S. P. A. C. E. (Saucer Phenomena and Celestial Enigma)

The Air Force says that it has no PHYSICAL EVIDENCE (physical meaning 'something you can touch') that such things even exist. In the words of Capt. Edward J. Ruppelt, retired, who served three years at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, as Chief Investigator for Project Bluebook WHAT CONSTITUTES PROOF??— Does a UFO have to land at the River Entrance to the Pentagon, near the Joint Chiefs of Staff offices? Or is it proof enough when a ground Radar Station detects a UFO, sends a Jet up to intercept it, the pilot sees it, and locks on with his Radar, only to have the UFO streak away at a phenomenal rate of speed? Which is PROOF?

SPACE FIREFLY MYSTERY SEEN BY ASTRONAUT JOHN H. GLENN, JR.

The greatest discovery made by Astronaut John Glenn in his flight into outer space is a phenomenon known as "space fireflies". In a dispatch appearing in the SEATTLE POST-INTELLIGENCER for Feb. 22, 1962 by the Associated Press from Grand Turk Island, Bahamas, John Glenn is reported to have seen a first-class mystery in outer space. . . swarms of "space fireflies." To quote the dispatch: "The 'fireflies' were luminous particles of something streaming past his spaceship at each sunrise. Glenn was facing away from the rising sun, and described them as space fireflies which, when they were close to his window, more resembled snowflakes." Dr. Robert Voas, psychologist and training officer of Project Mercury, is quoted as saying: "We hope to come up with the answer as to what they were; it's one thing we had not prepared John to expect -- we didn't predict it."

In an Associated Press dispatch from Point Arguello, Calif., Feb. 20, "Glenn Reports Mysterious Particles In Air," Walter Schirra, who commanded Mercury Tracking Station No. 13, is quoted as saying that neither he nor Glenn had any firm idea of the nature of the glowing particles and that they might have been micrometer-ites (space dust) or perhaps something else. In a U.P.I. dispatch from Washington, Feb. 20, 1962: "Government scientists said today they are eager to question Astronaut John H. Glenn about the 'little luminous particles' he spotted outside his space capsule. Until Glenn reports more about his sighting, scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) declined to hazard a guess as to what the particles might be."

George Adamski, writer and amateur astronomer who lived on Mount Palomar, home of the world's largest telescope, wrote a best-seller book published in 1955 called INSIDE THE SPACE SHIPS, in which Mr. Adamski describes his trips into outer space aboard space ships of people from other planets. In 1959 Mr. Adamski went on a world-wide tour, giving lectures and showing a color motion picture, of UFO's (flying saucers) in flight that included a royal audience with Queen Juliana of the Netherlands . . . the only man who had ever claimed rides in flying saucers to be granted an audience with such high government leaders. On page 76 of INSIDE THE SPACE SHIPS, Mr. Adamski tells us what he saw in "My First Look at Outer Space." "I was amazed to see that the background of space is totally dark. Yet there were manifestations taking place all around us, as though billions upon billions of fireflies were flickering everywhere, moving in all directions, as fireflies do. However, these were of many colors, a gigantic celestial fireworks display that was beautiful to the point of being awesome."

Here is something that beats any "Buck Roger's" Science Fiction Story, in that not even in any of the science-fiction novels has man even dreamed of seeing "space fireflies." All this goes to show that Mr. Adamski's story was no science-fiction thriller, but must have been the real thing, for him to describe a mystery in outer space now confirmed to be fact by America's astronaut John Glenn. Note very carefully that John Glenn uses the same words as Mr. Adamski to describe his first look at outer space.

In an Associated Press dispatch from Washington, D.C., dated February 7, 1962 the U.S. Air Force is quoted as saying that at the end of its 15-year study of unidentified flying objects, it found no evidence that flying saucers exist. The confirmation of the space fireflies seen by Mr. Adamski aboard a Venusian space ship seven years ago, by America's astronaut John Glenn, shows the falseness of the Air Force's statement that flying saucers don't exist!

In July of this year I will be releasing to the public and members of Congress a book called, The Case for George Adamski's Contacts with Flying Saucers . . . a mass of data proving not only Mr. Adamski's stories true, but proving the U.S. Air Force has not told the American public the truth about the flying saucers. In a UFO Fact Sheet from the Department of Defense dated July 21, 1960, the Air Force, in referring to civilian UFO researchers and study groups said: "For the past thirteen years these groups have repeatedly stated that their organizations possess documented evidence proving the existence of space ships from other planets. However, when asked as patriotic citizens to deliver this evidence to the United States Air Force or other government agencies, they have refused to do so. The obvious conclusion is that they do not possess this information or evidence proving the existence of space ships."

I ACCEPT THE AIR FORCE CHALLENGE. I list my qualifications as an internationally known writer and researcher on unidentified flying objects for the past eight years. My books on Mr. Adamski will present the documented evidence the Air Force asks of us civilian researchers in that I have worked eight years on the project.

Ever since Mr. Adamski wrote his first flying saucer book, Flying Saucers Have Landed, which included photographs of space ships examined by the Air Force and never proven faked (See: Page 263 of Capt. Edward J. Ruppelt's book, The Report on Unidentified Flying Objects, who was former head of the Air Force project for investigating flying saucers), the case for and against George Adamski has been argued back and forth endlessly. As a result, a great body of people have been left confused by all the arguments. They just don't know what to believe. It is my purpose in writing The Case for George Adamski's Contacts with Flying Saucers to at last bring you the inside story about this controversial figure. This is a story brought to you by Mr. Adamski, who wrote the 19-page introduction, and by over seventy experts in their field, ranging all the way from world-famous scientists to representatives of the United States Air Force, Federal Bureau of Investigation, and the Central Intelligence Agency. I have gathered evidence from these people, which does not imply they endorse my use of their data, in that I am solely responsible for the interpretations made, so as to bring to the public a documented account of evidence proving Adamski's stories are true; and so that much of the confusion regarding Adamski's claims, much of the skepticism, will melt into a better understanding of what Adamski is trying to tell us: WE ARE BEING VISITED BY PHYSICAL HUMAN BEINGS FROM OTHER WORLDS!

Signed, Richard Ogden, private investigator

Seattle 99, Washington

Ed. Note: We too were very interested in John Glenn's description of the "fire-fly" phenomenon that he observed on his orbital flight. We do find some differences in George Adamski's description from John Glenn's. Glenn says that the particles were moving at a few miles slower speed than his capsule.

Adamski says that they were moving in all directions, just as fireflies do here on the surface of the planet. But of course, Glenn was orbiting between 100 miles and 200 miles out, and Adamski says he was at 50,000 miles out.

We cannot vouch for this so completely as does Richard Ogden of Seattle, but do feel that there is enough similarity between the two accounts to make many researchers take a new look at Adamski's claims. It does indeed seem to add a new chapter of circumstantial evidence to Adamski's story. Particularly since his book was written in 1955, and John Glenn's flight was 7 years afterward.

As I remember it, Adamski also mentioned there being areas of hazardous radiation in various areas of space, and this was proven true later, with the discovery of the Van Allen radiation belts. Your guess is as good as mine. You tell me where he gets his information! I don't know!

WHITEWASHING THE SAUCERS

If the United States Air Force imagines that its soothing report of Wednesday on "flying saucers" will convince informed students of the subject, the United States Air Force is suffering from worse illusions than many of the illusions it has been investigating since 1947.

The gist of Wednesday's report is that there really is no such thing as a flying saucer by which is meant an extra-terrestrial vehicle under control of intelligent beings. The thousands of "unidentified flying objects" reported these past fifteen years, said the Air Force, have been nothing more than aircraft, balloons, satellites, astronomical phenomena, birds, lights, hoaxes, and "other causes."

Well, with all deference to the Air Force we are not impressed. Doubtless it is true that something over 95 per cent - perhaps 97 or 98 per cent - of these sightings can be explained in terms of hallucinations or searchlights or identifiable causes. But what of the other 2 or 3 or 5 per cent?

Several years ago an ad hoc group was formed by some of the most responsible scientists, airmen, astronomers and radar experts in the country. They called themselves the National Investigations Committee on Aerial phenomena (NICAP), and made it their business - perhaps because they feared the Air Force in time would produce just the sort of report the Air Force produced this week - to make their own independent appraisal of the UFO reports.

The NICAP is convinced that something peculiar and inexplicable occasionally appears in the airspace over the planet earth. It has urged repeatedly that "all defense personnel, not merely top-level groups, should be told that the UFO's are real and should be trained to distinguish them - by their characteristic speeds and maneuvers - from conventional planes and missiles." Otherwise, says the committee, "if we persist in refusing to recognize the existence of these UFO's we will end up, one fine day, by mistaking them for the guided missiles of an enemy - and the worst will be upon us."

The U.S. Air Force must have its own muddled reasons for attempting to make liars or fools of reputable men. The quotations in the accompanying box speak so loudly we find it hard to hear what the Air Force is saying.

WHAT THEY SAY

WILLIAM LEAR, winner of Collier Aviation Trophy, president of Lear, Inc., makers of aircraft and electronic equipment, who has sighted a UFO: "I believe the flying saucers come from outer space, piloted by beings of superior intelligence!"

REAR ADMIRAL D. S. FAHRNEY, Ret., former Navy missile chief: "Reliable reports indicate there are objects coming into our atmosphere at very high speeds. The way they change position would indicate their motion is directed."

CAPTAIN W. B. NASH, Pan American Airways, who with his co-pilot saw eight huge discs maneuver below their airliner: "I believe they were controlled machines from outer space."

MAJOR L. F. BAKER, USAF, who with other AF witnesses saw six UFO's: "They were circular, shiny like spun aluminum. They changed course instantaneously."

CAPTAIN JAMES HOWARD, British trans-Atlantic pilot, who with crew and 12 passengers saw a huge UFO and six small ones: "It must have been a space ship."

HERMANN OBERTH, noted rocket and space-travel authority: "I believe the flying saucers come from other worlds."

CAPTAIN ROBERT ADICKES, TWA pilot, who with crew and seven passengers saw a glowing UFO pace their airliner: "Before then I wasn't convinced. Now I know they (flying saucers) do exist."

DR. CLYDE W. TOMBAUGH, discoverer of the planet Pluto, chief of the armed services search for natural satellites, who has sighted UFO's: "These things, which do appear to be directed, are unlike any other phenomena I ever observed. . Other stars in our galaxy may have hundreds of thousands of inhabitable worlds. Races on these worlds may have been able to utilize the tremendous amounts of power required to bridge the space between the stars."

SPECTER OF TROUBLE JUST WON'T VANISH

JACKSON, Feb. 3 - While neighbors scoffed and not-quite-sure youngsters bombarded the Victor Lincoln home at 820 Maltby Street here with snowballs and jeers, the Lincoln family today insisted there was "a ghost or something very strange" haunting the small cottage where they live.

And Mrs. Lincoln added: "The scientists think so, too. They told me not to stay in the house alone."

STAYED 4 DAYS

She was referring to Dr. William G. Rowl, of Durham, N.C. director of the Psychical Research Foundation, and a foundation investigator, John Freeman, who have visited the house three times since last fall, staying four days on the last occasion in January.

Mrs. Lincoln said Rowl told her they were trying to find what he called "an as yet incomprehensible energy force."

Publicly, all Rowl would say was that the foundation was "interested" in the happenings at the Lincoln home and was investigating.

"He told me that whatever this was, it seemed to have a growing antagonism toward me," Mrs. Lincoln said. "He said I should not stay alone here."

She is seldom alone. With her at the house are her husband, a son, John, 22, who came home from Germany last August; another son, Thomas, 15; and two daughters, Patricia, 19, and Jeanie, 12.

Her husband said he was with the two North Carolina men during their last visit when, in the presence of all three, "something" ripped loose a sheet of plastic they had taped across a door leading from the living room into a room that is used as a bedroom.

CELLAR TO BLAME?

"They put the sheet up to check on the air currents in the house," Lincoln said. "Then they sat down to see what happened. Pretty soon the sheet began to shake. Then it shook worse.

"Finally, it ripped the tape loose at one corner. They looked in the room and there was nothing there."

The Lincolns now recall many strange things that they did not think unusual in the past, but say the real disturbances began last September after they started extending the "Michigan Cellar", which had fieldstone walls under the house.

"Things really began to happen then," Lincoln said.

Mrs. Lincoln said she went to the basement about that time to get some vegetables "and something hit me so hard it dazed me, but I saw nothing."

POTATO DEFIES GRAVITY

She hasn't been back to the basement since then, she said.

All members of the family insist things have been moving mysteriously about the house ever since.

No one will sleep in one bedroom of the house because of the "unusual" happenings there.

It is here, Mrs. Lincoln said, that the bedcovers keep turning down, apparently by themselves, and where the family dog becomes frightened whenever he is near the north wall.

The house, more than a century old, has been in Lincoln family for 43 years. It originally belonged to the family for whom the street was named.

Lincoln insists he saw a potato roll out of a cupboard and then, defying gravity, move upward and land in the sink.

Other members of the family tell similar stories.

They became so concerned they put locks on all the doors and nailed the basement windows shut. Yet twice, they insist, after being away they returned to find the house seemingly ransacked.

NOTHING TAKEN

"But we couldn't find any trace of a forced entry, nor was anything taken," John said.

The Lincolns have abandoned their basement-widening project and have the house up for sale.

But the strange noises, the mysterious turnings on of faucets and gas stove jets, etc. continue, they say.

On several occasions when they returned to their locked home, the Lincoln family members said, they detected unexplainable scents.

"Once it was incense, Mrs. Lincoln said. Another time there was the distinct smell of freshly baked bread, although bread has not been baked in this home for years. The bread scent lingered for at least an hour."

Since stories were published this week, all kinds of people have been pestering them, the Lincolns said.

They said they don't want to talk about the disturbances.

"We just want to get out."

Wapakoneta, Ohio - DAILY NEWS - 4 Jan., 1962 - FLYING OBJECTS ARE SIGHTED IN AUGLAIZE COUNTY DURING NIGHT - A New Bremen area resident saw an unidentified flying object in the sky last evening. Reports of what was evidently the same thing were broadcast widely last night from sightings as near Wapakoneta as the Spencerville and Cairo vicinities. Johann Klein, Jr. who lives about 3 miles northwest of New Bremen on the Tri-Township Road viewed the object at 6:15 p.m. from his back yard. Mrs. Klein today told the Wapakoneta Daily News that at first her husband thought it was a burning airplane as it descended toward earth. A streak of fire behind the flying object made it look about 20 feet long, Klein described it as looking like a big ball of fire with an effect of blue, green and red colors. It seemed to descend with a whistle, roar of "whoosh". Klein knows he did not mistake it for the sound of a railroad whistle which he heard some time after this noise. It seemed to be rather close, although, as Mrs. Klein pointed out, distances can be deceiving. It appeared to glide down gradually, and Klein lost sight of it when it apparently went behind a woodlot. When Klein viewed the fiery ball it was coming from the northwest and traveling in a southerly direction. It apparently was about the height of the tree tops when he sighted it. His observations were over in less than five minutes. Because he heard a request that anyone seeing such an object notify the authorities, he contacted Chief of Police James Cooper of New Bremen. Chief Cooper went out to the Klein home and then radioed the St. Marys Police Dept. which, in turn, notified the Highway Patrol of St. Marys. The Highway Patrol said today that reports of similar sightings have come from Greenville and Sidney. Last night broadcasts were heard of an unidentified flying object at Columbus.

Ukiah, California JOURNAL - 4 January, 1962 - UFO'S SPOTTED BY BERYL RAWLES ON BOONVILLE ROAD - Unidentified flying objects were spotted Wednesday on the Ukiah-Boonville road at 2:30 p.m. by Mr. and Mrs. Rawles, Boonville, as they were driving east on the road. Rawles said he and his wife, Maude, saw the two cigar-shaped objects as they flew over their car in a southeasterly direction and then veered sharply to the south and disappeared over a ridge. He said they were about 25 feet long, 12 feet in diameter and tapered to about 6 feet at either end. He said they passed within 50 feet of the car, but he heard no sound nor saw any vapor trail. Rawles said they were white with red trim, and flew very low, just above the trees. He said they traveled at great speed and they had a hollow space in the tail like a jet. Rawles said they seemed to be under perfect control at all times and were maneuvering very close to the treetops.

Ukiah, California JOURNAL, 5 January, 1962 - SECOND UNIDENTIFIED OBJECT REPORTED SEEN OVER UKIAH - Another unidentified flying object has been spotted, this time above Ukiah, coming from the southeast and flying in a northeasterly direction. Ed Giffen, who lives at 1143 W. Perkins, said he saw a box-like object just below the horizon at about 4 p.m. yesterday. He said the object was about two feet square and four feet long. Giffen said he first spotted the object while in the house and when it stopped flying forward and went straight up he went outside to see if it would emerge above the trees, but he never caught sight of it again. It seemed to vanish into thin air, he said. Giffen added he could plainly see it was not a kite, although it was several hundred feet in the air. A report was made to the Journal Thursday by Beryl Rawles of Boonville that he and his wife had seen two cigar-shaped objects within 50 feet of their car on the Ukiah-Boonville Road on Wednesday. These also flew quite low and very fast, said Rawles.

"DEAR PAPA: HOW COULD YOU?"

To My Farmer Father
In the 1960's
Dear Papa:

I farm in a slave state. You put me here. I will forgive you, for they say you knew not what you did . . . But I will never understand how you farmers could be so blind as to sit by and let yours, the last group of free and independent Americans, be led into the trap of State Socialism. It's best, perhaps, that you never did find out what you were doing to me. You would then have gone to your grave to be forever tormented in a hell of self-hate--for denying me the precious heritage of freedom, known to the world in its true sense only during the first two centuries of American history.

Still . . . Why didn't you know? Was there no one there to tell you that you were selling your freedom and mine for a false security? Where were the statesmen I have heard described by some of my friends who were old enough to study American history before the books were burned? And where was the horse sense you farmers were supposed to be famous for? Were there no journalists there who knew enough or cared enough to warn you about this terrible thing you have done?

DO YOU REMEMBER?

You remember, Papa, when they said the Southeast was "made" for livestock and poultry farming? And they paid all you farmers to plant soil conservation crops? And you put all your land in pasture and sod crops and got some cows? And later you wanted to grow a little cotton, but had no allotment? And then they came up with the Soil Bank; but you couldn't rent any land to the government, because you had no row crops to "take out?"

And how, since you'd quit growing cotton, you couldn't vote in the cotton referendum? And then they came up with the government grain program and you couldn't vote on that one either -- because you had been buying all your grain? And you couldn't turn to tobacco, or rice, or peanuts, or sugar, or wheat or even turnip greens because you didn't have a three-year history? And how you had to hurry to get in a few chickens before the allotments were set up on poultry? And you didn't even smell a rat?

They sure had you by the short hairs, Pa. And I'm sure glad you got those chickens; otherwise I wouldn't have had a farm job at all. And I like to farm. You know, shortly after you died the big Land Reform program came along. That was right after the government got all the livestock controls started. So I lost my stock farm.

You took care of me, all right! As soon as they got all the farmers leveled off to the same size we didn't have to worry about things like cars, or TV sets, or washing machines (some of us still have our refrigerators, but mine's about to wear out), or trucks or tractors (these are government-owned), or even land (that's People's property, too).

They keep telling us it's not so bad living under the Communists. But me, I guess I remember too well the way your chest used to swell when you boasted about how America never lost a war--how her people didn't have to listen to a dictator on the other side of the world. And how you used to laugh when anyone suggested that the Communists might take us over.

Well, they got us, Papa. History now reads that the reason America fell was because the grass roots folks were not capable of ruling themselves. They wanted "aid" more than opportunity; and couldn't kick off controls that came with the aid.

I still grow chickens, Papa, and I like it pretty well, because I don't have to worry about the financing, or the market or how much profit I make. I just do the work. They give me all I need to live on. Security is complete for me, just like you planned.

I see my wife every week-end (she's a factory worker now) and the kiddies nearly always come home from the Party school on week-ends. That's nice.

Of course, it's a good thing I like chicken farming, because now, with full government control, you can't change cash crops. There are allotments on everything. My buddy Jim still runs his dad's old poultry farm, too. (Of course he doesn't own it, anymore than I own mine). Jim doesn't like chickens. He's allergic to feathers--has an awful time. He wanted to grow him some cattle instead. But naturally he didn't have any allotment history, so the ASCS Party District Committee Director wouldn't hear of it.

SECURITY PLUS

But one thing we got, Pa, and that's SECURITY. We got it the way I understand you wanted it. We even got shoes to go along with it.

No more bother about going to church on Sundays or Wednesday nights anymore. Since we became a sattelite the Commies won't put up with such foolishness. But don't worry about that, Pa. There ain't much chance to do any sinning anyway; and I couldn't afford it if there were--because all this security is costing us so much.

Remember when you got to worrying about a nuclear war, Papa? Do you know it never did come? You know why? Because as soon as our government got us all set up to be secure--at government expense--there wasn't enough difference in our government and Communism to fight over. And besides, nobody had the guts to fight for freedom.

Don't you wish your Great-Grandpa had felt that way?

I said to start with I'd forgive you, Pa. But don't be too sure that's not propoganda. I don't know your Christ. They won't let me meet Him. But if He sees fit not to forgive you; if He wants to let you live in the torment of your own hell for eternity because you were a spineless, government-sucking weakling. . . I don't think I'll beg the Kremlin to intervene.

From a few years out yonder,

Your loving son

CHARGE RED PRISONERS USED IN NUCLEAR TESTS

Chicago: A report published by the Lithuanian language newspaper "Draugas" claims that the Soviets are experimenting with live Lithuanian prisoners along the lines the Nazis employed in concentration camps like Dachau in World War II.

"From one of the slave camps in Siberia a group of men, among them Lithuanians, were taken in a truck to a secret testing spot," the newspaper said. "Helmets were put over their heads and they were told to stand quietly. Suddenly there was a terrible explosion of some bomb, apparently an atom bomb. The live prisoners were used in an experiment of radioactivity on humans. The prisoners were warned not to reveal their part in the experiment."

Draugas said the information was disclosed in a letter smuggled out of Siberia and received by a relative here of one of the prisoners.

The Chicago newspaper is published by the Marian Fathers. (L.I. Press, Sunday, Feb. 25, 1962, Credit Gladys Fusaro, Huntington, Long Island).

And our Leader feels that he has accom- plished a great "goal", if he can get the monsters to sign an agreement.

SCIENTISTS ASKING ABOUT "PARTICLES"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (UPI) - Government scientists are eager to question Lieut. Col. John H. Glenn, Jr. about the "little luminous particles" he spotted outside his space capsule.

Experts at the NASA declined to guess what the particles might be.

For the time being they ruled out the possibility that the particles were some of the millions of hair-thin needles the Air Force launched recently in a space communications tests. The needles were supposed to form a belt around the earth.

A spokesman said the needles were too small to be seen by Colonel Glenn. He added that scientists did not believe the wires had been ejected from their package.

Some scientists have complained that the launching of the needles jeopardized future space observations.

Astronomy experts said they wanted to ask Colonel Glenn whether the particles had been traveling faster, at the same speed or slower than his capsule.

They also want to know more about their appearance, whether they appeared as flashes, lines or other shapes.

FIND A FIVE-TON WHAT-IS-IT? - Carcass Is Like No Known Creature.

HOBART, Australia, March 9 (AP) -- Scientists here said today after examining a circular, five-ton carcass, found on a remote beach on the west coast of Tasmania, that it could be an animal, but it's like no known creature.

Bruce Hollison of the Commonwealth Scientific and Research Organization said it is circular in shape, has no eyes, no clearly defined head, no bone structure. Its creamy, rubbery flesh 12 inches thick is covered with wooly hair.

The monster, 20 feet long, 18 feet wide, 4½ thick, "could be new to the animal kingdom," said George Whitley, curator of fishes at the Australian Museum.

(In 1952 a fishy creature about the size and weight of a man, with arm and leg-like appendages, was found in the Indian Ocean. It was a coelacanth, of the first family of bony fish, which had been believed extinct since the creatures first moved out of the sea 50 million years ago and began living on land.)

"ODDBALL" STAR MAY LAUNCH WHOLE NEW NUCLEAR STUDY

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) - Three astronomers at the California Institute of Technology have found an "oddball" star - so odd it may take a whole new study of high energy nuclear reactions to explain it.

Dr. Jesse Greenstein, Dr. Jun Jugaku and Dr. Wallace Sargent recently completed a spectroscopic analysis of the unique star, called 3 Centauri A.

This is what they found:

The stellar object, which is in a cluster of 100 to 200 normal stars about 3,500 trillion miles from earth, is about 20 million years old.

It does not rotate, although its atmospheric temperature of 27,000 degrees is three times hotter than the sun. Hot stars usually rotate rapidly.

The star is the first in which the rare isotope helium 3 and in which krypton, a product of atomic fission, have been found with certainty. . .
