S. P. A. C. E. (Saucer Phenomena and Celestial Enigma)

The Air Force says that it has no PHYSICAL EVIDENCE (physical meaning 'something you can touch') that such things even exist. In the words of Capt. Edward J. Ruppelt, retired, who served three years at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, as Chief Investigator for Project Bluebook WHAT CONSTITUTES PROOF?? — Does a UFO have to land at the River Entrance to the Pentagon, near the Joint Chiefs of Staff offices? Or is it proof enough when a ground Radar Station detects a UFO, sends a Jet up to intercept it, the pilot sees it, and locks on with his Radar, only to have the UFO streak away at a phenomenal rate of speed? Which is PROOF?

Bulletin No. 67

As time marches on, more and more persons of reliable and responsible positions are acknowledging their beliefs in the reality of intelligent life on other planets. The latest to come forth is Dr. Leslie Kaeburn, of the faculty of Southern California, and Director of Scientific Research and Development for Mektrol Labs, Inc., of Alta Loma, California.

DID SPACEMEN SEE 'SAUCERS'?

By Ralph Selph

Valley Times TODAY Staff Writer

American astronaut John H. Glenn, Jr. and Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov met recently to talk about - among other things - strange glowing objects they saw streaming past their orbiting spaceships.

A Studio City man thinks what they saw may have been flying saucers.

Dr. Leslie Kaeburn, 11473 Sunshine Terrace, is a physician, not a mystic - a member of a small band whose continuing interest in "unidentified flying objects" has outlived the semi-hysterical "saucer" sightings of a few years ago.

Kaeburn says mystics, plus an assortment of mentally unbalanced individuals with tales of rides on extra terrestrial saucers, have given saucer watching a bad name.

Several mysterious objects observed in the skies over San Fernando Valley in recent years remain enigmas - grist for the conversational mills of dedicated "UFO" watchers who still look overhead with expectant patience.

In March of 1950, a Van Nuys composer, Eddie Coffman, had just halted his car at the intersection of Ventura Blvd. and Kester Ave. It was after midnight when Eddie saw "a huge pale sphere" bob through the Valley sky - appearing to come "within 100 feet at one point," he later told newsmen.

Along with several neighbors, Coffman stood near his home at 5451 Kester Ave. and watched the mysterious object for several minutes through a 20-power telescope.

Another puzzling occurrence was widely reported on Feb. 14, 1954, when residents near Birmingham Junior High School at White Oak Ave. and Haynes St. told of seeing a saucer "drop a fluffy white substance resembling spider webs."

The eerie blanket coated telephone lines and light fixtures, and reportedly "glowed" like silver at night. Tests revealed the "fluff" to be electrically charged. A local engineering firm that tried to analyze a sample of the substance was baffled.

Perhaps the most completely documented sighting - summarized in a report of a local UFO committee to which Kaeburn belongs - took place over Hollywood Feb. 5 & 6, 1960.

Seen by hundreds of apartment dwellers in Hollywood, a brilliant red light zoomed low and hovered over the movie capital like the kleig lights of an opening night.

Several reported hearing a loud explosion, then seeing a flash of "bluish-white" light, followed by a "mushroom" shaped white cloud - a sight unusual enough, it would seem, to startle even blase strollers along Hollywood Blvd.

"A peculiar odor, something like sulphur," was noted by an actress living at 7021 Hollywood Blvd.

Most observers commented on the "deliberate" appearance of the objects movements, and its peculiar "cherry-red" color.

In a 21-page report, the UFO committee concluded: "Characteristics of the red light, as described by witnesses, rule out any known form of natural phenomena (such as ball lightning, St. Elmo's fire, temperature inversion, after-image, etc.)"

Officially, the U.S. Air Force admits a small number of the estimated 5,000 saucer sightings in the United States in recent years are unexplainable from known phenomena, according to Kaeburn.

Several U.S. senators, including Paul Douglas of Illinois and Barry Goldwater of Arizona, have expressed "interest" in a further investigation of the phenomena, he says.

A study by a French observer, A. Michell, of sightings throughout the world have turned up a peculiarity called "the straight-line mystery": he explained.

"By charting sightings on a map, it was found they always traveled more or less in a straight line - that is a saucer traveling in a particular direction over Rome usually appeared over another country in the same direction.

"There's no question they are extra terrestrial," Kaeburn believes. "Our own government wouldn't experiment above cities and endanger lives, and any other world power would be afraid one of the devices might fall into our hands."

Kaeburn blames a split among government policy makers for public ignorance about UFOS.

"There are two schools in government - one wants to inform the public, and the other considers it in the public interest to tell as little as possible."

The Studio City physician doesn't buy accounts of celestial saucer rides.

"I completely disbelieve such claims - it isn't impossible it could happen in the future - but it hasn't been proven. Many of these claims are made for money, and to soak the public."

Many of the saucers may be remotely controlled and not occupied by human beings at all, he believes.

An answer to the question: "Where do they come from?" (assuming they exist) may be a long time coming.

Dr. F. B. Salisbury of Colorado State University has called the possibility of life on Mars "quite reasonable."

Other scientists of repute - both American and Russian - have speculated that two tiny "moons" revolving above Mars may actually be satellites sent into orbit.

Says Kaeburn: "It's difficult to tell whether it will be in the near or far future --we'll probably reach Mars in a 100 years, but there may be another civilization ahead of us by 20,000 years - that's only a short period of time in the life of the universe." #### WOMAN SEES 'SAUCER' ALONG WITH ROBOTS

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)-- An official Argentine television station, with the assistance of the air force, Thursday night told the story of a woman rancher who saw a "flying saucer" at close quarters and was taken to hospital suffering shock.

The television account did not disclose the woman's name but said she was from the south-central province of La Pampa.

She was reported to have seen two strange men resembling robots near the unidentified object.

The report said experts had confirmed that grass in the area where the object was supposed to have landed was singed in a circle six yards wide.

With UFO reports in American papers almost "non-existent", we turn to some of the foreign reports of recent months. The first report comes from Argentina:

ARGENTINA

The newspaper "El Mundo" took a statement from a truck driver named Jose A. Phillipin, (issue dated Jan. 10, 1962) to the following effect: He was driving his truck from Tucuman to Catamarca, accompanied by 2 companions, when 2 powerful lights were noticed over-head. He stopped the truck to investigate and the lights disappeared "at surprising speed". Further along his route, at Amadores, the 3 people noticed a strange machine at rest on a hillside about 100 yds from the road, close to the shore of the River Palin. The light was sufficient (it was night time) to enable them to descry the domed top of the machine, which was "like the top of a 'bus.'"

The object moved away rapidly when the witnesses tried to shine the truck headlights on it. (The following is slightly ambiguous) "When we got closer, we saw that there were 2 identical machines rather than one, and they were moving slowly back and forth in a zig-zag motion."

Reaching Catamarca, Fillipin told his story to the Police, who sent a posse back with him to scene of the landing. The machines had vanished, but while they lingered one of them returned and made a "landing or near landing", descending slowly within sight of them all but at a considerable distance from them.

The Police went to and searched the area of the almost landing, but discovered nothing untoward.

Inspector General Pedro Toloso, Chief of Investigations for the province, heard and believed the tale. He is a person impatient of "Flying Saucer" sensations, but apparently accepted the witness of his own men. The "follow-up" of this story is not yet to hand. #### LANDINGS IN FLORENCE - APRIL 1962

"FLYING SAUCER" SEASON AGAIN

"The 'flying saucer' season has started again. Iller Benazzi (28), yesterday became the second Italian in as many days to report sighting a strange flying machine.

"Unlike Mario Zuccala, a tailor from Florence, he did not report seeing men from outer space, but he said he had three witnesses to support his story.

"Benazzi told the police that he was driving along the Saronno-Lignano road with his fiancée on Wednesday night when he saw a strange flying machine. He said he stopped the car to watch, as did a couple in another car.

"'It moved noiselessly,' Benazzi said. 'It came down again, almost grazing us, turning its headlights on us. Then it landed on the road some distance from us and drove towards Saronno. We saw that it had three smaller tail lights with a violet gleam.'

"He and the three others decided not to talk about the spaceship for fear that they would not be believed. But he changed his mind after reading in the papers that Zuccala reported sighting a similar space craft that same night at San Casciano, near Florence. - B. U. P." Your Editor has been planning an article on one of the better UFO books to appear in a number of years. Shall we say, since Major Keyhoe's book "FLYING SAUCERS -- TOP SECRET" in this writer's opinion.

The title may fool you, but there is an excellent reason for the title -- THE GREAT FLYING SAUCER HOAX. The author is Coral E. Lorenzen, the Editor of APRO Bulletin (Aerial Phenomena Research Organization) for the past ten years. One of the researchers into this field from almost the beginning of the mystery.

Due to your Editor's inability to manage the time for the Review personally, we print herewith an excellent Review by the British Magazine, FLYING SAUCER REVIEW.

THE GREAT FLYING SAUCER HOAX

by Coral E. Lorenzen

"Up the airy mountain,
Down the rushy glen,
We daren't go a-hunting
For fear of little men;"

but it was no fairy fancy that set upon Jesus Paz, in San Carlos, Venezuela, as he got out of the car in order to relieve himself in the bushes. Attracted by his screams, his friends saw: "a short distance away a hairy-appearing little man was running toward a flat shiny object which hovered a few feet above the ground." It happened in 1954 and that year there were other little men at work in Venezuela - and in France; perhaps part of the expedition of one race surveying the earth for its possibilities.

This is a book to sober the starry-eyed because it gives abundant evidence that the visitors are about their own purposes, which include us out. They may even be hostile.

"They came in numbers in 1947 - two years after the explosion of the first three atomic bombs. Their survey started almost immediately thereafter; and was pursued as though the plan had been carefully worked out." Cars were halted, radios interrupted, a heat weapon was used: the Itaipu sentries "had first-degree and deep second-degree burns of more than 10 per cent of the body - mainly on areas covered by clothing;" at the Texas army camp in the same month (November, 1957): "Tanks were vectored in, training their armaments on the object. Suddenly the men in the tanks came scrambling out -- it had become unbearably hot. . . ." Power stations were put out of action (1959) and this was even predicted by Mrs. Lorenzen, based upon the pattern thus far established.

There is evidence that one or more groups of visitors are looking for bases, while testing out different methods of interfering with our sources of power. Northeastern Brazil, sparsely populated and difficult of access to earthly defenders, was shown by Dr. Fontes to have been subjected in 1960 to orthotonic survey, particularly its communication centres. This form of survey is more specialized than the pattern which "suggests that the UFOs mapped the United States in those early years, progressing from mountain ranges to rivers, coastlines and eventually lakes."

Can there be any doubt that the U.S. military feared an invasion from outer space? This is why the debunking began -- to prevent panic: and now the first untruth cannot be untold. Fifteen years later it may still come: they may be taking their time.

After Albert K. Bender, of Bridgeport, Conn., founder of the International Flying Saucer Bureau, had been visited and silenced by three men in September, 1953, he told his colleague Gray Barker (as the latter relates in THEY KNEW TOO MUCH ABOUT FLYING SAUCERS): "Just as the three men who paid me a visit were leaving, one of them lingered for a moment and said, 'In our government we have the smartest men in the country. They can't find a defense for it. How can YOU do anything about it?'"

Does anyone doubt that people have been silenced? The evidence in this book is that both high and low have been suppressed. On page 73 is a quotation from Senator Russell's letter dated Jan. 20, 1956, regarding sightings he was reported personally to have had while visiting Europe in late 1955: "I have discussed this matter with the affected agencies of the government and they are of the opinion that it is not wise to publicize this matter at this time." The Senator was then chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee. On page 155 is a report by an investigator from the APR group of Seattle who visited a police chief on April 4, 1959, in order to receive information he promised by telephone; an Air Force colonel was there first and they waited and were then told by the police chief that he had nothing to say. Troops were moved in from Fort Lewis to interview residents of the area and instruct them not to discuss the crash. In Robert Gribble's words, "The citizens of the Summer-Orting area are silent and scared. They know something is wrong, but they can't put a finger on it. The unlawful suppression of freedom of speech which occurs in cases like this is hard to believe and easy to dismiss as exaggeration when it happens to someone else. Where in the past many APR members were reluctant to believe such stories, they have now experienced such censorship firsthand. The impact of the realization that such things can and do happen in this free country of ours is far from pleasant."

As for those who continue the debunking, Mrs. Lorenzen comments on page 225: ". . . if indeed censorship does exist it is at such high level that we researchers find it impossible to penetrate. Colonel Tacker believed what he wrote - word for word. After all, he was not an investigator or a first-hand expert on UFOs - he was simply the Air Force's number one ad man. He knew what the policy was and he adhered to it; that was his job.

Hoax (Webster): "A deception for mockery or mischief; a deceptive trick or story; a practical joke."

The second meaning fits the facts, but why did Mrs. Lorenzen use this title? Was it fear of the censor?

As this is being written, London news placards announce "Fares Storm Grows," "M.P.s Demand Answers", and it is hard to be patient with the long-suffering public. HERE is what Members of Parliament should be asking about: if our civilization were to understand and use the motive power of the saucers, travel and parking problems would disappear. Wake up, everyone!

There is so much in this book: new sightings, both circumstantial and spectacular; details of various types of craft; a disc only eight inches in diameter; Saturn-shaped discs of medium size; a short-cut cigar-shaped ship at least sixteen hundred feet long; heating and charring effects of ultrasonic vibrations; the Trinidad Island saucer in movement "like the flight of a bat;" the Reverend and Mrs. Lionel Browning comparing the motion of the discs they saw to "flat stones skipping along the water" (Kenneth Arnold described the motion of the nine discs he saw in 1947 over Mount Ranier as like "a saucer skipping across water" -- hence the term flying saucer); sensations of "airlessness" and "pressure" before heavy atmospheric explosions possibly associated with the departure of large spacecraft at high altitudes; publicity in government and press of Brazil; illustrations and detailed analyses obtained by Dr. Fontes of the pure magnesium casing of an exploded disc -- a freedom from impurities not then (1957) obtainable with this metal on earth.

In the early days of this subject, censorship had not acquired its subsequent control, as students will know from various reports already published. Here is another (p.201): "In 1952 a young meteorologist told me that in 1948 at Wright Air Development Center (then Wright-Patterson Air Force Base), when he had stopped off en route to California, a buddy of World War II days had showed him space suits ranging from 3 to about 5½ feet in height and diagrams of a circular ship which bore a strong resemblance to a 'flying saucer'. He said that people who laughed about flying saucers were going to get a big jolt some day -- these suits had been taken off the bodies of men who had apparently perished in the crash of their saucer-shaped ships."

Mrs. Lorenzen justifies her book's title as follows (p.232): "The earth is being observed by intelligent beings from outer space, but information reaching the general public promotes an opposite impression.

A hoax has been perpetrated. We, the people, are the victims of that hoax.

And we, the people, in our eagerness to worship the orthodox and embrace mediocrity, have also served to perpetuate that hoax." (The GREAT FLYING SAUCER HOAX - $4.45, published by the William-Frederick Press, 55 East 86 St., New York 28, N.Y. -- Order from APRO, 4145 East Desert Place, Tuscon, Arizona.)

ELECTRONICS TO FLUSH NESSIE THE MONSTER

By Richard Wald

LONDON (Special-NYHT) -- Two separate expeditions equipped with modern electronic and photographic equipment are descending on Loch Ness to probe for its monster.

Under the leadership of Lt. Col. H. G. (Blondie) Hasler, a wartime Commando leader, 40 volunteers, who will keep day and night watch aboard Col. Hasler's yacht, Jester, began work Sunday.

The volunteers will have binoculars and cameras in encampments on shore as well as on board and they will also deploy two sets of underwater listening equipment, one high frequency and one low frequency, each supplemented with tape recorders.

'SOUND CURTAIN'

At the beginning of July, their efforts will be succeeded by a team led by two Cambridge graduates, Peter Baker and Mark Westwood, who have borrowed special equipment from Norway to "sweep" the 24-mile-long Loch with a curtain of sound that reportedly can detect a frogman swimming underwater at 500 yards.

This second group using three small boats will be supported from the shore by five observation posts outfitted with cameras. They plan a three-week stay.

Both teams are being sponsored by the London Observer, a national Sunday newspaper which has long been fascinated by the monster.

"Nessie", as the monster is sometimes affectionately called, has a redoubtable history.

Although "monster in the Loch" sightings were mainly reported from about 1870, there are references nearly a hundred years earlier than that to something strange in old Loch Ness. Even in the old days, however, there was a certain amount of caution about it all and it was usually pointed out that the sightings start about the beginning of the tourist season.

LITTLE ONES

Since 1933 a modern road has been built alongside the Loch and more and more people have reported seeing something in the water. Usually, these reports are of something moving, something quite large, something with a humped back. There have also been suggestions of little monsters trailing the big one in the Loch.

As The Observer pointed out Sunday, monsterlike objects have been seen by at least one hundred trustworthy witnesses in recent years. Scientists have advanced theories about schools of fish; odd reflections of light in Loch water stained brown by peat; errant seals; and hallucinations.

Backing up their scepticism recently, an Italian journalist claimed that he invented the monster one dull summer weekend in the early 1930's just to fill up space.

But belief persists and at least one reputable zoologist, Richard Tucker, who works at the British Museum and has lectured at Cambridge, is willing to believe there's something up in Scotland not accounted for in fishing philosophy.

POSSIBILITIES

In 1959 he made his own expedition to the shores of the Loch and in a Cambridge lecture early the next year suggested that the monster might be a prehistoric aquatic creature which, like the coelecanth, has unaccountably survived. An Oxford-Cambridge expedition of young zoologists in 1960 figured that it might be a plesiosaur, a long-necked monster looking somewhat like an overblown turtle without a shell.

Their conclusion was: After some weeks of camping by the shore "it might be admitted that the Loch Ness monster remains a mystery. A couple of unexplained sightings, a few interesting echo soundings, the discovery of Shoals of fish, probably char, which had previously evaded detection and the fact that the Loch can support a colony of monsters all indicate that Loch Ness could easily contain some strange and unusual creature."

Whether the expeditions will be universally welcomed is questionable. Last year in the House of Commons a plea was made by Scottish members not to let anyone probe the Loch and perhaps disturb the peaceable beings within. Perhaps also, it was muttered at the time, destroy a beautiful story. (Winnipeg Free Press, June 4, 1962)

Maids on Strike

CLAIM VICAR'S GHOST WINDING OLD CLOCKS

DEDDINGTON, England (Reuters) -- The maids have gone on strike at the vicarage in this Oxfordshire hamlet because they say the place is haunted.

The vicar, Rev. Maurice Frost, died at 73 last Christmas Day.

His old servants have been refusing lately to enter the house, for fear of his ghost.

The vicar's cousin, Campbell Jarrett, who came here from Italy to settle his estate, said noises have been heard in the study and coughs in the drawing room.

Once a "mysterious hand" drew him back into the drawing room, he said.

One of the maids, Mrs. Betty Spencer said she saw the vicar's ghost sitting in his bed, tying his shoe laces.

Mrs. Spencer ran out of the house and hasn't been back since.

"I believe my cousin's ghost has been returning to the vicarage to wind up his antique clocks and look at his favorite books," said Jarrett.

"I have never seen a ghost, but the feeling is always there that someone is in the place all the time." (The London Free Press, Saturday, April 28, 1962, Credit Gene Duplantier, SPACE, SAUCERS & SCIENCE, 125 Woodycrest Ave., Toronto, Canada).

- - - - -

We include the two foregoing articles on "Nessie", and the Vicar's Ghost, for those readers who like other mysteries, as well as those from Space.

We were also encouraged by the following note from Gene Duplantier, the Editor of SPACE, SAUCERS AND SCIENCE, which he sent along with his reports:

Dear Norb:

When I first saw this headline it made me boiling mad. (Relative to the Anti-God decision of the U.S. Supreme Court in the New York Prayer Case).

If the United States does not believe in God, it is doomed! And now I hear that the Federal Government has plans for withholding a person's personal savings account!

And then there is the Alaska Mental Health Plan! Big Brother is sure sneaking up on us, and I hope you give 'em HELL in S.P.A.C.E!

Can't the people be awakened from their Complacency? Continue to clobber the Commies for all they're worth in your publication, and maybe we'll uncover a few more in the saucer business!

Gene Duplantier

- - - - -

Well, Gene, we intend to clobber them. And we could use your help as well. You know Canada has gone pretty far down the Socialist line, and your Doctors up there are fighting for their very freedoms too, just as they are here in the U.S.A.

You said clobber them, so here is a letter which should put rigidity into the weakened spine of many "brainwashed" Americans:

Miami, Florida

June, 1962

Dear Fellow American:

I am one of the Americans who heard Mr. Khrushchev tell our Nation that my grandchildren will grow up in a Communist world. For some time now, this has bothered me. I am not a brave man -- not even a big one. I suppose I would have to admit that I am, among my own neighbors and in my own culture, the typical, average well-educated, genteel suburbanite, to whom family, the mortgage, and security have been the all-important items.... I am now 50, and soon my wife and I will see the first of our three children married. I paint my own house, repair my own car, grub my own devil grass, and nurse a modest savings account at the Bank of America. I am a law-abiding man on the quiet side, and dissension makes me terribly nervous. Frankly, I am the kind who simply doesn't have it in him to fight anyone ever.

My wife had me cleaning out an old trunk in the storage room the other day, and I ran across the huge old family Bible that I hadn't thought about for years. My great-grandmother had kept a journal of the trip across the Great Plains with a wagon and oxen when she and great-grandpa were youngsters coming out to settle in California in the great migration. Great-grandma wrote about it as the wild, new land, rich and abundant in mythical proportions.... On the trail she wrote of sickness and hunger, and heat and cold, and dust and thirst, and the deaths and births like beads strung together on a thread of hope -- hope of freedom and a land of plenty for their children yet unborn. And when she viewed the new land, she wrote in simple word pictures of the cities and farms and schools, and happiness that would some day bloom in the greatness of the vast new land. She wrote of her tomorrow and my today.

The ink was badly faded, but the message was clear. As I read, I began to think about America and being an American and what it all stands for; and I thought about our enemies and what they intend to do to America, to those rich lands and farms, to the cities and the people, to its freedom and its hope.... And suddenly, I realized that I am a sick American. I mean really sick. I am sick of panacea and of backing up. I am sick of reaction where there should be initiative. I am sick of bureaucrats who tell me that my enemy is not really my enemy and that I should live together with murderers and tyrants. I am sick of government that hasn't the guts to clean traitors out of its own offices. And I'm sick of my country being ridiculed all over the world. I am sick of pink-fingered diplomats and lily-livered politicians who place personal career above the fate of the Flag.

I am sick of 40 years of relentless, creeping, cancerous, communistic godlessness that never once has wavered from its avowed purpose of conquering that Flag and seeing it trampled in the mud under Russian boots.

I am sick of my genteel desire to stand pat and pray while the enemy advances... I am sick of educators who teach tolerance of subversion and of clergymen who would have me quail at the spectre of battle and turn my cheek in fear of what our enemies might do.... In all honesty, the thing of which I am most sick is the man who let these things come to me: myself.... And by the living God who made me, Sir, I am a sick American who intends to get well!

Fed-up Citizen

FOREIGN SIGHTINGS SPOTLIGHT GLOBAL INCREASE

May 21 - A strange globe-shaped machine speeding over England was encountered by an Irish International Airlines plane bound for Brussels. Capt. Gordon Pendleton, former Royal Air Force pilot, said he had been a skeptic until the UFO streaked under his four-engine Viscount.

"I could see it quite clearly," he stated. "It was round, with protrusions like antennae. It must have been making about 600 knots. I have never seen anything like it before."

First Officer J. P. Murphy confirmed the captain's description. Pendleton said he had radioed British Airways Control "because the object might be a danger to traffic in the area." The RAF and the Air Ministry are investigating.

May 21-26 - The Argentine Government, on May 24, officially reported a "flying saucer" landing in La Pampa after numerous sightings in five provinces. A government broadcast said the UFO was seen by a rancher and his wife. The woman, who had a closer view, said two robot-like figures emerged from the machine. Noting they were observed, they re-entered and quickly took off. An Argentine Air Force officer said experts confirmed that the ground was scorched in an 18-foot circle.

Hundreds of sightings in Cordoba, La Pampa, La Rioja, Mendoza and San Juan were confirmed by police and the press. Key developments: 1. Six UFO's in "perfect formation" reported over three provinces. The machines flew faster than jets, kept a precise course. One UFO device descended, shone a beam of light on the ground, then swiftly rejoined the group. 2. A study by Argentine scientists of a UFO photo taken near Bahia Blanca. 3. Another reported landing in La Pampa, where a luminous device took off over witnesses' heads. Samples of a wet, grayish substance at the landing point were taken to Puerto Belgrano Naval Base for analysis. (Credit UFO Investigator-NICAP, 1536 Connecticut Ave., Washington 6, D. C.)

(Excerpt from Editorial Column)

DEVELOPMENT OF LONG-RANGE MENTAL TELEPATHY

For centuries man has discussed the possibility of the transmission of thought from one person to another through mental telepathy. And many persons have held that such mental exchanges not only are possible but have been practiced by those who had mastered the secrets of such transmissions.

Now, an American graduate student at Oxford University is immersed in the study of the possibility of long-range extra-sensory perception. The student, Stephen Abrams, believes that intercontinental transmission of thought may be developed some time in the foreseeable future.

He says the Russians have evidence of electro-magnetic waves emanating from the human brain on a wave length of two millimeters. This revelation undoubtedly will come as somewhat of a shock to engineers planning to launch an intercontinental communications satellite. However, we doubt that it will in any way delay the project.

Abram says Soviet scientists are vigorously investigating telepathy, something we in the United States can understand. Unquestionably the Russian scientists, who from time to time come under severe criticism of their Communist bosses in the Kremlin, are doing their best to intercept thoughts concerning them and their future. By intercepting one of Khrushchev's thoughts a scientist might have time to avoid winning an all-expense-paid trip to Siberia. (Credit Gladys Fusaro, Huntington, N.Y.)

Whale's Tapeworm?

SEA YIELDS 45-FOOT MONSTER

OBIHIRO, Japan, June 6 (AP) - Fisherman Yoshiharu Tsuruga, 35, spotted a snake-like monster on the beach today, discarded his bicycle in fright and ran. Then wondering what the creature might be, Mr. Tsuruga cautiously returned.

The newspaper Asahi said the dead monster was more than 45 feet long, had a head about one foot in circumference, but no eyes, nose, or mouth. It has no scales and is gray in color. The monster will be sent to Hokkaido University's Marine Bio. Research Dept. (Cincinnati ENQUIRER, June 7, 1962, Credit Dorothy Lefler, Cincinnati, Ohio)
