DO TODAY'S SCIENTISTS CONFIRM CANCER CURE GIVEN IN A 1957 CONTACT STORY?

By: Glen White

In 1957 a book appeared in Sao Paulo Brazil called CONTACT COM OS DISCOS VOADORES by Dino Kraspedon. The book was later published in 1959 by Neville Spearman Ltd., under the title MY CONTACT WITH FLYING SAUCERS. The book consists of Dino Kraspedon's conversations with the captain of a flying saucer. The spaceman's purpose was to give Dino information unknown to scientists at the time - information so advanced that this would be evidence that Dino had actually contacted a superior intelligence.

I decided to put Mr. Kraspedon to a test by having some of his information checked on by government scientists. For example, on page 168 the spaceman told Kraspedon of anticancerous elements contained in the liver and that a cure for cancer would be to take an extract of liver with enzymes, since these elements cause cancer to recede.

Was the idea ridiculous? Had it been tried by scientists? I wrote a letter on May 11 to the director of the National Institutes of Health and told him about Kraspedon and the spaceman's cure for cancer. In reply I received a letter dated July 2 from James Kieley, Information Officer, National Cancer Institute, which said:

Thank you for your letter of May 11, which you addressed to the Dir. of the National Institutes of Health and in which you discussed Mr. Dino Kraspedon's theory about the nature and treatment of cancer.

Since we are not familiar with Mr. Kraspedon's book, we can offer you no opinion about it. However, we appreciate your information and are making it available to our professional staff.

The enclosed material deals with several aspects of cancer research and control. We trust you will find it interesting and informative.

Note that Mr. Kieley made available to scientists Kraspedon's information for study. The ideas in this book were not ridiculed nor were we told that they have been tried and failed. Consequently, it appeared Mr. Kraspedon had actually presented something new and unknown; and time would tell whether he was right.

If he was right, this would be important concrete evidence in support of a contactee's story.

Recently scientists have come up with evidence indicating that Dino Kraspedon was right. I refer you to the June 29 issue of "The Seattle Daily Times" which carried a UPI news dispatch from New York

LIVER MAY PRODUCE ANTICANCER AIDE

The ultimate single cause of cancer may prove to be a deficiency in an anticancer substance produced by the liver, the annual meeting of the American Medical Association was told.

This was the report of one team of cancer investigators. Another team reported it was possible for tiny amounts of cancer causing chemicals to ride piggyback on common human viruses into the interior of body cells, thus giving cancers their start.

A deficiency in the liver-producing anticancer substance could be either hereditary or acquired, said the investigators. Dr. Peter Herbut, Theodore Tsaltas and William Kraemer of the Jefferson Medical College, Pa.

The three were believed to be the first to turn up evidence that such a substance is elaborated by the normal human liver. Their work began with the established fact that guinea-pig blood contains a powerful substance which protects them for a number of transplanted experimental cancers. They traced this substance to its origin in the guinea-pig liver.

Now compare what scientists have recently learned with what the spaceman told Dino Kraspedon (see Pg. 168): "Millions of individuals die of cancer, whereas schools teach children the colours of national flags, offending the innate gregarious instinct of man which intuitively abhors the artificial barriers which economic power has erected in the world. Rather than dwell upon the word 'China,' they should learn more about caesium; instead of France, Brazil, U.S.A., U.S.S.R. they should learn more about the functions of nitrogen, phosphorus, sulphur and iron, teaching them that these elements, among others, produce proteins, and that they, in turn, linked to caesium molecules,

ANOTHER ROUND WITH THE MIB

BY: R. G. - New York

Shortly before the Colorado UFO flap, and almost immediately after the Alamosa incident (Snippy the race horse's death theoretically by a UFO) there were several strange incidents right in Las Vegas, New Mexico.

During the weekend of September 17, 1967, at 8:13 p.m. that same evening, there appeared in the Western direction an UFO with the same magnitude as Venus at full intensity. The UFO moved from West and traversed in direction to the North-east moving approximately 3-5 degrees velocity/second. The color of the object was an intense electric blue. There seemed to be a fuzzy 'haze' around the immediate exterior. Although the intensity of the light made it hard to determine the actual shape of the object, it was determined to be disc shaped. One added note of concern: the object cast a bright reflection on shiny objects on the ground, as well as on the thin layer of clouds overhead. Later that evening (although probably coincidentally) there was a strong odor of burnt plastic along with the stench of iron-sulfide.

On the Wednesday following there occurred a more controversial sighting made by close to 100 fellow classmen as well as a few townspeople. At approximately 10:30 a formation of dim lighted objects passed from Northeast to West of Las Vegas. The speed of the objects surpassed the speed of any migrating fowl in the area. They were geometrically circular with no visible deviations. The approximate height was between 2550 and 4500 feet above the elevation of Las Vegas. The objects were visible at times below the lowest cloud layer, and beyond visibility when above the clouds. The cloud elevations were obtained from weather reports. There is little aircraft activity in the immediate vicinity of Las Vegas.

A controversy was caused by threats to me and a fellow number of students. The day immediately after this sighting I received a phone call from a friend who said that his life had been threatened if he so much as magnified the incident to higher authorities. He said I should refrain from doing the same. I did, for awhile anyway.

A few weeks later, the exact date I don't remember, I was out riding with one of the two detectives or night police. We drove up into the mountains near Gallinas canyon for a view of the town. A light appeared in the sky. At first it didn't seem different from any aircraft. Then it moved erratically and reversed direction without circular deviation of known aircraft. It declined to the Eastern horizon near an old water tower, about five miles from us.

We decided to take a chance and raced full speed in that direction. By the time we arrived there was a series of small brush fires near the tower. After extinguishing these we searched the area for the culprit. There was a deserted ranch house nearby, with a wooden fence. On the other side of the fence was a sharp decline into another canyon. Upon reaching this fence we stopped to obtain our direction and radio in a report. Just as suddenly as you blink an eye it became terribly hot. The area immediately before us in the decline became blood red. At that moment an object about 50 to 75 feet in diameter shot straight up into the sky at fantastic speed. The object was blood red. After an intense over-all search of the area we radioed in for official help.

The rest I cannot disclose because the investigation was kept official and gradually got into the hands of the Air Force. I tried to sleep it all off and forget it but later events almost caused me complete mental and physical breakdown. Not many will believe the rest of what I have to say, but it doesn't matter.

Two days after the sighting I received a phone call and a mild threat. I was told that I should keep all the information of the sighting to myself and forget the whole affair. The next day a stranger met me in the street on my way into town. He knew about everything of the sighting and even added information that confirmed some of my own research on Atlantology.

About the sighting he made an open threat to keep my mouth quiet. I retorted that not many would believe me anyway. I made no mention of the cop who was with me at the time of the sighting but I thought of him. As though the stranger read my mind he immediately confirmed the cop's name and added that he had been warned. For what I later learned the cop lost his job and was later divorced by his wife. I will not disclose his name at the present time, without his permission. If I keep the rest of the story to myself it will result in a complete breakdown.

Two days after the encounter with the stranger in a Las Vegas street, I was again walking downtown along the road. A black car came speeding in my direction. It veered over and almost hit me. I reported it to the nearest cop. He passed it off as a reckless driver, jumping the stop light. I was too angered and shaken to forget that car. The windows were not clear glass but tinted a smoky color, making it impossible to see the occupants. The rear license plate did not register any state. It showed nothing but three exes (XXX). I might have passed this off as a form of Diplomatic or Government car if it hadn't been for those tinted windows. (Cont. on Pg. 2)

ALIEN MOTIVES

EDITORS NOTE: Allen Greenfield has been a frequent contributor to SEARCHLIGHT. In the past he has written on topics of great importance. However Mr. Greenfield's expertise can probably be linked to the ALTERNATE REALITY theory for the origin of the UFOs. For those interested in doing research along these lines Mr. Greenfield edits and publishes a monthly newsletter called the ALTERNATE HORIZONS NEWSLETTER. "Why are they here?"...The question has been asked in just that way so often that the words have actually become trite. Nevertheless the motive or motives behind saucer operations is one of the basic problems that remain unanswered.

A clue or perhaps a full answer may be found if we go under the following premise: Whereas the history of UFOs has been observed to be interrelated with the history of mankind and whereas there are indications that UFOs have had a bearing on the history of mankind, THE MOTIVATIONS OF THE UFO OPERATORS MAY AT LEAST BE PARTIALLY DEDUCED FROM HUMAN HISTORY.

Before we go on we wish to acknowledge immediately that we are not in any way attempting to assert that the UFO-nauts have been the sole source of the ups and downs of human history, but rather that they may have been one of the contributing factors. For example, if we come upon an era of human history where status is known to have been generally poor, we can conclude that this was perhaps an era where the "anti-human" element among the UFO-nauts was on the ascendant, while the converse would indicate an era of "pro-human" influence.

That there are pro-human and anti-human groups in the first place has been discussed by the present writer elsewhere. We are here not trying to determine THAT THERE ARE such groups, but rather, under the assumption of their existence, what they are after.

By general consent the worst era of historical times for mankind was the period known as the Middle Ages. What were the characteristics of this era? There was widespread ignorance, religious fanaticism, feudal government, plague and assorted misert. And one other thing: Magic. Lots of magic: witchery, werewolves and goblins are as much a part of the medieval period as the Crusaders and the knights in not-so-shining armour.

So we see that the medieval period was dominated by misery and magic. This is not to say that all was bleak during this era. Indeed, the human spirit is such that evil conditions sometimes bring out the best in man and this was as true in some instances during this period as it has been throughout history. But the muck and the filth; the bizarre beasts and thoughts are undeniable.

Above we noted that in eras of human misery one can point to the dominance of the anti-human elements among the CUTSIDERS (or Aliens). And magic. Elsewhere we have discussed the possibility that what we, in our own world consider to be myth (or magic) may in fact constitute the equivalent of physical laws in ALTERNATE WORLDS thus making levitation there no more unnatural than gravity is here. If this sounds unlikely at best to you, remember the now vogueish "orthodox scientific" concept of anti-matter. This is rather unsophisticated when compared to what we are saying, but it at least shows that the laws that operate here don't necessarily work everywhere.

Which brings us, finally, to the crux of the matter. If the misery of the times betrays the "control" to be in the hands of the anti-humans, what does the magic show? Here it is: IF MAGIC CONSTITUTES THE NATURAL LAW OF THE ANTI-HUMANS' WORLDS, AND OUR WORLD WAS PREVADED BY MAGIC WHILE THEY WERE IN "CONTROL" OF IT, THEN PERHAPS THEY WERE TRYING TO WARP OUR ENTIRE WORLD INTO THEIR OWN!

Whether their reasons are to make us into "cattle" for their own use or something else, the concept in itself is staggering.

But the most staggering thing of all is that it makes sense.

Toward the end of October, while having a cup of coffee at my favorite cafe, and discussing politics with a few Fraternity fellows, a shot broke the monotony of the smoke-filled room. The bullet came through the front window and slammed into the wall about an inch above my head. Had I not just bent over to sip my coffee -- ! I still get nervous twitches thinking of it. But this didn't satisfy the strangers a streak of bad luck and freak accidents terminated the faith of my best friends. After being bed-ridden for 2 weeks with pneumonia and failing in my studies I began to take the hint. I've lost all hopes of returning to New Mexico Highlands University. Here I am back home and unemployed, and classified 1-A.

CANCER CURE IN CONTACT STORY? (Continued from Front Page)

make up the anticancerous elements normally contained in the liver. Tell them that these same proteins, when linked to cobalt molecules, combat anaemia and are known as vitamin B. 12. Instead of sounding praises to the destructive power of an invader show them that heavy hydrogen is one of the main causes of cancer when it gets into a cell, and that caesium has the ability to strip it of an electron making it into ordinary innocuous hydrogen. Show them, statistically, that cancer generally affects children who have not yet reached fertility, or old people who have passed it, that sex is thus a defence mechanism of the body, and that these hormones should not be wasted for the mere satisfaction of instincts. Teach them that instead of drinks it would be preferable to take an extract of liver with enzymes, since these elements cause cancer to recede."

SOMEONE UNUSUAL?

by Wayne D. Simpson

I would like to tell you about a friend of mine. His name is C.J. Spillman. I met him when he was racking pool balls in a local billiard parlor (in Phoenix). As a joke a friend of mine told me to ask him if I could read his manuscripts. The joke was on me. He did.

Mr. Spillman wrote this story at the insistence of a friend. It was never intended to be published but was just for the "entertainment" of his friend. One of his friends whom we shall call Mr. Jones recently had come into an inheritance from his grandfather. His making this trip was a stipulation in the will. After arriving in San Simon (I believe this was the name of the town), Bolivia, they left civilization. After many days travel they arrived at a place which looked as if it had been bombed. After looking around through the jumble of rocks, they found an opening to a small cave. Inside a little ways the cave gradually got larger until it was large enough to walk around in, comfortably. For the space of three days, the three walked down and ever down. At the end of this time they came into a cavern which was so large they could not see the other side of it. Coming toward them were three men who were about eight feet tall and looked exactly alike. They looked like Christ must have looked because they had peace and serenity on their faces and because of their long flowing white hair. These men took them to their city and made them welcome.

They told the three surface people that there were only men among them. That they were vegetarians and thought it cannibalistic to eat meat. They produced artificially. They were an exploration party from yet another world - this one somewhere in the vast universe. They lived for 300 years but did not die but ascended like Christ did.

I don't know how much truth there is to this story but I thought you would be particularly interested in it having written probably the best book ever on the inner earth which is just now getting the needed publicity it deserves.
