Art by

Amaury Rivera

On Sunday, May 8th, 1988, Amaury Rivera, of Puerto Rico was driving home in the wee hours of the morning. He had just entered a fog bank. Waiting for him in that fog bank was the most fantastic experience of his life.

Mr. Rivera was taken from his car by two small child like creatures. He was taken on board an alien space craft from another world. He spent the next several hours on this craft. He was not alone. There were several others on board from his Island home as well.

When Amaury was returned to his car some several hours later, as dawn was breaking, what he saw out the window of his car was to change his life forever. There was the craft that he had just spent the last several hours on.

Fully conscious, and with incredible presence of mind, Amaury Rivera took a series of photographs just seconds before the space craft disappeared.

What makes these photos so unique is the fact that they show an F-14 Tomcat in pursuit of the craft. There are no other photographs in the public domain that show an alien spacecraft and a military aircraft in the same single exposure of film.

Given this, it is no wonder that Mr. Rivera has been harassed and had his home searched from top to bottom by Government agents looking for the negatives and photographs of this spectacular event.

Mr. Rivera has given us the exclusive right to publish his story, along with the documentation that substantiates his claim. I am sure that you will find his experience just as fascinating as I have.

Dear Aileen:

Dear Aileen:

"El Yunque" is a rain forest located at the South side of the Island of Puerto Rico, towards the end of the Central mountain range. This rain forest has been visited for many years by tourists from different places of the world for its picturesque and beautiful mountains, natural resources, and huge old trees.

Also at this moment "El Yunque" is being "visited" by unidentified flying objects (UFOs) and extraterrestrials. Residents and neighbors of "El Yunque", from all different ages, religion beliefs, education and professions have testified seeing UFOs overflying or entering this place. As a matter of fact, this place is just one of the many places throughout Puerto Rico where people have stated seeing these strange objects. Because of the many testimonies that have been reported in relation to this strange phenomenon, serious investigations are actually taking place. Scientific groups from all around the world have traveled here to observe and investigate these UFO sightings. Puerto Rico is one of the most visited places by UFOs in the world.

There are different explanations and theories seeking answers to many questions that have arisen because of these sightings. One of the many explanations given by UFOlogists is that "El Yunque" is a UFO Base of a Geomagnetic Radiation Center. For other investigators, such sightings occur mostly at this place because "El Yunque" is located at the South side from the mysterious and controversial Bermuda Triangle. And finally, for parapsychology and occultism investigators, "El Yunque" is an excellent location for paranormal activities to take place. Meanwhile, others prefer to say that this place has some certain special energy or telluric energy that these spaceships take advantage of for their specific "purposes".

The experience that I am about to narrate is just one of the most amazing UFO encounter experiences. The same took place here, in "El Yunque".

In February 1988, a group of persons and neighbors, residents of this area, heard a loud strange, whistling sound. When they ran to see what it was they saw a huge UFO. The description that they gave of this UFO was that it was of approximately 75 meters diameter, round and the color of its metal construction seemed to be white-grey and it emitted green, blue and white bright lights. The witnesses of such an extraordinary event kept track of the UFO and saw how it impacted and crashed against a mountain causing a great explosion. The explosion was of such great magnitude that these witnesses state that the same must have been heard miles away.

At dawn the next day there were helicopters overflying the place where the UFO incident occurred. Governmental militant personnel were rapidly stationed at the place seeing that all investigation and information was kept "top secret."

This incident was videotaped the next morning by a local news television station. When the moment came to transmit the videotape on the television news, there was abrupt silence: the personnel from the news station informed the public that "the videotape had mysteriously disappeared!"

During the following months curious spectators, who surrounded the place carefully observed that the land where the UFO had crashed was arid and the vegetation ceased growing. This incident is well known by the UFO investigators here in Puerto Rico.

More recently a governmental document, denying all information in relation to this incident, was published. The sole purpose of such article was to confuse the general public as to whether what had been reported of this UFO incident really occurred or rather was just simply "false" information. Also, its purpose was to ridicule the witnesses who testified about what they saw. But ironically, as life can sometimes be, this same document came from the "Civil Defense State Agency offices of Puerto Rico" where its Director, Colonel Jose' M. Nolla, has publicly taken a stand to liberally talk about the reality of such UFO sightings here in Puerto Rico and he also forwarded an official guide-line to his agency with specific instructions on "how to proceed to investigate this phenomenon"!!! Also, Colonel Nolla has been known for many years to be the "connection" between Puerto Rico and the Civil Defense Intelligence Agency of the United States, which is the parallel central Intelligence agency as to a militant level.

There is one truth that cannot be denied: these strange "visits" are not fantasies created by "mankind" and extraterrestrials DO LIVE AMONG ALL US.

Cordially, Willie Durand Urbina

A LETTER FROM TRO
NEAR PARIS, FRANCE
SEPTEMBER 20, 1992

Dear Aileen:

I have received a packet from the individual to whom I referenced concerning the Alphynew, andcetra. Included in this was a better presenterial of his alphabet system. I think it would be forward-looking of you to include it in the magazine. (He has given his permit.)

I'm looking with anticipation to seeing in your print my letters #5 and #6. You may edit-down the #5, if you wish, but only minorly. Perhaps a good idea would be to include a news item from the November/December asteroid pass-by. I may send one along on this score.

Also, by now you will have received data relating to the hard sightings surrounding some crop-circle creations. Some of the pilots had to make several passes before being noticed, but they well followed their orders. I'd like to see a Missing Link devoted to the '92 agriglyphs (several of my own design). We'll be decidiating next year's planaction soon, and it will help to have heightened public ackknowl'ment of our work.

The vote here on the Europe Treaty was an encouragement. The sooner you people get organized, the better. Peace and Protection, Tro.

Object still a mystery despite pass near Earth

■ Scientists hope a radar observation this week will confirm their belief it was an asteroid rather than space junk.

Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz. — A mysterious space object swooped within 290,000 miles of Earth — an astronomical "near miss" — but astronomers still aren't sure what it was.

Asteroid-watchers at the University of Arizona hope a radar observation this week will confirm their belief it was an asteroid rather than space junk.

The object, known as 1991 VG, passed within 290,000 miles of the South Pole early Thursday, said James Scotti, a research specialist with the university's Lunar and Planetary Lab.

The only object known to have come closer to Earth was a 30-foot-wide chunk of rock that passed within 106,000 miles on Jan. 15.

The new object, believed to be about 60 feet in diameter, was seen Nov. 6 using the university's 36-inch Spacewatch Telescope at the Kitt Peak National Observatory southwest of Tucson.

"We're leaning toward it being an asteroid, and if it is an asteroid it's the first of its kind and a fairly unique discovery," Scotti said.

Observations two weeks ago showed the object rotating slowly and appearing relatively dim, like an asteroid.

But another observation the night of Dec. 1 by a German astronomer found it brighter, raising some doubt about its nature, Scotti said.

Scotti said orbital computations made based on the sighting two weeks ago showed that, run back in time, the orbit never came closer than 7.4-million miles to Earth at any time during the Space Age, "too far away for a manmade object launched from Earth."

He said it's hoped astronomer Steve Ostro of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in California can observe the object Thursday with a NASA radiotelescope, a deep-space network radar device, to resolve the uncertainty.

NOTE: Capitals formed by placing dot above and to the right.

For you new subscribers, Tro is a person that has sent us six letters referring to him being an extra-terrestrial. He has now given us his alphabet, included in this article, as well as the above referred to article.

Tro: I would like to know how you time these letters so well! The fifth one I received one minute before taking my place at the podium at Jorpah. Coincidentally I was going to talk about you! The next letter (and last) I received the day of our monthly meeting which made it possible to tell the attendees that evening about the alphabet. Don Nelson read your letter and made comments about his letter to you. All in all, it was an interesting meeting because of your letters.

Now could you tell me another thing - since this is the only way to write to you - what has turned so many researchers off to UFO research in the last two months? It is like everything died. I know it has to be an outside influence. If you know the answer let me know and I will put it in the next Missing Link.

Why don't you write an article on the agriglyphs? We have already included articles in the past on various ones around the world. Your article should be more enlightening!

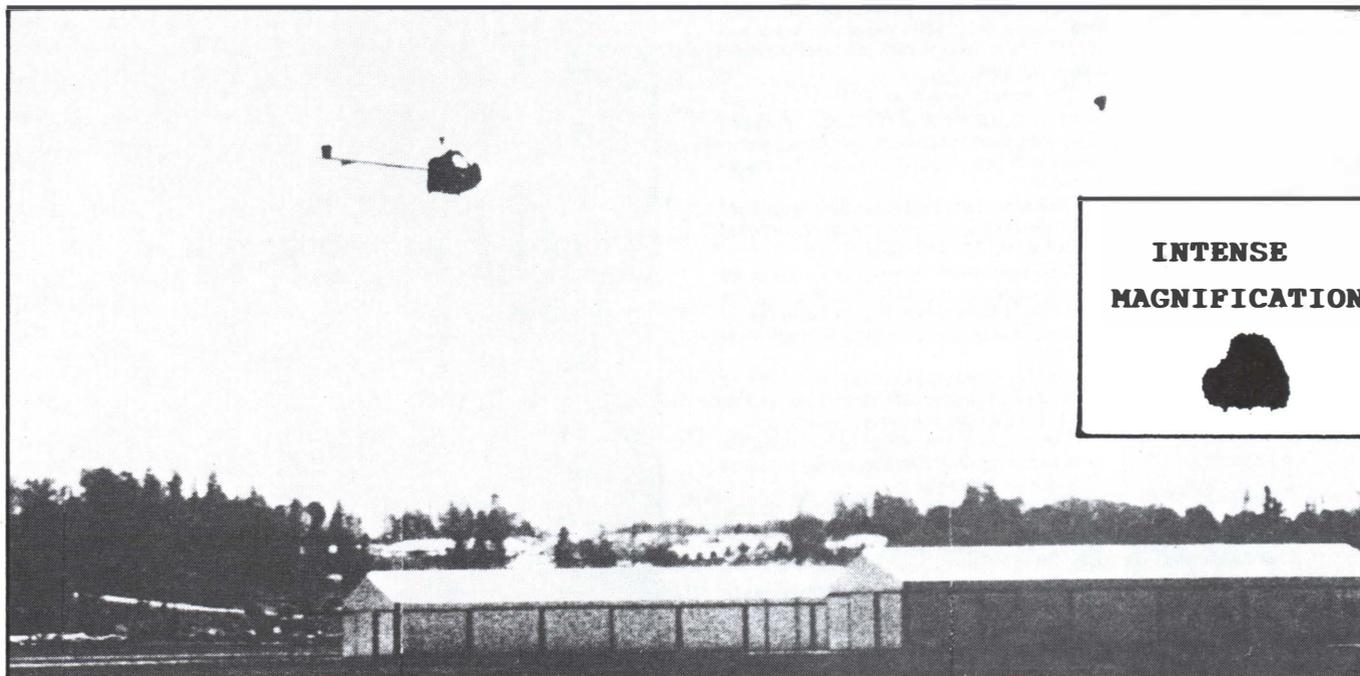

Thank you in advance for answering my questions Tro, peace and protection to you. Aileen.

Attention: Lorne Goldfader

This picture is the one I promised to send you the last time I talked to you. I've included the negative. The picture is of a friend's older brothers solo flight. His entire family was there to see it and they were all too busy watching Ed's flight that they didn't notice anything in the background. The object just showed up in the pictures once developed.

We'd appreciate an opinion and later once the photo and negative had been analyzed a response by phone to Chad.

LORNE GOLDFADER / THE UFO RESEARCH INSTITUTE OF CANADA

From UFO Perceptions, Editor, Brent Raynes, Waynesboro, Tennessee UFOCCI Associate Director, comes the following article.

MORE PET PEEVES AND ROOF BRAIN CHATTERING

I want to say a few words about a recent UFO meeting that we had right here in Waynesboro, at the TVEC Building on Tuesday, August 11 from 6:00 p.m. until about 9:00 p.m. Aileen Garoutte of Federal Way, Washington, visited us for a couple of days and had earlier agreed to speak to our local public on UFOs. Aileen is the founder and director of the UFO Contact Center International (UFOCCI), and our paths first crossed by mail back in July 1981 when Aileen wrote me on a referral from Dr. Sprinkle of Wyoming. Seems we all had (and still have) a common interest in the abductee/contactee syndrome, and, in fact, at that time I put out a free networking newsletter entitled Contactee Syndrome.

This was the first time that we had met face-to-face. Although over the years we had conducted some rather extensive correspondence, had some long-winded long distance phone calls, and I had contributed a number of articles to her Missing Link magazine. In addition, myself and Harv Howard (Associate Director) of Manchaca, Texas both worked together on a revised UFO questionnaire for UFOCCI (since we had both become members) as well as preparing what we hoped was a balanced report on the hypnotic process.

Over the years I have belonged to big name UFO organizations like APRO and MUFON. And while they have done commendable work in the field, and I have certainly appreciated that they were there, Aileen made UFOCCI more of a creative challenge and a partnership. Before she came here to speak we discussed on the phone what she'd say, and she said she'd "speak from the heart." That is, I have found, her way, and it's a very endearing quality. She has a charming charisma, and she genuinely cares about people and truth.

Her downfall, in the eyes of skeptics and the more cautious, is her literal acceptance and belief in the claims of many contactees. For example, at the meeting she spoke of a cure for AIDS given one contactee recently, and she showed us a rock given another that, when you look at it from a couple of different angles, is supposed to show a couple different alien profiles. The concensus of the rock was that it was just an ordinary rock, and as for the claim of an AIDS cure everybody has a skeptical wait and see attitude.

To Aileen's credit she handles criticisms and differences very well. We had a panel discussion following Aileen's talk that consisted of myself, Aileen, and Dr. Greg Little and Rick Potter from over Memphis way. I had heard that Greg told Aileen, "We agree to disagree". It was a real lively panel discussion and good audience participation, and many different perspectives explored and described, and everybody kept a civil tongue in their heads. I was impressed that it was an atmosphere of genuine sharing and caring, and in spite of the differences there were many similarities on important key issues. For example, we are dealing with a real mysterious phenomenon, trauma reactions result in many cases, and because of screen memories and displacements we may not be perceiving a lot of what is really there. A point even Aileen agreed with upon my questioning. Of course, I realize that in her mind and heart she feels that she has a pretty good idea.

In talking with people afterwards, it seems that folks enjoyed the panel discussions most of all. They were very impressed with Greg and Rick and the things that they had to say, and a number stated that they will want to read Greg's new book that he's working on as soon as it comes out.

George Holman is a counselor at the boot camp in Clifton (where I also work) and in years past organized local New Age Seminars, attended and afterwards told me that it was a tremendous success.

Now back to UFOCCI again. Aileen told us that her life may soon be taking another direction. She may step down as UFOCCI's director, and let somebody else have that responsibility now.

Well I'm certainly glad that before that happened we did finally get to met in person. Just before she came she told me on the phone, "I feel that I know you already," and I agreed that the feeling was mutual.

When here Aileen asked me about why in my article on support groups in Recovery Times I hadn't focused more exclusively on UFOCCI. I told her simply that I was wanting to give an objective overview on the subject, which was true. But I think I should confess a little more.

I agree with UFOCCI's stance of helping and supporting UFO experiencers. It's a humanitarian gesture that does need emphasis.

However, I have wondered at times if I should not have formally resigned from my voluntary position as an associate director in Tennessee. In fact, I have kept a low profile on that. While I agree in principal with the humanitarian concept, UFOCCI seems overly absorbed in subjective belief-ridden issues of, to me, questionable substance. Like this AIDS cure matter. Of course, I don't give much concern about my reputation per se, because if I did I wouldn't be associated with this field at all. Folks can label me a little eccentric if they want.

I have my own ideas as to how such an organization should be set up and run. But since I don't have what it takes to do it, I'll just offer constructive advice and suggestions to those who are interested.

I think that with UFOCCI there is an overuse/emphasis with hypnosis, and there is a contamination/confabulation factor with so much information being casually imparted in the Missing Link, and no doubt at meetings. Also there should be qualifying training for people in investigative/counseling modes. Also I think that "Contact" should be left out of UFOCCI's name since it's so suggestive of alien "contact". UFOCCI draws in a certain group of people who are generally very belief/believer oriented. Instead of reaching everybody, I think that a lot of folks are driven off because they just don't feel comfortable and fit in. In fact, I have spoken with those who felt that way. A lot of folks will soft-peddle their personal views and feelings and speak privately about them only. Besides, we're in a field where differences of opinion and philosophy have become a way of life, and you learn that if you want to learn and get along then you try and not "rock the boat."

I wonder if Aileen has ever felt that she is spinning her wheels and going nowhere. In person we both described a feeling of having reached a certain limit in our work, and now everything was like repetition and circular evidence and inferences.

I was planning at this point to resign from UFOCCI, but since I've cleared the air about a few things and so long as I have free and individual expression and control over a "center" at this level, I'll remain, and offer what I can from here and play it by ear!

Anyway, before Aileen arrived here she had spent a couple of days with her associate directors in Mount Vernon, Missouri. It was a long and tiring trip for her over here. Somewhere between 500-600 miles, which she drove in a rented car. She had originally intended after leaving here to go to Murfreesboro to visit an associate director there, Herman Langley but she was so exhausted from her trip that she cancelled and returned to Memphis.

Director's Response: Thank you Brent for this article. It brings up everything we needed to discuss. It has been frustrating in the past to reach conclusions without evidence, work with the skeptics and still keep an open mind.

One thing I would like to clear up is the new persons being regressed, in most cases, have not come to meetings or heard anything about UFOs. Most only know that something happened to themselves and they would like to know what it was. After the regression they start coming to meetings.

Another thing that we are adamant about is not to lead the witness in the hypnosis sessions. That has always been a no-no and still is.

I want to thank you and your lovely wife Joan for your hospitality and friendship while I was there. I loved the guided tour of Waynesboro, the visit to the radio station was outstanding and meeting George and Greg and your friends was a treat.

Thanks to Paula and Ron Watson and the lovely time I had there. It was great to see my friend from Seattle Robert Mourglia who lives "just a holler down the road" from the Watsons!

Also I must say thank you for broaching the subject of my resigning from the UFOCCI as its director. Can you believe, I haven't found anyone that wants to take on the responsibility? I can't imagine why? It only takes up every waking moment of your life!

Dennis Viglo, our Associate Director from Youngsville, PA has "begged" me not to resign. He feels that someone "out there" is influencing me to do so because we are too close to the truth and they do not want it known. Whether that is true or not I don't know, I only know that my direction changed all of a sudden. Then I found out that it was happening all over - persons who had been in this field for years had the urge to quit.

For the time being I am still on board. I will tell all of you when I do resign so there will be no doubt in your mind. I appreciate everyone of you Associate Directors and what you have done to help your fellow man. Thank you.

INVESTIGATIVE GUIDELINE NO. 1-91

To: General Inspector
Director of Governmental Operations
Director of Geographic Intelligence
Coordinator of Operational Areas
Coordination of Special Areas

From: Jose A. H. Nolla
Director

Subject: Unidentified Flying Objects

In the past, and also more recently, there has been reports of sightings of unidentified flying (UFOs) and unidentified maritime objects (UMOs). The sightings of such unidentified objects have taken place in the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico territory. As stated in Article No. 6 (F) of Law No. 22 of June 23, 1976, we acknowledge that it is of great necessity and convenience that the Puerto Rico Department of Civil Defense investigate and study this phenomenon to ensure that such sightings do not represent a threat against the security of the puertorrican habitants.

Such study shall be assigned to a special committee composed by the State Director, State Sub-Director of Governmental Operations, a Representative from the Arecibo Observatory, Representative of the Department of Natural Resources and Representative of the Puerto Rico National Guard. Other instrumentalities of the Puerto Rico government will also participate in such study if there should arise the necessity.

It will be the responsibility of the Coordinators of Operational and Special Areas (Zones) to effectuate the initial interviews to witnesses of these sightings. In such interviews, Form DC-DIG 001 should be filled out and, once in the final stage of the interview, Form DC-DIG 001 should be used.

END UFO SECRECY!

VIEWPOINTS

By Corey Wolfe

Epictetus said: "It's not things, but our opinions of things that matter."

I gave that thought a good deal of my own and saw in it one of the great Truths. A mixture of viewpoints are after all what moves us to react to life and everything in it. "Life is what we bring to it" seems another apt phrase. While one type of individual would view a fatal car crash as a terrible tragedy and for weeks thereafter be unable to release it from his mind, another perhaps wider viewpoint would see the crash as something quite different. This individual might sense the soul leaving the now dead body and imagine the joy it will soon experience. This person might be happy for the opportunity it affords the family and friends left behind. They can, after all, learn a lot from this, if they will only allow themselves to. The survivors will most assuredly find themselves reflecting on their own mortality. This will lead them to new purpose, and more focus in their own lives.

Our beliefs and prejudices are based on what? That is a question we must think deeply on. For I think most of us will find that they are founded on information that was received from outside of ourselves. Through TV, movies, friends and family we are "taught" how to react to circumstances. This is a two sided sword. It allows us to fit in with many different types of people, but if we look deeper we discover that we may not be reacting outwardly the way we feel inwardly. Whenever I attend funerals I just cannot feel grief, though I understand it in others who do not share my viewpoints. My loving mother brought me up with the saying, "Death is a door, nothing more". So because of her, my viewpoint was different that most. Thank you Mom.

I often practice noticing my reactions to things from a point of view slightly outside of myself. I try to think back to see what trigger made me react a certain way. I then follow feelings that erupt from such attention/focus and find that they all merge somewhere in the past at the point where I originally learned how to react to that particular circumstance. I now am able to adjust the belief and the reaction to it. The next time such a circumstance arises, I catch my "old" reaction to it before it sees actuality.

Life can be almost a fun game if you let it. Someone said, "Life is much too serious a thing to take seriously." I suppose it all comes down to expanding our viewpoints. I as a young boy found a game I still occasionally play. I called this the God game, in that I would try to imagine God's point of view.

I would sit quietly (I guess I was meditating, but didn't know the term then) and practice expanding my imagination larger and larger until my mind encompassed the whole universe and all its dimensions. Then as quickly as possible I would zoom down down down to the smallest teeniest sub atomic particle I could imagine. Back and forth I would do this, over and over. I discovered eventually that each time I did this the "Ring-pass-not" I encountered at both ends would stretch a little, and I would be "allowed" to see a little more. One day something wonderful happened, I discovered that the two ends meet each other. !!! I, to this day can't grasp that concept with my intellect, it seems it can only be experienced.

We must be flexible, and open to new points of view. After all, the universe itself is evolving, so what is truth today may very well be half truth tomorrow. We must be willing to swallow our pride and admit to ourselves and others that we were wrong and have discovered a new way of looking at the same old situations. Pride, honor and vanity are all close cousins. I sometimes find myself showing off and being quite egotistical just because I think my viewpoint allows me a larger grasp on people's motivations. This is a danger that cannot be exaggerated. With knowledge should come wisdom. It is very important to squelch the ego while helping others. I find people listen much more intently to a speaker that is projecting only love and understanding.

In closing, I must mention the joy that comes from the wider field of view. The compassionate nature rises to the surface along with tolerance. These are the attributes of all great Teachers, and we can do no better than in our own humble ways, try to emulate them.

DEFENDING YOURSELF AGAINST BLACK HELICOPTERS

By Harv Howard

Associate Director, Manchaca, TX

A reoccurring thread woven across the UFO tableau in the last few years is the mention of black helicopters. To this writer's knowledge, they first came to attention in livestock mutilation cases in the western part of the US. Since then, black helicopters have been reported to "visit" witnesses of recent UFO sightings. Typically, black craft will reportedly buzz the witness' house, hover nearby for long periods, and in some cases, follow his or her car.

Are these machines friend, foe, or something far less real, such as figments of over-active imaginations? If we take a short look at these three possibilities, maybe we can have a better understanding without the tinges of fear and terror that some witnesses seem to interject into their reports about them. As a result, perhaps we can come up with some solutions for counteracting their intrusions into our lives.

By labeling the black helicopters "friend," we must not take that definition too seriously! The United States government and other governments around the world may not have an antagonistic attitude toward their citizens in general, but certainly it has shown itself to be definitely unfriendly and unappreciative to people involved with UFO work.

As so called friendly craft, our first possible explanation is to suspect the 'copters as being conventional machines, manned by conventional service personnel as part of conventional military units. If that were the case, they would not truly be black, but would be the standard GI issue of dark olive drab (OD) which is the color of most if not all combat helicopters.

So perhaps the craft are not the sinister black as reported? Practical experience shows us that regardless of the angle of view, it is almost impossible to distinguish the dark, non-reflective OD color of these 'copters from black when they are silhouetted against the sky. An Army National Guard helicopter pilot stated to the writer that the 'copters also look black when viewed from above and seen against a backdrop of ground vegetation. (It makes you wonder why they use such a dark color for "camouflage.")

But some of the people are adamant that the craft are indeed black, sometimes shiny black. Further, a few reports have mentioned black uniforms on the individuals seen inside or near a landed craft. These clues tend to indicate that the black coloration of craft and crew signifies a very special-purpose craft flown by special purpose personnel. Collaborating evidence comes from the antics and unconventional--if not sometimes danger of flying style--of the aircrew in causing the craft to gain the attention of the witness in the first place. These three unconventional clues tie together to strongly indicate that Uncle does indeed have special units with which he does dirty tricks against its rather decent and normal citizenry. ...But that assessment comes as no surprise to anyone knowledgeable about UFO history.

Finally, as for the argument that the craft, crew and mission are all conventional: it is difficult to believe that normal service personnel would be ordered to perform flights to harass specific civilians. For one thing, such strange orders would cause too many questions by the aircrews involved, and they obviously would not be trusted with the real reason for such missions.

Could the choppers be foe? --But who would that foe be? Hardly could it be space aliens. All of them are zipping around in highly technologically advanced UFO craft. It is not reasonable to suspect that some of them following around their own craft by using conventional-type helicopters to further spook the citizenry. What would be the purpose in that? So this possibility doesn't seem to rationally work. If nothing else, we maybe can consider the helicopters as "friendly" foe? (You know, something like the term, "They were killed by friendly fire.")

The last possibility we will briefly examine is unthinkable to some people but at the same time the most mundane. And that is the UFO sighting itself has made the witness unduly anxious, frightened, and aware of things in the sky. Therefore, he or she will build too much meaning into innocent flights of helicopters which had previously passed virtually unnoticed.

In a normal sense, there is no discernible connection between a UFO sighting and helicopter traffic after the event which seems to hover too long, too close and appear too black. Simple paranoid hysteria we could say. --And some people would want to throw the UFO sighting itself into the deal. In effect, saying none of it happened.

We must allow this possibility of unusual 'copter activity happening after a sighting in case or two. After all, it could be happenstance. But when a pattern repeated develops of an excellent UFO sighting being shortly followed by pesky 'copters buzzing around, then the bare facts themselves point out a connection even if the actual processes of the connection remain obscure and vague.

If we tally up our score sheet, we find four unconventional clues: 1) the black 'copter, 2) the infrequently noticed dark uniforms, 3) the unconventional actions of the chopper, and 4) the incident coming on the heels of a UFO sighting). These clues tie themselves together into one meaningful knot. That knot is part of a chain of knots. It twists its way, we can be sure, through cloaked military outfits to the inner sanctums of our own super-secret spy agencies and obscure levels of the Pentagon.

So, what are we to think? Apart from this black 'copter business, we know that there are secret military units which deal with UFO "problems". The primary purpose of these units which were created in the 60s is to rush to the site of a UFO crash, landing site, or close encounter area and secure and check the area for hardware or entities.

Think about it. What would these highly specialized units do during slack time? As a rapid deployment force waited for a hot call, they would make training runs dry runs, to the locals of recent sightings. This is standard practice in military, fire, police, and rescue units. It serves two extremely important purposes in such an organization. It is genuine training and it serves as a "make-work" function when the units have no hot calls to make.

A secondary aspect of their mission which would dovetail precisely into these primary and training functions would be to pinpoint and harass recent UFO witnesses. (We can also imagine that they may also harass (scare off) UFOs if they are swift enough to catch the UFOs in the act of doing what they do.) The intimidation of witnesses has long been a staple tactic with military and secret agencies in their efforts to debunk UFOs, so there is no far-fetched imagining required to add this aspect as an operations parameter for a security and recovery outfit. They would be perfectly suited for the job. They would have the knowledge of the UFO situation (from the government's perspective), the time to do such activities, the handy cloak of secrecy over their entire operations, and the 'copters for carrying out such activities. All in one neat package.

* * * * *

What can you do to protect yourself from any helicopter or even a mysterious car parked outside your house which you believe is an attempt to harass you? First, you can understand the purpose of it being there. It is an active attempt to interject itself into your awareness and disrupt your ability to make your own decisions. The message being sent is singular and clear: "Big Brother is Watching You."

Don't venture into their simplistic little trap, don't succumb to being the fearful, worrying, unproductive shell of a person they would have you become. Take reactive action!

Unfortunately, laws are a bit archaic in regard to airspace--at least a citizen's rights immediately over his property--and little can be done about even a very low-flying chopper that threatens to blow your roof away. You absolutely cannot shoot at it or even threaten it with a gun. Probably throwing rocks at one would get you in trouble too even if it were that low! Remember those are our own good--but misguided--people in those flivvers.

Legal action? --Good luck. The Cash-Landrum Case didn't get very far in court despite the fact the victims have undergone incredible mental and physical suffering. Big Brother is watching you, but don't expect him to take care of you!

Our advice with black helicopters and mysterious car incidents is to simply enjoy the attention...and document it. Smile, wave, and slip in to get a camera.

Use a good 35mm camera with a telephoto lens if you can. Better yet, use a video camera with its telephoto lens to capture the vehicle on tape while also recording your commentary about what is happening. A video camera is especially suited for this purpose because it can capture details in low-light situations that even the eye cannot see. (Don't have a camera, grab a small box-like object of any kind and pretend that it is a camera and you are taking pictures.)

It is guaranteed that no black helicopter or car is going to hang around if you point (or pretend to point) a camera in its direction.

To really catch them in the act, you may wish to try to video or photograph them from inside the house through a window or an open door rather than rush out in the open with the camera in plain sight. The more you can keep to the darkened interior of the house (back away from the window or door), the better your chances of getting a length time to take pictures.

Enlist the help of a neighbor if you are repeatedly harassed. Ask the neighbor to grab his or her camera to "shoot" the 'copter hanging over your house anytime you call. A noisy helicopter or mystery car will be bothering a nearby neighbor just as much as it would you. And since the attention will be focused on you, perhaps the neighbor can get good shots of the vehicle and occupants without being seen.

After an incident, do some sleuthing. Write down every detail of the event possible. Call the local police or sheriff's department to see if they had a 'copter in the area--or know of one. If you have a valid complaint of being buzzed or observed at too close of a range, you have a perfect right to demand access to someone who can give you a decent answer. Don't be deterred by the first person who says, "I'm sorry, but we can't provide any information about that." Move up the chain of command, ask for names and numbers of higher officials, talk to them, and take notes about who you talked to and when.

If you have a local airport, look in the 'phone book under its listing. You may find a number for the control tower. If you can reach someone there, they should give you an answer to the best of their available information.

Military bases near your area (within 150 miles or so) will be harder to check, but again, if you have a valid complaint, press the issue. Air Force bases, contrary to what some people think, will have few if any helicopters under their direct control. Navy bases have some helicopters but they generally are of the larger type and are not dark.

By far the majority of military helicopters are used by the Army Reserve, Air National Guard, and the regular Army, some of these may be deployed at civilian airfields and Air Force bases in your area. These helicopters are all very dark OD and come in many shapes and sizes. Some are noisy--such as the old Viet Nam era "Hueys." But some are so quiet all you hear is a subdued turbine whine and rush of air with absolutely none of the "chop-chop" sound.

If you got a good view of the craft, you may want to check the local library for a book on helicopters and try to identify the one you saw. Numbers and markings will be exceedingly important to identifying these craft. One of the frequent observations about the "black" helicopters is that they have no markings. That is almost the case with the OD military helicopters. The markings are usually small and black and hardly intended to be recognized from more than a few feet away.

You can file a complaint with the Federal Aviation Authority. And you should complain to your local federal representative and senator too.

Finally, you owe it to yourself to share your evidence with the UFO community as much data as you can possibly collect on this problem. We need not put up with this kind of treatment. We are not powerless. If we confront these Big Brother bullies, we can put an end to such tactics .

Mystery Craft Haunt California Air Bases

By Hal McKenzie

Sightings of strange craft have become commonplace in southern California's Antelope Valley, particularly near Air Force bases and supersecret aerospace research facilities called "skunk works," according to Bill Hamilton, an independent UFO investigator in Glendale.

A dark, triangular, silent object has been sighted by independent witnesses from Lancaster all the way to Hesperia, Hamilton said in a phone interview. The object seemed to be moving along the northern boundary of the San Gabriel Mountains on an east-west trajectory. The object has been seen "quite frequently within the last 10 months," Hamilton said.

Hamilton cited a news report of a United Airlines 747 jumbo jet that nearly collided with a mysterious, wingless craft on August 5. Aviation Week & Space Technology, in its August 24 issue described the encounter this way:

"The pilot and copilot of United flight 934, with a heavy passenger load from Los Angeles to London, said they saw an unusual aircraft coming directly at them and pass under the 747 by an estimated 500-1,000 feet. The incident occurred near George AFB at about 1:45 p.m. on August 5. The 747 was at 23,000 ft. departing from Los Angeles International Airport on a heading of about 40 deg. magnetic . . .

"The several-second sighting gave the crew the impression that the other aircraft was a lifting-body configuration, and they described it as looking like the forward fuselage of a Lockheed SR-71 — without wings but with a tail of sorts. They estimated the size as similar to an F-16.

Hints of Secrets

"Defense Dept. and Air Force officials said late last week that it was not one of their secret projects," the AvWeek article continued. "But we're not the only ones with strange projects," he added, referring to the CIA and other organizations [our emphasis]. "Was this an inadvertent tipoff of secret tests of alien technology conducted by shadowy ultra-secret government agencies outside the regular military?"

Hamilton also said there were "one or two reports of big boomerangs being sighted in the Lancaster area" of a type seen frequently over upstate New York and Belgium, some of which witnesses estimated to be 2-3 football fields in span. He said it was significant that the sightings took place in and around airspace controlled by the military, at Edwards AFB and George AFB, as well as an FAA facility for the Los Angeles area near Palmdale and other aerospace facilities. When asked about the boomerangs, authorities "just deny knowing anything about it," Hamilton said.

Hamilton said that last summer, when there was heavy sighting activity in Antelope Valley, he called the Public Affairs officer at Edwards AFB. "He didn't dispute it, but said there was a lot of secret projects in the valley," Hamilton said. "He told me he wanted to take some fast film and see it himself." The FAA denied any radar contact, Hamilton said.

Discs and Boomerangs

Hamilton said that on several occasions in the last two years there were suspicious sightings near "skunk works," or top-secret research and development facilities in the valley. He said that at a Northrop facility, witnesses saw a "disc hovering directly over the facility in broad daylight, streaking off toward the mountains.

"Back in October 26, 1988, witnesses saw two large boomerangs escorted by about 17 discs in formation, at very slow speed, that flew over the Northrop facility, and was seen that night in Fresno. A friend who saw it pass directly overhead estimated it was twice the width of his property, which was 330 feet wide," Hamilton said.

Underground Structures, Alien Beings

Each of these facilities has extensive underground installations, and they are "definitely not normal military structures," the witness said. He described 4-foot thick concrete walls and electronically-controlled oval-shaped doorways.

"In one building I worked on at Edwards, called Haystack Buttes, it took us over 5 minutes to get from the top to the bottom by elevator," the witness said. "We estimated it was 30 stories deep." It was here that the witness first saw an alien.

"We were walking down a hall," the witness said, "and these doors opened and there was a very particular person or things that caught my eye for an instant. This man was over seven feet tall. I'd say between 8 and 9 to 10 feet, wearing a lab jacket and talking to two [human] engineers.

"This man's arms were almost down to his knees! It threw me into shock," the witness said. "And then the doors closed. Security saw us and told us to get out of there. Next day I walked off the job," the witness said.

Asked if the being he saw was a human, the witness replied, "Definitely not. He had big slanted eyes. A big head. Fingers were extremely long. Greenish skin." The witness said he saw the being for "just a couple of seconds. Three-quarters of its face is what I saw and I said, this guy would make a hell of a basketball player!"

One Witness Scared, the Other Dead

The witness said his co-worker " 'bout died" when he too saw the being. The witness compared the height of the being to the height of the humans standing next to it. He said he knew one of the humans, whose height he estimated at 6 feet 6 inches.

Witness No. 1 described a second encounter with aliens. He said he and co-workers saw "greys" at the China Lake naval facility.

"They [security] thought we had left — me and two other guys. But we decided to stay over and finish this job. We walked past a hangar and we could see through a window," the witness said.

"One of the guys I was with, Paul, he saw them first. He said, 'Come here! Hurry up! I want to show you something!' And we looked in the window and there's these four little grey guys about 3 feet tall.

"Right then, security saw us and they told us, 'We thought you guys left.' And they escorted us and said, 'You're not allowed around this hangar. This hangar is off-limits to everybody. You'll get yourself shot.'

"And it messed with Paul's mind so much that every chance he got he snuck over there. He finally got caught and was kicked off the base. About three months later they found him mysteriously dead in Orange County. This kinda put a scare in me. I know when not to mess with something," the witness said.

"After that I said, Ain't nobody pulling the blanket over my head any more. I know what's going on now. I know what I saw at Edwards is real. Somebody's playing games with us," the witness said.

It should be noted that KPFA is one of five "Pacifica" radio stations, the first of which was founded in the late 1940s. The Pacifica stations, in New York, Berkeley, Los Angeles, Fresno, and Washington, D.C., are alternative, non-commercial and listener-sponsored, with a long tradition of political activism and precedent-making First Amendment struggles.

Witnesses Claim They Saw Aliens at U.S. Bases

By Elaine Douglass

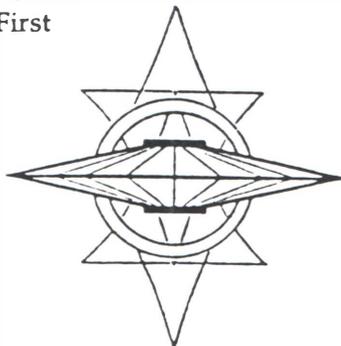

The U.S. government has a close working relationship with alien beings, three unnamed witnesses told a California radio station in a program aired in June.

The four-hour program, produced and broadcast by KPFA-FM in Berkeley, Calif., ranged widely over the UFO topic, but the most explosive segments were the testimony of a construction contractor who said he saw aliens at Edwards Air Force Base and at the China Lake Naval Weapons facility in California; the testimony of a man who described "saucers" being launched from a Northrop facility near Edwards; and a woman's second-hand account of a meeting between aliens and U.S. military officers.

Moreover, it now appears that KPFA's voice in the UFO area has been silenced. Although in June the program producer Ralph Steiner promised additional coverage of the UFO issue in future broadcasts, inquiries from The Forum were met with this blunt message from Mr. Steiner: "Do not re-broadcast the tape. Persons whose testimony is on the tape have been threatened and their lives are in danger." Subsequent inquiries from The Forum to Mr. Steiner have gone unanswered.

The Forum has obtained a tape of the KPFA broadcast. What follows is a summary and excerpts from witness No. 1. The testimony of witness No. 2 and No. 3 will be discussed in Part Two of this article next issue.

According to the KPFA broadcast, the interviews were conducted in April 1991 in communities surrounding Edwards Air Force Base in the Antelope Valley of Southern California. Witness No. 1 described himself as a Vietnam veteran, former Green Beret, military medal-holder, and a licensed general contractor who has worked on construction projects at China Lake and at Nellis, Scott, Edwards, and Andrews Air Force Bases. The projects, the witness said, were "mostly underground."

MISSION RAMA

By Edilver

Here is another important contact experience almost unknown in the U.S. It originated in Peru in 1973 when a group of young men began an amazing series of contacts with beings from "Morlen" (the satellite of Jupiter, known as Ganymede).

Forty-nine extraterrestrial guides were assigned to work in "Mission Rama" under the coordination of Oxalc, from Morlen. The word RAMA contains a vibratory activator and was chosen 4,200 years ago. RA represents the Sun or irradiation and MA represents Mother Earth. The mantra Rama means Irradiating Light on Earth. Mission Rama is one of the many secondary missions of a cosmic hierarchy designed to help planets in transition such as Earth (Merla), which is supposed to enter the fourth dimensional mode of existence.

Morlen was originally settled by human beings from a star system in Orion to establish a "colony of colonies". It currently possesses six cities, and beings from many worlds (including Earth) live there. Some of the worlds involved with Mission Rama are: Venus, Cerpican II in the Constellation Canis Majoris, and Apu in Alpha Centauri. The Pleyadians have also been known in Peru and some people have established contact with them, but I don't know in which ways they are involved with Mission Rama.

Hispanics have learned more about Mission Rama than any other ethnic group in the U.S. The language barrier has, in my opinion, precluded many American investigators and spiritually inclined individuals to find out about this important contact experience that originated in Peru and spread into other countries such as: Spain, Colombia, Brazil, Venezuela, Bolivia, Chile, Puerto Rico, Mexico, and the Dominican Republic. Although some groups were started in the U.S., most gatherings were conducted in Spanish, thus many non-hispanics interested in the UFO field missed the information.

The modern phase of Mission Rama began when Sixto Paz Wells, son of Carlos Paz who founded "IPRI" (the oldest UFO research institution in Peru), became the main psychographic "antenna" during an experiment in telepathic communication with extraterrestrials. In 1973, the group heard a lecture by a foreign investigator who encouraged others to involve themselves in a more pro-active manner by trying to establish telepathic communications. Sixto had also been prepared, in some way, by practicing Raja Yoga for some time, and in spite of this, he and his friends fell into disbelief when their hands began to automatically write messages as if they had a mind of their own. The transmitter of the messages identified himself as Oxalc and requested an encounter on a specific date and time in a coastal area called Chilca, thirty-seven miles south of Lima. The stunning approach of a hamburger-shaped metallic craft that emitted orange, yellow and blue lights, and showed up precisely on time, shocked the incredulous group by hovering less than 300 ft. over their heads. Due to their reaction, they were telepathically informed (loudly and clearly) that they had to learn to control their emotions, and that a period of intense preparation would be necessary for them to participate in a closer encounter.

From the very beginning, the messages were spiritually and metaphysically instructive. Information about the history of Earth, cosmic structure, and, most importantly, teachings based upon a "Christ Consciousness" were given. The teachings always emphasized reverence for the "Profound Love of the Cosmic Consciousness" which is how they call God in our universe. Their main teaching was to make contact, not with them, but more importantly, with the presence of God within ourselves. A series of 24 gatherings (one per week) was devised to help remember the inner presence and to activate dormant psychic faculties. These exercises borrowed much from Raja and Mantra Yoga techniques, as well as, from techniques taught by the Silva Mind Control Int'l Organization. Prayer and healing through group visualization were also performed, and The Great Invocation was repeated at the beginning of each gathering.

Mission Rama was formally organized as a non-profit institution, and for 17 years many groups of this nature were formed, not only in Peru, but in other countries as well. The extraterrestrial guides also established contact with "antennas" in other countries and hundreds, if not thousands of individuals, underwent "initiations". During some of the initiations (that took place mostly during outdoor excursions), some individuals entered artificially generated space-time portals called "Xendras" and were astrally or physically transported to other locations. Many others received their "Cosmic Names", whose pronunciation is in tune with the total nature of each individual's soul, and whose purpose was to activate an awareness of one's true identity. Semi-materialized "Cesium Crystal Pyramids" were also received and incorporated into the chest, creating in this way an Eighth Chakra whose purpose was to allow assimilation of "massive" energies streaming from the center of our galaxy; it also aided in developing psychic faculties.

Some of the information received tells us that in each galaxy there's a form of government and several hierarchies. In our Milky Way Galaxy, the most important hierarchy is conformed by 24 highly evolved beings who are members of different cosmic civilizations and who do not represent a particular interest other than Evolution itself. They are called the "24 Elders of the Galaxy". Moreover, the civilizations that have reached a level of evolution, in which they are capable of assisting others help themselves, are united or confederated. According to their level of development, they may assume different tasks such as Genetic Engineers, Keepers or Guardians, and Instructors.

Beyond the Milky Way, Galaxy M-31 in the Constellation of Andromeda is not only the closest giant elliptical galaxy, but is also the seat of an important council where the different galaxies of our local group are represented. This council is called the "Council of Nine", and the beings that rule here are called the "Nine of Andromeda". These beings together with the 24 Elders of various galaxies of our local group form what is known as the "Great White Brotherhood of the Star", which is linked with the Great White Brotherhood on planet Earth.

Information regarding cosmic structure tells us that in the Universal Order there are three types of universes:

- 1) A Material Universe, where all the millions of galaxies exist, consists of 7 dimensions (thus it is called the Septernal Universe).
- 2) A Mental Universe (also called the Eternal Universe) consisting of 3 dimensions.
- 3) A Spiritual Universe (also called the Universe of Unity or of the Absolute) which is said to contain 2 dimensions, and to be the essential source of the Mental Universe.

In the Mental Universe, there is a great being called Emmanuel who represents God as Christ, and He is known as the Son of the essential Father of all. Beings who dwell in the Mental Universe must also seek to know the Absolute in terms of faith, and it is told that one of these beings (called Lucifer) rebelled against the preservation of the order inspired from an understanding of a Spiritual Universe whose existence couldn't be demonstrated.

Before proceeding with an explanation of Lucifer's position, it seems necessary to inform the reader that a great challenge arose in the evolutionary scheme of things. It was found that the evolution of planetary civilizations almost came to a halt after the Fifth Dimensional Level of the Physical Universe was reached. It seems that a highly structured educational process guided by entities from the Mental Universe curtailed a necessary "freshness" in the evolving souls of these civilizations. They had a very effective initial rate of progress, advancing rapidly from the Third Dimension to the Fourth and the Fifth, but few reached the Sixth and none the Seventh (considered the Christed level).

Perhaps a lack of challenge or too much contentment was responsible for slowing down the rate of progress after a certain level of achievement was reached.

Following this situation, Lucifer proposed to alter the way the evolutionary system was being organized. He wanted to allow a greater amount of free will to begin with the beings in the Mental Universe, and then to extend this to the evolving civilizations of the Physical Universe. In other words, he believed that faith alone could not determine how life should be structured, and thus challenged the existing order.

With regards to these proposals, Emmanuel objected. His position regarding greater free will in the Mental Universe was in support of continuing a restriction. For example, he knew that beings who possessed complete knowledge and held key roles in maintaining the order of manifestation had to remain faithful to their tasks, or otherwise, chaos would follow. Moreover, his position towards planetary civilizations, which had already undergone much of their evolution under the established norms, was that changes would be self-defeating at this stage because they were already too set in their ways. He thought that in order to try a new system, a new civilization had to be created.

At this time, Emmanuel conceived an archetype of humanity capable of more spontaneous development, with a greater capacity for love and expression. It would be a humanity that would eventually establish a greater link among the three universes and would be able to reach the Seventh Dimensional Christic Level. This humanity would serve as an example for the Cosmos and help other civilizations go beyond their current level of advancement. Lucifer, who initiated a schism of cosmic proportions, disliked this idea because he felt that, perhaps one day, the new civilization would threaten or surpass the roles of those beings in the Mental Universe.

Cosmic hierarchies finally decided to experiment by creating humanities in different galaxies that would follow Emmanuel's vision. Hoping, in this way, that the experiment would be successful in some galaxy. Indeed, in this sector of the Milky Way, our planet was chosen among ten other "UR" planets which possess a blue aura and are capable of holding exuberant life. Our planet was chosen by the 24 Elders of the galaxy; and, as it was still cooling down, evolved beings from a star system in the Constellation of the Swan (Cygnus) established a colony in the Antarctic and helped to turn acid oceans into alkaline. Within Mission Rama, these beings are referred to as the "Ancient Fathers". They studied our world and planted life spores. Once life began to evolve, this first humanity on our planet departed from what was considered an unstable world.

Millions of years later, other colonists arrived establishing another foreign humanity in what today is known as Northern Europe. Within Mission Rama, they are known as the "Hyperboreans", and their main settlement is remembered in myths as "Thule". The Hyperboreans were beings from the "Ra" civilization originating in the star system of Vega, as well as, beings from a star system in the Constellation of Orion, the Constellation of Pleyades, and "Apunians" from the nearby star, Alpha Centauri. While these colonists brought several species to Earth, millions of years of natural evolution also took place; and, at some point in time, hominids appeared.

After the hominids appeared, it was decided that the time was right to create a humanity indigenous to Earth. Seven genetic engineers known as Elohims established a laboratory in an area between what was the continent of Lemuria and the continent of Africa. First, they created a race of androgynous humans, but they were found to be too weak to resist the hostile living conditions on the planet (which are partly created by certain radiation from the Sun). The original separation of the sexes was then restored, and the hybrids were allowed to continue to become what we now call the "Lemurians", which are the ancestors of several variations of the black race.

Extraterrestrial intervention on Earth became more complex than expected as Luciferian forces caused much disagreement. Other cross-breeding or hybridization experiments were also performed, and other extraterrestrial civilizations became karmically entangled with us. A cosmic schism, led by Lucifer, took place and extraterrestrial battles are hinted in certain Vedic texts. Myths about sky gods intermingling with humans are also found in many cultures. For example, in Tassili, Africa, records of extraterrestrial presence appear to have been found in prehistoric cave dwellings.

Among stories of extraterrestrial involvement received, there is one that involves deportation. Thousands of years ago, a group of beings that had been involved in the destruction of a planet variously called Maldek, Mayona, or Tir (among other names) that existed between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter, was physically deported to Earth to purge their heavy karma. They were supposed to aid us in our evolution, but instead of helping us they began to use their abilities for their own purposes. As this turn of events took place, those still faithful to the goals set by Emmanuel sent a group of cosmic volunteers to restore the balance. It wasn't long before both groups lost their physical forms and remained as part of our evolutionary system confined in a subtler dimension. Those working for Christ Consciousness established their headquarters in Shamballah located in the Gobi Desert of Mongolia. Agartha, the "Internal Positive Government of Earth", became a guiding force towards enlightenment and Truth. On the other hand, the negatively oriented group of deported beings formed a "Dark Brotherhood", have tried to mislead humanity, and have tried to keep people ignorant about their true potentials.

About 25,000 years ago, the adverse effects of the deported beings from Maldek began to affect what was considered another promising hybridization experiment: Atlantis. Humans in Atlantis had maintained a close connection with some extraterrestrial civilizations and followed a different path from other less culturally advanced human populations on the planet. It seems that direct Atlantean influence on other parts of the world had been partially limited to allow others to evolve in their own ways. After a period of harmony in the Atlantean civilization, divisions arose, and the final downfall of Atlantis took place between 10,000 to 12,000 years ago. Many myths of flood and survival remind us of this event. One of these myths is found in the Epic of Gilgamesh in which the story of Utnapishtim is told (the biblical personification of Noah derived from this story).

After the destruction of Atlantis, efforts to save the great experiment on Earth were undertaken. These efforts were centered upon establishing cultural seeds to stimulate the formation of more complex and spiritually enlightened civilizations. They took place both in the Old and New Worlds. For example, in Sumer instructors arrived for a limited period of time to establish communities which were left under the direction of a "patesi" or especially trained spiritual/political leader. Continuous invasion from neighboring groups ruined the experiment. Another case is that of Egypt in which a spacecraft arrived bringing two instructors (later called Isis and Osiris) that brought knowledge which, unfortunately, became monopolized to serve the interests of a minority.

Once these efforts failed, a better plan of action was adopted. A special genetic line was preserved in the Hebrew community (which was also guided to accept certain cosmic principles such as the idea of one God) to, one day, produce a physical body capable of incorporating the powerful energies of a highly evolved initiate and of a projection of Emmanuel, whose presence on Earth was considered crucial to save humanity from its recurrent cycle of failures. Since the original idea of creating this special experimental humanity was formulated by Emmanuel, he was karmically connected to the situation, and was considered the only one who could do anything effective at this point.

The Son of God and the Son of Man taught as one, bringing the teachings by word and example, that we must die to our ego, surrender to our loving Creator, and resurrect our Christ Self. Master Jesus and Emmanuel also emphasized the need to love God above all else, and to love all men as oneself.

The extraterrestrial guides, who took part in these teachings and established contact through Mission Rama, have also taught that our greatest challenge and necessity lies in developing a universal consciousness of service to the Creator and the Christ. They do not desire physical contact to become the reason for working with them. Their presence should, instead, stimulate greater interest in establishing contact with our Inner Being, or Higher Self. They say that, although they have made themselves known to us because we are in a process of transformation which requires guidance and support, it is only us that can accomplish the task of conquering ourselves. The guides or "older brothers", as they are also called, do not consider themselves better than us, and do not want us to follow them unquestioningly. They want us to learn from them as much as they are willing to learn from us.

Living in accordance with the "Profound Love of Cosmic Consciousness" is a recurring theme transmitted by the guides. They once left a message that represented their teaching and practical attitudes. It says that "There is only one moment to love, and that is our whole life".

During a teleportation experience to Morlen with the aid of a Xendra, part of a moral code of life was revealed. This code for life in Morlen is called "Bredam" and a fragment reads as follows:

"One can only see clearly with the heart,
One can only identify correctly with intuition,

One can only understand well with respect for reasons,
One can only judge well with an understanding of motives,
One can only dialogue adequately with tolerance to diverse opinions, but above all,
One can only teach well through example."

Mission Rama has been considered a mission whose task is to help bridge the distance between the Third and Fourth Dimensions. One of the ways that this has been achieved is by establishing a conscious connection with representatives of the White Brotherhood, both in Egypt and in a sacred temple in the Amazon Jungle. Some members of Mission Rama became key elements in establishing a crucial link on Earth between the cosmic and the terrestrial hierarchies, and were motivated by love and a desire to aid in the fulfillment of the Cosmic Plan.

In 1975, Mission Rama was first revealed to the world when Juan Jose Benitez, a Spanish reporter, was invited to participate in a pre-arranged encounter experience. After he witnessed the approach of a UFO at the exact place and time it was expected, he returned to Spain and wrote a book titled, Ovnis: S.O.S. a la Humanidad. This book was instrumental in the subsequent organization of several Mission Rama groups, not just in Spain, but throughout Latin America as well. In 1984, the guides offered a press conference where radio and TV reporters from Peru were invited to a pre-arranged sighting. Unfortunately, one by one excused himself and weren't able to attend. In 1989, several reporters from various countries were invited to Peru to capture on film the presence of extraterrestrial spacecraft. When the word got out that this event was going to take place, many more people than expected showed up, some of them behaving not only in a skeptical way, but also in a disruptive way and the expected night for the sightings turned out to be extremely disappointing for the cameramen. The following night, a few decided to stay in the area or return to the place in the desert where everything was taking place and some footage and pictures of UFO's were taken.

Much importance must also be given to the experiences of Mr. Luis Fernando Mostajo Maertens, a very sincere man from Bolivia who, in 1977, became an important contactee for what has been called Mission Rahma. The vibratory influence of the letter H represents humanity and, although this name is slightly different, the name differs slightly, the source is the same. In 1977, Mr. Mostajo became a first rate contactee and his experiences have been as extensive and intensive as Sixto Paz's. In 1990, Mr. Mostajo invited a reporter from Tass Agency, who captured on VHS the well-defined flight of a saucer-shaped UFO. Mr. Mostajo is scheduled to arrive to the U.S.A. in October of 1992 with the intention of giving lectures (if he is awarded a Visa in Bolivia).

I propose that Mission Rama's information regarding world history and our place in the cosmic scheme of things should be studied and compared with corresponding information from other contactee sources. In the UFO field, there seems to be a lack of serious comparative studies: In which ways are the messages received by Mr. Edward "Billy" Meier compatible or not with those received by Sixto Paz, George Adamski, Tuella, Eugenio Siragusa, and so many other contactees? Can we bridge the gap between researchers attached to abductee investigation and those attached to contactee investigation? Since every source of information is, most likely, contaminated by many distortions, prejudices, biases, and no source of information can produce a complete picture, I propose that we carefully analyze different sources to see what we can fit into a coherent whole.

Regarding reports of abductions committed by "gray" aliens, I'm not aware of how Mission Rama sheds light on this subject. Sixto Paz Wells used to deny most of these reports, thinking that they were fabricated in order to scare people away from the desirability of establishing contact with a benevolent Confederation. There's reason to believe that some individuals, who have given much effort to introduce contacts of a positive nature, and in a positive light, feel uncomfortable with ideas that present extraterrestrials as invaders. Sixto Paz, nevertheless, mentioned that there were some negative extraterrestrials that might occasionally get through the defenses established by the Confederation to isolate our planet from undue interference. He also mentioned that in a few isolated cases, biological monitoring of Earth humans was being conducted to help us through transitional times.

Perhaps the lack of awareness about the situation with "gray" types within Mission Rama took place because these entities might not have been very active or noticeable in certain countries like Peru. Perhaps some channelled sources such as Darryl Anka's "Bashar" and The Ra Material by L/L Research can also bring relevant information into the puzzle of "benevolent" vs. "non-benevolent" alien scenarios.

To end this article, I must say that perhaps the most unique characteristic of the Mission Rama experience has been its participatory nature since thousands of individuals had the opportunity of contact with extraterrestrial intelligence at some level. The fact that the nature and purpose of these contacts has been kind and gentle conveys a message of hope for our future. Through Mission Rama and other contact experiences of a positive nature we may become aware of the need to transcend animal and self-centered consciousness and, in due time become conscious participators in a larger cosmic community.

Mission Rama's emblem.

The six-pointed star represents balance and the Great White Brotherhood of the Star.

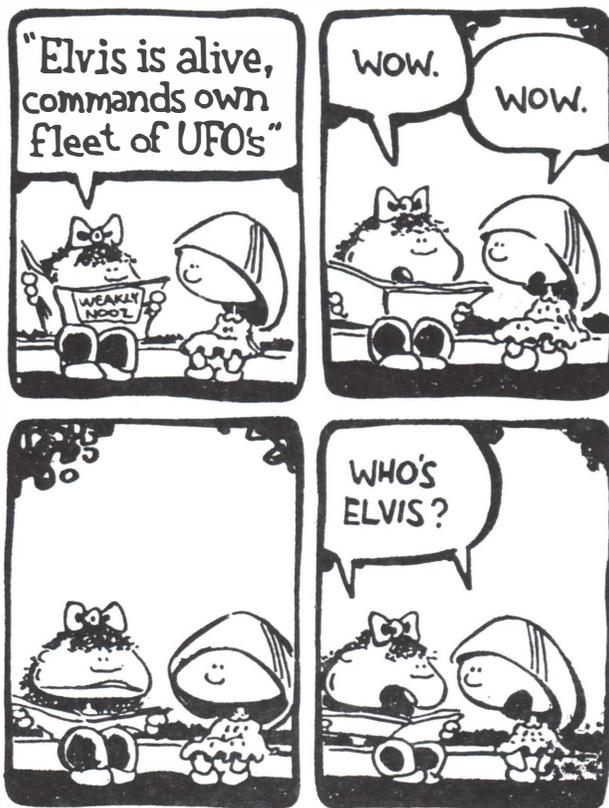

The cross represents movement, irradiation and spiritual victory.

The trident synthesizes the mental, spiritual and material aspects of man's evolution.

The number 4 symbolizes Jupiter and also Morlen, the closest base from the Confederation.

The number 8 symbolizes a return to origins through meditation and reflexion.

PUERTO RICO ISLAND OF CONTACT

Puerto Rico is mentioned many times in the world of UFOlogy, but many do not know anything about its history or its inhabitants, or the extraterrestrial life forms that have established direct contact. Puerto Rico is a small island located in the Caribbean Sea. It is 35 miles wide and 100 miles long. Its population nearly reaches the three million mark. Way too many folks, compared to the expansion of the land. Most of the inhabitants live in a concentrated manner on the north-east side of the island; the San Juan area, the Capital of the island.

The people of Puerto Rico nowadays are a rich mixture of different cultures. Descendants of many nations. The "TAINO" Indians (the islands original residents), the Spaniards and the African are the basic components of the current culture. Throughout different periods of our history many have been added. Amongst the various cultures who came and colonized on the island we find Holland, Germany, France and many more. Currently we have what many call American.

But as strange as it may sound we seem to be mixing yet with another race; an extraterrestrial one. Like the Taino Indian did once with the Spaniards, some people have "Deified" these alien beings. Others who are more open minded accept them for what they really are, beings alien to our world. Puerto Rico is basically a religious island; the Catholic religion being predominant, hence the other side of the coin; the concept that these strange alien visitors are nothing more than demons.

There seems to be mixed emotions regarding these alien beings. Many of us who have encountered them start out with the opinion that the initial experience is a negative one. As time goes by we tend to shift more towards the positive side. My own personal experience is a classic example. After getting rid of the fear and anxiety many of us have been able to speak freely about our experience. I, for one, have been featured in many television talk shows and several newspaper articles. Speaking up has helped break many barriers. Once the long silence is broken, a great many minds are opened. So has been the case here in our small tropical island, our people have demanded more openness regarding extraterrestrial activity among us. This reality is so much of our daily lives that our leading newspaper, "El Vocero," carries a weekly column which keeps all of our citizens informed of most about the extraterrestrial activity.

Throughout the upcoming issues of "The Missing Link," you the readers of this magnificent, and very helpful magazine will glimpse the nature of UFO activity on the Island of Puerto Rico. "The Missing Link" will publish a series of these articles from our "El Vocero" newspaper exclusively for its readers. These articles are written by Mr. Julio Victor Ramirez, a notable reporter who was once a skeptic till the day he was confronted with this particular reality. One of the articles to be published, explains his personal experience and his change of heart and life.

I personally consider this a breakthrough and I'm very proud to have taken part in it. I, and many others on the island want to share this valuable information with you, the "Missing Link" reader.

(Editor's Note: We are honored to be the chosen vehicle to spread this word directly from a man who has participated in contact with the extraterrestrials of Puerto Rico.)

MY PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

New York

I was born and raised in New York city. I was working as a waiter in one of the major hotel chains when I received an alarming phone call from one of my aunts. She informed me that my grandmother was terribly ill. My grandmother was the woman whom I considered to be my mother. I just had to go to Puerto Rico where she lived to see her.

Puerto Rico 1988

When I arrived on the island I was amazed by its beauty. After being there a few days my grandmother recuperated and I was able to make my brief visit a real vacation. Upon returning to New York City I found myself constantly thinking about Puerto Rico. Something was pulling me - drawing me in like a magnet. I phoned my aunt out in P.R. and expressed to her my feelings. I told her that I wanted to come out and live on the island. She reminded me that the employment situation on the island was pitiful.

Without knowing why I lifted my roots. I either sold, or gave away, everything that I owned and headed towards the island. Even though it was the birth place of my parents I really didn't know P.R. I was like a stranger in my own land. Even its roads were unfamiliar to me.

One of my cousins had heard over the radio about a job opening at a local night club. The waiters job suited me perfectly. I landed the job and bought myself an old jalopy of a car as a means of transportation to and from my new job.

Everything went fine until the night before Mother's Day. A few days before this event, the same cousin who had helped me obtain my job; called me up to ask a favor of me. She asked me to please photograph one of her favorite musical groups, which was going to be appearing at the night club where I was working.

The night before Mother's Day I arrived at the nightclub toting my cousin's 110 Instamatic Camera. The club was packed and I was barely able to snap some pictures of the musical group called "El Gran Combo". I managed to take a few. When the night was over I headed home. My feet were aching and all I could think at the time was about getting home and having something to eat.

I took the usual route home, the one which one of my other relatives had showed me to utilize going to and from the night club. I was driving very slowly. It was about 4:30 a.m. I had to keep in mind what some of my family members had warned me about; they said that while driving along these country roads one had to watch out for stray cows or horses that often wandered on to the roads. What they really should have warned me about was something else!

As I drove through this lonely stretch of unpopulated country road named "La Bajura" (literally translated means "the low part"), I came across a thick mass of fog. I didn't find this strange because I had encountered this cloud of fog other times on my way home from work. I slowed down even more so and kept my eyes on the road at all times. Suddenly I heard what I initially thought were the sounds of hooves on the paved road. Calves? The sound was coming from the left side, the driver's side, my side.

I turned my head towards where the sound was emanating from and to my great surprise what I saw in that moment changed my whole sense of reality. Jogging alongside my old car was a... midget? child? "What the ____ is it?", I remember thinking to myself. My mind was going wild. I didn't know what to think. Demons? "Oh, my God, it's a demon," I thought. I was scared beyond description. This thing was about three or four feet tall. It had a huge head and black bulging eyes. The eyes are what really freaked me out. The being looked at me with those black pools it had for eyes and it had a strange effect on me. This thing had eyes that seemed to penetrate my very being. They were like those of a Pekingese dog except a lot larger. Its skin was white, almost like if it were wearing clown makeup. The nose was a pugged one and the mouth was no more than a slit. It wore what seemed to be a small one piece suit; the color being olive green. What in hell was this? The farthest thing from my mind was that this strange creature was an extraterrestrial being. At that place in time I didn't think about space beings or UFOs. My mind did not ponder into those realms.

I didn't believe in UFOs so I didn't think about UFOs or their occupants. I was so frightened and nervous that when I attempted to speed away from the horror, instead of stepping on the accelerator I stepped on the brakes. When I was about to move on I saw movement on the right hand side in front of my car. Coming in from the fog was that same creature. How could this be? I thought. How did it get from where it was running beside my door to where it was located now? In those few precious moments in which I debated whether to run the thing over with my car something even more unexpected occurred. Someone or something opened my car door. I jerked my head to the left and there it was staring at me. There were two. Not one - but two. I gasped and held tight to the steering wheel. My foot felt like lead on the brake pedal. Mentally I prayed to God and asked him to forgive my many sins. I urinated in my pants and helplessly passed out.

When I woke up I had no idea of my whereabouts. I was still seated in my car but I was no longer on the road. I found myself in a strange place where there were other cars. These other cars were empty. I distinctly remember looking around for a sign that would read "Exit." There were none in this place that looked like an underground parking lot. There were no doors that I could see; no windows either. The colors of the walls were a non metallic light grey. As I sat there confused and gripping the steering wheel, the thing appeared next to the drivers seat door - mine. This time I did not hear it approach my car. I just happened to look towards my left in search of a way out and there it was. Those eyes! It reached out to me with its skinny arm. The hand, I noticed, had five fingers but they were all about the same length. With his white hand he, or it, touched me. He placed the palm of its tiny hand upon my forehead. With this action on the creatures behalf, I faded into darkness.

When I regained my mind I found myself seated in another room along with 14 other people. This room was also the same color as the previous one; a light grey. There were no light fixtures visible to the eye, yet the place was illuminated. I saw no doors or windows. The rest of the people looked as terrified as I felt. None of us spoke. Out of what seemed nowhere, from some point of departure behind us, walked in the two small beings and right behind them came a man.

This man was dressed in a black shirt and black pants. His shoes were of the same color. His skin was a dark tan complexion. Like the skin color of an Arab or a Hindu. He did not appear to be tall; maybe 5 feet 7 inches or so. He stood before us and the two small beings situated themselves - one to his right, the other to his left. This man with long black shoulder length hair spoke to us in perfect Spanish. He claimed to be as human as we are but from a different planet, another world which rotates around an alien star (sun).

In this room the extraterrestrial human displayed to us all various projections which seemed to be totally real in appearance. At the end of these events, the small beings, (the ones that the E.T. human had informed us were in fact made by his people) touched everyone of us on the forehead. Everything went away and I awoke seated in my car.

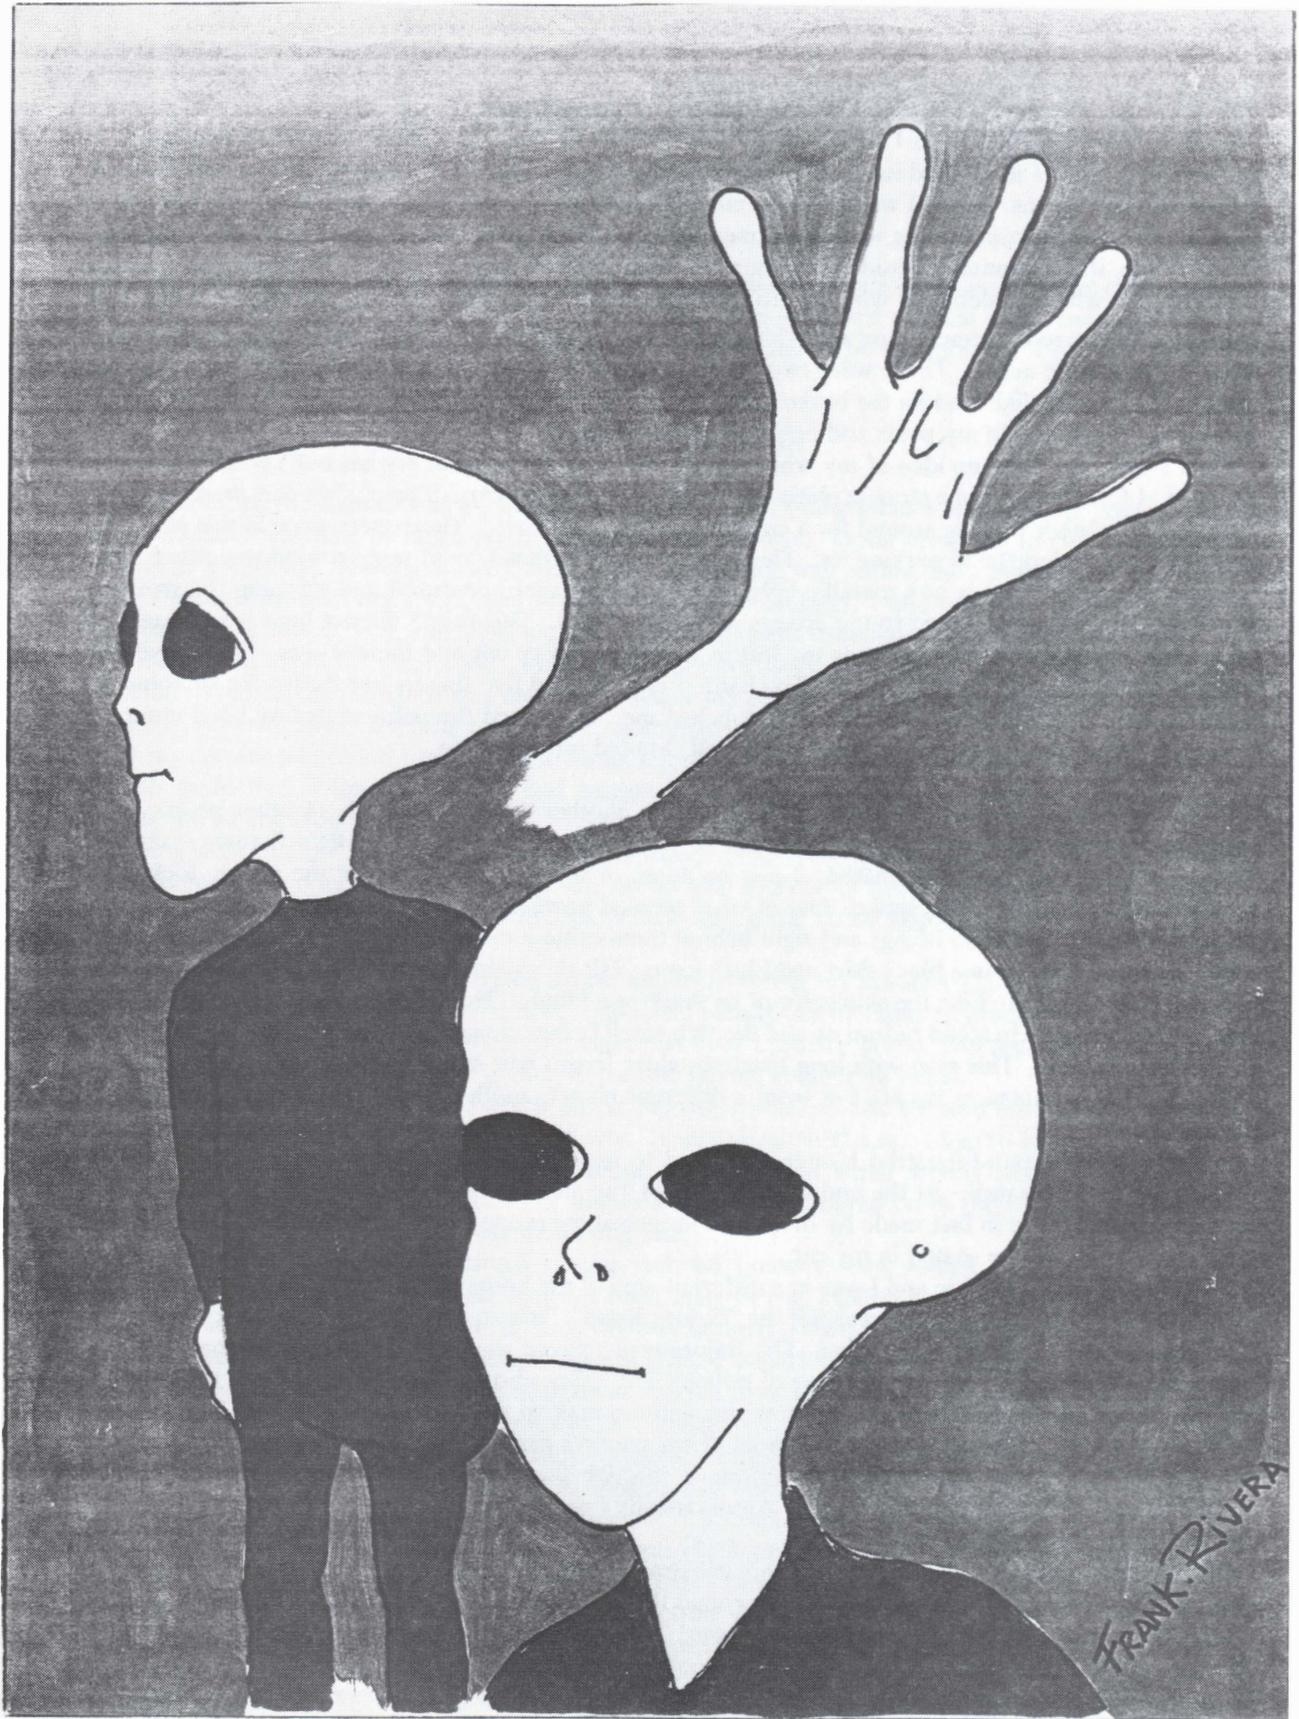

It was now daylight outside and I was in a different area of my home town. At the time I didn't have any idea of where I was. I knew this was not the "Bajura Road". Where was I? I had woken up in a total state of confusion and I couldn't stop crying. The Bajura was a paved road and this was a dirt road.

The next thing I knew, I heard the roar of military jets flying above. When I looked out the window of my car I saw it for the first time. It was hovering without making a single sound. The F-14 Tomcats were on their way back. Like a zombie I took hold of my cousin's camera and found the disc-shaped object through the lens. I just stood there observing it through the lens when suddenly out of nowhere I started to hear a strange beeping sound. Automatically I would snap a photo on every second beep. Beep-beep-snap-beep-beep-snap.

The disc tilted itself at an odd angle and shot off straight into the sky. The jets flew into formation and they took off frustrated in their attempts to ground the alien aircraft.

After this experience my life was never the same. These photographs have brought me lots of grief. In the near future I hope to be able to publish my book which I'm now completing, where my experience in its totality will be described in depth. There are many wonderful things out there awaiting us, but let us not forget the many wonderful things that we have right here on earth.... Amaury Rivera Toro

Winona Circle
Tucson, Arizona Puerto Rico Photos 1-4
August 10, 1991

Dear Sir:

We have analyzed four photographs on our own time and equipment. This is not an official project. The procedures used are completely scientific and represent the state of the art in this type of testing.

The results can be summarized thusly:

1. The photographs represent third generation copies of prints.
2. The photographs were taken at dawn or dusk.
3. All objects in the photographs were photographed simultaneously.
4. There is no evidence of photo-overlays or dubbing.
5. The two airborne objects are both definitely metallic.
6. The two airborne objects are both more than 40 Ft. in diameter.
7. We referenced time of day by sky colour and shadows on objects.
8. Both airborne objects display appropriate shadows and contour to indicate that they are large metallic objects; one of them being ~~a~~ ^{F-14 (Tom Cat)} Jct, the other is of unknown manufacture.

- * We scanned 4 slides and negatives at high resolution 1800 dots per in.
- * We performed edge function analysis on a minimum of 10 objects per.
- * We constructed an edge data-base based on edge properties.
- * We constructed a contour data-base based on arc-contour properties.
- * These data-bases reflect the results stated above.

I am willing to provide a complete test procedure report to you should you request it. I can list all test equipment, Computers, and software used to do the analysis. I reject the idea that tests of a scientific nature were done on these photographs and found them to be suspect. Whoever tests photos must make their procedure available and state which test results indicate the problem. I find no evidence that these photographs are a hoax.

In order to continue testing I request the following:

1. A topographic map of the area with notations of the witness position.
 2. A topographic map of the area with notations of the trees in the pix.
 3. Measurements of the diameter of the log on the ground in photo #3.
 4. Better quality photographs for detailed grain analysis.
 5. Additional photos in sequence for building a computer model.
- Enclosed are some computer photographs of the composite shape of the large metallic object in question.

Sincerely,

Photos 2,3, & 4 - These photos are the actual computer printouts from NASA's computer analysis lab. They depict the arc and edge contours used in one stage of their analysis.

"I HAVE BEEN TOUCHED BY THE LIGHT OF A FRIEND WHO KNOWS EVERY THOUGHT FROM BEGINNING TO END. THE PURPOSE OF MY LIFE ON A SCREEN IN A ROOM UNFOLDS LIKE A SCROLL INSIDE A COCOON.

THE PLANET BELOW ME SNIVERS IN COLD LIKE A BALL OF CLAY SHAPED FROM A MOLD. NO LIFE ON IT'S SURFACE, NO CHILDREN TO PLAY NO PARKS OR STREAMS, NO NIGHT OR DAY.

THE SYMBOLS AND WARNINGS IN FIELDS WERE IGNORED, THE SIGNS IN THE SKY WERE HEEDED NO MORE, AN ABDUCTEE'S CRIES WERE SCORNED AND MOCKED AND THE EARTH BEGAN TO QUIVER AND ROCK.

THE SCENE THEN SHIFTED TO A PLANET OF PEACE. NO ANGER EXISTED, ALL HOSTILITIES CEASED. THE ANIMALS ROARED WITHOUT FEAR OF MEN AND ALL SPECIES OF HUMANS WERE TOGETHER AGAIN.

THE CHOICE IS YOUR'S, ESTERA THOUGHT AND INTO MY MIND THE IMPRESSION WAS BROUGHT. I WAS LIFTED BACK INTO MY ROOM AND LEFT WITH THE CHOICE OF SURVIVAL OR DOOM."

5 ways to tell if you've been abducted by aliens

According to the Fund for UFO Research, 3.7 million Earthlings may have been abducted by aliens without ever knowing it. Seems we are first put into some sort of a trance and, when eventually returned to Earth, have no recollection of our trip. If you've been to outer space and it's slipped your memory, you've probably had some of these mysterious experiences:

- ◆ walked in a daze with the sense of a strange figure or presence in the room
- ◆ been unable to account for an hour or more of "missing time"
- ◆ had a feeling of flying through the air without knowing how or why

- ◆ seen unusual lights or balls of light in a room without understanding what caused them
- ◆ discovered scars on your body without remembering how or why they got there.

And all this time we thought it was the margaritas!

$$$ FUNDS ARE ESSENTIAL $$$

We of Operation Right to Know have made much initial progress so far. On April 28, 1992, we organized the first UFO demonstration in history in front of the White House. We have lobbied Congress. We are building a national organization through our bulletin, The Right to Know Forum. We have been written about in the press, including the MUFON Journal, UFO, and Omni.

All funds until now have come from the personal incomes of the organizers. If we are to turn a small ripple into a mighty wave, we must obtain adequate financing. If you agree with our program, we ask for your financial support. Make your checks payable to:

Operation Right to Know
P.O. Box 2911
Hyattsville, MD 20784

Donors of $15 or more will receive a year's subscription to The Right to Know Forum. We estimate $5,000 as the cost of organizing the Second National March on Washington in July 5, 1993, and local actions elsewhere. For those who would greatly facilitate this effort by making a large financial contribution, please contact Mike Jamieson, Napa, Calif. 707-257-2102.

ALIEN IMPRINT

THE SHAPE OF AN EGG, PULSATING WHITE
OVER THE WAVES ON A MOONLIT NIGHT,
I CHANCED TO SEE AN UNEARTHLY CRAFT
FROM THE BALCONY OF MY APARTMENT FLAT.

THROUGH MY EMOTIONS WORDS FORMED INSIDE
AS I HEARD A VOICE WITH MEANING IMPLIED :
"EVOLUTION IN ACTION AND WE ARE THE SOURCE,
BY FREE WILL CHOICE YOU MAY ALTER YOUR COURSE.
OUR EYE IS UPON YOU, WE SPEAK FROM OUR HOME
TO DELIVER THE MESSAGE YOU ARE NOT ALONE."

OVER THE YEARS I TRIED TO FIND THE MESSENGER WHO SLIPPED INTO MY MIND,
BY RADIO WAVES, MACHINES AND THOUGHT
IT SEEMED AS IF I WAS HEADED NOT.

THEN ONE NIGHT A SHAPE MANIFEST
BEFORE ME STOOD A FORM AT MY CHEST,
CONTROLLING THE BEAT OF MY POUNDING HEART
AS I WATCHED A FEMALE CREATING ART.

IMAGING SYMBOLS OUT OF THIN AIR
SHE PROJECTED HER CULTURE WITH PRECISION AND CARE.
SO ANCIENT AND FRAGILE, HER SPECIES OUTGREW
THE PHYSICAL WORLD HER ANCESTORS KNEW.

TECHNOLOGY, SCIENCE, RELIGION AND FAITH
HAD LONG AGO MERGED INTO PART OF HER RACE.
BIOLOGICAL SYSTEMS WERE SEEDED ON EARTH
AND CONTINUALLY WATCHED FROM THE MOMENT OF BIRTH.

DOWN THROUGH THE AGES TO THIS MOMENT IN TIME
HER SPECIES UPGRADED GENETICS, REFINED,
AND NOW SHE HAD COME TO VISIT A CHILD
WHO WISHED TO GROW FROM THE UNCIVILIZED WILD.

SHE GAVE ME A GIFT AND WITH IT HER NAME
OF A STAR AND A SUN CAME A MEANING THE SAME,
ESTERA THEN FOCUSED HER SPIRIT IN ME
TRANSFORMING FOREVER MY BIOLOGY.

MY IDENTITY OPEN TO READ LIKE A BOOK
NOTHING WAS HIDDEN FROM HER PROBING LOOK,
WE MERGED AS A UNIT AND SHARED ENERGY
I AT ONCE UNDERSTOOD WHAT IT WAS TO BE FREE.

AND THEN THROUGH THE WALL I WAS TAKEN AWAY
IN ONLY A MOMENT THAT SEEMED LIKE A DAY,
INTO A PLACE OF TRUE HARMONY
WHERE SOUND AND LIGHT INTERACTED WITH ME.

WHEN I RETURNED I WROTE DOWN WORDS
IN THE WARMTH OF THE SUN AND THE SINGING OF BIRDS,
THE MEMORIES CAME BACK LIKE THE TIDE OUT AT SEA
AND THESE ARE THE THOUGHTS WHICH CAME THROUGH TO ME
