SCOOP SNOOPS !!!!

**** Radioactivity was detected in the Japanese harbor of Sasebo on May 6, '68. Immediate cries were heard blaming the nuclear-powered submarine Swordfish --- On May 26, a team of top U.S. nuclear scientists declared that the sub was NOT responsible..... OK -- WHO IS??? **** Speaking of governments -- the French Air Force now feels that an in-depth study on 'saucers' should be undertaken -- and now the Russians are predicting that the first man to land on Mars --- will probably land on a CACTUS PLANT!!! DA! They compared "spectrophotometric analysis" of cactus growing in the cold areas of earth and compared it with the dark areas of Mars. They concluded that these dark areas are covered with a CACTUS-LIKE vegetation. **** AND **** Speaking of MARS and the FRENCH we came up with this appetizer! -- In 1804 a Frenchwoman Anna-Emille-Clara Guzman left a will offering 5,000 pounds (about $14,000 at the present exchange rate) to "The first scientist who will succeed in communicating with a heavenly body -- that is- send a signal to a heavenly body and receive a reply." The planet MARS, however, was EXCLUDED from the offer. The money, which is held in trust by the French Academy of Science, has doubled over the years, i.e., it is now worth about $28,000..... POOR MARS!! VENUS gets 'em all !! BUT- the FRENCH do not give up so easily!!! Witness: "A certain FRENCH artist - a painter- had communicated to the Ouranos people that he was having contacts with a WOMAN from SATURN. This woman used to come to our planet, piloting her own saucer. In one of their several meetings the saturnine - no! - Saturnian lady had given him as a gift a very peculiar SPYGLASS; there was not the slightest possibility that the thing could be mistaken by any similar instrument "made on earth". This optical device was sent by the painter to ouranos whose managers realized that it was made of a SINGLE PIECE OF LAMINATED BYSMUTH -- including the lenses and the ocular. Apparently the bysmuth had been especially treated in such a manner that it became transparent as crystal with all proper curvatures in the proper places. There were NO movable parts such as screws, bolts, rivets etc. This telescopic instrument was so GOOD and so PRECISE that one could read a license plate number on a car placed a ten miles distance. (Isn't that wonderful?) Soon after having delivered that material PROOF of the contacts to the Comission Ouranos in Paris, the painter was visited by three BLACK-CLAD MEN... These men scared the painter almost out of his wits, so much so, indeed, that the poor man decided to move to another town and never -never again wishes to hear anything about flying saucers!"

*** SCCOP WILL GIVE YOU SOURCE ON ABOVE: a 1957 Brazilian publication !!!!! *****

***** DATA ***** DATE-TIME 1957--- " NOTICE -- Maj. Keyhoe, Director NICAP here tells LLP a keen inside story on the OXNARD AFB CASE will be released soon; also that a revolutionary PLAN FOR COOPERATION WITH THE AIR FORCE WILL BE GIVEN OUT. EGAD AND EGAD! " Yesss, that IS a keen story - what ever happened to it??????????

As for the Air Force - well, now, very interesting... 1957 WAS A GOOD YEAR *****

So was '66 - for the now famous Woody Derenberger who met a UFONAUT(Y) on a highway -- and NOW Woody is planning on moving to the planet LANULOS..... (wonder if he will take a U-Haul all the way there, or do 'THEY' supply the moving van? ) SCOOPSAYS: Maybe he can collect the above $28,000 from the French and pay his moving bill!!! If that isn't enough money SCOOP still thinks that the $10,000 reward is still being offered by Phillip Klass....Of course, he will also pay up if a CRASHED SPACECRAFT can be proved to have come from "out there"! SCOOPWONDERS if you can prove that a craft comes from IN THERE if you could get $20,000 ????????. Meanwhile -- back at Cape Kennedy -- ??? NO OFFERS !!!!!

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

In the Letter to the Editor section of this issue you will read where another of our co-researchers has left the scene. And, as it appears to me, under rather unusual circumstances. The first question that will rise to your minds when you read the letter will be: "This must be for publicity!" Perhaps. This is not the first disbanding of a UFO group, and it will not be the last, so why all this fuss? Because in our SCOOP dealings with the gentleman involved, we have always thought him to be a level-headed person with a great amount of intelligence. Not one that would panic easily. Remember, now, I said easily.

In our data section of the June issue we reported that this particular group (which is now disbanding) had learned that a gentleman who had supposedly had seen and was investigating some ufo's - had died mysteriously. Their sources had also informed them that the gentleman had come into contact or had spoken of, three men in black. The group had promised an immediate investigation into the case.

The particular quote that this group gave concerning this man was: "We understand the deceased did not heed their warning and was therefore permently silenced." The next developement as far as SCOOP was concerned was the notification of their disbanding. What ARE we supposed to think? Or - shall I say or rephrase this - What are we SUPPOSED to think?

There are many answers to the above questions. You can think of them as well as I can. But, who would be right? Should we automatically condemn them for publicity seekers? NO. From the tome of their letter they wanted no publicity. They simply wanted OUT. With NO strings attached. Yes, the group was mainly young people, and young people are quite easily impressed OR idealy distressed. Did they owe others money and felt this was the easy way out? NO again. In their letter (which I have on file) they very emphatically make arrangements for the return of subscription money and their financial obligations. This is in print, and I am quite sure that they realize their legal responsibilities.

I have known of grown men giving up their research for many and varied reasons. The LEAST of which was a financial reason. The MOST of which was an inner conviction that they could DO nothing about what they had learned, and felt that rather than to foster any more discussion about the entire subject they would keep quiet.

Do I, personally, feel that this group suddenly stumbled onto the solution of the ufo controversy? NO. I feel that they inadvertantly stumbled onto something of such vast consequence that they could NOT cope with it intellegently. And- in this field - that is not hard to do. So, what should we as the researchers who are left - DO? Absolutely nothing. Give them the benefit of the doubt, until such time as we know more about the facts in the case.

Let us not judge others lest we be judged ourselves. In any case, judgement is NOT up to us. SCOOP will respect their wishes for privacy, and will also respect their reasons. Even if their stated reasons do not make any sense to us. WHY? Because they will have to bear the burden of proof themselves..... It is to be regretted that they had so little faith, faith in their friends who they should have known would stand by... ***

BLAST OFF -- REPORT ON SAUCERS - ENGLAND - May 15, 1968 - ... Amateur astronomers, Roger Stanway, 23, and Tony Pace, 27, have compiled the country's first report on the phenomena of flying saucers. At a Press Conference in Stoke - on-Trent to launch the 60,000 word report, Roger claimed that some people they interviewed had been "terrified" by a 90 ft. saucer hovering over houses...
 Now, the weighty "Flying Saucer Report" spotlighted in Mirrorscope yesterday, is to be sent to the Ministry of Defence, the Home Office, local MPs, the United Nations, United States and Russia --- for action...

SAUCER "NEST" - Brisbane, Australia - April 7, 1968 - Another "Flying Saucer Nest" has been discovered in North Queensland. Children horseriding in a cane field near Cairns found the nest yesterday. It is similar to the nests found in 1966 in a reed swamp near Tully, 200 miles farther south. The Cairns nest is an oval-shaped area of flattened cane, measuring 70ft. by 36 ft., completely enclosed by standing cane. The children who found the spot, Joanne Reid, 13, Nirra Vlasoff, 12, and Douglas Dickens, 12, all of Cairns, said they were sure it was not there when they passed by the same spot on Wednesday...

MICHALAK SAYS "BURNS ARE BACK" - Canada - Seven months ago, a Winipeg man claimed he was burned by a UFO. Today he is in bed under a doctor's care.
 The burn marks have returned. He has a pattern of red welts or burns down his chest and stomach. The pattern is identical to that of the burns he says he received from a "hovering machine" late last May just north of Falcon Lake, Man. He complains of "heat coming from inside." The marks were a bright burgundy color and the third time the marks have returned. The spots show up and grow and grow and finally, they join up. Doctors don't know what is wrong with him. He said sometimes his wrists swell so much they fill the cuffs of his shirt sleeves. When the burns go away, there's no scar left and the skin returns to normal... CREDIT: SS&S - Mr. Gene Duplantier - 17 Shetland Street

PETOSKEY, MICHIGAN - (Week of April 1st.) Special report from the Director of U.F.O.R.G., Mr. Bob Tarte, 720 Dorroll St., Grand Rapids, Michigan ...
Three people in the small western Michigan town were witnesses to a strange spectacle. The trio told of observing a bright, flashing object in the sky for a total of about four hours. The UFO gave off red, green, yellow, blue and purplish lights, repeating this series of lights over and over again.
It was said to resemble a saucer at times, yet, then the next moment appeared to be a sphere-like object. (which could be explained by viewing a disc which changed it's position). Local authorities could not explain the mystery....

LAFAYETTE, LA. April, 5, 1968 - ... An unidentified object hovered over Lafayette early this morning was tentatively identified as a weather balloon by officials ... But a local truck driver for the Southern Pacific Transport Co.
says he heard the object, or objects, emit humming noises and questions this identification. Peter Bardon ... said he first spotted a transparent, circular object in the sky over Jennings about 6 AM... Bardon said that after he stopped his truck engine he heard a noticeable humming sound, similar to that of a die-sal engine... ADVERTISER staffers saw the object over Lafayette shortly before 7 AM.

..... He said that when he first saw it, it appeared as one round ball and hovered over Jennings for about 45 minutes. He said he then watched it apparently separate into two disc-like objects and that these objects then flew off rapidly in a northwesterly direction....CR DIT: Mr. Ronald Calais - Director-window yesterday at 1:15, did a double take, said a few words of disbelief and reached for his already loaded Polaroid Swinger. He produced three clear photos of what appears to be an unidentified flying object or a man's hat... He said the object moved "real" slowly on a horizontal plane, then downward, then in a circle, then leveled off and "then all of a sudden it just shot up."

ELECTROMAGNETIC EFFECTS AND THE CONTACTEE
by BRAD STEIGER

Recently I received a very respectful letter from a young man who seemed to be a keen student of the UFO mystery. His concern in writing was that he wished more information on the electromagnetic effects which Mrs. Whritenour and I suggested could have been responsible for the seamen who disappeared in the Gulf of Mexico, off Sechart, British Columbia, and in various other oceanic areas (see SAGA, JUNE, 1968).

This is what intrigued my correspondent:

"If such undersea 'unidentifieds' have the same characteristics as their aerial counterparts, then perhaps they may be producing the same kind of intense electromagnetic fields. There is a great deal of evidence to indicate that magnetic fields can effect the brain and produce hallucinations, speech changes, and general confusion and disorientation. Not only might such an electromagnetic field make a compass needle go berserk.... such a field might very well befuddle hapless fishermen and sailors into jumping overboard in their mental distress. Might the mysterious disappearances of fishermen and the seamen which we have discussed thus far have been caused by exposure to a powerful electromagnetic field produced by an unidentified submarine object?"

"Our ocean-dwelling cousin, the whale, is a mammal possessed of a highly complex and sophisticated brain. The effects of an electromagnetic field on a whale or a porpoise would undoubtedly be similar to that of such waves on a human brain. On February 1, 1968, 36 whales were washed on the beach at St. Simons Island, Ga. Marine scientists could only speculate that the whales, averaging 1500 pounds, had either been the victims of a leader whale bent on suicide or a leader whale that had suffered a fatal navigational error. Could it have been the same type of 'navigational error' that resulted in the disappearances of the seaman in our case studies and could both whales and men have been the intentional or accidental victims of an electromagnetic field?"

My correspondent wished to emphasize that he was not questioning the validity of our theory, but he sincerely desired to know more about electromagnetic fields and if such mental distress could actually be created in a human being who had the misfortune to enter such a field. In my reply, I hastened to assure the student that our presentation was, at least for the time being, theory and not fact. There is, however, a great deal of evidence which does indicate severe mental disturbance as a result of exposure to strong magnetic fields. Professor Hans Neuberger, Professor of Meteorology at Pennsylvania State University, feels quite strongly that the electromagnetic radiation emanating from television, radio, radar, and a host of other modern electronic gadgetry, may cause malaise. In Prof. Neuberger's opinion, such electromagnetic insults to the human nervous system may be responsible for the general unrest among our entire population. Prof. Neuberger is also willing to pay serious attention to those schizophrenics who claim that they are able to "feel" electromagnetic waves.

Dr. C.E. Ingalls, a Cornell University technologist, is no schizophrenic, but a highly qualified scientist, who says that he can hear electromagnetic waves (radar rays) aimed at the crown of his head directly in his brain without the customary sensory relay of his ears.

If these men, and other scientists like them, are correct, it takes little imagination to envision the terrible effect that a powerful electromagnetic field might have on the human brain. Couple this, perhaps, with the sight of a craft or a totally alien design -- and possibly their alien crews -- and one can easily conceive of a high state of panic seizing the most hardy seaman.

Recently, I have been personally or tangentially involved in cases in which 1.) a young woman spent a year in a mental hospital after she approached a UFO that had touched down in her father's pasture; 2) a young serviceman has continued to hear "beeps" in his head after a low overflight of a UFO directly above him; 3) a law enforcement officer has suffered terrible headaches, increased I-Q, and expanded powers of ESP after a UFO halted his patrol car and its occupants contacted him. As another researcher and I sat with this officer in a motel room hundreds of miles away from my home, I heard him describe every room in my house and correctly identify objects within each room.

In another case in which powers of ESP were incredibly expanded, a veteran of WW II told a fellow researcher how he was walking up an Italian street one night shortly after the Allied occupation, heard a slight buzzing sound above him, and the next thing he knew, he was in northern France. Four months had elapsed, and, as if in compensation for his loss of calendar time, the soldier was given powers of clairvoyance. He lives today, twenty-three years later, in a Midwestern city, more disturbed than elated by his "gift" from unknown donors.

All of these cases seem to fit into the "mental contact" type of case which ufologists have been encountering in great numbers lately. Each of these "contactees" seem imbued with an almost religious fervor to spread the "message" which has been given to them by the occupants of the strange craft. Mrs. Whritenour has discussed this aspect both in her excellent "Psywar" editorials in SCOOP and in a chapter in our forthcoming book, THE ALLENDE LETTERS: NEW UFO BREAKTHROUGH? The more I hear of these messages "entrusted" to these people, the more they all sound alike.

The pattern is always the same:

1.) The contactee sees the UFO on the ground, hovering low overhead, or hears a slight humming sound above him.

2.) A warm ray of "light" emanates from the craft and touches the contactee on the neck, the crown of the head, or the middle of the forehead (Occultists could make much of these three areas !)

3.) The contactee "loses" anywhere from twenty minutes to an hour of his time.

4.) He suffers through several days of restlessness and nights of sleeplessness or dreams fraught with terrible nightmares.

5.) After a period of a week to a month, he begins to tell how the Saucer People have come to save us from ourselves, how we must stop nuclear testing, how we must learn to live in brotherhood.

Additional observations:

1.) The majority of these contactees had absolutely no prior interest in UFOs before their experience. Few had read more than what their daily newspapers might tell them. None, whom I have interviewed, have ever read any "contactee literature" i.e. Adamski, Angelucci, Menger, Fry.

2.) None of these people feel any fear toward the Saucer People. Most of them look forward to a return visit ( and most of them have been promised return visits).

3.) Their friends and family report that the contactee is literally "a different person" since his experience.

4.) While he is being interviewed and questioned, the contactee often seems to be listening to another voice or presence in the room. Often there are pauses in his conversation which last as long as 45 seconds to a minute. After this pause, the answer to a query is given with great lucidity.

5.) Although the contactee seems to be unconcerned about his personal welfare (i.e. how he'll support himself or his family), he is obsessed with the idea that the "message" of the Saucer People must be got out at all costs. This "missionary work" takes top priority in his life.

6.) Allowing for misinterpretation of actions and comments, the contactees seem to be "controlled". An old word for their behavior would be "possessed."

It would seem, then, in each of the cases recently investigated, that some sort of electromagnetic wave has altered the brain pattern of the contactee and made him much more receptive and susceptible to "alien" messages. In addition to being imbued with zealous missionary spirit, the contactee has been blighted by hallucinations, speech changes, general confusion, and disorientation -- all of which seem to be a result of exposure to a strong electromagnetic field.

RAYS !!! BY KURT GLEMSER Director of C A P R O _ Junior Section

The saucers apparently haven't come unprepared. There are cases where rays were emitted from saucers in self-defense -- and for no reason at all. Below are six examples:

In 1943, above the River Agua Fria, near Prescott, Arizona, a military plane was attacked by two brilliant luminous UFOs, one of which used a strong beam or ray that caused the plane to explode and crash and the two parachutes of the pilots to catch on fire and the pilots to be crushed upon falling to earth. During the incident, another UFO appeared and joined the other two, and they disappeared to the South at one time. (Credit: They Live In the Sky)

In June, 1954, the entire village of Kirimukuyu was killed by a UFO ! Several nights before that fatal night, strange lights left Mt. Kenya. During a ceremony, these lights were seen and hovered over the village. The drums suddenly stopped. The objects beamed down bright rays. In the morning, the only survivor, an eleven year old boy, who had been tending sheep and goats outside of the village, found the population burned to death. (Credit: Flying Saucers on the Attack)

On Sept. 10, 1954, a UFO landed on railroad tracks at Quarouble, France. When the witness, a metal worker, investigated he found two small beings in his yard. When he tried to keep them from leaving, a beam was shot at him from the object. He was paralyzed while the beings and the object left. Marks remained on the tracks.

On April 28, 1964, a ten year old girl of Alberquerque, New Mexico was badly burned by a UFO. The UFO burned her by means of a ray. (Credit: Flying Saucers on the Attack)

On April 15, 1965, James Flynn, was on a trip in the Florida Everglades. He observed a large light hovering almost one mile away. He saw a cone-shaped object through his binoculars. With a swamp buggy he covered the distance between himself and the craft on April 16 at 1 am. When he was within a few feet of the craft, a ray of light shot out of it. He was hit on the forehead and immediately lost consciousness. He came around 24 hours later. Flynn was blind in one eye and partially blind in the other.

Flynn was released from the hospital and he took researchers to the site. Evidence -- though not conclusive -- was found. Flynn's vision is still hazy in the right eye, which had been partially blinded. (Credit: Flying Saucers on the Attack)

THE UNIDENTIFIED RADIO SIGNALS
BY KENNETH LARSON

The new radio telescope at Cambridge University in England first recorded a series of unidentified radio emissions that astonished the scientists of the world. The signals that were picked up in August, 1967, appear to come from outside our solar system. The pause between each signal is exactly the same every time --- 1.3372795 seconds. Sir Martin Ryle, head of Cambridge University's Radio Astronomy Department, says the pulses are the most exciting astronomical discovery of all time. The signals are coming from very far away, and some scientists have suggested that the pulses could involve some type of intellegent code. However, experiments being conducted by scientists will show what caused this unusual radiation.

I would like to suggest a theory concerning the nature of these unidentified radio emissions. The period for silence between the radio pulses is 1.3372795 seconds.. During my research, I noticed that this figure could be depicted as 13-37-27-95. The next step would be to multiply 13 x 37, with the result of 481. If the pulses were of a mathematical nature, they could have some relationship to something on the earth and also of a mathematical or engineering nature. One logical choice would be the Great Pyramid of Gizeh. Three separate encyclopedia's list an original height of 481 feet for this structure. Constructed around 2600 B C, the Great Pyramid has unusual designs of an engineering and mathematical nature. In fact, it is the only remaining First Wonder of the ancient Seven Wonders of the World. It is possible that the figure of 1.337 has some relationship to the design of the structure. The balance of this 1.337 is 2795. To my astonishment, I discovered that these particular units appear in pi -- the ratio of the diameter of a circle to the circumference.

Why should these particular figures appear in the radio pulses of 1.3372795 seconds and in the mathematical proportion of pi? How does one explain the fact that the first four digets (1.337) can be changed to 13 x 37 and made to equal the Great Pyramid's height of 481 feet? Also, the Great Pyramid's height (481) and base-side (755 feet) appears to show the aproximate proportion of pi. That is, 1:3.14159 (is to) 481: 755 x 2. If the signals are intellegent, they must come from a civilization familiar with mathematics and engineering and the unusual formula for pi. Scientists have carried this pi expression to at least 10,000 digets. On this basis, any communication between civilizations in space would have to use mathemetics.

The next step involves the apparent logical pattern of 79-79, 32-32 and 38-38, with the center at 26. The reader can discover this pattern in the formula for pi.

3.141592653589 --- 79--32--38--46--26--43--38--32--79--5...

If this is an intellegent design, why should the pattern have a center at 26? The first thing that comes to my mind is that the English alphabet contains 26 letters. At this point, we could examine the unusual period of 1.3372795 seconds. First, 13 x 37 totals 481. Second, 13 x 27 totals 351. This unit of 351 should have some relationship to the English alphabet -- and it does.

A-B-C-D-E-F-G-H-I-J-K-L-M-N-O-P-Q-R-S-T-U-V-W-X-Y-Z- (Totals) 351 !!!

In other words, the pulses appear to have a mathematical relationship to the design of the Great Pyramid and to the design of the English alphabet. There could be another civilization trying to make contact. These radio pulses could be based on simple mathematical formulas (such as pi) and simple languages. However, how could the extra-terrestrial civilization know about the Great Pyramid design and the English alphabet? The only logical conclusion is that the extra-terrestrial civilization has knowledge about the human race -- or developed this simple mathematical and language ability ages before the human race. Upon reaching a certain level of development, the human race could recognize these signals from space and realize that there could be similar solar systems with civilizations.

Spacecraft may have visited the Earth during the past. At some set time, the human race would reach the level of contact with another extra-terrestrial civilization. It is possible that these radio pulses existed for ages until such time as we could develop the astronomical instruments required to recognize the signals. The Great Pyramid could serve as some type of mathematical standard or monument on the Earth.

Some scientists have calculated that the distance from the Great Pyramid to the North Pole equals the distance from the North Pole to the center of the Earth. This figure equals the distance from the center to the Great Pyramid. Where did the designer of the Great Pyramid obtain such knowledge? The Great Pyramid was constructed thousands of yrs. before we discovered this knowledge about the size and shape of the earth. In fact, this unique structure seems to be the building referred to in Isaiah 19:19 and Job 38:47 (KJV).

Dr. Ronald N. Bracewell, director of the Radio Astronomy Institute at Stanford University, said that there could be life in the universe which may try to communicate with us. Some of these civilizations could be far ahead of us and could be sending out signals based on engineering terms and mathematical knowledge.....

.....EXTRA NOTES..... During my research on these new radio signals from space, I received a letter from Dr. Frank Drake, Director, Arecibo Ionospheric Observatory, Puerto Rico. He gave the following table for the new pulses.... P 1 : 1.3373016 seconds - P 2 : 1.2738 seconds - P 3 : 1.25082 seconds. P 4 : 1.1878 seconds. Also, I received a new copy of a booklet, entitled "Detection of the Pulsed Radio Source CP 1919 at 13 CM Wavelength," By A. T. Moffet and R. D. Ekers, Owens Valley Radio Observatory, California Institute of Technology, with additional data... The British Journal called Science Journal recently printed an article by Dr. Kurt Mendelssohn of Oxford University, on recent research at the Great Pyramid. I also wrote to Dr. Mendelssohn. Altogether, four radio pulses have now been discovered and scientists are doing research on these new emissions from space. The possibility exists that they may be of intelligent origin and may add new light on extra-terrestrial civilizations and the UFO phenomena..... #### COUNTER DEFENSES

Airplane kidnapping, Private or Commercial - If in the judgement of pilot or Captain of the aircraft, that the approaching, nearby or pacing UFO (or UFO'S) are hostile or indicate hostile action or activity,

A -- Switch on every light inside and outside of the airplane.

B -- Order all available flashlights or other portable lights in the craft to be illuminated and aimed out of the windows towards the UFO. Aiming at MID-SECTION with the beams in an unwavering, steady grip. Should the UFO become a moving target, aim should be still at the mid-section, but the beams of light should follow the hostile craft. If the hostile craft has a mast or pole protruding from the roof of it's cabin, aim at this mast. If no such mast exists, but the craft is high enough to aim at the bottom or "under-belly", focus the light beams to the "mid-undersection."

The captain, or pilot of any passenger-carrying aircraft who entertains the idea of "aiming his craft's lights at the UFO is wasting his time. His maneuvering would be so clumsy as to cause possible harm or injury to the aircraft passengers.

MILITARY AIRCRAFT -- Indications point to the nose cannon as effective armament, not to puncture the skin of a UFO but "impact" vibrations, or frequency.....

PEDESTRIANS, In the home, Boaters, or others -- The use of a hand lantern, candle, house lights, matches, outdoor "torch" are ineffective in close encounters. Neither are such means a deterrent against the UFO craft nor it's occupants. Only a portable light-beamed device such as a flashlight or other portable lighting devices, are effective against the craft. The light aimed with unwavering steadiness at the vulnerable sections of the UFO. Do NOT aim at the UFO'S "riding lights", which are either white, red, green blue, or any other color, which simply designate the outline of the craft, and either protrude or are recessed in its body outline....

LIGHT BEAM EFFECTIVENESS -- Determining a defense against aircraft of an alien nature, which have flown through our skies and landed on various parts of our world for many years, poses a problem. On the main, the actions, activities and close encounters with not only these craft, but their occupants, has been friendly.. Yet, a certain percentage of these alien craft are unfriendly, as are the occupants. This unfriendliness has been reflected in mental and physical harm to earth beings, animals and property. Plus the further fact that such hostile activities by this minority alien craft have increased greatly within the past 10 years, and are continuing to increase at an accelerated rate. With the United States Air Force or other responsible Government Agency or official, refusing to enlighten the American people to these dangers, we are as "sitting ducks" for the hostile UFO'S and their occupants. This untenable condition for we Americans, is not in keeping with Tradition, or the American Heritage.....

... If the reader considers the foregoing amusing or impossible of materialization, consider the FACT that spies of "unknown origin" and "non-human" characteristics have been, and are still among us. One type of spy is termed the "ANDROID".

An "Android" is defined as an "automaton having the shape and movements of a human being". Many cases and incidents of weird beings or "things" have been headlined over the years. These "things" have been misshapen, hideous or frightening in appearance, having little or no resemblance to human beings. Also have been observed the "little green men", "little men in blue jeans", "average size men and women-like beings" and the seven to nine feet tall people from distant planets"....

The ANDROID, however, is quite different from all the above. His origination and purposes are both a mystery, but his method of operation is not. He poses as an "interviewer" and after his departure, those interviewed then manage to detect something strange about him. His interviews go back many years, while the number of people he interviewed are unknown. His activities - the ANDROID has always been a male - are legend in the reports - from a local small town, to "classified" government reports, and cover Americans from all walks of life....

PHYSICAL CHARACTERISTICS -- HEIGHT - About 6 feet 6 inches tall. WEIGHT - About 225 pounds. APPEARANCE - Broad-shouldered, tapering to a narrow waist, and prominent "belly". HEAD - Large, with angular features to pointed chin. HAIR - Brush haircut with bald spot at "pate" or back of head. EYES - slightly bulging, "cold-fish" like, one appearing to have a cast on it or being "pupil-less". NOSE - Long and thin. MOUTH - slit-like fashion. EARS - Human like, but of undetermined shape. NECK - Short and squat. ARMS AND LEGS - Long and thin. HANDS - Long and thin, with long tapering fingers. VOICE - Flat and monotone. WEARING A PAREL - A "peaked" hat is usual, although they vary. Thin spring coat, of leathery black. Thin sport shirt, worn in the coldest weather open-necked. Black pants of common wool material. Colored socks of no particular style or pattern. Shoes vary from low-cut to above-ankle top, but all have very thick rubber-like soles, sometimes "squooching" when he walks. SITTING - Pant bottoms ride unusually high, revealing on the inside of either crossed leg, an EMERALD GREEN TUBE. This extends from a silver-dollar size bubble to inside the sock top and is about one half inch wide. WRITING - He usually has a clip board upon which are pages which he fills out with characters not recognizable as any writing in America. Rather like the result of a mechanical stylus. ANIMAL RE-ACTIONS - When he first enters a premise, dogs will act unfriendly, but within a short time, the animal will become friendly and stay close by him.

ENTRY METHOD - Most individuals have been interviewed in their homes and either alone or with other members of their family present. A- A telephone call from a woman purporting to be from "missing persons bureau" that their representative will in person within a few days. B- Knock on door or door bell ring, to reveal this being who would "like to use your phone to call police about lost dog... C - Will appear at the door to use 'phone because his car broke down.... SCOPNOTE: The lack of additional space will hamper further discussion on the ANDROID, but other details such as "Theory of Purpose" and what YOU can do if you are approached, are detailed in Mr. Campione's book. SCOPP recommends this book most highly, and urges all researchers to study it's contents more than carefully.

Dear Dr. Cleary-Baker,

I have come across something which should make an amusing and (one day, perhaps) very practical "quotable quote" for the Journal. It occurs on p. 49 of "THE BOOK OF SURVIVAL", by Anthony Greenbank (Wolfe, 1967), in a section dealing with how to handle attack -- attack by burglars, hitchhikers, kidnappers, attacks by Peeping toms (Toms?), drunks, and madmen. and -- attacks by:

"CREATURES from OUTER SPACE (stepping from flying saucer)" And the advice Mr. Greenbank gives is:

advoid rapid forceful movement.

Use no shrill sounds.

Breathe quietly.

Advoid giving a direct menacing gaze.

There is no telling how many innocent recipients of attacks by little green men this may save from death ( or a fate even worse*....) I think that, with events brewing up to a climax next summer, this information deserves as wide a publication as it can be given. Yours (almost) sincerly,

THEIR PURPOSE OF COMING ? BY ANDREW TOMAS
(Re-printed in part from the AUSTRALIAN FLYING SAUCER REVIEW
OFFICE: PO BOX 4796, G.P.O. SYDNEY.....
SCOOP SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE: The Hon. William Moser, J.P.)

..... If we accept the veracity of legends which speak of gods descending upon earth, and assume that they were not gods or angels, but representatives of superior galactic civilizations, we can arrive at some conclusions by means of analogy. What they did in the past, they may still be doing at present.

The ancient Greeks closed their dramas with a "DUES EX MACHINA" (a god from a machine) who set things right by his divine intervention. Was this a tradition from an epoch when sky beings walked amongst men? It is undeniable that down through the centuries of history, space visitors have come as benefactors and civilizars. Thousands of years ago, when the ancestors of Sumerians were primitive, a strange fish-like god emerged out of the Persian Gulf. He had a human head within a fish's head. Was this a space suit? He instructed the savage inhabitants of Messopotamia in agriculture and science. He brought a ready-made culture. Where did it come from?

Within a hundred years from the visitation of this teacher, Cannes, ancient Babylonians began to build cities, develop mathematics and astronomy. If the cosmic origin of this being is rejected, how can we explain this phenomenal acceleration of progress? This theory is backed by an American astrophysicist of first magnitude, Dr. Carl Sagan. Here are some scientific facts to back the supposition that space intelligence planted seeds of culture in Babylon. How could the ancient Babylonians know about the four larger moons of Jupiter? Or refer to phases of Venus, recorded on tablets now kept in the British Museum? Neither the satellites of Jupiter nor the phases of Venus can be seen without a telescope. Babylonians did NOT have one. So how did they find out about something that was not detectable at their time? However, if we accept this idea that certain astronomical knowledge was imparted to early Babylonia by a cosmic visitor, then this mystery could be resolved.

Another celestial being landed in Vera Cruz, Mexico, thousands of years ago. He wore a helmet which looked like a snake's head. His name was Quetzalcoatl, the plumed serpent, the founder of Mexico. History and legend state that he came in a winged ship. On one of the codices he is shown descending from a hole in the heavens. His helmet was probably a space helmet and the winged ship, a space ship, for did he not come from a hole in the heavens? Quetzalcoatl gave the Toltecs the blessings of civilization — medicine, astronomy, agriculture, and so on. The Mayas, successors of the Toltecs, had a calendar which was more accurate astronomically than our own. It was closer to the true astronomical year than our own calendar in this age of science. What was the source of their superior science?

After completing his mission as culture bearer, Quetzalcoatl "stepped into a fire and departed heavenward and his heart became the planet Venus". Maybe this means that he stepped into a space ship with a fiery exhaust, bound for Venus?

There is no contradiction in the belief that a superior race, while collecting scientific data for their home planet may, at the same time, help less advanced humanity. With their culture possibly millions of years older than ours, technological display and moral examples they would dominate and influence Man on any occasion of contact. By copying deeds and accepting data of higher knowledge, humanity would in its eagerness for progress suddenly achieve short-cuts in technological and cultural evolution. When we become mature and, if we should ever tour our cosmic neighborhood and meet a less-advanced civilization, wouldn't we do the same ?

This idea is opposed by a number of other authorities on the grounds that, if space visitors possess such an advanced technology as we believe they do, scientific investigation of our planet could be completed in a few flights. Even with electronic devices like ours in sputniks or high-flying reconnaissance aeroplanes, all relevant data of their interest could be collected in a minimum of time. This school of thought believes that the space craft of today belong to different cosmic civilizations than that examining our Earth hundreds of thousands of years ago.

... Both hypotheses take for granted that the visitor's mentality is the same as ours and that they behave as we would when we visit other planets. Some researchers, however, think that this is most unlikely and that their motives are altogether different. They formulated the so-called World-Crisis Theory. This theory claims that our civilization is slowly drifting towards self-destruction by atomic conflict, because of the stress on power, on selfishness and lack of humanism. According to an eastern philosophy, the thought waves emanate from all thinking beings and form an aura around our planet. The in-harmonious mental radiation of humanity at present has produced an aura of negative values that pollutes the space for astronomical distances.

... Perhaps the curises of space armadas over our planet may well have a bearing on the situation which shall eventually cause them to interfere and prevent disaster. Indeed, as some researchers believe, they may come to save us from ourselves. The presence of space visitors in our skies is one of the greatest challenges mankind has ever had. It is a challenge to our world from an advanced technology and culture, from a superior race or races which, besides great intelligence, may possess equally great kindness and tolerance. Will man understand that he is no longer the centre of the universe and not it's sole master ? Are they here to remind us that "WE ARE NOT ALONE," and that the time is mature for an intercourse between planetary civilizations and fusion of cosmic cultures ?

Whatever the reasons for their coming may be, we have merely hinted at the probabilities of their missions -- in anticipation of facts which would confirm any one, or some of the theories here presented.....

ANALIZES THE THRESHER MYSTERY

"Great events cast shadows ahead"! The Thresher disaster was foreshadowed by a mysterious something still unsolved - the sighting of about 18 alledged 'ICEBERGS' about 350 miles due east of Cape May, N.J. by Navy airmen - in DECEMBER - six months after iceberg season!

Navy personell saw them - and then - saw them not! In my own opinion, they were an alien, extra-terrestrial fleet of camouflaged amphibian SPACECRAFT, appearing as an iceberg when upon the surface. The setting for the enigma enshrouding a U.S. submarine, testing and diving off Massachusetts a year and some months later - was in the making!

Fantastic as it may seem, one of these Ocean Floor based aquatic spacecrafts rammed the Thresher intentionally with devastating and instantly deadly results. The TOTAL short-circuiting of ALL electronic devises on the atomic powered sub, has defied scientific explanation - as well as to explain the swift-ness of the attack upon the Thresher by an alien, out of this world power, leaving no doubt that "They" will not tolerate any detection which could spoil a master plan, not hatched with earthling mentalities, but by such as had come via space to a North Polar region rendezvous, for a conquest, vaguely familiar of H. G. Wells "Wars of the World".

With ONE important difference - the use of the ocean floors. These cover three parts of this planet. Instead of land-based craft, they use aquatic, hard to detect, thus superior-type spacecrafts, which were used to install (for an alien, extra-terrestrial government) advance projects of Underwater Domes upon the ocean floors of the various water masses belonging to this planet. When the Thresher dove into the projected forcefield of a UAO (Underwater Aquatic Object) and into the alien spacecraft of aquatic design, it expanded the molecular structure of the sub, froze the crew into immobility and the doomed sub was on it's way to a dead dive location ..... Invaders, using the Ocean Beds for a Modus Operandus for which we have no counter-offensive methods....

SUMMARY of a N.Y. HERALD TRIBUNE reporter, St. Leroy, as of Dec. 30, '61. to which I have given priority inportance, since with this report we find the KEY that unlocks the Thresher Mystery!!! Leroy asks, and so do I: "What were 18 ICEBERGS doing 350 miles due east of Cap May in December ---- six months after iceberg season?" Four Navy Airman suddenly found their radar screen cluttered with targets. The crew of Navy Air Wing 3 at Brunswick, Me. led by Lt. Chas. Bond, counted 18 blips on the scope. REMEMBER -- Radar picks up metallic objects, icebergs are NOT metallic. Going down to investigate, we saw icebergs, bits and pieces, some of them 300 to 800 feet long. Reporting their finding ..... they conducted a search. A few hours, and a ten mile search of the area....brought no results, NOT A TRACE OF ICE, all of which is mystifying indeed, unless one tackles the subject from an entirely different viewpoint ...

OUR STRANGE ENCOUNTER BY ANGELA L. COTTON (1967)
( Re-printed from S P A C E L I N K = 99 Mayday Gardens, London S.E. 3 )

This incident took place about 9:30 PM, on Wednesday night 20 or 27 July, 1967. Near Blackgang/Niton landslip, Isle of Wight, when it was fine, slightly chilly, but with no wind.

My boyfriend and I drove down to the landslip car park about 9:30 PM. As soon as we stopped the car, I had the feeling that there was someone or something fairly near. Without speaking, John (my boyfriend) and I both looked over to the left hand side of the car park towards the hills that block the sea from view on that side, and we both saw a blue-yellow glow between two of the hills. We wound down the windows of the car and, both speaking at the same time, said, "Can you hear anything?". Although the night was very still, the air seemed to be filled with a vibrating noise; this sound was all around us; but its source was definitely behind the hills where we could see the glow. It was so uncanny that I said to John, "Let's wind the windows up and go!"

We closed the windows and John turned the car and began to drive back along the road, which is really not much more than a wide, very rough lane. We drove about a quarter of the way along this road on our way back to the main highway. Suddenly John doubled over the steering-wheel, clutching his stomach. Then he gripped his right arm on the inside of the elbow-joint. His foot started to slip off the accelerator; his face became white, almost blue. The car began to slow down. John was unable to control it. I told him to put his foot back on the accelerator, and that I would steer it back to the main road, which I did. Once there he felt slightly better, and was able to drive the car to my house.

We both went indoors, and John said that he had felt as if his stomach had been gripped in a vice. He then rolled up his right sleeve. On the inside of the elbow joint was a mark like a bruise, about the size of a penny. There were numerous holes in the bruised area, rather like the punctures made by a B.C.G. test vaccine. The next day he told me that there were similar marks on his stomach. That evening (Thursday) we went down to the Blackgang side of the landslip; and looked across at the spot where we had seen the glow on the previous night. We both noticed that on the side of the hill near that spot was a brown mark, not unlike a furrow, as if the earth had been scooped out of the side of the hill. We left the car at the top of the slip, made our way over to the other side, and climbed round to the mark on the hill. There we found that the mark appeared to have been made by something quite large rubbing against the side of the hill. It seemed as if a large wheel, or something that shape, had been spinning through the air and passed too close to the hill, thereby scooping out a fair amount of earth. The earth around the edges of this furrow was very dry, and the grass around the edges was not charred, but it was brown. It seemed to be exposed to considerable heat, like grass looks when it has been dried by the sun. There were no other marks anywhere. We had often been down both sides of the landslip and we agree that the mark was definitely not there before..... Neither John nor I suffered any 'after effects' and John's 'bruises' had entirely disappeared by the weekend.....
