shot through Saturday's night skies remained a mystery Sunday as reports of the UFO came in from as far away as western Maryland.

Regular sky observers on the Delmarva Peninsula and surrounding areas had no explanations of the colorful projectile's origins.

"I haven't heard anything at all, period," said Clyde K. Dossett, who as a meteorologist at New Castle County Airport keeps an eye on Delaware's skies.

Some witnesses suggested that the green ball, which trailed a fiery tail as it streaked through the sky after 7 p.m., was a meteor.

Yet meteors and meteorologists have little in common.

"We don't have anything to do with that," Dossett said. "It's got nothing to do with meteorology."

Upstairs from Dossett's office, at the airport's control tower, air traffic control specialist Dean Dungan said no one in the glass-encircled perch saw the object. And no pilots had radioed in sightings.

Dover Air Force Base officials said no aircraft — civilian or military — could be blamed for the phenomenon.

Witnesses in Delaware and surrounding states said the object traced a nearly flat trajectory across the sky, then abruptly disappeared.

"I could not believe it. It was incredible," said Michelle Amadio, who was returning to her Hockessin home from the Concord Mall by way of Montchanin Road when the UFO appeared. "It was bright green, it was really big and it looked like a ball of flame ... with a yellow and orange tail. At first I thought it was an airplane that exploded and was falling to the ground."

from Allegany County in the western part of the state to Tilghman Island and Crisfield on the Eastern Shore.

Maryland State Police reported receiving dozens of calls to report strange lights. A police helicopter pilot who spotted the lights while flying in the Glen Burnie area tentatively described them as a meteor shower.

The other obvious source of unusual lights in the sky, Wallops Island National Aeronautical Flight Center in Virginia, reported no rocket firings Saturday. "We've had a lot of reports," said State Police Sgt. Mike Zeigler at the communications center in Baltimore. "Citizens called and said they saw a big glow in the sky."

"One individual called it green, like a vapor, and said they saw sparks. They described it to me as a turbine breaking up," said State Police Sgt. Don Tatterson in Salisbury. Another person called from Crisfield and described bright lights, "something like a shower," Tatterson said.

UFO film genuine

A SENSATIONAL report just published by UFO buffs has declared a film off a UFO as 'genuine.'

The film, taken near Haddenham in 1973, has been scrutinised by experts throughout Britain. It was taken by building surveyor Peter Day who had a movie camera with him in his car when he witnessed the strange light.

The conclusion of the report, "Fire In The Sky" by the British UFO Research Association states: "By a strict definition of the term the thing was a UFO — namely an Unidentified Flying Object. Whether it will remain unidentifiable is another matter."

A full report will appear in next week's Star but turn to page 13 for more news on the strange lights seen over the county last week.

Other observers reported similar characteristics.

Dan Lauber, a 66-year-old engineer, said he was driving west from Bowie, Md., when he saw a bright, blue-green light with an orange-yellow flaming tail speeding south through the sky. Lauber said the light measured about 40 feet long when he sighted it at 7:12 p.m.

"After something like maybe three to five seconds, it disappeared," Lauber said.

The object was reported in all three Delaware counties. In Maryland, sightings were reported

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Readers:

I would like to inform you of a new UFO organization that will start in mid-February. This organization's main goal will be to get the youth aware of the UFO situation around the world. I also hope to be able to reach out to the youth who are going through abduction trauma and need someone their own age to let them know that they are NOT crazy OR alone.

I had written a letter that appeared in UFO UNIVERSE asking the youth to write me if they were interested in UFOs. Well, I got a very positive response from many teens. I even found two contactees! After the letters from young adults ceased to appear in my mailbox, I began to get the idea of having an organization that will educate the youth about what could possibly happen in the near future - open world contact! I believe if we prepare future generations of this now, there wouldn't be as much of an "after shock" that there would be if they didn't expect it.

I really hope that members of the UFOCCI will want to join UFOSFF. For more information please don't hesitate to write me. I hope to hear from all of you. Until then - KEEP LOOKING UP!
Sincerely, Jason Hooten, Associate Director - UFOSFF, 525 Ave. D, Ft. Madison, IA 52627

Dear Aileen:

With regard to our conversation today (January 25, 1990), I am displeased to submit the following list of grievances against the United States Government: (7 years duration)

1. Intimidation
2. Harrasment/Persecution
3. Sabotage of my medical practice
4. Threatened assassination
5. Attempted assassination
6. Physical torture.
7. Repeated and continual harrasment of all of my friends and relatives.
8. Libel, slander.

Let us remember that in this "One nation, indivisible with Liberty and Justice for All" - that what affects one of us, ultimately affects us all.

Signed: For truth and freedom, S. J. Kurzweil, M.D.

* * * * *

Dear Aileen:

January 18, 1990 a group of us went to a UFO lecture at the University of Pitt at Bradford at Bradford, PA. The well known Stanton T. Friedman was the guest speaker.

I might say he was very interesting to listen to. Well ... until about three quarters of the way through when he started to talk about his job as a nuclear physicist and how he worked for the government. All through his lecture he told us how the government debunked all UFO sightings and tried to explain away the ones they couldn't explain. Which most of us knew anyway.

He also showed us about 60 or 70 slides - most of them were of UFOs and landing spots. The rest, as you might guess, were of nuclear plants and reactors which was a bit boring at times but nevertheless, all through the lecture he told us how important it was to report any UFO sighting of great importance, especially the close encounters of the 2, 3 and 4th kind to a qualified UFO investigator to have it checked out. Which it is very important to do.

Well, anyway, to make a long story short. Someone in the audience raised their hand and began telling a story about a UFO spotted over a power plant. The object was a boomerang shape. As it sat above the power plant another one joined it and did the same. It was followed by a saucer shaped one off to one side. It had blinking lights to it. To which he asked, "Did you talk to anybody about it?" To which the reply came, "The State Police, who in turn got a hold of the Pittsburgh Network for UFO Investigation which is headed by Mr. Stan Gordon of Greensburg, PA. To which they said they were contacted. They also said that the government came to the house and asked a lot of questions about it.

Are you ready for the reply which came from Mr. Friedman. And I stress after the head of the UFO investigator from Bradford said that they have had a good number of reports from this area about the boomerang objects. He said, "Oh it's probably just something that belongs to the military," and dropped it at that. Can you imagine that? Someone looking for a good answer and getting a reply like that!

If that was the only person who saw it I might have bought it but I doubt it. But when dozens of people have seen them in this area I sure as heck would have thought of a better answer than that. What do you think??

Now I know why I like the saying "Beam Me Up Scotty, There's no Intelligent Life Down here!" I ask you - is that the answer you would have given? No doubt this will cause trouble but it's not meant to. It's just one's opinion.

So until next time... E.T. signing off.....

DELMARVA UFO CONTACT CENTER INTERNATIONAL
 Wilmington, Delaware
 By Cary Dickey, Associate Director

Since the evening of January 11 there has been steady UFO activity here in Delaware. The object is the typical saucer shape and is bluish-green with some red in the center. Approximately, three of four people have spotted them, including myself. It is only seen on clear nights or partly cloudy nights (if the clouds are in the right places). Sometimes two such objects can be seen. One witness says she's seen twelve smaller ones come out of and go into one of those two objects.

This UFO has gone out of its way to get my attention via my kitchen window while doing the dinner dishes. These sightings have been taking place in Northern Delaware south of Wilmington. They are still happening as of this date. What is most unusual is that this UFO does skywriting. Usually the object(s) is seen between 6-9 p.m. Also, I spotted it between 4:30-5:30 a.m., January 16, while scraping the ice from my car windows and on the way to take inventory at a department store located north of Wilmington.

Characteristics of the "January" UFO

1. Bluish green with some red in the center.
2. It skywrites up and down and sideways.
3. Most of the time it bounces up and down like a ball in the sky.
4. It is saucer-shaped.
5. Based on the skywriting, it is from a star in The Crux constellation called Mimosa.

I though you would be interested in this UFO. Please let me know what you think. Thank you.... Cary D. Dickey, Associate Director

UFO heads for Jaywick

TWO men sparked a police search for an unidentified flying object when they spotted a strange sight in the sky over Clacton airstrip.

The men were driving along West Road when one of them saw a brightly lit object hovering over the airstrip.

They reported their sighting to Clacton Police who carried out a search of the airfield.

Police found no sign of the UFO, sighted on Tuesday night, but passed on the report to Stansted and Southend air traffic control, and the Ministry of Defence.

The men said the object was circular and about 30 metres across, with red, white and green flashing lights. It had a white underside and was making a humming noise.

They watched it hover about 50 metres off the ground for two minutes before it headed off above St John's Road towards Jaywick.

Night sky poser

STRANGE lights in the sky over southern England left scores of people baffled last night.

Some thought that the mystery objects were UFOs and alerted police.

Scotland Yard received dozens of calls from as far apart as Hackney in London's East End and Haslemere, Surrey, from people who saw bright white lights darting across the night sky.

Police mechanic Peter Ridley, who lives in Limehouse, said: 'The lights looked really strange. I've never seen anything like them. They went round in circles, and moved at enormous speed.'

London Weekend Television's 21st birthday celebrations were blamed for the phenomenon, but a LWT spokesman said celebrations do not start until today.

ANOTHER INTERVIEW WITH BOB LAZAR
ON BILLY GOODMAN'S HAPPENING!

(Transcript by Stacy Borland, Associate Director, Las Vegas, NV)

B.G. (Billy Goodman) B.L. (Bob Lazar) G.H. (Gene Huff)
C - (Caller)

(Missed a minute or two changing tapes!)

BL.... happened by doing the T.V. thing, is loosening up some of the other people out there and maybe some of those other people will come forward and they can run with this thing. Then I can be left out of it.

BG I think some other people have come forward by the way! We've had some calls for example, the one where that gentleman was talking about the Mercury worker down below. He was telling that story. I think he has come forward.

BL I am talking about some people from S-4 coming forward! As a matter of fact I don't know if anyone knows that on Saturday they're going to air that two hour special on the CBS affiliate - Channel 8 and that should have all the material that was in the daily news shows.

BG Are there going to be any new twists to it?

BL Yeah. There will be much more information on this show.

BG Are you going to be there as a guest?

BL No. It has already been put on tape.

C Do you now understand how the propulsion system works and is it a gravitational device and if so would you explain it?

BL Yes, I understand completely how it works and, as far as explaining it - no - I'd rather not.

C Not even in a general sense?

BL No - not even in a general sense. Like I said before, the entire concept I have no problem bringing forward. The inner workings and details I still feel should remain classified.

BG Well - that's interesting.

C Well what's the general concept then?

BL The concept is the gravitational propulsion and using gravity as a lens and the power source being an anti-matter reactor. You have to understand the... a lot of the reasons these systems are being kept quiet is everything is being looked at from a "weapons" point of view.

C That leads to my second question; why, if we have the technology, why are we spending millions of dollars on the space shuttles B-1 Bombers; Stealth fighters and that sort of thing?

BL You're looking at two different factions of the government. One - not knowing what the other group is up to. Certainly if there was some kind of connection the story would be completely different.

BG That tells you something doesn't it?

C I find it hard to believe that one arm of the government doesn't know what the other is up to but there's so much lack of information between branches.

BL Well this is not a bonafide branch of the government. You are dealing with a few people; a group that was given executive power some time ago and has run amuck! They don't report to anyone. They have their own little location; their own budget. They tap into several other things and there is no system of checks and balances. Congress has no knowledge of what's going on.

BG Bob, you made a statement that you still want to keep some things a secret. Is that the words you used?

BL Oh Yeah! Absolutely!

BG Why is that? For security reasons?

BL There's a lot of that information that is... really should be kept secret. There's a lot of other secret information just in working with nuclear weapons systems. A lot of this is related. I have no intention and never have had of releasing it. Not precisely how everything works.

BG Is it because you now it's right or have you been told "this is the way to handle it?" Is that why?

BL Ah... yes!

BG Can you ever sit down and look at it from the public's viewpoint? Can you separate the two (sure!) have you ever done that? (Yeah!) You've thought that way and you still think it should be kept secret?

BL Well Yeah. Look at a nuclear weapon. Plutonium gets squeezed. Do you want me to go into detail precisely how it is put together? The whole 9 yards of it? There's no reason. Since we are on the air it could wind up in all sorts of weird places!

C These people who have been implanted or maybe even the people out where you worked; can they be scanned to check for micro chips and such?

BL They could be x-rayed or cat scanned or something like that.

C I'm talking about a spectrum analyzer to see if they are omitting any RF.

BL I'm sorry, I though you were actually looking for the device.

C No - radio frequency.

BL Sure if it's in that band something should show up. If in fact those devices exist and people do get implanted with those.

C Yeah - it's iffy... it would be a good way to control them. Over in Viet Nam a bunch of flying saucers were flying around and they put it out that... is it possible that they could have picked up some of the soldiers from the way - said they were dead - and used them as guards by brain washing them or implants?

BL I've heard that story before! It's interesting but how can you say? I have no knowledge about this. That scanner idea is good. I saw Whitley Strieber; he was on a Fox Network and he showed his x-rays there. He had a little sphere in his brain and if in fact that does something, I wondered why no one bothered to check it out?

C I worked for JPL for a number of years and I was the one who reduced the first alpha! A radiation belt from our digital tapes recorded at JP. (Jet Propulsion Laboratory)

BL What do you mean reduce it?

C Well what they sent up on Reindeer 2

BL Oh - okay - back then. I know what you are talking about. That's when they discovered the Van Allen Belt (?) chain.

C Also I'm heavy into electronics. I've got tons of equipment.

BG We need to get you to become a member of the Billy Goodman Happening Club - don't we? That man's name is Von, and he's putting together a club that meets once a month to show pictures I receive and documents and such. This is a man you really should contact. Von's number is 702-382-7675.

C Bob - where are they from?

BL All because I said I knew where they were from - right? It was in the report. They are from the fourth planet out from.. in a star system called Reticulum. It's Zeta Reticuli II - it's the second binary star of the system. They are on the fourth planet out.

C The reason I asked was - I'm having problems accepting what you're talking about! Now I don't wish to impugn you but I feel like you're skirting some important questions - some important issues. And it's really a disservice not to answer the questions of the people who believe in the movement.

BL Well what questions are we talking about?

C When you say you can't answer a particular question because of fear of reprisals from a government you apparently feel is malevolent I think it's a service and beneficial on your behalf to help the movement by exposing the truth.

BL Well can you guarantee me that? No you can't! I have to look out for my own best interests first.

C I appreciate that. Now this fellow Scott I think all he was trying to do was...

BL I apologize for coming down so hard on him but...

C Let me finish. I think what he was trying to do was authenticate your background. All of us have become skeptical of people who just come out of the woodwork.

BL But that's already been done!

C You said you have a "Q" plus "38" (clearance) - how do we know that? Can you hold it up to the camera and show the audience?

BL No - and a P.I. isn't going to be able to find that out either!

C But if you do that for him - prove to him - why you have done...

BL How can I do that? I really don't care what you believe! I'm just saying....

BG It's a difficult thing to swallow. There's no way to prove you are who you say you are. There are no papers or anything like that.

BL I'm sure there are but they aren't in my house. I mean you need to go dig through Naval Intelligence to find that!

GH Billy - it's not like there's an evidence bin and everyone is allowed to bring something home. If you get your mind set in the frame that this is the most top secret project in the world - do you think they would allow evidence out? Then the government wouldn't be doing its job!

BG But he makes it sound like he's still covering things up!

GH The man misunderstood what Bob said! He said he wouldn't say something because of fear of retaliation from the government. Bob actually has his own reservations about what anyone should know including the Americans and Russians regarding the weapons - that's all!

BG That's probably the way to look at it! About the weapons. What he's trying to say Bob is, people are with you and it sounds as though you want to tell us some things. There are UFOs! and that's where you want to stop. If that's the case, "say it" they are saying. Why should we believe?

BG How many flying saucers have you seen?

BL Nine.

BG Have you ever been inside one?

BL Yeah. I got to look inside one. How far is inside?

BG What did you see in there? Does anything stick out? Was there anything different from a regular airplane?

BL Oh ye, the whole insides... in fact the way I've described it before is - as far as the seats and things like that - it looked like everything was made out of wax! Heated for a time - poured in a mold and cooled. Everything has a soft round edge to it. No abrupt changes in anything! Everything looks cast out of one mold.

BG Do you think you would be comfortable in one of those things yourself?

BL Well it's a little small inside. The chairs are only a foot to a foot and half off the ground!

BG Something you would see in kindergarten?

BL Yeah, it looked like it was made for little kids!

C I have a question for both of you. I've started hoping there are going to be these aliens - someone to help us through these "end times." No I'm almost afraid they are here if their thoughts are malevolent!

BG It bothers me too. It really does. It's coming out more and more and now, you, Bill Cooper, John Lear and others - so I guess it's the truth! Maybe it's our idealism. We'd like them to be nice!

C The bottom line seems to be - say this thing blows wide open and we find out there are aliens - do you think I have anything to be afraid of?

BL I don't know how to answer that question. I couldn't even speculate. I have nothing to go on - either way! The reason I say they aren't 100% benevolent is because there was a conflict at one point in time and some people were killed and that's all I have to go on!

BG So you are judging it by that conflict that occurred? I heard it was a power play on our end.

BL Right!

BG Okay, you knew that it was a power play and literally they wiped out like 60 people instantly. They said, "that's how quickly it can all be gone!"

BL It is 44 to be exact. Right! Then the information exchange ended at that point!

BG I'd like to think - and put yourself in their shoes - all of a sudden your buddies attack you. You have to react the only way you know how. If you show we can overpower you instantly but you don't, maybe you don't mean to harm anybody but you want someone to know don't mess with me! Is that possible?

BL Yeah, I assume it is!

BG Oh, I'm so glad. Did you ever get any information as to why we did that?

BL I think ah...

GH I think what happened was there was actually an exchange of information going on between the aliens and some scientists and military security guys were doing the security. The way Bob relayed the story to me is the aliens had some projects going in a certain place and the military guards were told to keep guard on them at all times. The problem was if the aliens told the military that if they came in with bullets in their guns as well as gun belts it would cause an explosion! So they kills these two guys which caused a chain reaction. Others came in and wondered why they were dead. It ended up that all of these people died from head wounds. There was no evidence of what made the head wounds. They also - if the story is true - they killed the scientists they were teaching. That's a very strong statement! Not only will we kill the people trying to cause the explosion we'll kill the people we were trying to teach and just leave. And that's the end of the argument.

BG Bob do you concur with that?

BL Yeah!

BG Let's touch on that a little bit. You're saying they told these military men to guard this area so they were upset that they didn't do their jobs?

GH No - the head of security - the way it looks they were told to always keep the aliens under guard. The aliens were doing some tests - I'm not a scientist. Maybe it could have blown Nevada off the map. They stopped at that!

BG My understanding is they allowed us to keep them under guard.

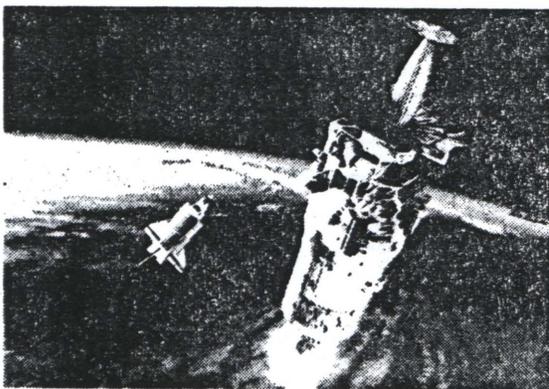

GH But not in this instance.

BG But that's like being a prisoner then?

GH Of sort - I don't think they ever felt that they were the underlings!

Dalnégorsk debris mystery

SOVIET NEWS, Moscow, USSR
Aug. 10, 1989 CR: R. Collins

A YEAR after an unidentified flying object was reported to have sprayed some 60kg of debris over a hill near the village of Dalnégorsk in the Soviet Far Eastern Maritime zone, scientists are still baffled.

The qualities of the gauzes, balls and glass fragments which appeared on the hill following the sighting continue to amaze, the newspaper Socialist Industry reports.

In tests, one piece of gauze disappeared at a temperature of 800°C in the open air, but would not melt in a vacuum oven at 2,000°C.

In conventional state the material did not conduct electricity, but turned electroconductive when heated.

Tiny threads, just 17 micrometers in diameter, made up of twisted fibres, were found in one of the gauzes.

Scientists also found tiny golden hairs, the same size, interlaced into the fibres. The technology to do this on Earth has not been developed, they say.

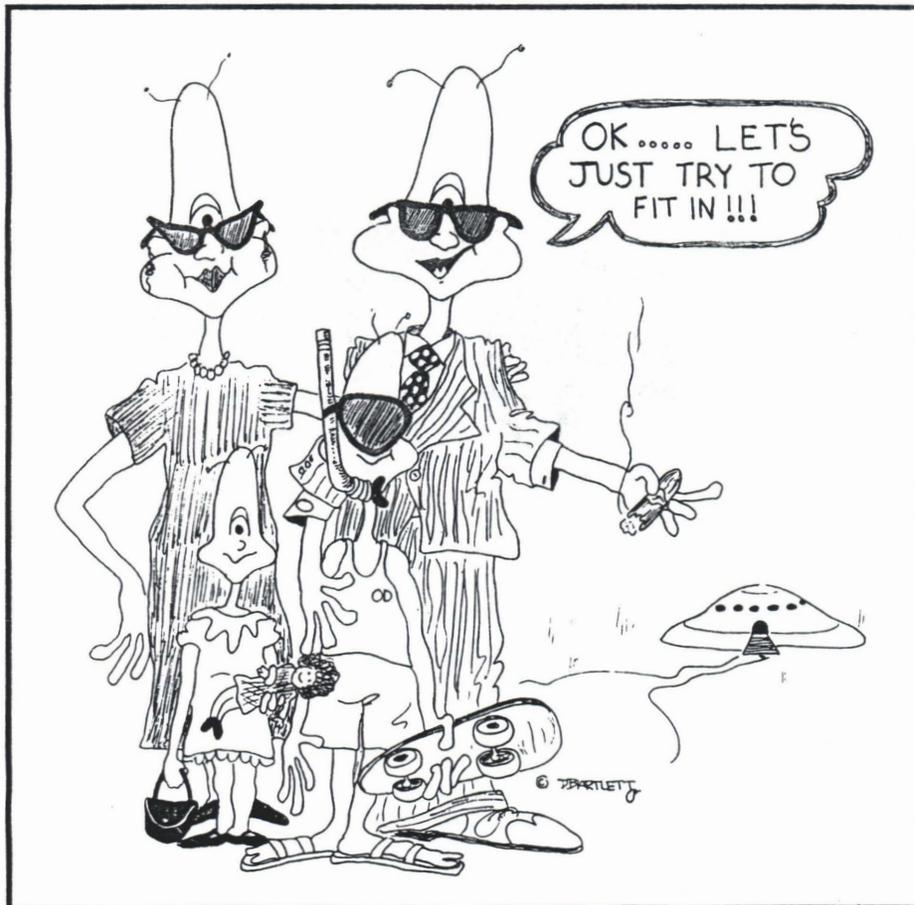

Some experts offer the explanation that the materials come as a result of a plasmoid - a plasma product naturally produced by geophysical fields in response to agitation caused by technical experiments or solar-terrestrial physical factors.

While others contend that the materials are artificially-manufactured, perhaps by an alien civilization.

From the UMMOs:

The recognition of the UFO phenomenon refutes the authority of the State as the ultimate power on this planet. To preserve the false illusion of the authority of the state, the masses are being kept in ignorance using their own money that they gave the governments for "protection." This money was given in good faith by the ignorant masses; it is currently being employed to preserve their ignorance ("the cover-up"). The express purpose of the cover-up is to maintain the illusion of authority to keep men in power at the expense of the ignorant masses. The masses are literally paying for their own ignorance both in terms of money, time and energy. The ignorant masses are being sent to fight senseless and needless wars to sacrifice their own lives in the name of "Nationalism": an outmoded concept based upon arbitrary and imaginary lines which represent artificial boundaries that do not exist in Nature. Nationalism is the modern-day extension of primate mammalian territorialism; it is a concept we have outgrown. It is a principle that should and ought to be discarded in the Cause of Truth and Freedom.

Alien corn? that's novel

SOMERSET COUNTY GAZETTE, Taunton, England
Aug. 4, 1989 CR: T. Good

- ★ DID an alien spacecraft land in a field near Taunton this week?
- ★ Although there have been no reports of little green men from Mars, farmer Peter Parris discovered what could be a UFO landing site on Tuesday, writes IAIN BALLANTYNE.
- ★ "We were out harvesting a corn field and discovered this big flat circle," said Mr Parris, of Cutcliffe Farm.
- ★ "It was just like the ones they've been finding in Wiltshire and putting down to flying saucers."
- ★ Mr Parris suspects a hoaxer may be responsible, rather than an E.T. . . . but he can't figure out how it was done. "People who took a look at the circle told me there was no way a human could have done it right out in the middle of a field without leaving traces," said Mr Parris.
- ★ The corn surrounding the 30ft wide circle stood rigidly upright, suggesting it could not have been made by a helicopter, which would have left surrounding stalks at an angle.
- ★ But if the circle was caused by visitors from outer space, why should they chose this week to drop in on Taunton? Perhaps they voyaged across the cosmos to visit Taunton Flower Show, which everyone knows is inter-galactically famous. If so were any aliens spotted lurking among the blooms . . . ?

Mystery of the flying object

SOMETHING mysterious hurtled through the night sky over the Bristol area — but what was it?
Colin Pulsford of Brankens Way Drive, Filton, thought at first it was a rocket sent up by somebody with very early access to Guy Fawkes fireworks.
But it travelled horizontally rather than vertically and made no noise.
It was bright green and from ground level appeared to be one-eighth of the diameter of the moon. It had a tail. As suddenly as it had appeared it disappeared.
Mr Pulsford was baffled, but put the incident out of his mind — until next morning when a colleague at work spoke of a similar sighting miles away at Yate.
"It wasn't a meteor," said Mr Pulsford. He was out taking a walk with his wife Lillian over playing fields on Sunday evening when he saw the mysterious object. The time: 8.19 pm.

Moon Caves and UFOs

by Kevin W. Stevens

The features of his face were hidden, his outline indistinct in the half-light as the clouds drifted over the face of the moon. I felt just a twinge of apprehension as Edwin motioned everyone into a circle.

Our little group stood alone in the central courtyard of Machu Picchu, the most spectacular sacred site in the Western Hemisphere. Machu Picchu is always impressive, but at night it is awesome! We were the only ones who had entered the ruins that night, but I wondered if we were really alone.

Phantoms of long-dead Incas seemed to dance around us as moon beams flitted from rock to shadow. The ancient stones, stacked for centuries in beautiful symmetry, seemed to hum an unsung song of the splendor they once hosted.

All fear left my heart as Edwin's melodious voice floated gently over the group. He was praying to Father God and Pachamama (Mother Earth) to guard and guide each of us. We joined him, each thanking Spirit, in his own way, for the meditation we had just had, and for the blessings of this trip. As Edwin, a native of Peru (and my friend from previous trips) finished, I asked him to relate the special experience he had shared with me.

Two days earlier, Edwin had taken a group to the "Moon Cave" for a midnight meditation, during the full moon eclipse of August 16, 1989. The "Moon Cave" has a subterranean altar carved into solid stone. Its most unique aspect is an opening directly overhead which allows moonbeams from the full moon to bathe the altar in soft light. It is a very special place. (I have seen individuals meditating on this spot dramatically transformed and uplifted.)

After Edwin and his group had mediated for a time in this cave, one of them became inexplicably restless and wandered outside, whereupon she was startled to see lights dancing in the night sky. Being quite impressed, she dragged a reluctant Edwin from his meditation, and soon the whole group was enjoying the cosmic light show as huge arcs of red, blue and green light swept and played across the sky.

After some minutes, someone noticed a spherical shaped object near a cloud. They watched, amazed, as six more spheres moved out from behind the cloud.

Edwin was unable to estimate the size of the spheres because their distance was unknown. They appeared as condensed points of light about the size of an airplane flying at altitude, but they behaved much differently. The first outstanding feature was that they were different colors - red, blue, green and white.

These seven UFOs soon began to move around the night sky, putting on quite a show. Sometimes they moved slowly, as if in formation, then one or another would break from the group and zig zag or shoot across the sky, perhaps returning to the group before another one started cavorting.

Needless to say, all this quite impressed the group. At first they stood in silent, open-mouthed before this phenomenon. But soon they were cheering for various colors and applauding the performance.

As the moon emerged from the earth's shadow, the seven "visitors" sped off in various directions, disappearing into the night.

This story from the lips of Edwin, whom I believe to be veracious, adds yet another piece to the fascinating puzzle of the Andes. Next time... "Curandero in Lima."

UFO LANDING MYSTERY

Sheep panicked by eerie light in fields

THREE frightened farmers believe a gigantic UFO landed last week on their Victorian wheat property.

A pattern of five perfect circles — in which unbroken wheat stalks swirl anti-clockwise — has been found on the 9000-hectare farm, West Park, run by Max and Nancee Jolly and their son Stuart, 29.

Exclusive report
by JOHN PINKNEY

The startling discovery comes only weeks after the family's 700 sheep were panicked by a huge yellow object pulsating above the paddocks in western Victoria's Mallee region.

First to notice the uncanny "landing rings" were the Jollys' neighbors, Brian Finch and Austin Grace.

"They'd brought an International Combine Harvester on to our property to strip wheat," Nancee Jolly told me.

"Sitting in an elevated cabin about five metres above the ground they spotted what everyone else had missed, two large, swirled circles of wheat, about three metres in diameter, surrounded by three smaller circles, each about one metre.

"Obviously, something exerting colossal force has set down there. Outside the circles you can scratch dirt up with your fingers. But inside, the ground is incredibly compressed, like cement.

Circles

"The wheat appears to be woven, almost like a straw basket. The stalks are quite amazingly undamaged, with the grain fully-matured in the heads — which suggests the landing might have occurred some time last week."

The mindblowing circles discovery climaxes two years of mystery and fear for the Jolly family.

● In November 1987, following sightings of eerie aerial lights, Nancee found that the farmhouse's 4000-litre water tank had been totally drained, overnight.

"We haven't a clue what happened," she said, "all we know is that someone — or something — took every drop of our water."

(In 1981 I investigated several similar cases of "UFO-related" water disappearances. All were in northern Victoria.)

● In December 1988 Stuart Jolly was shocked from sleep by a shattering noise outside his bedroom window.

Berserk

"I thought the racket would puncture my eardrums," he recalled. "It was like the scream of jet engines revving up and down, with the shrilling of thousands of cicadas mixed in.

"My dog would normally have been on the spot and barking, but he seemed to have shot through.

"I rushed outside, but saw nothing. The racket seemed to be coming from an empty sky."

● The Jollys endured an even more bizarre brush with the unknown in August this year.

"About nine o'clock one night, I heard a commotion and went out to see what was happening," Stuart said.

★ NANCEE Jolly examines a perfect circle of flattened wheat, swirled anti-clockwise. Outside the ring the earth is soft — but inside, it's cement-hard, as though compressed by a colossal force.

★ WHEAT farmers Nancee Jolly and son Stuart believe an alien craft landed on their Mallee wheat property last week.

"The trouble was centred on the sheep paddock. Our 700 ewes and lambs had gone berserk. They were dashing about and heeling in total panic — and then I saw why.

"Hovering above the paddock was a huge yellow light that seemed to be pulsating.

"At first I thought someone was spotlighting our sheep, but then I realised the light was far too big for that.

"Also, it was making a weird, high-pitched noise, like the blades of a helicopter, with its engine off and slowing.

"I'd never seen sheep go wild in that way before. "If a dog had been threatening them, they'd simply have huddled together, reasonably calm and disciplined. But this mob were stumbling all over the paddock.

"I could see it was the light and noise that were driving them crazy. And it was happening to Brian Finch's neighbors, too. They were scrambling over the fence on the next block, desperately trying to get away.

"After a few more minutes of chaos, the light started to move. Foolishly, perhaps, I got into the car to chase it. But before I could start up, it vanished behind the pine trees."

When Max and Nancee Jolly arrived home from a meeting more than one hour later, the sheep were still bleating in distress.

"And they weren't the only victims," Nancee said. "We went out with torches — and were amazed to find a wedgetailed eagle, with a wingspan of about two metres, stumbling around the paddock, seemingly in shock.

"I've never seen a wedgetail walking around on the grass like that. They like to perch up high. But this one seemed totally disoriented.

"Although it kept flapping its wings in a slow, drunken way, it seemed incapable of lifting off.

"Something associated with the yellow light seemed to have destroyed its sense of balance. But happily, the effect must have worn off, because the bird was gone next morning."

Farmers in the Mallee wheat belt are accustomed to uncanny intrusions.

Several days after the UFO buzzed the Jollys' paddock, a mysterious light hovered above the dam of a neighbor, Mrs Aileen Casey.

She watched it for more than 15 minutes before running into the house to alert her husband. But when he came out, the object had vanished.

"I'm scared, but I'm also fascinated," Nancee Jolly said.

Rings

"The UFO activity around these wheat areas definitely seems to be intensifying.

"I some times have the hunch we might soon be seeing much more — possibly even an actual craft, landing."

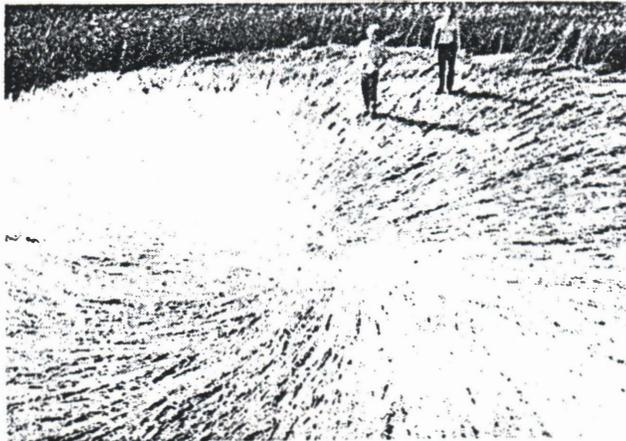

Mysterious circles, carved into crops, are now puzzling scientists worldwide — and they seem to be appearing in growing numbers.

In an extraordinary new book, Circular Evidence (Blommsbury, $39.95) engineers Pat Deigado and Colin Andrews present several dozen astounding photographs of rings neatly "carved" into British crop fields.

These circles are startlingly similar to the formations found on the Jolly family's Mallee property.

In some cases they have appeared in the wake of overnight UFO sightings.

The ground in many of the circles is cement-hard.

★ THIS immense circle (diameter 25.3 metres) appeared with three others in a rye field at Winterbourne Stoke, England. The undamaged stalks had been swirled, apparently under huge pressure. The site is close to the celebrated "Warminster Triangle", which produces Britain's highest incidence of UFO sightings.

Belgium bonkers over UFOs

USSELS (AP) — Dozens of residents and officers have reported seeing UFOs near Belgium's border with the Netherlands and West Germany.

Michel Mandel of the Defense Ministry of the air force is investigating the sightings, which began Nov. 29 and have continued.

Witnesses have offered different descriptions of the UFOs. Most tell of dancing lights in the sky, but others have told of seeing a flying saucer that scans the earth with three huge searchlights.

Mandel said air-traffic controllers "found strange blips on the screens that could not be immediately explained."

The Belgian Society for the Study of Space Phenomena said it has photos and videotapes as well as 150 witness accounts.

BOFFINS investigating the mysterious circles which appear in Britain's fields from time to time have a new phenomenon to explore.

A 50 sq mile area of Queensland, Australia, has fallen victim to an inexplicable swarm of clear plastic sheeting which was first spotted drifting over the horizon six months ago.

With everyone denying responsibility and the Australian Army, Air Force and weathermen baffled, the police have called in a local UFO research group while samples have been despatched to James Cook University. "It looks like someone's had a big picnic," chuckles police spokesman Greg McPaul.

Politician's agony

Did space aliens kill my son?

Graham's body was found near this dead circle of grass.

'I'm a bushman and I'm sane but I no longer regard UFOs as a load of rubbish'

A FORMER National Party politician believes a UFO landing may be connected with his 19-year-old son's death.

On June 11, 1971, the body of Graham Hartwig was found near a circle of dead grass on his family's grazing property at Tellebang, west of Bundaberg, Qld.

His father, Lindsay Hartwig, 69, was a hard-nosed member of the Bjelke-Petersen government until 1981, when he was expelled from the National Party, because he refused to stop speaking his mind.

Lindsay Hartwig re-entered Queensland politics by contesting the seat vacated by Russ Hinze.

He failed to win the seat and his political career now seems to be over.

In his almost completed autobiography,

Hartwig pulls no punches about his son's fate, which he thinks was caused by an alien visit.

"Graham's death was a terrible tragedy in our lives," Hartwig told me.

"And it makes it no easier that it's still a mystery after all these years.

"I was working on the property shortly before Graham disappeared, when I stumbled on a strange circle of dead grass, about six metres in diameter.

"It was a puzzle at the time — and even more perplexing later.

"Graham vanished while he was helping an employee build fences, about 2km from the homestead.

"That was several days after I happened on the circle of dead grass — and his body was finally found within three metres of it.

"He had a strange mark on his face, a second death," Hartwig said.

"A neighbour, who was chasing a wild pig into the scrub, also vanished. His body, too, was found near that circle.

"The police were unable to discover what had happened to Graham.

"They camped for three weeks on our property, questioning and probing — with no result."

In 1974, the Hartwig family moved to a new property near Biloela in the Callide Valley.

And there, the mystery deepened.

"One day, after dipping cattle, I was driving my Land Rover along a dirt track," Hartwig recalled.

"Suddenly, something appeared in the sky that changed all of my ideas about life and death.

"There — at about the 11 o'clock position — were two beautiful objects, about five or six metres in diameter. They were pale green, like perfectly oval gemstones, spinning and sparkling in the sun.

"Now I'm a bushman and I'm sane — and until that moment, I'd regarded UFOs as a load of rubbish.

"I slammed on the brakes and climbed out of the Rover, my skin prickling.

"They were there all right, silently spinning in the sky.

"It was totally cloudless.

"Living out in the bush, I've seen a lot of meteors fall — but these were nothing like meteors.

"They hovered there, above the road for about 10 minutes while I stood, completely dumbstruck.

"Then they moved slowly away, until they vanished behind the mountain range.

"I drove home in a hurry and rang the radio station in Rockhampton.

"I was convinced that hundreds of other people in the area must also have seen the objects.

"But to my amazement, mine was the only report.

"And it made me think back to the ring of grass at Tellebang — and my son found beside it."

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFFE, Canary Islands -- About 10,000 people left a Tenerife national park disappointed when the sun rose Sunday after an overnight vigil that failed to witness any extraterrestrial beings, the Spanish Civil Guard said.

They had heeded a call by Spanish National Radio, which several times last week promised that an "incredible" event would take place at the foot of the Teide volcano. The location is considered magic by the native Guanches peoples.

Anti-gravity gyroscope raises eyebrows

Washington Post

Claims of inventing an anti-gravity machine are common on the fringes of modern physics and none has ever been taken seriously. Until now.

One of the world's most respected physics journals, Physical Review Letters, has published a report by two Japanese scientists who claim that when they spun a special gyroscope at speeds between 3,000 and 13,000 rpm, it lost a tiny amount of weight. The faster it spun, the more weight it lost.

Weight is a measure of gravity's effect and although the weight loss was small — between 20 and 60 millionths of the gyroscope's 11.3 ounces — any provable loss would appear to violate the known laws of physics. Other physicists who have seen the report suspect it is almost certainly wrong, but no one, including several senior physicists who reviewed the research before the journal agreed to publish it, has yet discovered a source of any error.

Unlike most claims of extraordinary phenomena, this one was published with full technical details so that others may try to reproduce the results. The scientists, Hideo Hayasaka and Sakae Takeuchi of Tohoku University in Sendai, appear to have designed their experiments to rule out many potential sources of error, other physicists say.

THE ALIEN

By E.T.

They came to earth one day.
Sent by the almighty they say.
Their mission was a simple one.
To spread peace and love to everyone.

To show mankind how to live and forgive each other for their mistakes.
To banish all thoughts of hatred from this place.
To live in harmony throughout this land
That was their mission you see.

But somehow it didn't work.
No it didn't work at all you see.
For the first thing our great leaders did
Was to try and kill every one of them.

For what reason no one really knows.
I guess it just seemed the right thing to do.
After all they didn't look at all like us!
Their head, faces and arms weren't at all like ours.
As a matter of fact nothing at all looked like us.

So they figured they must mean us harm.
So they did away with them all.
Every last one you see.
They don't believe in peace and harmony - no not all.

They say it is no good for the economy of the land
Besides what a world without hatred and war.
Nobody wanted to love one another anymore. Well do they?
Why it's more fun causing pain and anguish, our great white father said.

Besides we all know that the earth is the center of the Universe... or so they tried to tell us.

Besides God made man in his own likeness. So it's just not possible that there could be any others.
Well that's what they want us to think.

They also want us to think that we are the only intelligent life form in the Universe.
That's what our great leaders told us.

Of course, what in the world do they know?
They can't even control their own.
Maybe someday in the not too distant future
They'll give us one more chance.

In hopes that we haven't destroyed our planet before then.

Just maybe they'll set this big wide wonderful world of ours straight and head in the right direction the way God wanted it to go and not the way our great leaders have it heading now.

There is a chance you know

Aircraft or Aliens?

U Figure it Out

Researcher says:

PETER HOUGH, chairman of the Manchester UFO Research Association, said: "We do have many sightings of people seeing figures. Mr. Hough, who has worked with clinical psychologists in his search for truth about UFO sightings and is a leading author on the paranormal went on to explain what he thought the sightings in the sky might be: "There is a Piezo Electrical effect where when there is movement under the earth's crust bright lights are thrown into the sky. It is an unexplained, but totally natural phenomena. With Macclesfield being in the foothills of the Pennines and at the centre of plate tectonics this could explain why the town has been a centre for UFO sightings".

Jodrell Bank says:

"ASTRONOMERS regard UFO's with some disdain. They prefer to distance themselves from UFO research. They believe that most of the unusual phenomena have totally natural explanations."

UNIDENTIFIED FLYING OBJECTS have been spotted in their hundreds over Macclesfield, swooping in over the Pennines and homing in on our quiet little town — nothing more than a backwater in space.

Great golden and crimson domes have hovered above the town centre and a ten feet tall alien with no face and no arms has landed in a garden in Bond Street.

Not fantasy — but fact — to leading local ufologist Gladys Stevenson who has seen all this and more with her own eyes over the last 13 years.

Just this week Gladys spotted another — a great red and white light flashing in the sky above the Bollington hills.

She said: "It couldn't have been a plane, they come in gradually over the hills to land at Manchester Airport. This was hopping about the sky in a frenzy — typical of many verified UFO sightings."

GLADYS, (77), of Buckfast Close, Macclesfield, saw her first UFO 13 years ago.

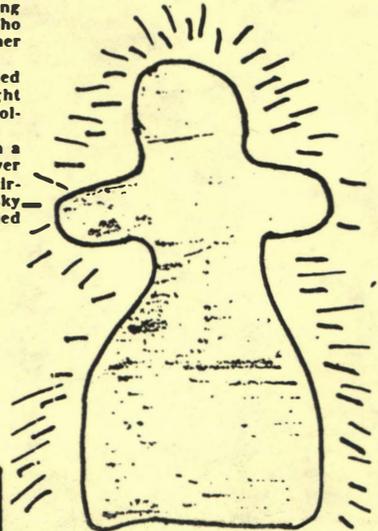

She had been walking home from her former shop, Stevenson's Confectioners: "The moon was lighting up the sky and as I was walking along Mill Lane I saw this great golden ball in the sky, with a smaller golden ball following.

As I spotted it, it came closer towards me. It could have been hundreds of miles away or just above me. It was impossible to judge the distance, but I waved at it. As I waved it went back up into the sky."

Gladys has seen the same golden ball with its smaller but identical satellite following behind many times through the years.

But perhaps the most remarkable sighting was three years later when Gladys had been visiting a friend's house on Bond Street.

Gladys said: "I am psychic and I had felt there was something strange outside. At the bottom of the next door garden I saw this giant ten feet tall silver man, with no face just a dome shaped head — no arms and no legs just Macclesfield's galactic visitor, as described by Gladys.

By Simon
Carter

going straight down from a pair of giant shoulders.

"It was glistening all over, radiating. All around it the trees were lighting up in a red and silver square. I guessed this was caused by the electricity coming off the man.

"I wasn't scared, more transfixed by what I was witnessing. I shouted to the others to come out, but as I did it disappeared in a flash."

Terrified

In the Summer of 1985 she was walking with a friend over the hills from Macclesfield to Bollington. Gladys said: "It was a beautiful day and you could see Prestbury, Poynton and the rest of the Cheshire Plain stretching out before you.

"As we were looking out we saw this great golden ball fiercely glowing. My friend was terrified and said, let's get out of here," but I said, "No, I know what it will do next there's no need to be scared, it'll come half way towards us and then stop." And sure enough it did just that. But then it disappeared in one great flash."

Only once has Gladys been frightened by what she has seen. Three years ago she was sound asleep in her lounge when she woke with what she thought was an electric shock. Looking out over the Park Green Bowling Club she saw a deep crimson globe low in the sky.

"It was a colour like you had never seen before, really ghastly the globe had twisted golden bits on top and underneath. I felt really nervous as it came lower and lower, but then it disappeared again in a giant flash."

THE POSITIVE FORCE (2)

What is going on here anyway? Circles in the corn fields and rings in the hay. Strange lights in the sky, beings that are different yet the same.

"DON'T YOU KNOW?"

I'm not sure, I can't say why.

"WE ARE HERE, THESE ARE OUR SIGNS."

Why do some beings cause us such fright?

"SOME ARE OF DARKNESS SOME ARE OF LIGHT."

I'm afraid of the darkness, what can I do?

"HAVE LIGHT IN YOUR HEART AND YOU WILL COME THROUGH."

Are we in danger? What do we need?

"STAY AWAY FROM CORRUPTION AND GREED."

Who are you please, what are you for?

"WE ARE OF THE LIGHT WE ARE THE POSITIVE FORCE."

By Linda Solferino

The following was sent in by Stephen K. who has had communication with Ida Kannenberg. After writing a letter to Hweig, Ida's contact, this was the answer he received....

You came on a mission with a task that would fit into the great plan that was meant for the benefit of the people of the Earth. We, ourselves, are remiss that we have allowed you to go a little astray. We have not always contacted you or dealt with you wisely. Again, we were thinking of our objectives and very little of your own welfare. We do not ask forgiveness for what we have done, forgiveness would never cover, but we do apologize and say, "We have determined to make up in what ways we can for the things we have done wrong in the past. For the things we have permitted or even instigated your government to do in the past. We will do our best to make amends, though they be small amends for a great offense. We will do our best."

Editor's note: It seems that Stephen has been in contact with Hweig too! That is very unusual to have more than one person in contact with the same entity.
