This issue of "Smear" is a bit different from most, coming as it does yapping at the heels of the last issue. We decided that the only way to find Space for our backlog of cartoons & other such Goodies, was to put out two issues in a row. How else could we give you, for example, the charming tribute to Tim Beckley ("Mr. UFO") on the back page, herein?

So, instead of the usual predominance of gossip and letters, we've included the cream of the "fillers" that have been piling up here at Headquarters.

And, speaking of Headquarters, remember to use our new Florida mailing address above for all communications, including periodicals, etc!

Our next issue probably won't be published until after the glorious forthcoming 21st annual National UFO Conference (NUFOC), scheduled for September 21 & 22 in Cleveland, Ohio. Speakers there will include Gray Barker, the Barf of Clarksburg, W. Va; Ed Biebel, speaking on recent UFO sightings in his home state of Arizona; Pete Mazzola, Director of the Scientific Bureau of Investigation (SBI); a contactee named Madeline Teague, speaking on "The Contactee Syndrome"; Al Manak, giving the results of a 3-year UFOCOM (computer) study of "light source UFOs"; Charles Wilhelm of OUFOIL; Ron Schaffner, speaking on "Sasquatch and Alien Hom- inid Hoaxes", who will debate with Larry Peters of Maryland, a pro-Bigfoot speaker whose topic is "The Truth About the Rome, Ohio Bigfoot Affair".

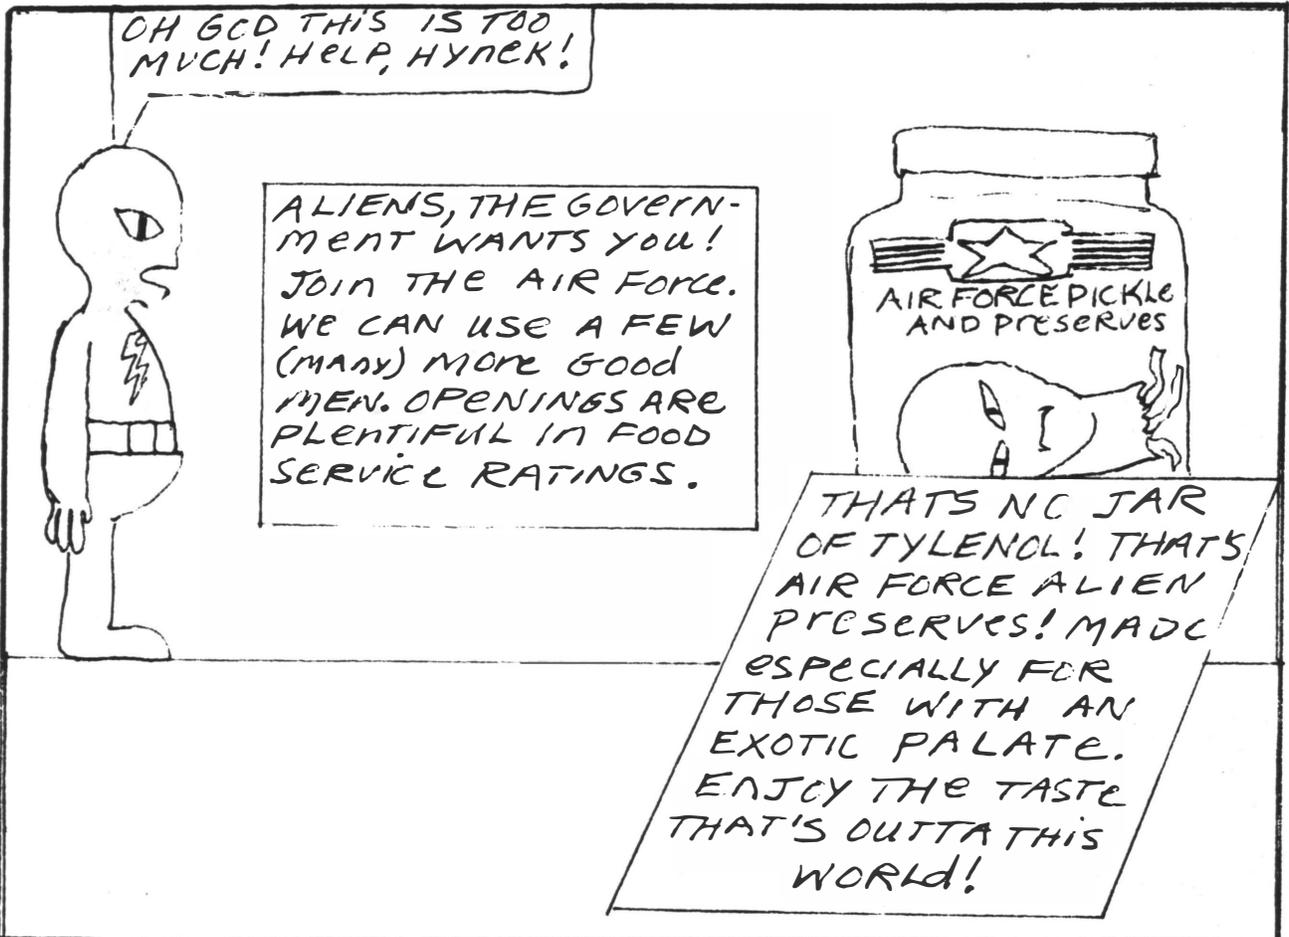

The inimitable John Keel of New York City either will or will not put in an appearance at the convention (We don't know yet!); and last but certainly not least, your humble "Smear" editor will be present throughout the festivities as Master of Ceremonies.

For motel reservations or further information of any kind, write as soon as possible to: Bob Easley, 3001 Colburn Ave., Cleveland, Ohio 44109. His telephone number is 216-741-9388.

Aliens Invade NJ

We thank KRIS BJORK for the following abomination:

NOTICE: RESEARCHERS AT THE CREATION-BIBLE-BELT DEMON REVIVAL INSTITUTE HAVE FOUND THE DEAD BODY OF GEORGE ADAMSKI AND THEY FOUND IT WAS FULL OF BEANS. JUST WHAT THE DOCTOR ORDERED? THEY FLEW IN THE BODY OF MENZEL, OPENED IT UP AND FOUND IT FULL OF BULL.

LETTERS TO YE OLDE EDITOR

GEORGE EARLEY leads off with:

"How convenient of Charles Wilhelm, now that the major participants are no longer living, to 'discover' that Palmer and Arnold faked the June 24, 1947 sighting. Where were Wilhelm's investigative 'talents' when both men were alive?"

And, KEN BEHRENDT writes:

"I have become aware that there is a new mentality arising in ufology which we can use as a barometer of the decline of our field. As the disintegration continues, it seems that there is now a tendency to re-examine various 'classic' cases that are the foundation of the subject, and cast doubts on their authenticity. There is growing distrust of any sort of authority, as demonstrated by the growing interest in government conspiracy theories and the resistance to unifying efforts such as those offered by NAUFOF. Subject advancement seems to have given way to media exploitation and the cult of the bizarre. These are all signs of an area of inquiry that is in deep trouble, for internal problems are always caused by external problems.

"The major external problem we suffer from is the drop off in large scale sightings since the '70's, and I think that even this can be attributed to sinister 'silencer' type activities! Isn't it strange that the drop off in UFO sightings seems to be related to the increase in man-made junk now in orbit about our planet? It is no longer necessary for alien mother ship pilots to bring their leviathan craft into our atmosphere to discharge scout craft to examine the surface for signs of intelligent life; they can now tell at a distance in space, and probably would not want to risk running into an orbital mine to get a closer look; and so we ufologists have less and less case data to work with!

"Besides cleaning up the internal problems that plague our field, maybe our near space could use a good sweeping, too."

Bigfootologist LARRY PETERS writes:

"....Recently I had the opportunity to visit a mid-western state for the purpose of seeing a Big Foot creature in person. I was assured that I would not be disappointed, and I wasn't for a minute!

"I have started advertising and forming a campaign to go out and study these creatures in their natural environment. I need six men who are willing to give up their present life for a minimum of three years, to live in the bush and study them. I am trying to put together a major corporation who are willing to sponsor the trip with funds or equipment, in return for the publicity rights to our discoveries. My adventure will begin in July 1985, giving us enough time to prepare for the stay, and time for me to close out my present business.

"Jim, I am serious about this venture. These creatures are not the same 'Red Eyed' things we saw in Rome, Ohio, or here in Maryland. Their eyes are bright yellow in a flashlight. The ones we saw are at the most seven feet tall, and they are wary of humans, but they stayed in the area until we left.

"Pictures, no, not this time. We decided not to use a flash, because they were so close and all we could use was a low beam flash light which was not adequate for me to pick up their bodies, but I saw them. Each time we shined the light on them, they would hunch down behind the bushes; then when we took the light off them, they would stand back up. This went on for several minutes. There were tracks all over the place, but I got no cast. Next time it will be different and I will be more prepared. The roll of film with the tracks on it was destroyed, and the spooky part is, I had four rolls of film. In my excitement I misplaced two rolls, and the only roll that came out was some eyes in the flashlight, that anybody can say was fireflies!...

"It was a fantastic experience for me, and relieved my mind that perhaps I am not really as crazy as I thought I was getting over this stuff. Of course I realize my craziness is still a matter of opinion, but I am looking forward to meeting you at the Cleveland convention....

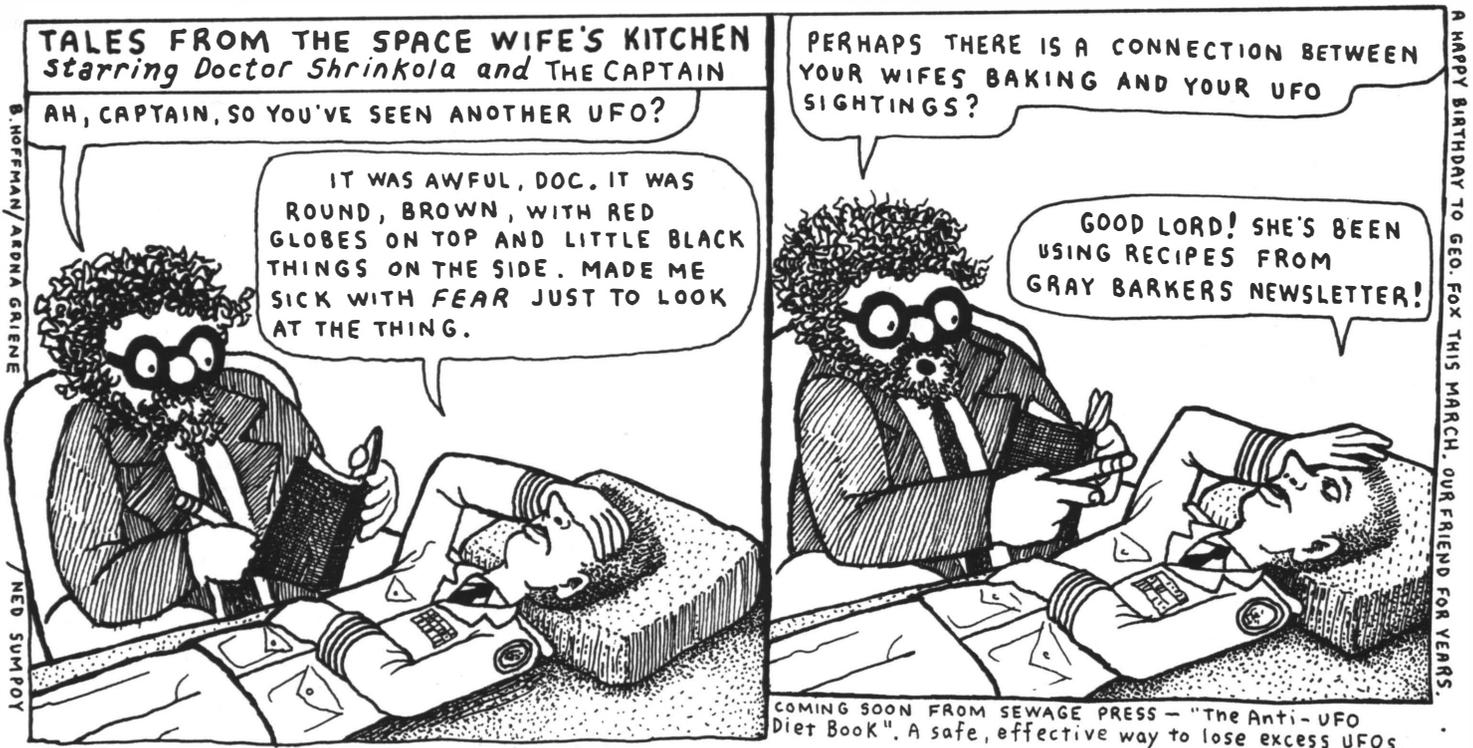

"I am going back to this area some time in August, before the convention, so I hope to have good solid documentation of these animals by that time!..."

To which Bigfootologist ERIK BECKJORD adds (or subtracts):

"Larry Peters writes and wants to raise $400,000 from unnamed corporations so he can investigate, tranquilize and capture several Ohio-area Bigfoots! He is also very upset that 'Omni' Magazine printed a short piece, saying that his old group with McIntyre (MARCEN) has disbanded, whereas he claims it is still alive and kicking. Some day Peters will learn that it isn't what they say, it is whether they spell your name right that counts!

"(On another topic), numerous Ohio ufologists and Bigfooters have been wanting to obtain photos from Ray Wallace's old hoax film, so they can beat a dead dog to death again at your convention. Ditto for the photos of Ivan Marx from his latest deadbeat hoax film. Ho hum. Why give publicity to such dead items anyway?? According to a radio expert in the Midwest, it seems that Wallace is now a media star on radio, and is allowed hours and hours of rappings about Bigfoot. Keep on grinding it out, Ray; it's something to do, I guess!"

It seems there will be a heated Creatures debate at the Cleveland Con., which we are greatly looking forward to! - Editor.

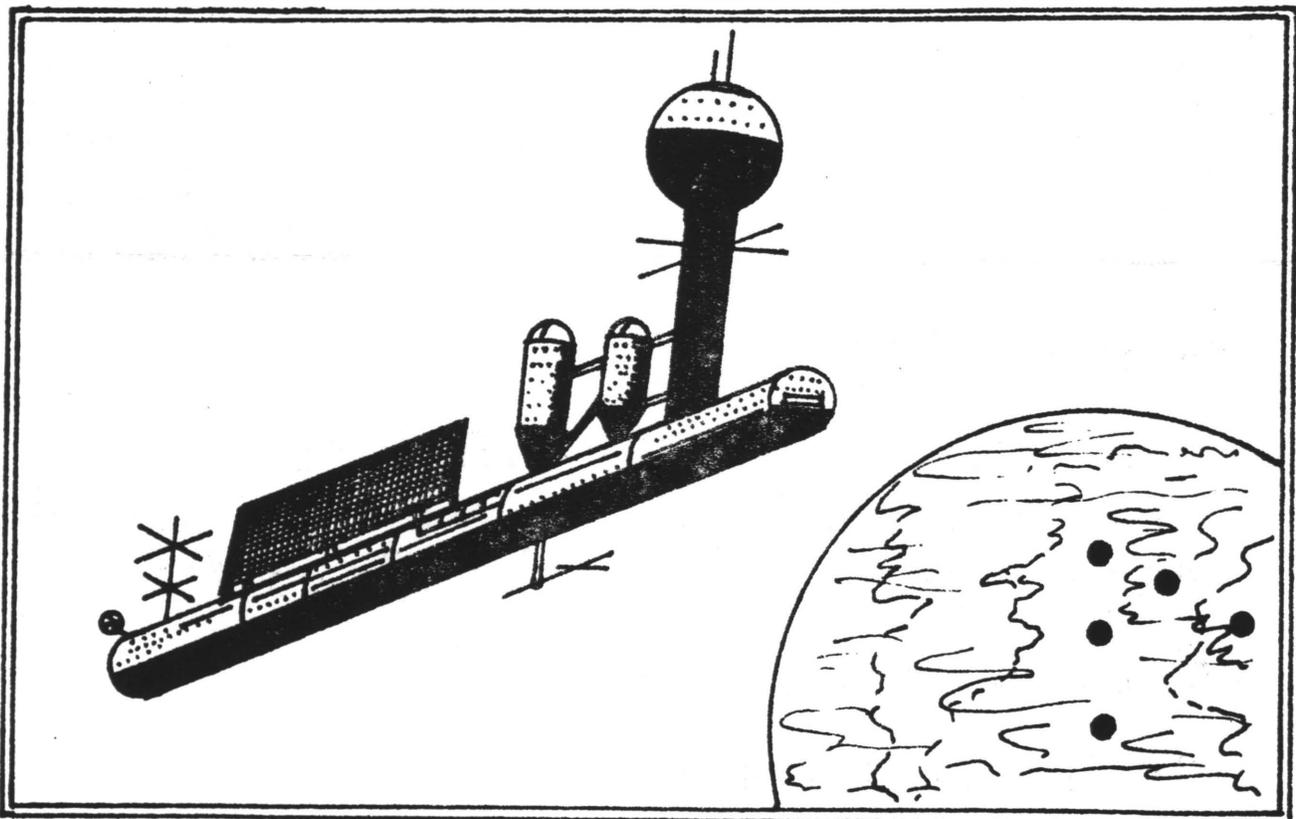

day called "Flying Saucers from Khabarah Khoom". (He now says he just liked the title, and the story came along later to fit it!)

Worse, Eone is pedantic, long-winded, repetitive, and perhaps deliberately confusing - as is Lucchesi in private conversation, when he wants to be. In our opinion, Eone is simply Lucchesi's "alter ego", that of The Master. Eone can pontificate endlessly, since he is a Highly Evolved Being, and we lesser mortals can only read and learn - just as Lucchesi himself, in the book, listens patiently to Eone and learns from him.

Listen, for example, to the definition of Reality, as given by Eone (Page 63): "All reality consists of the discontinuity created as a result of the statistical stress factors caused by permutation within the energy field's primary structure and the dispersion of sub-particulate energy in T-Space. The reality structure on one side of the full wave cycle created by the modulated energy level exists as a measured interval in space-time. The amplitude determines field potential by incremental steps, producing the symmetry of duration. Modifications within the prime point matrix or fabric of the original stable field result as a consequence of the cohesive characteristics of the elementary energy as contributed and produced by stratification in the otherwise diffused grain or structure. This is a result of the patterned distribution of kinetic energy and charge, creating a degree of density using as a transducer the catalyst of collective-mind in a given loci of space time."

Those who want a first-hand look at "Flying Saucers from Khabarah Khoom" can send about $13 to Gray Barker at New Age Books; Box D, Jane Lew, West Virginia 26378. The unique art work just might make it worth the price. (Below is Lucchesi's rendition of "The Sky Island". Most of the illustrations are better than this, though somewhat unconnected with the text.)

DOWNSTOWN—By Tim Downs

'Crime-Fighting' Tale Was Monkey Business

PEKING (UPI) — An award-winning magazine story about a monkey who reported a crime has turned out to be a hoax, a newspaper said Sunday.

The original story about the monkey appeared in 1982 in the "Mystery Pictorial" of Yunnan province in southern China.

The story claimed that a man with a performing monkey was attacked in the countryside when he took his furry friend for a walk. The monkey thereupon stopped a car and reported the crime, and the assailant was captured, according to the magazine article. It did not say how the monkey reported the crime.

The story got wide praise and the author was given an award, but the newspaper Shanghai Wen Wui Bao said Sunday that the tale was a hoax. The newspaper said its investigation found that there were no records about a crime-fighting monkey.

Putty-pecking crows terrorize suburb

Traunstein, West Germany —UPI— Crows, "high" on window putty, are terrorizing a new suburb by smashing window panes with their beaks, city officials say.

A spokesman says builders at the Axdorferfeld subdivision near Traunstein, Bavaria, have inundated local authorities with phone calls complaining of damage caused by the crows.

The spokesman says the birds raid nearly completed homes early in the morning, gorge themselves on window putty pecked from newly installed panes, then go on window-smashing rampages.

According to experts, the putty contains chemicals make the birds hyperactive and aggressive. The crows most likely see their own reflections in the window panes and attack them in a chemical-induced fury.

Hunters now will be called in to kill the crows, which evidently have become hooked on the putty.
