FROM OUR READERS

Mr. Pence's article, "The Mobius Strip: A Possible Solution to the Polar Openings" may have possibilities that you have not recognized. I refer to the recent work done by Physicist Richard L. Davis at Sahdi Corp in Albuquerque. This scientist has recently solved a problem, only to come up with another enigma. In an attempt to lower the inductance created by the passage of a high power pulse of electricity thru the involved circuitry of modern electronic equipment, due to pulse swirl etc., this man experimented with joining mathematics and electronics. He created a strip of non conducting plastic which was coated on each side with metal foil, attaching a wire to either side of the strip he next joined it in the form of a Mobius Strip, which incidently was named for its discover the German Mathematician, August Mobius who lived 1790 to 1868.

When electrical pulses were passed thru this circuit they divided, flowed in both directions thru the foil and passed thru each other twice. The inductance was as low as Davis had hoped it would be but how a divided pulse of current can pass thru itself twice without retarding the electronic flow or why it divides and why it passes thru its self has presented a problem to the world of physics which physicists are unable to answer.

I would suggest to you that the answer to other dimensions lays within the twisting distortion of a Mobius like Time Here and Time There combined with the same type of a Real Here and Real There, just as the polar openings may be a type of Mobius Bottle creation. For references to this, I suggest you look at page 69 of the George Gamow book "One, Two, Three, Infinity" which has an illustration of this type of an object, for references to Mr. Davis's experiment see page 49 of the Sept. 25th 1964, Time Magazine.

If you understand, I wish you would let us all in on the answer.
John J. Robinson - Assistant Editor, Jersey City, New Jersey.

There was a vast civilization who were in contact with space people who lived on this earth for thousands of years.

The books of this culture are still lying about, ignored by saucer researchers as stones.

These books are extremely attractive, covered with pictures inside and out, easily read by anyone with a magnifying glass...yet when I tell them about this, no one looks.

This not looking is the mental conditioning of ignorance. It is not a natural product, we didn't get that way all by ourselves. That is, we have been for many thousands of years mentally sabotaged by a subterranean race of idiots who work the ancient machines in the caverns for no other purpose then to keep us from discovering them. This conditioning of utter blindness and unseeing non-thinking is one of the presents they have given us. We are like hypnotized people who listen to one voice and obey, unconsciously, but it keeps us from doing and thinking anything that will do us any good.

I will furnish for your magazine the things I have learned about Space, Past Races, and the means and methods of optics used by them. Also their optics was called magic and the word has come down to us with its essential meaning intact "magnification science".

Please withhold my address for the time being but please tell your readers they can reach me through you. Richard S. Shaver. (EDITOR'S NOTE: We are honored that Mr. Shaver has agreed to write for our publication. His experiences and information will be a great asset for those who are interesting in exploring this topic further. If any of you have any questions which you would like Mr. Shaver to answer I am certain that he will be happy to answer them through out publication.)

You have finally come out with a publication that many have been asking for...William RegiaI, Newton, Idaho.

WEIRD VISITATION

The Missoulian-Sentinel learned Friday July 24, 1964 that a Missoula, Montana area couple has been visited several times since April by what the wife described as a "ship definitely not of this world." Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lund, who live on the side of a mountain in the east Rattlesnake, said the object has landed within a few hundred feet of their house and has aimed a powerful light beam through their windows "in an apparent attempt to see what we look like." The young grandson of the Lunds told them he has talked with a man who apparently came from the craft. Mrs. Lund said she saw the "ship" early last April but has been hesitant about mentioning it to anyone. She hadn't told her husband until one night the craft appeared when he was home. The Lunds described the object as a large "top-shaped ship with a row of lights around its circumference." The lights give off a "fluorescent type" of light and can be controlled from very bright to dim. One evening, as the Lunds were watching the ship, an airplane approached the area and the strange craft's light immediately went out. As the airplane passed, the row of lights went back on according to Mrs. Lund. A strong beam of light projected from the ship late one night as Mrs. Lund and her daughter, Mrs. Connie Savage slept in the front of the house. They both awakened to see the beam of light, about three inches in diameter, pointing at their feet at the end of the bed. They both rose, and according to Mrs. Lund, the light followed them around the room.

Mrs. Lund thinks the occupants of the craft were trying to see what human life looks like. She said each time the rim of lights on the craft were at full brightness, "it looked like daylight up here, even though it was the middle of the night." Before the April appearance of the object, the Lund's place was constantly visited by wild game, including deer and bear. Mrs. Lund said since that time, no animals have been seen in the area. She reported each appearance of the craft "scared the dogs and spooked the horses." The dogs rushed to get into the house and the horses stampeded to the far side of the property, she said. Mr. and Mrs. Lund said the ship makes no "real sound," but rather gives the impression of a noise. Mrs. Lund said it's more like the "cessation of normal sound--almost like it's making a very loud noise which blocks out all other sounds, but still doesn't seem to be making a noise itself." In addition to the lights around the rim of the object, Mr. Lund said a large diameter light "emits from the slightly rounded bottom surface" of the ship. In addition to the strange reaction of the animals, the Lund's have another indication of the presence of the object. Each time the ship is in the area, the oil furnace in the house "lights itself," according to Mrs. Lund. She said she checks the furnace if she thinks the object may be near.

Mrs. Savage's son, 3½-year-old Kyle, has told his mother and his grandparents of a man with whom he talks in the barn. He has told them the man's name, but Mrs. Lund said it's almost unpronounceable. The child has "disappeared for several hours at a time and then suddenly shows up from nowhere," Mrs. Lund said. He claims he has been talking with the man but won't take her to him because "We don't want you--and that man doesn't like you." Each time the boy has gone to "see the man," the dogs have run into the house and the oil furnace has lighted, according to Mrs. Lund. Mrs. Lund said the object has not stayed near their property constantly for the three month period. It has gone away several times, each absence coinciding with the reports of similar objects in Helena, Polson and Idaho. Mrs. Lund said it left one night about three weeks ago as she and her daughter watched. They reported the ship "joined four others and all moved east together." Mrs. Lund is convinced the ship is "not of this world." She and her husband think the occupants of the ship are probably friendly and we have "nothing to be frightened of," although Mrs. Lund quickly confessed her fright when the light was aimed into her bedroom.

Other odd situations accompany the presence of the object. Mrs. Lund and her neighbors reported television reception on channel 7, Butte TV transmitter, "completely disrupted" when the ship is near. The channel 7 antenna is near the Lund house. Mrs. Lund also said various personal articles have strangely disappeared for a short time, then, just as suddenly, reappeared. Mrs. Savage's sunglasses and several personal articles of clothing have "just vanished, then shown up again in a different place." In other UFO developments, Dr. Reuben Diettert and his wife, who have seen a distant object for the past several nights, said their son, Dr. Gerald Diettert, a local physician, observed the UFO through a powerful telescope. He described the object as pentagon shaped (five-sided) with orange-red and green lights on four of the five corners and one in the middle. Source; Missoulian-Sentinel, Missoula, Montana. Mr. Beckley has asked me to write more often for his fine publication so I have decided with Mr. Beckley's fine advice to write several more articles on the Mobius Strip and material which I have received from Dr. W.D. Chesney on Spiritualism. I will have many different approaches to the subject but hope that you will find them all interesting.

I am therefor presenting my material with documented evidence from a collection of Dr. W.D. Chesney's material and also my own thoughts that I will try to back up with the Bible, Shaver, Palmer and others. After studying all the material on Spiritualism, Shaver etc I have found that all these subjects are RELATED AND THAT WITHOUT THE ONE YOU CANNOT HAVE THE OTHER!

MORE ON THE MOBIUS STRIP AND THE POLAR OPENINGS

By: Victor Pence

In my first article concerning the mystery of the polar openings and a possible solution to how they may exist without having been found I gave you some idea of how this theory may indeed work. In this article I will add to that which has already been written on the subject by me.

In the November 1964 issue of SEARCH MAGAZINE there appears a letter about the article entitled "Two Sides of a Coin" written by Brinsley Le Poer Trench, active I.N.S. advisory board member. While reading this letter I thought of the following ideas and how they might fit in with my theory.

From this letter in SEARCH we quote the following: "Now, if we read Mr. Le Poer Trench correctly, what he wants us to consider is the possibility of an 'alternate universe' in which things are perhaps the reverse of what they are here - like a reflection in a mirror - as a source of the flying saucers; and that left-handed people may represent that other world, they having somehow been born into the wrong universe or on the wrong side."

Taking the above into consideration we find that it will fit in with my theory which has been advanced in the previous issue of THE SEARCHLIGHT.

In the book "One, Two, Three, Infinity" Dr. Gamow says in his chapter on the Mobius Strip that if a glove manufacturer made left-handed gloves then shipped one half of the gloves around the universe they would come back right-handed (this assuming the universe is curved).

If there is a "Mobius Strip" around the earth then it may be very possible that the idea expressed by Trench is true and if Dr. Gamow is correct they would be opposite us in every way - then we would not have to ship the gloves around the universe; we could just send them to the other side and back and save money that way.

In the June 1955 edition of MYSTIC (now SEARCH) on pages 116 - 119, Palmer talks about an article which appeared in the U.S. News & World Report for Sept. 24, 1945 (page 42) in which Churchill is talking to Wiley. We quote from MYSTIC "...there is really no death. I told him (Churchill) a new planet has been discovered so close to the earth that life must exist there. According to this report, it is only 800 miles rather than millions of light years away." Churchill then replied, "When I go, I'd like to go more than 800 miles away."

Palmer talks of the planets being only 600, 800 and 1,000 miles above the earth. Many people will say that it is impossible for planets to exist this close to the earth because of the gravity of our planet. This may be true if we think of this world in our "dimension". But if you take these planets, "run" them around the Mobius Strip they could very well exist in our "dimension" and may even be able to exist in the same place at the same time with our earth.

Many people seem to believe that the caves which Shaver claims to have visited are not of this world. I read in one of the first few books of THE HIDDEN WORLD series that Shaver's caves are NOT of this earth but exist so close to us that we can enter them but it is only because of this Mobius Strip which I have written about.

There may be other ways to get into the Mobius Strip besides the poles but I shall discuss these possibilities in some future article.

If there are people living on this Mobius Strip then it is possible that they are different or opposite to us. According to Dr. Gamow everything would be changed to the other side of the body.

Because we have been able to make a Mobius Strip in a three dimensional world we do not know what would happen in a fourth dimension in which a true Mobius Strip would exist. In this fourth dimension it may be that nothing will happen to anyone who goes into this other side. Maybe someday we will be able to find out what it is like on the other side and if it is true that some of us go to one of these planets when we die then this may be the only way we can get there.

DID YOU KNOW

- From the Private Files of Charles Marcoux -

A friend of mine, whose parents were cattle ranchers and who himself is a mining engineer, told me that before Roosevelt Dam was built, that his parents ran cattle in the Superstition Mts., from the Roosevelt Dam area to the Northwest end of the Superstition range. Many times during roundups, the little men, as they called them, could be seen on the tops of the ridges and mountains of the superstition range watching them. Not one of the cowboys bothered them and only silently observed them as they went on with their work saying nothing.

About 18 years ago, a teen age boy working with a rancher on roundup was somehow lost from the rest of the crew and wondered about the area for several days without water or food, he semi-passed out and faintly he was aware of several little men around him giving him help and directions. They led him out of the mountains where he finally made it to Globe, Arizona which is a distance of about 50 miles from where he was lost. They did not give him food or water, but somehow he had strength, he could not plainly make the people out and thus he was not sure whether they were ghosts or the real things, he did talk to them and they to him. This story was told to me by the boy's mother, it did make front page news, and the story is well known in the Globe area.

Nightly for many months residents of Arizona along fault lines have observed many strange balls of light, mostly blueish-green and white. Some call them fireballs but they are not small and appear to fall right to the earth where they disappear. From a friend in California I have been told that in the past few months many nightly and daily occurrences of these objects have been noticed. This is right on the fault lines and generally the people don't talk about them as they are frightened that there may be earthquakes along the old fault lines and that they may sink into the ocean.

Regarding the recent saucer landing at Socorro we must remember that this is near Magellena, which is said to be near the legendary location of Cibola, the seven golden cities and the fountain of youth which may exist just across the boarder in old Mexico. Kit Carson, made a point to elebrate on the subject, in a manner as to leave his listeners with no mistaken impression that these places actually existed. The word "Socorro" may mean "help find the gold" for Soco means help in French and the spanish word for gold is erro or orro.

UFO WITNESS GROWS TALLER - 10 year old Sharon Stull has grown  $5\frac{1}{2}$  inches and gained 25 pounds in a month. This astonishing rate of growth came after the youngster observed for approximately 10 minutes a flying saucer back on April 28. At the time of the sighting Sharon was treated for eye and facial burns. The youth began to complain that her eyes burned after she spent 10 minutes watching the UFO from the Lowell School grounds. Today not only has she grown but her mother says that the young girl's personality and habits have also changed during her recent growth.

There is a superior instrument being used by the Air Force for detecting the UFO's day or night. It goes under the name Tenescope. Here is something for us to investigate.

A flash in the sky-described as large and extremely bright-was reported on both sides of the Lake Michigan area on November 7th. Three airplane pilots were reported in Grand Rapids to have said there was an extremely bright flash in the sky over Lake Michigan near Chicago at 12:41 a.m. The Cost Guard in Chicago received a report of a flash near Benton Harbor Michigan.

From our friends in Japan the Cosmic Brotherhood Association we have received word of a most amazing saucer incident in Russia. In the summer of 1962 a large flying saucer appeared at an altitude of 20,000 meters over a hillside base near Rybinsky which is near Moscow. Missiles were fired at the object but they exploded on their way. Moreover the second round of missiles also failed. Military bases in Russia have been watched constantly by the saucers.

An east coast contactee recently stated on TV that more landings were expected in the very near future as a sign that flying saucers are real.
